COMMUNICATIONS

Communications which were received were referred as indicated:

1. From the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, to the Standing Committee on Assembly Operation:

To the General Assembly of 1971 of
The Presbyterian Church in the United States

The 110th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (1970) received the following overture from the Presbytery of New Orleans (see Minutes, 1970, page 55):

"Whereas, the Presbytery of New Orleans has received a petition from the Session of the First Union Presbyterian Church of Luling, Louisiana (a similar petition having been submitted to the Gulf Coast Presbytery of the UPUSA), 'calling to the attention of the respective Presbyteries that there is a difference in the questions to be asked in the two constitutions, of those who are to be ordained and installed as Deacons and Ruling Elders (see Sec. 29-3 of the Book of Church Order of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and Sec. 47.07-47.077 of the Book of Church Order of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.); and further stating that 'in the light of these differences, we would advise the Presbyteries that we are basically using the form provided in Sec. 29-3, Book of Church Order of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., until such time as the respective assemblies rule. (Question #4, Sec. 29-3, we have changed to read, 'Do you approve of the governments and disciplines of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America?') We further humbly petition Gulf Coast Presbytery and New Orleans Presbytery to overture their respective General Assemblies to rule if our procedure is proper or if another procedure should be followed'; and,

"Whereas, the Presbytery of New Orleans finds the language of the sections on ordination vows of elders and deacons in both constitutions to be mandatory and conflicting;

"Therefore, the Presbytery of New Orleans respectfully overtures the 110th General Assembly:

"To resolve the conflict either by authoritative interpretation or by constitutional amendment." (Book of Church Order, Section 31-2w.)"

In response to that overture of the General Assembly adopted the following statements (Minutes, 1970, page 114):

"1. That the General Assembly request its Stated Clerk, in collaboration with the Stated Clerk of the UPUSA, to present to the 1971 General Assemblies a common recommendation to the denominations with respect to such matters.

"2. Pending such action, the General Assembly finds the procedure set out in the overture satisfactory."

In collaboration with Dr. William P. Thompson, the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, the following identical recommendations will be by the Stated Clerks presented to our respective General Assemblies of 1971:

"(1) That the General Assemblies authorize the appointment of a special joint committee of eight persons, four of whom shall be named by the Permanent Judicial Commission of the Presbyterian Church in the United States from among the membership of that Commission and four of whom shall be named by the Permanent Judicial Commission of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

from the membership of that Commission to study the constitutional issues arising from the formulation of union presbyteries involving presbyteries previously related solely to one or the other of our Churches and to recommend to the General Assemblies means for resolving such issues, including proposed constitutional amendments if necessary.

"(2) That, pending the completion of the work of the proposed joint committee, in matters not clearly covered by paragraph 2 c (4) and (7) of the chapters of our respective constitutions pertaining to union presbyteries:

"(a) Where the constitutions of the denominations differ and the provisions of each are mandatory but not contradictory, they be treated as cumulative.

"(b) Where the constitutions of the denominations differ and the provisions of one are mandatory and the provisions of the other are permissive or it is silent, the mandatory provisions shall be followed.

"(c) Where the constitution of one of the denominations contains permissive provisions and the constitution of the other denomination is silent, the union presbytery may determine the course which it will follow."

2. From the Synod of Alabama, to the Standing Committee on Review and Control of Synods:

The Synod's Council of the Synod of Alabama reports to the General Assembly that as of today we know of no policy of discrimination in the churches and institutions of the Synod of Alabama.

3. From the Board of National Ministries, to the Standing Committee on Church and Society:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

SUBJECT: Response of the Board of National Ministries to the Council on Church and Society papers: A. Ecumenical Action for Development, B. The Commitment of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to Development, C. American Christians and World Development, D. The Need for Welfare Reform, E. A Call for Welfare Reform, F. The Use and Abuse of Drugs, G. The Population Crisis, and H. Ad Interim Committee on Church Investments

In response to the above papers, the Board of National Ministries, meeting on April 27 and 28, 1971, took the following actions, which we request you to transmit to the Standing Committee on Church and Society as prescribed in procedures governing the work of pronouncements from the Council:

1. The Board of National Ministries conveys to the Standing Committee on Church and Society its agreement with the substance of the above papers A, B, C, D, E, G and H.

2. The Board of National Ministries suggests the following changes and additions to paper F above:

2.1 On page 54, line 75, the word "conclusive" be inserted before the word "evidence."

2.2 On page 54, eliminate lines 91, 92 and 93 and begin this paragraph "Churchmen should assume. . . ."

2.3 On pages 55 and 56, under "some guidelines for effective work and witness for the church," (lines 114 and 115):

2.3.1 On page 56, #4 become #5 and #5 become #6 and a new #4 be inserted to read:

"Urge the church through the judicatories and congregations to advocate and stimulate government action in the development of programs for research and rehabilitation and also take advantage of government resources."

2.3.2 On page 55, #1 be rewritten as follows:

"The Church has potential for making human life more whole and satisfying and should seek to enable persons to experience the excitement and life renewing qualities of the gospel."

2.3.3 On page 56, new #7 be added to read:

"Churches should recognize the particular capabilities and effectiveness of youth in ministering to their peers in the area of drug use and misuse; presbyteries and sessions should encourage youth of the church in continuing and developing this ministry and support them in this effort with the resources of the church."

4. From the Board of National Ministries, to the Standing Committee on National Ministries:

That the 111th General Assembly:

13. Encourage:

(a) Synods, presbyteries and sessions to examine the need for care and planning for children from the broken and troubled family.

(b) All child-care agencies under the above judicatories to evaluate their programs, facilities and services, in light of current Performance Standards adopted by the General Assembly and at least on a biennial basis.

(c) All said judicatories to encourage and support the child-care agencies in their development of consultative services and their utilization of such services in expanding their ministry through action-oriented programs which help in identifying causes and preventing family breakdown.

(d) All child-care agencies, with the assistance of their judicatories, to develop multi-service programs to meet needs of children, such as foster family care, adoption services, family aid, counseling services and group homes.

(e) All child-care agencies to consider providing consultative services to help the local church broaden its ministry through action-oriented programs in identifying causes and helping to prevent family breakdown.

14. (a) Express its continuing concern for the aging and for the Church's effective ministry to and with them.

(b) Urge synods, presbyteries and sessions, through their appropriate agencies, to determine needs, evaluate existing programs and develop multiservice programs, including physical facilities, to meet the needs of all social, economic and ethnic groups, utilizing the Standards adopted by the General Assembly and the consultative services of the Board of National Ministries' staff in such efforts.

15. Be cognizant of suggested programs for local churches now being developed by staff members from the Boards of National Ministries, Christian Education and Women's Work in the area of the use and misuse of drugs and urge synods, presbyteries and local churches to make use of these programs.

16. That Resolution #19 from the 110th General Assembly, which reads as follows:

Whereas, since there appears to be a resurgence of evangelism; and,

Whereas, since our church has believed down through the years that all that we do is evangelism (the proclamation of the Good News of Christ); and,

Whereas, since the church has initiated and encouraged forms of social, humanitarian forms of evangelism, which we consider Biblical and reformed; and

Whereas, there is a feeling that the General Assembly and the denomination be made aware that while we have evangelism in many forms and have encouraged our communicants to participate . . . that we have neglected the specific calling of evangelists as seen in Scripture . . . and in the past we have had preaching evangelists on the Presbytery and Synod level . . . ;

Therefore, be it resolved, that the 110th General Assembly instruct the Board of National Ministries to study the specific role of preaching evangelists as it relates to the General Assembly, Synod and Presbytery and report back in 1971.

be answered by the Board of National Ministries with the paper, "A Study of the Specific Role of Preaching Evangelists," (See Minutes, 1971, Part III, Annual Reports of Assembly Agencies), and the following statement:

Realizing that in the 1970's the preponderant masses of the unchurched in the nation are not attending the classical preaching services, the Board of National Ministries will continue to study, explore and report to the 112th General Assembly additional and alternative methods of proclamation.

5. From the Presbyterian Foundation, to the Standing Committee on Assembly Operation:

The 111th General Assembly
The Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

As its President, and by action of the Board of Trustees of The Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. (U.S.), at its meeting on April 20, 1971, I am writing this as a communication to supplement the Annual Report of this Board.

1. The Board of Trustees unanimously elected Dr. Warner L. Hall, now pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, Charlotte, to serve as Executive Director of the Foundation for a term of three years, beginning October 1, 1971. The Board respectfully requests confirmation of this election by the 111th General Assembly. (Biographical data enclosed)

2. The term of office of Dr. Frank H. Caldwell as Executive Director expires at this meeting of General Assembly. He has previously expressed his desire to be retired when his successor could be available to assume the duties of that office. In light of the time of availability of Dr. Hall, the Foundation Board respectfully requests the 111th General Assembly to approve the action of the Board in requesting Dr. Caldwell to continue in office until October 1, 1971. Since he does not reach the age of seventy until 1972, such action does not violate the mandatory time for his retirement.

3. The Foundation Board has voted to concur with the General Council in its recommendations to General Assembly pertaining to the Foundation's handling of income from undesignated funds received by the Foundation.

Sincerely yours,
William F. Mulliss
President

6. From the Board of World Missions, to the Standing Committee on World Missions:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

This is to inform you that the Board of World Missions has elected the Rev. John Coffin as the Director of the Division of Program Personnel, Mr. James Halverstadt as the Director of the Division of Finance, the Rev. James Magruder as the Director of the Division of Interpretation, and the Rev. David Taylor as Director of the Division of Program Administration. The Board has elected these for a term of three years.

It is our understanding that Division Directors, while elected by the Board, must be confirmed by the General Assembly.

With sincere good wishes, I am

Most cordially,
T. Watson Street
Executive Secretary

7. From the Synod of Georgia, to the Standing Committee on Review and Control of Synods:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the United States

Dear Brethren:

At the One Hundred Twenty-Seventh Stated Session of the Synod of Georgia of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, meeting May 11-12, 1971, at the First Presbyterian Church, Valdosta, Georgia, the following statement was adopted in reply to your letter of June 29, 1970, regarding any possible instances of policies of discrimination in churches or institutions within the bounds or under control of the Synod of Georgia:

The policy of discrimination formerly obtaining in Thornwell Orphanage has been abandoned, and there are now no institutions in the bounds or under the control of the Synod of Georgia which observe any policies of discrimination. Of the seven churches that were reported in 1969, as having discriminatory policies all but one now report no such policies. The one remaining has a change under consideration. Of the thirty-one from which no replies were received, seven now inactive, two have been dissolved and fifteen have now indicated no policies of discrimination.

Efforts are still being made to effect a nondiscriminatory policy in each of the eight remaining churches.

Sincerely,
John J. Deifell
Stated Clerk

8. From the Permanent Judicial Commission:

Item 25 (to the Standing Committee on Judicial Business)

Overture 31 from the Presbytery of Asheville, asking the General Assembly to suspend for three years any change in the Book of Church Order dealing with local church property.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons: The General Assembly has twice previously answered in the negative overtures for limitation of the process of amending the Constitution (see Minutes, 1945, pages 28, 54; 1947, page 52; or Assembly's Digest, page 219). The Assembly has consistently acted upon a principle expressed in the Minutes of 1939, page 67 (Assembly's Digest, page 112) that no Assembly can bind a future Assembly. This rests upon a fundamental principle of parliamentary order expressed in Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, gsection 8, page 75.

Item 26 (to the Standing Committee on Christian Education as information)

Proposed amendment to the Book of Church Order by addition of a new Chapter 33, by amending Form of Government Section 8-16, Section 13-7, Section 16-1, Section 16-7, Section 17-1, and by adding an additional Section 21-5 in the report of the General Assembly's Committee on Certification of Lay Workers.

A copy of the report of the General Assembly's Committee on Certification of Lay Workers was not filed with the Stated Clerk by February 1, 1971, under General Assembly Standing Rule 9.1 and was not received by the Commission in time to be considered at the Commission's meeting on March 17-19, 1971. The Form of Government Section 20-6 provides the General Assembly cannot consider an amendment until there has been opportunity for a report from the Permanent Judicial Commission. The Commission's report cannot now be made in time for the 1971 General Assembly. Opportunity for study and review of so many changes is needed. The Commission will retain the report for study and report to the 1972 General Assembly.

9. From Stillman College, to the Standing Committee on Educational Institutions:

Election of Trustees

On behalf of the Board of Trustees of Stillman College, I am pleased to submit this report on actions taken by the Board with respect to election of trustees. At its March, 1971, stated meeting, the Board increased the size of each of its three classes from eight to nine members; thus authorizing a Board of twenty-seven members in addition to two ex-officio members. The increased size is well within limits fixed by the college charter.

7. Rev. Logan Kears, Cornerstone Baptist Church of Christ, 4239 Park Heights Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21215, to succeed Stanley S. Jones whose eligibility for re-election has expired.
8. C. Eugene Rowe, Post Office Box 6126, Station B., Greenville, South Carolina 29606, to succeed Col. C. Ross Endsley, Jr., whose eligibility for re-election has expired.
9. Dan C. Williams, Jr., Southland Center, 400 Olive, Dallas, Texas, 75201, new term.

Class of 1973

The Board respectfully requests that the 1971 General Assembly grant its approval to those named above for the terms to which they have been elected.

Respectfully submitted,
Harold N. Stinson
President

10. From the Synod of Mississippi, to the Standing Committee on Assembly Operation:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the United States

Fathers and Brethren:

The 1970 General Assembly instructed five Synods, including Mississippi, "who reported to the 1968 or 1969 General Assemblies continuing instances of policies of discrimination in churches or institutions in their bounds or under their control, to report to the 1971 General Assembly efforts made to end such policies" (Minutes, 1970, p. 101).

In 1970 the Synod of Mississippi complied with the recommendation of the 1969 General Assembly that the Synods of Georgia and Mississippi "request their Presbyteries' Commissions on the Minister and His Work to counsel with the Sessions of the churches involved in discrimination" (see Synod Minutes, 1970, p. 20).

The 1969 General Assembly also recommended that "the attention of the Synod be called to the camping situation in the Presbytery of Central Mississippi." The attention of the Synod was called to this matter, by receiving the recommendation of the Assembly and by receiving a Complaint against said Presbytery's camping program. (See Synod Minutes, 1970 p. 20, and the Communication to the General Assembly, Minutes, 1970, p. 26).

The Synod of Mississippi in 1969 reminded the Presbytery of Central Mississippi of "its obligation to include all the churches of the Presbytery within the camping program of the Presbytery" (Synod Minutes, 1969, pp. 38, 39). Every camping program thereafter planned by the Presbytery of Central Mississippi has apparently been open to all of its churches. Moreover, on April 15, 1971, the Permanent Committee on Christian Education of the Presbytery of Central Mississippi was authorized by the Presbytery to plan a camping program at its Camp Calvin for this summer, without any restrictions regarding those who may attend.

The Synod of Mississippi has therefore complied with every request of the General Assembly with respect to discrimination, and as of this date has no knowledge of a policy of discrimination on the part of any of its Presbyteries or institutions.

Sincerely,
Albert H. Freundt, Jr.,
Stated Clerk
Synod of Mississippi

Re: Supplemental Report No. 1,
Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation

The Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation recommends amendment of Recommendation 3 of its report (See p. 155.) by adding $1,500 to the amount in the Operating Expense Budget allocated to the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work, thereby increasing that figure to $71,500, and increasing the total as presented by the Permanent Committee to $479,322.

This is in response to a later request from the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work.

J. Davison Phillips, Chairman
Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation

To: The General Assembly of 1971

Re: Supplemental Report No. 2,
Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation

Recent actions have been taken by the Presbytery of Potomac and the Synod of Virginia toward the erection of a union Presbytery with the UPUSA Presbytery of Washington City.

This opens the possibility that by the time of the meeting of the 1972 General Assembly the host church, the Towson Presbyterian Church of Towson, Maryland, could be a United Presbyterian congregation belonging to the UP Presbytery of Baltimore.

If the Assembly wishes to regularize a possible meeting of the Assembly outside its bounds (See Digest, 1965, pages 104, 105, 111, and 335), two actions by this General Assembly are needed.

First, the Assembly should authorize the meeting of the 1972 General Assembly being held outside the bounds of the General Assembly.

Second, the Assembly should suspend its Standing Rule 5.2 which limits the payment of the 'Commissioners' expenses to "those incurred within the bounds of the General Assembly". Standing Rule 15.1 permits suspension of the Rules by a majority vote of the total enrollment of Commissioners.

Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation

12. From the Board of Christian Education, to the Standing Committee on Christian Education:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the United States

In its meeting April 21-22, 1971, the Board of Christian Education elected Rev. John B. Evans as Executive Secretary, and approved the following recommendation to be presented to the General Assembly:

That the election of Rev. John B. Evans as Executive Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, for a term of three years, be confirmed by the General Assembly.

J.H. Montgomery
Interim Executive Secretary
Board of Christian Education

13. From the Synod of North Carolina:

(Note: This Communication was replaced by Communication 17 from the Synod of North Carolina—Stated Clerk.)

14. From the Permanent Judicial Commission, to the Standing Committee on Judicial Business:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the United States

The Report of the Permanent Judicial Commission to the 111th General Assembly as set out in its Commissioner's Handbook beginning at page 247 requires correction as follows:

Item 1.

Further review of the Book of Church Order has disclosed additional masculine terms which should be deleted. To cover these the final paragraph containing the recommended changes should read:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the following changes in the Book of Church Order:

1. Section 5-4: the word "male" in the last line be omitted.
2. Section 26-2: second paragraph, line 4, the word "male" be omitted.
3. Section 11-3: second line; 12-2: second line; 24-1: second line and fourth line; 24-4: third paragraph, fifth line, the word "men" be changed to "persons".
4. Section 23-2: third line; 24-1: second paragraph fifth line; 24-3: first line; 24-10: second line; 24-11: first line, the word "man" be changed to "person".
5. Section 16-10: third line and fourth line, the word "brethren" be changed to "Ministers".
6. Section 29-3: paragraph 4, line 21, the words "your brethren" be changed to "the members"; paragraph 6, line 2, "this brother" be changed to "this member".

Item 5.

Reference to Resolution 10 from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 62) was omitted by inadvertence. This should be corrected by inserting in the second line of the first paragraph after the semicolon the following: "Resolution 10 from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 62)".

Respectfully submitted
Joseph W. Grier, Jr., Chairman
Permanent Judicial Commission

15. From the Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. (U.S.), to the Standing Committee on the General Council:

The General Assembly
Presbyterian Church in the United States

By action of the Board of the Presbyterian Foundation, I am transmitting to General Assembly the enclosed Position Paper, prepared by the Board's Executive Committee with respect to the Recommendation on Investments including in the report of The Council on Church And Society.

The Board requests that this paper be referred to the appropriate Standing Committee for consideration.

Sincerely yours,
Frank H. Caldwell
Executive Director

POSITION PAPER

On Recommendation of Council on Church and Society That An Ad Interim Committee on Investments be Appointed by General Assembly

The avowed objective that the church use financial resources on the side of right is a worthy one. It appears to this Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of The Presbyterian Foundation, that, after acknowledging the complexity of this matter as related to investments, the Council's recommendation of the appointment of an Ad Interim Committee on Church Investments, fails to take due account of this complexity in advocating the appointment of such a committee.

We, therefore, submit for consideration by Commissioners to the 111th General Assembly the following observations:

1. We believe that such a committee is unnecessary. Injunctions approved by the 1968 Assembly (Minutes, pp. 99-100) are sufficient as basic guidelines for investors of church funds. If an Ad Interim Committee should undertake to break down such injunctions into more detailed criteria, prohibitions, or exceptions, the end result is likely to be as complex, as ambiguously inconsistent, and as un-Christian as was the legalistic system which Jesus condemned in the Gospels.

2. We believe that such guidelines as an Ad Interim Committee might devise threaten to place church agencies in an untenable position of guilt in either violating the law of trusts or of defying the will of the General Assembly. Between its military policies and actions in wars, its involvements in various forms of ecological pollution and exploitation, and its racial or ethnological discriminations or injustices, the U.S. Government is probably more vulnerable than most corporations in which investments may be held. Yet, testamentary trusts are held by church agencies, which trusts are restricted to investments in U.S. Government bonds.

3. We believe that the appointment of such an Ad Interim Committee to devise investment guidelines is inadequate for the objective envisioned. The numerous mergers of corporations, the changes of suppliers, the manufacture and marketing of new products, the locations of plants at home and abroad, etc., involve such rapid, unpredictable, and often practically undetectable changes in the ethical "purity" or "righteousness" of securities held in investment portfolios that it is unrealistic to expect an Ad Interim Committee to examine portfolios and determine worthy and unworthy investments which would not be obsolete in a very short time. The contemplated objective would involve, not merely a "clean-up" of present portfolios, but continuous re-evaluation of potential future investments in the rapidly changing complexity of the structure, personnel, policies, and products of corporations.

Nor does it seem reasonable or financially justifiable for each Assembly agency holding endowment funds to retain employed personnel having both the expertise and the time which would be required to keep abreast of such numerous changes among the several thousand corporations offering stocks and bonds for investment. The best solution to this problem is to leave those charged with the responsibility for investing funds of the church bound by the injunctions of the 1968 General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,
 W. Stell Huie, Chairman

16. From the Presbyterian Church in Congo:

To the General Assembly of
 The Presbyterian Church in The United States

Dear Brothers,

On the occasion of the opening of your General Assembly for 1971, we the delegates of the Eighth General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Congo, the E.P.C., held at Lake Munkamba the 5th through the 10th of May 1971.

Conscious of the serious nature of the problems confronting the Church in this secularized world.

Knowing that the General Assembly is the Supreme Court for the social, political, economic and religious questions, empowered with final decision-making, according to the Reformed Tradition.

We associate ourselves with you in prayer that the Lord of the Church Himself may be with you and that His Holy Spirit help you in all the actions that you take.

Peace!
 For the Presbyterian Church in Congo
 The Rev. Joseph J. NSENDA-ILUNGA
 General Secretary and Stated Clerk of the General Assembly

17. From the Synod of North Carolina:

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

The Synod of North Carolina, meeting at Laurinburg, Tuesday and Wednesday, made a change in the meeting place for the 159th Sessions of the Synod. Instead of meeting in Richmond next year, as I wrote you recently, Synod will meet in Charlotte at Queens College; therefore, disregard the request of the Assembly to approve the meeting of the Synod of North Carolina beyond its bounds in 1972.

Trusting that you will have a great Assembly, and with best wishes, I remain,

Most sincerely yours,
Harold J. Dudley
Stated Clerk

OVERTURES

The Stated Clerk presented the overtures, which were received and referred as follows:

OVERTURES RECEIVED TOO LATE FOR THE 1970 GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND REFERRED TO THE PERMANENT JUDICIAL COMMISSION UNDER FORM OF GOVERNMENT SECTIONS 20.6 AND 20.7

(Note: This material, as required by the Constitution, was referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission, and their recommendations are contained in the report of the Commission.—Stated Clerk.)

A. From the Presbytery of Washburn:

(Note: The Presbytery of Washburn ceased to exist on Nov. 24, 1970. On that same date its ministers and churches became members of the Presbytery of the Ozarks-Union—Stated Clerk.)

Whereas the Form of Government, Chapter 8, paragraphs 7, 9, and 10 refer to "inactive members" and a "roll of inactive members"; and

Whereas the Directory for Worship, Chapter 211, paragraph 7 contains in its instructions of those to be invited to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper the words "all those who are communicants in good standing in some Christian church . . ."; and

Whereas there is confusion as to whether those on the inactive roll meet the requirement of "in good standing";

Therefore, the Presbytery of Washburn respectfully overtures the General Assembly to cause a study to be made of the implications and consequences which follow for the person whose name is placed on the inactive roll of a particular church, with particular reference to the reception of the Sacraments, but also in regard to pastoral oversight and obligations of the local church (as expressed in such things as mailing lists, Every Member Canvass visits, etc.)

B. Form the Presbytery of Wilmington:

The Presbytery of Wilmington respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States that Section 18-6(9) of the Form of Government be amended as follows: Eliminate the period and add to the Section the following words: "and to unite or divide those which were before established, with the advice and consent of the synods involved."

C. From the Presbytery of Memphis:

Memphis Presbytery overtures the General Assembly to change Chapter 6-3 in the Book of Church Order to read as follows:

"If a church is dissolved by the Presbytery, withdraws from the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., or otherwise ceases to exist, those who hold the title to the property shall deliver, convey and transfer to the Presbytery of which the church was a member, or to the authorized agents of the Presbytery, all property of the church; and the receipt and acquittance of the Presbytery, or its proper representatives, shall be a full and complete discharge of all liabilities of such persons holding the property of the church. The Presbytery receiving such property shall apply the same or the proceeds thereof at its discretion."

D. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

The Presbytery of the Everglades overtures the 111th General Assembly to change the Book of Church Order by adding to Section 16-1 the following: "Ruling Elders selected as officers or committee chairmen of the court shall be ex officio members thereof."

OVERTURES TO THE 1971 GENERAL ASSEMBLY

To the Standing Committee on Annuities and Relief, 32, 62.

32. From the Presbytery of Nashville:

Deeply impressed with the twofold problem of the inflationary cost of living and the large number of small churches without pastoral service, the Presbytery of Nashville overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to ask the Board of Annuities and Relief to give serious consideration to a modification of the regulations governing the service of retired ministers, so as to permit retired ministers to serve churches and church agencies and receive a salary up to $140 per month (the amount currently allowed under Social Security) and manse without surrender or reduction of pension benefits.

62. From the Presbytery of Montgomery:

Whereas many of our churches are vacant at any one time; and

Whereas Presbyteries seek to supply many of these churches with the help of Honorably Retired Ministers; and

Whereas, according to the present policy of the General Assembly, such Honorably Retired Ministers may serve the same church for only thirteen Sundays in one year; and

Whereas these thirteen Sundays are such a brief time for a minister to help the congregation to train its leaders, secure new members, and develop a program of worship and service;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Montgomery respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to revise the regulations governing the Ministers Annuity Fund, making it possible for Honorably Retired Ministers to serve a church, or group of churches, for a period of at least one year without loss of pension, allowing them the use of a manse and to earn the maximum amount allowed under Social Security.

To the Standing Committee on Bills and Overtures, 33-38, 63.

33. From the Presbytery of Charleston:

Whereas great confusion exists even now as to the direction of the institutional church, and

Whereas two major union proposals (UPUSA and COCU) are in the final stages before the official voting begins, and

Whereas if neither, either, or both of the above-mentioned proposals are approved or disapproved, a major restructure would be necessary due to the fact of union, or split, or both, and

Whereas the membership of the Church needs to speak to the immediate times more constructively in matters dealing with reconciliation and not in matters that divide,

Charleston Presbytery respectfully overtures the General Assembly to discontinue all plans for Synod restructure and possible Presbytery restructure by new Synods at least until after voting has been completed by the Presbyterian Church, U.S., in the two major union proposals now pending.

34. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

In view of the divisions which have developed within our Church, divisions brought about by divergence of opinions regarding the nature and mission of the Church—

In view of the growing paralysis of our work at home and abroad—

And with the feeling that only too often we have been interpreting "progress" in terms of organization, and program and ecumenical involvements, while at the same time we find ourselves in grave danger of forgetting the spiritual nature of the Church and her witness—

Asheville Presbytery overtures the 111th General Assembly to:

Suspend for three years all plans for restructuring synods and presbyteries.

That during this three-year period the General Assembly direct its primary energy toward reclaiming our spiritual heritage at the personal, congregational and Assembly-wide levels through united prayer, Bible study and the proclamation of the gospel, at the same time urging all to give full support to the boards and agencies of the Church, as they in turn lead us in a united witness to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ.

It is our conviction that such an action can bring renewed blessings and usefulness to our Church, while at the same time through the healing presence of the Holy Spirit, the problems which loom so large in dividing us will be resolved to the glory of God in our personal lives and in the life of the Church.

35. From the Presbytery of Abingdon:

Whereas, the Ad Interim Committee of the General Assembly on the Restructuring of Synods and Presbyteries is reporting to General Assembly that no change be made from their report of last year regarding the division of Abingdon Presbytery by placing six counties in Southwest Virginia, namely, Scott, Wise, Lee, Dickenson, Russell, Washington, and the City of Bristol, Virginia, in proposed Synod C, and;

Whereas, the Presbytery of Abingdon is convinced that these six counties should not be separated from the other Virginia counties now composing Abingdon Presbytery, and;

Whereas, the sessions of the churches in these six counties voted overwhelmingly and urged Presbytery to request General Assembly to permit them to remain with the other counties of Southwest Virginia as a part of proposed Synod A, and;

Whereas, the leadership of both the Synod of Virginia and Synod of West Virginia have requested that these six counties be included in proposed Synod A, and;

Whereas, the 110th General Assembly instructed the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring of Synods and Presbyteries to heed the content of a previous overture #52 from the Abingdon Presbytery requesting said change, and;

Whereas, the Council of Abingdon Presbytery met with members of said Ad Interim Committee and presented facts supporting Abingdon Presbytery's request, and;

Whereas, the Restructuring Committee has not considered favorably said request;

Now, therefore, Abingdon Presbytery respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to amend the Restructuring Committee's report so as to provide for the placing of the six above-named Southwest Virginia counties in Synod A for the following reasons:

1. Abingdon Presbytery has a unique ministry to the approximately 4,000 Presbyterians in these six counties with respect to their cultural and spiritual needs. Many of these churches have been established and continue to be nurtured and sustained through the emotional ties and missionary zeal of the churches in the adjacent Virginia counties.
2. It seems wise, unless there are more persuasive reasons to the contrary, not to divide Presbyteries and to cross state lines in the creation of new ones, in the restructuring. Crossing state lines creates legal problems for children's homes, homes for the aging and other agencies which receive state monies for operation.
3. The impact of the Church's voice in the political structure would be diminished by placing those Southwest Virginia counties within the limits of a Presbytery outside the State of Virginia. These counties are a part of Virginia and are vital to the total mission of the Church in Virginia.
4. The placing of the said six counties in Synod C against the expressed judgment of the churches and the Presbytery involved would seem to be an arbitrary exercise of General Assembly's newly given power. The General Assembly of 1927 in reviewing the authority to change boundaries of a Presbytery by a Synod said, "However inexpedient the use of such autocratic authority may be, it is not forbidden but authorized in the powers of synods as defined in the Book of Church Order, Par. 86, namely: "To erect new Presbyteries, and to unite or divide those which were before erected." [pres. Section 17-5] This power of Synod is not circumscribed as it is with the Presbytery, which has "power . . . to unite or divide churches at the request of the members thereof." (par. 76) [pres. Section 16-7]. A Synod's power should be limited, and the Assembly would urge Synods not to exercise this power to a dangerous extent, save in extraordinary cases." (Digest, p. 107.)

It would seem that the General Assembly should be bound by its own interpretation of the use of power. The power recently given to the General Assembly is identical to the type of power which Synods have.

36. From the Rev. Mr. C.G. Forthman, Paris, Texas:

Whereas, there is a broad-based feeling in The Presbyterian Church in the United States as well as in American Christendom at large, for a statement of faith for our age and a recognition of the unity of the body of Christ and

Whereas, there have been many sincere efforts to implement these feelings, all of which seem to have resulted in creating dissension and fear and confusion, rather than producing a stronger more meaningful statement of faith, and

Whereas, all of these efforts have had two things in common; the work has been done by relatively small committees, and the work has been done under the spotlight of both ecclesiastical and public opinion and

Whereas, this may be a good way to sample public opinion, it does not seem to be an effective way of finding the will of God and

Whereas, the evidence seems to indicate the need for a different approach:

Therefore, the Presbytery of Northeast Texas overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to:

1. Reaffirm our conviction that the oneness of the Church, the body of Christ, is a present reality, not by the will of man but by the act of God.
2. Cease, desist and withdraw from all existing efforts for Church union and/or new standards, in order that the way may be cleared for a different approach.
3. Call a new "Westminster Assembly" inviting and urging all Christian bodies in the United States to join with us in this effort to produce new standards for the Church in a new age.

4. Implement the calling of this "Westminster Assembly" by adopting the following guidelines:
 - (1) A proportional ratio shall be worked out for representation in the "Westminster Assembly". Representatives from the Presbyterian Church shall be elected by lower judicatories and shall be equally divided between Ministers and Ruling Elders.
 - (2) Each participating body shall support its representatives financially.
 - (3) The "Westminster Assembly" shall be given ten (10) years to do its work. It shall not be permitted to report to the respective bodies or anyone else either action or debate until the Standards are complete.
 - (4) The Standards shall be developed in three parts—
 - (a) The Statement of Faith
 - (b) The Book of Church Order
 - (c) The Catechisms
5. None of these documents shall be reported till all are complete, but each shall be adopted or rejected on its own merit.
6. All commissioners to the "Westminster Assembly" shall be required to:
 - (1) Affirm:
 - (a) that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, come in the flesh;
 - (b) that in Christ he loves the brethren.
 - (2) Take the following vows:
 - (a) In prayer for guidance by the Holy Spirit I will speak and work earnestly for those things of which I am convinced, but I will not for favor with men or any other reason speak for or work for anything of which I am not personally convinced.
 - (b) I will under no circumstance vote for anything of which I am not personally convinced.
 - (c) I will not prejudice the work of the "Westminster Assembly" to any person or group outside the "Westminster Assembly" until the "Westminster Assembly" as a whole has completed its full task and reported to the participating bodies.
7. When the "Westminster Assembly" has completed its task the three documents, i.e., The Statement of Faith, The Book of Church Order and The Catechisms, they shall be reproduced in sufficient quantity and distributed to all communing members of each participating body.
8. In not less than six (6) months nor more than one (1) year after the distribution of the three documents each participating body shall meet to approve or disapprove the three documents without amendment and, according to its usual procedure, refer each of the three documents with recommendation of approval or disapproval to the lower judicatories in the denomination. The last reference of the three documents shall be the local congregation.
9. All three documents, i.e., The Statement of Faith, The Book of Church Order and The Catechisms, along with the recommendations of the higher judicatories shall be referred through proper channels to each local congregation. The local congregation shall consider the recommendations of the higher judicatories of the denomination, but shall not be required to concur. The local congregation shall adopt or reject any or all of the three documents by a 2/3 vote of the members present at a properly called meeting of the congregation. Each congregation shall report its action to both its national office and to the "Westminster Assembly." The congregations shall take action to both its national office and to the "Westminster Assembly." The congregations shall take action and report within thirty (30) months after the distribution of the documents, but not before they have heard the recommendations of their higher judicatories.
10. Three (3) years after distribution of the three documents the "Westminster Assembly" shall call a convention to organize a new Church. Since entry into the new Church shall be on a congregational basis, each congregation adopting all three documents shall be entitled to one Minister and one Lay commissioner to the organizing convention; thereafter the requirements of the new Book of Church Order shall apply.

(This overture, rejected by the Presbytery of Northeast Texas, is presented under Standing Rule 7.5—Stated Clerk.)

37. From the Presbytery of Knoxville:

Knoxville Presbytery overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. to use its resources, its influence, its boards and agencies, to institute a positive program of reconciliation of the various factions within our denomination, and that the General Assembly instruct the Synods and their member Presbyteries to institute such programs of reconciliation, also.

38. From the Presbytery of Norfolk:

Whereas, the Presbyterian system of government affirms that "ecclesiastical jurisdiction is a joint power, to be exercised by Presbyters in courts, and cannot be exercised by Presbyters as individuals" (B.C.O. Preface III.5.) and the General Assembly has repeatedly stated that its commissioners are representatives and not instructed delegates (1884, 1954); and,

Whereas, the Confession of Faith asserts that the Holy Spirit is "the source of all good thoughts, pure desire and holy counsels in men." (IX.2.) and "By Him the church will be preserved, increased, purified, and at least made perfectly holy in the presence of God," (IX.4.) In reliance on the promise of our Lord to send the Holy Spirit to "guide you into all truth" (John 16:13) every court of the church must be opened and closed with prayer, in the confidence that the Holy Spirit will guide the deliberations and lead that court to follow the will of God; and,

Whereas, Norfolk Presbytery deplores the reported actions of certain church courts in declaring an unequivocal position on matters before they have come before the General Assembly for consideration as being, in effect, an effort to instruct its representatives, and to deny them the open mind which allows the Holy Spirit to do His good work; and,

Whereas, we further affirm our confidence in the system of government and established procedures for decision making in our General Assembly in full loyalty to our ordination vows to approve the government and discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and to be subject to our brethren in the Lord;

Now, therefore, the Presbytery of Norfolk respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to call upon fellow Presbyterians to join in a sincere effort to be open to the continuing leading of the Holy Spirit, and to faithfully follow wherever the Head of the Church leads us in the days ahead.

63. From the Presbytery of Mobile:

Whereas, the Report of the General Assembly's Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries has been printed in final form and officially distributed; and

Whereas, the proposed restructuring will, in our judgment, be detrimental to the work of the Church in the Synod of Alabama and the Presbytery of Mobile, which judgment we have repeatedly given the Committee without avail; and

Whereas, any attempt to modify the proposed restructuring piecemeal on the floor of the General Assembly would be unwise; and

Whereas, it appears the report must be adopted or rejected in toto;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Mobile respectfully overtures the General Assembly to reject the report of this Committee and to dissolve the Committee with a commendation for its diligence.

To the Standing Committee on Christian Education, 39-44, 64, 70.

39. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

Whereas, the General Assembly in 1970 was asked to direct the Board of Christian Education to "withdraw immediately from the joint venture with the United Presbyterian Church and the United Church of Christ in the publishing of Colloquy magazine, and

Whereas, the General Assembly answered this request in the negative, specifying that "the magazine Colloquy is offered by the Board of Christian Education as a resource material", as the only consideration officially set forth as the reason for this action, and

Whereas, in the debate concerning this action, it was positively stated that the relationship of the Board of Christian Education to Colloquy was purely advisory, and in particular:

The Board of Christian Education has no financial interest in the magazine, nor financial obligations to the magazine, other than the actual expenses of those representatives of the Board who meet from time to time in the interest of the magazine, and

The Board has no direct control over the contents of the magazine, their relationship being solely advisory, and

Whereas, each issue of Colloquy has a printed statement indicating that it is published by the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., the United Church of Christ, and the Presbyterian Church, U.S., thus giving the impression that each denomination bears its share of the responsibility for the purpose, editorial policy and contents of the magazine, and

Whereas, the use of the name of the "Presbyterian Church, U.S.", in such a manner would lead the average reader to conclude that the publication has the approval of the General Assembly,

Therefore, the Presbytery of Asheville, in session January 23, 1971, hereby overtures the General Assembly to meet June 13, 1971, to direct the Board of Christian Education to disassociate itself from the publication of Colloquy at the earliest possible date.

40. From the Presbytery of Atlanta:

Whereas, it appears that the magazine, Colloquy has, in fact, provided resource material to help the Church understand the world in which we live,

Whereas, this material has been interpreted differently by various segments of the Church (i.e., the vote 169 to 179 by the 1970 General Assembly),

Whereas, some of the material used raises the question of its value to the readership of the magazine,
Whereas, there seems to be a serious lack in the overall thrust of the magazine to establish an affirmative and positive witness to the Christian faith in connection with the very serious problems dealt with in the publication, it calls into question the real value to its readership and to the life of the Church,
Therefore, be it resolved that Atlanta Presbytery overture the General Assembly to reconsider and reverse its action in connection with continuing the support of the magazine, Colloquy.

41. From the Presbytery of Knoxville:

Knoxville Presbytery requests the 111th General Assembly to order the Board of Christian Education to withdraw immediately from its joint efforts with the United Presbyterian Church and the United Church of Christ in publishing Colloquy magazine, and to discontinue all dissemination of it.

42. From the Presbytery of Mobile:

Whereas the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has as its stated policy that it is appropriate for it to offer its people 'resources compiled by Christians which may or may not reflect the Christian stance, which will help the church better understand the world in which we live and to which we must witness and minister' (June 1970).

Therefore the Presbytery of Mobile hereby (after prior communication with the Board of Christian Education) respectfully requests the General Assembly to allow the Board of Christian Education to offer whatever resources they so desire—but to direct the Board of Christian Education to withdraw the name and support of the Presbyterian Church in the United States from a joint venture known as Colloquy.

43-44. From the Presbyteries of East Arkansas and Northwest Missouri-Union:

In recognition of the appearance of the Joint Committee on Worship for the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. book of services, The Worshipbook, being published for all three denominations by Westminster Press; and,

In light of the facts that this new volume, The Worshipbook, has the prospects of becoming the most popular book of services among American Presbyterian people this century partially because the services included are written so that they consistently insist on the corporate nature of worship; partially because the services employ a straight-forward use of words and language used by contemporary Americans; partially because these corporate, contemporary services rest solidly upon the foundations of the Holy Scriptures and the Reformed traditions; and in additional light of the facts that The Worshipbook adopts the very best that fellow Christians in other traditions and Churches offer, especially in the excellent lectionary and in the refreshing versions of the Lord's Prayer, the Apostles' Creed, and the Nicene Creed; the Presbytery of East Arkansas (Northwest Missouri-Union) respectfully overtures the General Assembly to seek to provide this excellent book to its people in an inexpensive, brightly covered, paperbound edition.

Realizing that the presently offered leatherette-bound edition, complete with ribbon markers, requires the presently quoted $4.50 selling price; and realizing this book is being printed by one of the largest printers in this country which consistently prints attractive, inexpensive paperbound materials; and finally, being cognizant of the situation of our Lutheran brothers whose fine, new book of services is being sold in large numbers for $1.85 per copy, we earnestly seek an alteration of the situation which offers no choices in editions and prices; and which, in our opinion, unfortunately restricts the distribution of the book almost exclusively to ministers.

(Note: Overture 44 from the Presbytery of Northwest Missouri-Union is identical with the above Overture. The full text of all overtures will be in the hands of the Standing Committee—Stated Clerk.)

64. From the Presbytery of St. Andrew:

Whereas, the Council on Church and Society, a division of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, has for some years been cooperating with the UPUSA Council on Church and Society in publishing a magazine known as Church and Society, the March-April, 1970, issue of which said, "The church should point the way with compassion and wisdom to a way of life that enables those who are single to express their sexuality and to establish deep sustaining relationships with men who may or may not be married"—and

Whereas, the open advocacy of such a philosophy flouts God's moral law on adultery as it is clearly revealed in the Old and New Testaments;

Now therefore, be it resolved that the Presbytery of St. Andrew respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to request the Board of Christian Education to order its Council on Church and Society to withdraw from its joint sponsorship of Church and Society magazine.

70. From the Presbytery of Hanover:Whereas:

1. The 1965 General Assembly affirmed the importance of continuing education for the ministers of our Church and took steps to follow-up that affirmation; and

2. Subsequent experience indicates that definite financial provision needs to be made to encourage and enable ministers and other professional church leaders to participate in the programs of continuing education that are now open to them; and

3. This provision can be made by stipulating in the terms of the call of a minister and/or director of Christian education that a period of time (suggested: a minimum of twelve consecutive days) and a sum of money (suggested: a minimum of $150.00) be made available each year to the minister and/or director of Christian education for use in continuing education away from the parish;

Therefore:

Hanover Presbytery overtures the General Assembly to authorize and instruct its Committee on the Certification of Lay Workers to study the need for some such provision of time and money in the terms of the call of directors of Christian education, and to present to the General Assembly a plan that will meet this need.

To the Standing Committee on Church and Society, 45.45. From the Presbytery of Kanawha:

The Presbytery of Kanawha respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly that it go on record as holding that all married couples should be confronted with the seriousness of the world population explosion and the fact that it is essential that there be family planning regarding the number of children to be brought into this world in each family, and the fact that each couple should try to determine how many children it is right for them to have, and that they take steps to limit their progeny to this number conscientiously decided upon.

The General Assembly is further requested to suggest that each couple consider limiting their progeny to two children; and if a larger family is desired that adoption be considered; and that ministers include the matters of family planning and family limitation in pre-marital counseling.

To the Standing Committee on the General Council, 46-51, 61, 66, 68-69, 73.46. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

Whereas, the Council on Church and Society is presently constituted of appointees from a number of boards and agencies of the Church,

Whereas, it is administratively housed with the Board of Christian Education,

Whereas, it reports through a standing committee to the General Assembly,

Therefore be it resolved that:

The Presbytery of the Everglades respectfully overtures the General Assembly to examine the research program and action phases of the Council on Church and Society and its staff with a view to the establishment of the Council as a separate entity of the General Assembly and as such that its membership be elected directly by the Assembly and its funding be a separate item in the Assembly budget.

47. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

Whereas, the issue of joint responsibility for publishing Colloquy, with certain alleged unacceptable contents provoked an overture to the 1970 General Assembly which failed to pass by a margin of only ten votes (179 for, 189 against), and

Whereas, there is a desire on the part of boards and/or agencies of the General Assembly, for the sake of economy and co-operation, to join with others in the joint publication of magazines and other periodicals, and

Whereas, such publications carry with them the implied approval of the General Assembly of editorial policies, purpose and contents,

Therefore, the Presbytery of Asheville hereby overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to meet on June 13, 1971, to direct all boards and agencies to cease and desist from publishing any magazine or periodical jointly with any other denomination which carries by direct or indirect implication any indication that same is approved by the General Assembly, unless such approval has been given in advance by a specific act of the General Assembly.

48. From the Presbytery of Potomac:

Whereas a recent news release from the General Council office announced the formation of an independent mission board, ECOE, Executive Committee on Overseas Evangelism, which is committed "to recruiting, fielding and undergirding missionary personnel" and to raise funds from Presbyterian Church, U.S., congregations and individuals;

Whereas such an independent board seems in conflict with and contradictory to the Assembly-approved policies of our Board of World Missions;

The Presbytery of Potomac respectfully overtures the General Assembly to instruct the General Council to clarify the official status of this new board and to give guidance to the Presbyteries with regard to its support or non-support.

49. From the Presbytery of Congaree:

1. Whereas, the Witness Season offering is currently designated as a supplementary offering with seventy per cent going to the Board of World Missions and thirty per cent to the Board of National Ministries,

2. And Whereas, a supplemental offering is subject to an equalization process by the Central Treasurer of the General Assembly resulting in all causes and agencies benefiting financially from the offering,

3. And Whereas, the Board of World Missions has critical and urgent financial need in meeting worldwide opportunities and challenges,

Now, therefore, Congaree Presbytery respectfully overtures the General Assembly to designate the Witness Season offering as a supplemental offering, not subject to equalization, and that, if feasible, it be given in its entirety to the Board of World Missions.

50. From the Presbytery of Congaree:

1. Whereas, there is evident increasing dissatisfaction with the equalization system for the distribution of benevolence funds among the agencies of the General Assembly,

2. And Whereas, this dissatisfaction is finding expression in the reduction of funds given to all General Assembly causes—World Missions being one of these causes of great significance in this period of world crisis,

3. And Whereas, any reduction, withdrawal, diversion, or discontinuance of giving for this vital part of the mission of our church, as positively declared by our church at the declaration of our constitution, is contrary to our historical, traditional, and Scriptural beliefs.

4. And Whereas, we feel strongly that the equalization system, though it may have its advantages in some respects, is not the ONLY system possible for the orderly and efficient meeting of our mission in our day,

5. And Whereas, a continuance of this system in this time of world crisis may permanently retard our declared world mission by reducing missionary personnel now serving in our overseas mission fields, and cause doubt and disillusionment in the mind of the national church, and also may seriously discourage candidates now in training for world missions,

Now, therefore, Congaree Presbytery earnestly overtures the General Assembly for an immediate review of the equalization system as the ONLY system of giving for the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and devise another method of providing funds for General Assembly agencies.

51. From the Presbytery of Memphis:

Whereas, in the effort to remove a source of controversy and division; and,

Whereas, we believe it will permit individual congregations and Christians to respond as they are led by the Holy Spirit;

The Presbytery of Memphis respectfully overtures the General Assembly as follows:

To remove from its list of Budgeted Benevolence Causes both the National Council of Churches and World Council of Churches and instead to designate a Sunday each year on which a Special Offering can be received for these two causes and that this procedure be instituted in the year 1972 or as soon thereafter as possible.

61. From the Presbytery of Holston:

Whereas, there appears to exist in our denomination an oversupply of ministers and there are currently strong evidences of dysfunctionality in our system of pastoral relocations which result in critical problems in ministerial morale and extended periods of reduced effectiveness in the life of vacant churches, as evidenced by the following and other data:

A. The comprehensive analysis of these problems in the 1968 Report of the Committee on the Minister and His Work (Minutes, 1968, p. 236-248);

B. The fact that the number of ministers known by the Assembly's Committee to be "available" for call has increased from 489 in 1968 to approximately 800 in March of 1971, with the estimate that perhaps twice that number wish or need to relocate;

C. The fact that for this 800 to 1600 ministers needing relocation there exist only about 175 openings in churches of two hundred or more members;

D. The fact that of the from 450 to 500 churches and fields currently seeking pastors, more than 325 have fewer than 200 members and offer minimum challenge and remuneration, and consequently experience great difficulty in securing and retaining pastors;

E. The fact that increasing number of ministers are either demitting the ministry or turning to secular work while seeking to retain ordained status;

And Whereas, a number of agencies and groups in the church (the Assembly's Committee, the Presbytery Commissions, Synod's Committee, the Boards of National Ministries and Christian Education, the Seminaries, the Home Mission Association, the Union Seminary Alumni Associations, the Appalachia-North Carolina-West Virginia-Virginia Regional Conference of Presbytery Commissions and others), have sought diligently to find and implement such solutions as were available to them, but without notable success;

And Whereas, it thus appears the effective efforts to resolve the problem will have to take account of such related concerns as the recruiting, screening, care and training of candidates, placement and relocation procedures, the support system of ministers and their families, the career development and continuing education, understanding of ordination, the situation of the perennially pastorless church, the salary and emoluments, and retirement practices; and will require a coordinated or "systems approach", that will marshal the total resources of the denomination;

And Whereas, many of the suggestions advanced by the responsible groups as possible partial solutions are innovative, requiring either changes in our established practices and thought patterns or amendments to our Book of Church Order or both;

And Whereas, the best thinking of the Church at large needs to be crystalized at this strategic time when the Assembly's Committee is in the process of securing a new executive officer and when the Assembly is contemplating reorganization of its Boards and Agencies;

And Whereas, all these considerations seem to point to the desirability of a consultation among all those who are vitally involved in some aspect of this critical problem of pastoral relocation and ministerial morale,

Now Therefore, the Presbytery of Holston respectfully overtures the General Assembly to direct the Moderator to appoint an ad interim committee to convene a Consultation on the Church's Use of Her Ordained Ministry:

1. This Consultation to be held before the end of 1971 if possible and for the purpose of exploring and recommending ways which the Presbyterian Church in the United States may marshal its total resources in a systems approach to solve the problems of over supply of ministers and pastoral re-location;

2. The ad interim committee to include representation from the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work, the Boards of Annuities and Relief, Christian Education and National Ministries, middle judiciary persons involved in pastoral relocations, and the theological seminaries;

3. The Committee being charged with responsibility:

- a. To convene and plan the Consultation;
- b. To draw upon such consultative resources as may be helpful including consultants in designing and directing the Consultation, consultants in personnel practices and any other resources needed by the committee;
- c. To arrange for study papers analyzing various aspects of the problem and proposing solutions and to distribute those papers to the participants prior to the Consultation;
- d. To insure representation in the Consultation from agencies and judicatories as stipulated and also from appropriate special interest groups;
- e. To compile and distribute the findings of the Consultation broadly over the Church, and to report back to the General Assembly the Committee's recommendations of ways in which the church may use its total resources for the solution of these problems.

4. The Consultation on the Church's Use of Her Ordained Ministry to include representation from those agencies represented on the ad interim committee plus two persons (one clergy, one lay) elected from each Presbytery and Synod plus others as may be designated by the ad interim committee;

5. The expenses of the ad interim committee be borne by the General Assembly up to the amount of $10,000 and the Boards, Agencies and Judicatories being asked to bear the expense of their representatives to the Consultation.

66. From the Presbytery of New Orleans:

Whereas, the cause of World Missions has been central to our denomination since its very inception; and

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church in the United States has an established Board of World Missions for the purpose of maintaining the centrality of this cause; and

Whereas, this Board, in recent years, has gained international respect for its integrity and for the high quality of its sense of mission; and

Whereas, in recent months a small group of individuals under the name of "Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism" have established an unofficial agency for the purpose of raising funds apart from, and in competition with, our Board of World Missions; and

Whereas, such a program will further divide and confuse our denomination:

The Presbytery of New Orleans hereby overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States meeting in stated sessions in Massanetta Springs, Virginia, that

1. The General assembly affirm once more its unqualified support of our Board of World Missions and its program;
2. it urge sessions and individual congregations to continue to support as generously as possible that Board by their financial gifts and by their prayers;
3. the General Assembly urge sessions and individual congregations to take a firm stand against the diversion of funds from the Board of World Missions of our denomination to any independent agencies set up in judgment over against, and in competition with, the Board.

68. From the Presbytery of Atlanta:

Whereas our Board of World Missions continues to serve Christ abroad through its planned and orderly program, and

Whereas, a missionary organization known as the Executive Commission of Overseas Evangelism, which is not under the control of our General Assembly, has been established by the independent Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship with the stated intention of becoming a sending agency—recruiting, fielding, and undergirding missionary personnel, and

Whereas this program competes with our own Church's missionary endeavors, and

Whereas this organization's procedures are not in conformity with the orderly representative processes of the Presbyterian system of government,

Be it therefore resolved that Atlanta Presbytery overture the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.,

- (1) to encourage its members to give their maximum support to our World Missions enterprise and that it express our Church's gratitude to the Board of World Missions, its staff, and our missionaries themselves for their dedicated and committed work,
- (2) to instruct the General Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work to study the relationship of persons involved in the Executive Commission of Overseas Evangelism of the Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship (either as the senders or those who may be sent) in respect to their ordination vows in the Presbyterian Church in the United States and their continued connection with the Presbyterian Church in the United States and their continued connection with the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and that the General Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work send to Presbyteries' Commissions on the Minister and His Work the result of their study.

69. From the Presbytery of Atlanta:

Whereas the professional ministry has been cited by various professional and secular journals as being in a state of impending crisis regarding the increasing number of ministers and decreasing number of churches;* and

Whereas our nation's population is shifting from rural to urban, thereby leaving many smaller churches without the capacity to support a pastor or adequate community ministry; and,

Whereas our seminaries are preparing students not only for the parish ministry, but also for specialized ministries, while little attention is being given to means of using the services of these specially trained people in the ministry of the church; and,

Whereas large numbers of ministers each year are leaving church-based ministries to seek employment in secular fields (i.e., poverty program, education, government, social work, etc.), oftentimes with a feeling of rejection and/or failure and ambiguity about the status of their ministry; and,

Whereas little support, counseling, or placement help is available to those leaving church based ministries or those desiring a change within the framework of the church; and,

Whereas the aforementioned career crisis for the professional ministry is expected to accelerate during the 1970's thereby catching our denomination with little facility and readiness for meeting said crisis unless new measures are undertaken immediately;

Be it therefore resolved that Atlanta Presbytery overture the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, through its Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Boards and Agencies, to conduct a comprehensive study of the professional ministry in its entirety, and to determine how it may best provide career assistance, counseling, placement, etc. in light of the changing patterns which face the minister in our contemporary society.

73. From the Presbytery of Enoree:

Whereas the close vote on the plan to permit church union at the Presbytery level indicates conclusively that three-fourths of the presbyteries in the Presbyterian Church, U.S., are not ready to approve union with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and will not so approve in the foreseeable future; and

Whereas the current disinterest in union with another Presbyterian denomination indicates with equal certainty that the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will not approve union with denominations that are not Presbyterian in faith and order; and

Whereas our continued participation in the Consultation on Church Union has become a controversial issue which is greatly disturbing the peace of the Church; and

Whereas any plan to unite the Presbyterian Church, U.S., with churches of other than Presbyterian faith and order is specifically forbidden by the Constitution of the Church (Book of Church Order, 18-6 (17); and

Whereas the Consultation on Church Union constitutes an organized attempt to merge churches of Reformed and non-Reformed traditions, as as churches of Presbyterian faith and order and non-Presbyterian churches;

Be it resolved that this General Assembly express to its boards and agencies its disapproval of any and all programs of consolidation and joint work among the Consultation Churches at the board and agency level in the interest of "de facto" union ahead of formal constitutional union; or for any other reason not specifically approved by the General Assembly.

To the Standing Committee on Interchurch Agencies and Councils, 71.71. From the Presbytery of South Mississippi:

Whereas the General Board of the National Council of Churches in its meeting in San Diego, California, called upon our Government to adopt "new foreign policies ending its reliance on the military" and adopted the following recommendations:

1. Stop the bombing of North Vietnam as a prelude to seeking a negotiated peace.
2. Avoid provocative military actions against Mainland China in the knowledge that it has legitimate interests in Asia.
3. Press for the admission of Mainland China into the United Nations.
4. Create conditions for cooperation between the United States and the Communist countries of Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and Cuba.
5. Recognize the Government of Cuba and acknowledge the existence of the East German Democratic Republic.
6. Remove restrictions on imports from Communist countries and on cultural exchanges between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Whereas, recommendations of this nature serve only to encourage the Soviet Union and Communist China to believe that they reflect the thinking of the majority of the Christian people of the United States, and

Whereas, such recommendations by the National Council of Churches are causing thousands of Christians in denominations which are affiliated with the National Council of Churches to withdraw their membership from churches they love and have served faithfully over the years, and

Whereas, written protests have failed utterly to influence the General Board of the National Council of Churches to cease making these controversial pronouncements, and

Whereas, a recommendation that the Presbyterian Church, U.S., increase its contributions to the National Council of Churches is being presented to the 1971 General Assembly,

Now therefore, the Presbytery of South Mississippi overtures the 1971 General Assembly to give the presbyteries an opportunity to decide whether it is wise for the Presbyterian Church in the United States to continue its membership in the National Council of Churches.

To the Standing Committee on Interchurch Comity and Union, 52-56, 65, 72, 74.52. From the Presbytery of Memphis:

The Presbytery of Memphis respectfully overtures the General Assembly that in all ecumenical actions they would be guided by our standards as set forth in the constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

53. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

Whereas we believe that many actions of recent General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States have been contrary to the Constitution and doctrine of the church; and

Whereas we are convinced that some of the policies, pronouncements and programs of boards, agencies, and committees of the church violate the clear teaching of God's Word as revealed in Holy Scriptures and are dishonoring to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, resulting in serious controversy, widespread unrest, diminishing gifts, and the threat of a major division and

Whereas we are constrained by our consciences in obedience to our ordination vows to take an affirmative stand on behalf of the continuation of a Presbyterian Church loyal to Scriptures and to the Reformed Faith;

Now, therefore, we the Presbytery of the Everglades in order to make our views known hereby declare that we have covenanted together to stand for the historic doctrine and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. To be very specific:

1. The Presbytery of the Everglades will oppose organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which union would inevitably result in merger with the proposed COCU "Church of Christ Uniting"—a merger now forbidden by the Constitution of our church.

2. The Presbytery of the Everglades cannot in good conscience accept any dilution or demeaning of the Confession of Faith or any change in ordination vows which would no longer bind church officers to adhere to the doctrinal standards of our church.

Therefore, the Presbytery of the Everglades respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to withdraw from any further participation in any union movement, specifically with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and the Consultation on Church Union (COCU), also known as "Church of Christ Uniting," and be guided by adherence to the standards of our church as set forth in the Constitution in any other ecumenical actions.

54. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

In view of the divisions which have developed within our church, divisions brought about by divergence of opinions regarding the nature and mission of the Church—

In view of the growing paralysis of our work at home and abroad—

And with the feeling that only too often we have been interpreting "progress" in terms of organization, program and ecumenical involvements, while at the same time we find ourselves in grave danger of forgetting the spiritual nature of the Church and her witness—

The Presbytery of Asheville respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to:

Suspend for three years all plans directed toward the union of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and the United Presbyterian Church; all plans for uniting with COCU; and any plans directed towards the establishment of union Presbyteries and Synods and the merging of boards and agencies with those of any other church.

That during this three-year period of the General Assembly direct its primary energy toward reclaiming our spiritual heritage at the personal, congregational and Assembly-wide levels through united prayer, Bible study and the proclamation of the gospel, at the same time urging all to give full support to the boards and agencies of the church, as they in turn lead us in a united witness to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ.

It is our conviction that such an action can bring renewed blessings and usefulness to our church, while at the same time through the healing presence of the Holy Spirit, the problems which loom so large in dividing us will be resolved to the glory of God in our personal lives and in the life of the Church.

55. From the Presbytery of Augusta-Macon:

The Presbytery of Augusta-Macon, in stated session on January 26, 1971, overtures the General Assembly as follows: "While continuing to pursue every avenue of cooperation and mutual assistance with all our brothers in Christ, to call a moratorium at this time in the life of our denomination on the consideration of plans of union with other ecclesiastical bodies for the peace and unity of our Church until such time as the mind of the Church seems more ready to follow in whatever direction the Spirit of God might lead in the structure of His Church; and Further, that the energy of our Church at this time be consciously directed toward a reconciliation among us as brothers in Christ and a redirection of our efforts toward an obedient response to love as Christ has loved us."

56. From the Presbytery of Central Mississippi:

Whereas, there are widely divergent views of theology in the Presbyterian Church in the United States;

Whereas, there are widely divergent views of the mission and work of the Church in the Presbyterian Church in the United States;

Whereas, these differences cause much waste of time, effort and funds by Presbyterians, and often issue in conflicts that are bitter and sinful;

Whereas, there is reason to believe that similar diversities and conflicts exist in other Presbyterian and Reformed Churches;

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church in the United States owes it to all her present members to seek their peace and good; and,

Whereas, it would serve as a worthy testimony to the Church and to the world to show that Christians can differ and even take separate paths in love;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Central Mississippi respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to:

1. Appoint an Ad Interim Committee representative of the different segments and viewpoints of the Church to consider the advisability of providing a plan of realignment of Presbyterians into two Churches, one reflecting the historic Reformed theology and Presbyterian polity and mission of the Church, and the other reflecting the contemporary and broadening view of theology, polity and mission of the Church. Such a plan would provide for the peaceful separation, allowing freedom of action to Congregations, Presbyteries and Synods in deciding ecclesiastical affiliation, with an equitable settlement on property, annuities and other matters.
2. Invite all those Presbyterian and Reformed Churches in this country with which we have fraternal relations to appoint similar committees, so that such a realignment might be accomplished across the nation, thus allowing for the ecumenical development of the Church in both of the streams which would flow from such a realignment.

65. From the Presbytery of Southwest Georgia:

The Presbytery of Southwest Georgia, at its Forty-fifth Semi-Annual Stated Meeting held in the Americus Presbyterian Church in Americus, Georgia, on April 20, 1971, respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to withdraw from both conversations with and the present participation in the Consultation on Church Union.

72. From the Presbytery of Enoree:

Whereas the close vote on the plan to permit church union at the Presbytery level indicates conclusively that three-fourths of the presbyteries in the Presbyterian Church, U.S., are not ready to approve union with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and will not so approve in the foreseeable future; and

Whereas the current disinterest in union with another Presbyterian denomination indicates with equal certainty that the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will not approve union with denominations that are not Presbyterian in faith and order; and

Whereas our continued participation in the Consultation on Church Union has become a controversial issue which is greatly disturbing the peace of the Church; and

Whereas any plan to unite the Presbyterian Church, U.S., with churches of other than Presbyterian faith and order is specifically forbidden by the Constitution of the Church (Book of Church Order, 18-6 (17); and

Whereas the Consultation on Church Union constitutes an organized attempt to merge churches of Reformed and non-Reformed traditions, as well as churches of Presbyterian faith and order and non-Presbyterian churches;

Now therefore be it resolved that the Presbytery of Enoree overture the 1971 General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to withdraw from its participation in the Consultation on Church Union.

74. From the Presbytery of Memphis:

Whereas a proposed plan of union between the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., is to be presented to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. meeting at Massanetta Springs, Virginia, and to the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., meeting at Rochester, N.Y., and

Whereas the presbyteries of both denominations will need wise counsel as they study the proposed Plan of Union, and

Whereas such guidance was provided on another occasion by the committee which drafted a previous plan of union,

Therefore, the Presbytery of Memphis respectfully overtures the General Assembly as follows:

To request the "Committee of 24" to prepare a concise statement to be distributed in pamphlet form setting forth clearly the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed Plan of Union between the two churches.

To the Standing Committee on Judicial Business, 1-31.

1. From the Presbytery of Brazos:

Whereas the Book of Church Order, Section 9-2, states that: "Both men and women shall be eligible to hold Church offices;" and

Whereas the General Assembly has urged the involvement of women in policy-making positions and has requested that we make known our outstanding leaders among women to be considered for appointments by the Permanent Nominating Committee of the General Assembly; therefore

The Presbytery of Brazos overtures the General Assembly to remove the word "male" from the last sentence of Section 5-4., and remove the word "male" from sentence number 3, Section 3-2., of the Book of Church Order.

2. From the Presbytery of Augusta-Macon:

The Presbytery of Augusta-Macon, in Stated Session on January 26, 1971, overtures the General Assembly as follows: "In the light of contradictory court cases, claims and counterclaims and general confusion in the denomination on the question, to reaffirm for the Presbyterian Church in the United States the historic right of local congregations to own and control the property of the local church."

3. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

Whereas, the division in the Presbyterian Church in the United States has become so serious,

Whereas, according to the Book of Church Order 16-7 (8), the respective presbyteries possess authority "To receive and dismiss churches", and

Whereas, the General Assembly has recognized this authority in past action with reference to the dismissal of churches by presbyteries (See Assembly's Digest, 1861-1965 edition, pp. 98-99, 322f., or Assembly's Digest, 1861-1944 edition, pp. 105-6, 316, 317, 319) and

Whereas, under our present policy a congregation normally holds title to its own property, and may buy, sell, mortgage, or improve its property without reference to the Presbytery of which it is a member,

Therefore, the Presbytery of the Everglades, in its stated meeting on January 19, 1971, respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, in keeping with the authority of Presbyteries "To receive and dismiss churches," as provided in the Book of Church Order 16-7(8), to amend the Book of Church Order so as to provide an honorable and orderly procedure by which congregations which feel that they can no longer in good conscience remain a part of the Presbyterian Church in the United States may, at their request, with their property, separate themselves from the Presbyterian Church in the United States

4. From the Presbytery of Savannah:

Whereas, the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia has negated the implied trust theory as it relates to the real and personal property of a local congregation and its parent denomination in its disposition of the civil law suit involving the Mary Elizabeth Blue Hull Memorial Church and the Eastern Heights Church of Savannah, Georgia,

Therefore, the Presbytery of Savannah respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to instruct its Permanent Judicial Commission to make a thorough study of Section 9-3., Book of Church Order, in light of the above, and recommend such changes as may be necessary to make more specific the interest of the parent church and the local congregation in the real and personal property of said congregation.

5. From the Presbytery of Brazos:

Whereas the Book of Church Order Section 8-9, (Form of Government) specifies that a member who for one year willfully does not participate in the ordinances at this church nor otherwise express a serious interest in the church may be transferred by the Session to the inactive roll; and

Whereas it is not uncommon for persons to place their name on the active roll and immediately become inactive; and

Whereas our migratory society causes such situations of inactivity to exist even when extreme care is taken to examine the credentials of candidates for membership or preparatory courses for membership provided; and

Whereas the conditions of our constitution pertaining to active membership can be met by members who attend only once per year upon worship services; and

Whereas such infrequent and minimal attendance causes the reporting of false statistics by particular churches to the higher courts, thus causing the per capita giving figures to be likewise inaccurate; and

Whereas such delinquency can be a demoralizing factor in the life of a particular church insofar as church membership is held without evidence of witness and responsibility to God in Christ and God's community;

Therefore the Presbytery of Brazos overtures the General Assembly to amend the Book of Church Order, Section 8-9, by deleting the words "for one year willingly," and thus alter the first sentence of said paragraph to read: "A member, who does not participate in the ordinances at his church nor otherwise express a serious interest in the church, may be transferred by the Session to the inactive roll." All other terms and conditions of the paragraph would remain the same.

6. From the Presbytery of Potomac:

The Presbytery of Potomac respectfully overtures the General Assembly to amend the Book of Church Order, Section 16-1, to read as follows: "The Presbytery consists of its member Ministers and all the churches within a certain district. When a Presbytery meets each church has the right to be represented by a Ruling Elder commissioned by the Church Session. Any church which has two or more Ministers has the right to be represented by Ruling Elders in number equal to the total number of its installed Ministers, Associate Ministers and Assistant Ministers."

7. From the Presbytery of Northeast Texas:

The Presbytery of Northeast Texas respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, meeting at Massanetta Springs, Virginia, June 13, 1971, as follows:

Amend Section 16-1., of the Book of Church Order by adding the following, after the first sentence, so that the section will read:

16-1. The Presbytery consists of its Member Ministers and all the churches within a certain district.

Every congregation which has a Stated Pastor has a right to be represented by one Ruling Elder, and every congregation having two or more Co-Pastors, or a Pastor and one or more Associate or Assistant Pastors, has a right to be represented by Ruling Elders in number equal to the total number of its installed Pastors, Co-Pastors, Associate Pastors and Assistant Pastors. Annually, on the first day of January, the Stated Clerk of each Presbytery shall ascertain the number of Teaching Elders who are members of the judicatory and the number of Ruling Elders which the churches are entitled to send as representatives to Presbytery meetings. When the number of Teaching Elders is larger the Stated Clerk shall bring the imbalance to the attention of the Presbytery at its next meeting. The Presbytery shall redress the imbalance by inviting particular churches to elect additional Ruling Elder representatives on the basis of specified numbers of communicant members, or on some other basis acceptable to Presbytery. Every regularly organized church without a Pastor shall be entitled to be represented in Presbytery by a Ruling Elder.

8. From the Presbytery of Northeast Texas:

The Presbytery of Northeast Texas respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, meeting at Massanetta Springs, Virginia, June 13, 1971, as follows:

Amend Section 17-1., of the Book of Church Order by adding the following, after the first sentence, so that the section will read:

17-1. The Synod consists of all the churches in a district comprising at least three Presbyteries and of the Ministers who are members of the included Presbyteries.

Every congregation having two or more Co-Pastors, or a Pastor and one or more Associate or Assistant Pastors, has a right to be represented by Ruling Elders in a number equal to the number of its installed Co-Pastors, Pastors, Associate Pastors and Assistant Pastors. Annually on the first day of January the Stated Clerk of Synod shall ascertain the number of Teaching Elders who are members of the judicatory and the number of Ruling Elders which the churches are entitled to send as representatives to Synod meetings. When the number of Teaching Elders is larger, the Stated Clerk shall bring the imbalance to the attention of the Synod at its next meeting. The Synod shall redress the imbalance by inviting particular churches to elect additional Ruling Elder representatives on the basis of specific numbers of communicant members, or on some other basis acceptable to Synod. Every regularly organized church without a Pastor shall be entitled to be represented in Synod by a Ruling Elder.

9. From the Presbytery of Hanover:

Hanover Presbytery respectfully overtures the General Assembly to amend Section 16-1 of the Book of Church Order as follows:

After the first sentence of Section 16-1, strike the remainder and add:

"Every congregation shall be represented by one Ruling Elder; and every congregation having a Pastor and one or more Associate or Assistant Pastors has a right to be represented by Ruling Elders in number equal to the total number of its installed Pastors, Associate Pastors, and Assistant Pastors. Annually, on the first day of January, the Stated Clerk of each Presbytery shall ascertain the number of Minister members who reside within the bounds of the Presbytery and the number of Elders which the churches are entitled to send as commissioners to Presbytery meeting. When the number of ministers is larger, the Stated Clerk shall bring the imbalance to the attention of the Presbytery at its next meeting. The Presbytery shall redress the imbalance by inviting particular churches to elect Elder commissioners on the basis of specified numbers of communicant members, or on some other basis acceptable to Presbytery."

10a. From the Presbytery of Columbia:

The Presbytery of Columbia respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to instruct its Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries to include as the first step in its plan the recommendation that Synod as a court of the Church be abolished.

10b. From the Presbytery of Columbia:

The Presbytery of Columbia respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly as follows:
Whereas in days of primitive travel and communication, the Synod performed a vital service but now has become an ecclesiastical fifth wheel which complicates budgets and promotes meaningless duplication;

Whereas the absence of Synod would allow each Presbytery to set programs, make budgets, raise money, in its own area without confusing duplication;

Whereas Synods once helped with the establishment and maintenance of institutions, but are now (or regional Synods as proposed will be) a complicated hindrance in this respect;

Whereas we can save money, free the time and talents of Ministers, and increase local church and Ruling Elder participation by putting all our ecclesiastical eggs in one Presbytery basket;

Whereas Presbytery as the only intermediate court would allow each Presbytery to look north, south, east or west, as needs arise;

Whereas nothing basic to the Presbyterian system of polity would be lost if Synod as a court of the Church were abolished;

Now therefore be it resolved:

1. That the Assembly declare itself in favor of abolishing Synod.

2. That the following amendments to the Book of Church Order be approved and sent down to the Presbyteries for advice and consent:

Chapter 17, The Synod—Delete the entire chapter.

13-1 Delete "Synods".

13-2 Change the fourth and fifth sentences to read: "The Moderator of the General Assembly shall be elected at each stated meeting and must be a member of the court. He shall serve until his successor is elected."

13-5 Delete in the first sentence "The Synod".

14-5 Delete in the second sentence "the Synod over what belongs in common to three or more Presbyteries, and their Ministers, Sessions and churches;"

15-6(15) Delete "and the Synod".

16-7(22) Delete "to the Synod or".

16-8 Delete in the first sentence "Synod", and insert in its place "General Assembly". Delete in the second sentence "The Synod and".

16-9 Delete in the last sentence "Synod".

16-10 Delete in the last sentence "Synod and".

18-3 and 18-5 Delete in both sections "under the jurisdiction of at least five Synods".

18-6(5) Delete "Synods" and insert "Presbyteries".

18-6(9) Delete "Synods" and insert "Presbyteries".

18-6(14) Delete "Synods" and insert "Presbyteries".

19-4 Delete in the first sentence "or the Synod". Delete in the second sentence "or Synod".

19-5 Delete in the second sentence "of Synod or".

Chapter 22, Synod and General Assembly Committees on the Minister and His Work. Amend the Title of this chapter to read "General Assembly Committee on the Minister and His Work".

22-1 Delete the entire section.

22-2 Renumber to read 22-1.

118-1 Delete "or Synod".

3. That the following actions relative to the amendments above be approved:

18-3 and 18-5 Refer these sections to the Permanent Judicial Commission for study and its recommendation as to whether further amendment is desirable.

20-1 Refer this section to the Permanent Judicial Commission for study and recommendation.

Chapter 32 Refer this chapter to the Permanent Judicial Commission for study and recommendation, since the word "Synod(s)" occurs at least eight times and refers not only to our Synods but also to the courts of our sister denominations.

11. From the Presbytery of Central Mississippi:

Whereas, the 110th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States voted to allow Presbyteries to send youth delegates to the 111th General Assembly with the privilege of the floor, with a vote in the Standing Committees, and with the expenses of such delegates to be borne by a per capita assessment of all of the Presbyteries; and,

Whereas, "the officers of the Church, by whom all its powers are administered, are, according to the Scriptures, Ministers of the Word, Ruling Elders and Deacons" (B.C.O., Preface, III.4.), and the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church places the governing of the Church in the hands of commissioned Presbyters, who have been ordained, who meet certain qualifications and take certain vows, and who, in the case of Pastors and Ruling Elders, have been called to office by an election of a particular congregation of God's people; and,

Whereas, "Ruling Elders, the immediate representatives of the people, are chosen by them" (B.C.O. 11-2.), and in the Assembly the representatives of all ages and conditions of God's people are the regularly elected commissioners; and,

Whereas, it was recognized by the Assembly that "the granting of the right to participate as a member of a Standing Committee of the General Assembly together with full voting privileges in all matters brought before the Standing Committee is a marked departure from the current and historic government of the Church by duly elected Presbyters;" and,

Whereas, in Scripture younger persons are required to be subject unto the elders (I Peter 5:5), and the change under consideration tends to subvert the Scriptural order as well as the constitutional structure of the Church; and,

Whereas, the exclusive and extraordinary representation of youth as a special class in the Standing Committees discriminates against the other ages, conditions, and circumstances that are to be found in the Church and who have no special delegates to speak for them; and,

Whereas, younger persons can be elected Presbyters whenever and wherever they exhibit the Scriptural and constitutional qualifications;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Central Mississippi respectfully overtures the General Assembly:

1. To make no changes in our Constitution that would tend to alter our representative government by duly elected officers;
2. To make every effort to see that the concerns of youth are brought before the General Assembly through the regular and normal channels;
3. To limit voting in Standing Committees to regular commissioners; and,
4. To meet the expenses of the youth delegates by assessment only of those presbyteries that desire to elect, and be represented by, youth delegates.

12. From the Synod of Mississippi:

The Synod of Mississippi requests the General Assembly (1) to instruct its Permanent Judicial Commission to submit a report to the Assembly, recommending an answer to the question, Does the General Assembly have the constitutional right to restructure synods in such a way as to alter the bounds of existing presbyteries? and (2) to adopt no plan for restructuring synods until such a report is received from the Commission and approved by the Assembly.

13. From the Presbytery of Congaree:

Whereas, the Plan of Restructuring Synods proposed to the 110th General Assembly included, in several cases, placing part of an existing Presbytery in one Synod and part of it in another; and

Whereas, such a division of a Presbytery into two Synods may be proposed to the 111th General Assembly or some future General Assembly; and,

Whereas, this would effectively and definitely change the boundaries of Presbyteries; and,

Whereas, the Book of Church Order, Chapter 17-5(4), gives to the Synod the powers to change the boundaries of a Presbytery; and,

Whereas, the 110th General Assembly ruled that a division of a Presbytery into two Synods by the General Assembly was constitutional upon the recommendation of the Constitutional Committee of that Assembly; and

Whereas, the Constitutional Committee of the 110th General Assembly had only a short time in which to study this constitutional question and was composed of only three members, one of which (Rev. Charles Moffatt) did not participate in the deliberations or findings because he was a member of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries; and,

Whereas, this matter involving an interpretation of the Book of Church Order has not been studied by the Permanent Judicial Commission of the General Assembly;

Therefore, Congaree Presbytery overtures the 111th General Assembly to rule, after a study by the Permanent Judicial Commission, on the constitutionality of the General Assembly changing the boundaries of a Presbytery by putting part of it into one Synod and part of it into another Synod.

14. From the Presbytery of Greenbrier:

Whereas, the Book of Church Order makes it the responsibility of the Presbytery to establish the terms of call for a Minister [B.C.O., 26-6, 21-2(1)]; and

Whereas, any changes in the terms of call therefore become also the responsibility of Presbytery to confirm or deny (B.C.O. 25-2); and

Whereas, in regard to those in the Pastoral ministry this function has been exercised but, in most Presbyteries, this function has not been met in regard to those called by Boards, Agencies, and Institutions of the Church [B.C.O. 26-8, 21-2.(2)]; and

Whereas, through the years the number of ministers called by Boards, Agencies, and Institutions of the Church has increased, and in addition, there are a considerable number of Ministers called by agencies which are not directly a part of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.; and

Whereas, the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly has indicated that the provisions of the Book of Church as now written obviously apply to Ministers under whatever governing authority their particular call is issued (Communication 3/26/62); and

Whereas, it appears that most Boards, Agencies, and Institutions of the Church, have not followed a procedure of submitting to Presbytery call terms and requests for change in terms of call of Ministers so employed by them; and

Whereas, due to various reasons caused by the complicated structure of our present generation, and provisions of the Book of Church Order regarding call terms and changes thereof have not been followed;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Greenbrier respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to study the whole matter of Presbytery responsibility for the terms of call of member Ministers, particularly those who are not in the pastoral ministry, to the end that our practice might be made to conform to our standards, or that a recommended change or clarification of our standards might be made to conform to our practice.

15. From the Presbytery of Winchester:

The Presbytery of Winchester respectfully overtures the General Assembly to change the Book of Church Order by adding to Section 14-3.(5) the following:

"When a person is called by a Presbytery or Synod to labor as its executive or as a member of its staff, the court shall clearly define his duties, specifying his responsibilities and authority. The court should have this job description reviewed with each such person frequently to the end that he may be vested with such powers as the court considers expedient for the accomplishment of its mission objectives."

16. From the Presbytery of Washburn:

(Note: the Presbytery of Washburn ceased to exist on Nov. 24, 1970. On that same date its ministers and churches became members of the Presbytery of the Ozarks-Union.—Stated Clerk.)

Whereas the Book of Church Order, Section 23-1., states that an individual's understanding of his call to the ministry shall be confirmed by "the concurring judgment of a lawful court of the church," and

Whereas the Book of Church Order, Section 21-2.(2), specifies that the Presbytery's Commission on the Minister and His Work "shall be responsible for making recommendation to Presbytery regarding calls for the services of its Ministers," and

Whereas there is some confusion regarding whether work in or through an extra-ecclesiastical institution constitutes a call to be considered within the church's understanding of ordination,

Therefore, the Presbytery of Washburn respectfully overtures the General Assembly to instruct its Permanent Theological Committee to cause a study to be made of the bases and implications of ordination to the ministry with particular reference to extra-ecclesiastical work and to the continuing jurisdiction of Presbytery over this work.

17. From the Presbytery of Charleston:

The Presbytery of Charleston respectfully overtures the General Assembly to add to the Book of Church Order, Chapter 10, a new Section, 10-8., to read as follows: When a person is called by a Presbytery or Synod to labor as its Executive, or as a member of its staff, the court shall clearly define his duties, specifying his responsibilities and authority. It shall be incumbent upon him to make a full proof of his ministry by disseminating the Gospel for the edification of the Church. The court shall review this position with such person(s) frequently to the end that he or she may be vested with such powers as the court considers expedient for the accomplishment of its mission goals.

18. From the Presbytery of South Texas:

The Presbytery of South Texas respectfully overtures the the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States asking its Permanent Theological Committee to draft a statement clarifying the meaning of the vows of ordination, Book of Church Order, Chapter 29, questions one, two and three, which are identical with those prescribed for ordination to the Gospel Ministry, (Book of Church Order, 27-6.).

Whereas, we feel that there is a lack of clarity in the wording of the vows of ordination—in particular the wording of vows one and two for both teaching and ruling elders; and

Whereas, this lack of clarity can be confusing to those who are seriously addressed by the vows; and

Whereas, we are not certain as to whether the original meaning of the vows is compatible with the present understanding of Scripture and our present theology; and

Whereas, the vows do not correspond to the vows of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America; and

Whereas, the Committee of 24 presently in conversation with a view to possible union between the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America will have to look at the difference in wording of our respective vows; and

Whereas, we understand the intention and necessity for vows within our church life;

Therefore, the Presbytery of South Texas respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States asking its Permanent Theological Committee to draft a statement clarifying the meaning of the vows of ordination, Book of Church Order, Chapter 29, questions one, two and three, which are identical with those prescribed for ordination to the Gospel Ministry, (Book of Church Order, 27-6.).

19. From the Presbytery of Columbia:

The Presbytery of Columbia respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to answer in the affirmative the overture of the Presbytery of Kanawha concerning unit votes by Presbyteries on matters amendment the Constitution and effecting church unions. (Minutes, 1970, pp. 49-50).

20. From the Synod of Appalachia:

Resolved that the Synod of Appalachia overture the General Assembly to devise means to assure that only the Presbyterian Church in the United States factor of the vote from union Presbyteries or their representatives on matters relative to union with the U.P.U.S.A. Church be considered.

21. From the Presbytery of St. Johns:

Whereas, a specific opportunity is before the Christian Outreach Committee of the Presbytery of St. Johns for the possibility of a union church with a congregation of the United Church of Christ; and,
Whereas, the United Church of Christ has an obvious portion of its heritage in the reformed tradition; and,
Whereas, the Book of Church Order, in the recently revised Chapter 31, allows union churches with one or more particular churches of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, of the Reformed Church in America, and of other reformed bodies, with the approval of Presbytery;
Therefore be it resolved, that the Presbytery of St. Johns overtures the General Assembly to define the phrase "other reformed bodies," specifically: is the United Church of Christ a "reformed body?"

22. From the Presbytery of Norfolk:

Whereas, approximately 42% of our churches have fewer than 100 members; and,
Whereas, these are often the churches with the most problems in providing adequate programs and mission emphasis; and with the most problems in securing pastoral leadership; and,
Whereas, declining rural population raises serious questions about the possibility of growth for many of these churches; and,
Whereas, urban changes have led to the decline of congregations in core cities at a time when needs are often increasing; and,
Whereas, the struggle for survival in such congregations may lead to an understandable loss of mission emphasis, both in local outreach and in the financial undergirding of the benevolence programs of the denomination; and,
Whereas, joint efforts across denominational lines in "federated" or "union" congregations, may provide a more adequate ministry, and more opportunities for mission; and,
Whereas, there are advantages in having denominational ties, as distinguished from independent "community" churches; and,
Whereas, the possibility of a joint status somewhere short of "union" was implicit in the provision for "federated" churches in B.C.O. 31-1, before the 1970 changes (see also Digest, 1965 edition, page 219); and,
Whereas, some such provision at the discretion of a Presbytery would make possible common efforts with denominations with which it might not be practical to develop formal "union" churches; and,
Whereas, the Committee on the Minister and His Work of the Synod of Virginia has taken official action encouraging an overture directed toward these ends; and,
Whereas, the Pan Presbyterian Conference has framed a series of Resolutions, one of which would accomplish this purpose (see Minutes, 1970, pp. 203-4 and 84);
Now, therefore, the Presbytery of Norfolk respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., to send down for advice and consent an amendment to the Book of Church Order patterned after the Pan Presbyterian Conference proposal as follows:

CHAPTER 33

Of Federated Particular Churches

33-1. A Presbytery may authorize one or more of its constituent churches to form a federated church with a church or churches of another denomination or denominations or may organize a federated church acting in concert with a comparable judicatory of another denomination or denominations. This shall be done by agreement in writing among the Presbytery and the comparable judicatory of the other denomination or denominations.

23. From the Presbytery of Brazos:

Whereas, the Book of Church Order Section 31-2(23), specifies that once a church becomes a union church it will take 2/3 vote of two congregational meetings not less than a year nor more than two years to dissolve;

Whereas, once a Presbytery becomes a union Presbytery all churches within the Presbytery become union churches thereby coming under the authority of 31-2(23);

Whereas, the wisdom of such a requirement is good insofar as it prevents churches from moving from one status to another without much consideration; however, as presently written, such a provision seems to apply to both the changing of status from a union church to a non-union church and to the simple dissolving of a church;

Therefore, premises considered, the following recommendations are proposed:

- 1) that the Presbytery of Brazos overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., for an interpretation of Section 31-2(23), to determine whether 31-2(23), in any way infringes upon the authority of a Presbytery to dissolve churches as per B.C.O. Section 16-7(9); and, furthermore,
- 2) that if Section 31-2(23), does conflict with Section 16-7(9), that the Permanent Judicial Commission propose an amendment to the B.C.O. in order to bring B.C.O. 31-2(23), in line with B.C.O. 16-7(9), such as, by adding to the B.C.O. the following provision:

"Provisions pertaining to the dissolving of union churches shall not in any way infringe upon the authority of Presbytery to dissolve churches, but only to churches that desire to change their status from a union church to a non-union church."

24. From the Presbytery of Louisville-Union:

Whereas, Section 32-2(3)(g), of the PCUS Book of Church Order, and paragraph 67.02, c. (7) of the UPCUSA Book of Order, provide that in the case of conflicting mandatory provisions in the constitutions of the two Churches, "the union Presbytery shall overture the General Assemblies of the denominations involved to resolve the conflict either by authoritative interpretation or by constitutional amendment;" and Whereas, during the formation of the Presbytery of Louisville (Union) there was raised a question of the individual churches' relationship to their property, and

Whereas, during such formation question was submitted that there may be conflicting mandatory provisions, regarding real property transactions, between the two constitutions, as follows:

PCUS BCO 6-2. "In buying, selling, and mortgaging real property such officers shall act solely under the authority of the corporation, granted in a duly constituted meeting of the corporation."

UPCUSA B.O. 62.08. "Whether by civil law the trustees of a particular church hold title to its property or are the officers of a corporation which holds title thereto, they shall deal with such property only as they may be authorized or directed by the Session, and their authority in respect to the selling, mortgaging, and leasing of real property shall be subject also to any rights reserved to the congregation by civil law or the bylaws of the particular church and to the permission of presbytery as herein provided."

UPCUSA B.O. 62.12. "A particular church shall not sell, mortgage or otherwise encumber any of its real property and it shall not acquire real property subject to any encumbrance or condition without the written permission of the presbytery transmitted through the session of the particular church. . . ."

Whereas, there may be conflicting mandatory provisions, regarding real property transactions, between two constitutions,

Therefore, The Presbytery of Louisville (Union) overtures the General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America as follows:

1. To adjudicate and decide whether or not there in fact exists a conflict in the above-cited constitutional provisions;
2. That if #1 is answered that a conflict does exist, to resolve the conflict either by authoritative interpretation or by constitutional amendment.

25. From the Reverend Messrs. Harry S. Hassal, Minor E. Powers, and Herman Dam:

Whereas, majority rule is the normal operating procedure within the Presbyterian Church in the United States and her courts; nevertheless, this Church has carefully guarded the rights of the minority from abuse by the majority (see Section 26-2, last paragraph, Form of Government and Chapter 19, Rules of Discipline);

Whereas, the vote adopting Chapter 32, Form of Government, was first apparently defeated in the Presbyteries and then passed by a simple majority vote of 41-36 after three Presbyteries switched their votes—this in the face of the statement of the Permanent Judicial Committee: "To be unquestionably constitutional, such amendments must have the advice and consent of three-fourths of the Presbyteries," (Minutes, 1967, page 238);

Whereas, even in those Synods where the majority of commissioners to their respective Presbytery meetings approve Chapter 32 (Union Presbyteries), there was nevertheless significant opposition, the rights of whom should be neither obscured nor ignored, for example,
 Synod of North Carolina, Majority in favor, 42.7% opposed,
 Synod of Tennessee, Majority in favor, 40.4% opposed,

Synod of Virginia, Majority in favor, 28.4% opposed,
 Synod of Texas, Majority in favor, 24.5% opposed,
 Synod of Arkansas, Majority in favor, 23.0% opposed,
 Synod of West Virginia, Majority in favor, 20.1% opposed, Synod of Kentucky, Majority in favor, 14.3% opposed, and Synod of Missouri, Majority in favor, 2.8% opposed;

Whereas, many Ministers and congregations, even now in union Presbyteries or in areas where union Presbyteries are now being contemplated, conscientiously oppose the dual membership and discipline required of them by union Presbyteries and do sincerely wish to remain in the Presbyterian Church in the United States only, desiring to recognize but one constitution and set of ordination vows, to contribute to and support but one set of denominational benevolence causes, to own property in accordance with the PCUS Book of Church Order only and in every other way preferring the undivided loyalty to Christ through but one denomination;

Whereas, there is precedent for this amendment in the Snedecor Memorial Synod and in the new Presbytery of the Ozarks-Union (Arkansas);

Therefore, in a common effort to ease tensions in the union Presbyteries by also recognizing the rights and conscientious desires of minority opinion we respectfully overture the 1971 General Assembly to approve the following amendment to the Book of Church Order and send it to the Presbyteries for their advice and consent:

That Section 32-2(4), of the Form of Government, Book of Church Order, be amended by adding the words, "with the exceptions noted below in subsections (4)(a) and (4)(b)" after the words "of the uniting Presbyteries (Presbytery and Classis)", in lines 4 and 5, so that this section would read: "The membership of the union Presbytery (Classis) shall consist of all minister members of each uniting Presbytery (Presbytery and Classis), and all the churches (elder representatives thereof) of the uniting Presbyteries (Presbytery and Classis), with the exceptions noted below in subsections (4)(a) and (4)(b), plus all others received by the union Presbytery (Classis), subsequent to the effective date of this union. When the Constitutions of the Churches vary as to elder representation, that provision which confers the largest representation shall apply.

(a) Any minister conscientiously opposing the dual membership and discipline required by his union Presbytery shall have the right to transfer his membership to a non-union Presbytery within one year from the effective date of this constitutional amendment or from the consummation date of his union Presbytery, whichever is later. In this union Presbytery case this provision shall specifically take precedence over the reference in section 16-2, dealing with the presbytery membership of a minister.

(b) Any church which at a regularly constituted congregational meeting votes its opposition by a two-thirds majority to the dual membership and discipline required by its union Presbytery shall have the right to transfer its membership to a non-union Presbytery."

(This overture, rejected by the Presbytery of Nashville, is presented under Standing Rule 7.5—Stated Clerk.)

26. From the Presbytery of Central Texas-Union:

The Presbytery of Central Texas-Union respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to amend the Book of Church Order by adding the following paragraph to Chapter 31:

"Where a particular church has become a union church by action of its Presbytery, rather than on the initiative of the congregation, it may—should it become a member of a non-union Presbytery—revert to its former status through a two-thirds affirmative vote in each of two congregational meetings, held not less than one year and not more than two years apart."

27. From the Session of the Youngblood Memorial Presbyterian Church, Waco, Texas:

Whereas, many congregations, against their wishes and without congregational action, will become union churches by virtue of the Presbytery becoming a union Presbytery; and

Whereas, in the changing of Presbytery boundaries, some of these churches subsequently will become members of non-union Presbyteries; and

Whereas, the present constitution of our Church makes no provision for their relief from this position of dual responsibility except by dissolution (and loss of property);

The Session of Youngblood Memorial Presbyterian Church, Waco, Texas, does respectfully overture the 111th General Assembly to amend the Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, to provide that "A union church which became such without congregational action but by virtue of the Presbytery becoming a union Presbytery, in event of its becoming a member of a non-union Presbytery, shall revert to its former status as a non-union church, with all property rights, unless by congregational action it chooses to remain a union church."

(This overture, rejected by the Presbytery of Central Texas, is presented under Standing Rule 7.5—Stated Clerk.)

28. From the Presbytery of the Ozarks-Union:

Whereas, neither the Book of Church Order of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., nor the Book of Order of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., in general, or in particular reference to Chapter 32 B.C.O. or 67.02, B.O., provide any base for interpretation or disposition by a church court or by its officers responsible for such interpretation, where a Ruling Elder, currently serving on the session of a member church in a union Presbytery, desires to renounce the authority and jurisdiction (but not the communion) of one of the two denominations of which the particular church and Presbytery are members; and

Whereas, a session is confronted with the task of acting responsibility within both constitutions where there is no interpretation offered on such situations which are herein indicated;

Therefore, the Presbytery of the Ozarks respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., on the basis of B.C.O. 32-2(3)(g), to resolve this conflict, in consultation and cooperation with the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., by either authoritative interpretation or by amending the constitutions.

29. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

The Presbytery of the Everglades overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, meeting at Massanetta Springs, Virginia, on June 13, 1971, as follows:

Whereas, considerable confusion and disorder have erupted in a number of places within the boundaries of the General Assembly concerning the implications and requirements of Chapter 32 of the Book of Church Order on union Presbyteries, as this chapter in turn relates to the correct disposition of church property, and the distribution of the spheres of ecclesiastical government, all of which are disruptive of sound discipline and good order; and

Whereas, there is considerable question on the part of many in the church as to whether or not this chapter has been added by proper constitutional procedure;

Therefore, the Presbytery of the Everglades respectfully overtures the General Assembly to initiate the action needed to delete Chapter 32 from the Book of Church Order.

30. From the Presbytery of Savannah:

Whereas, the Mary Elizabeth Blue Hull Memorial Presbyterian Church and the Eastern Heights Presbyterian Church of Savannah, Georgia, withdraw from the communion of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and

Whereas, there is no provision in the constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States for such a withdrawal,

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the Presbytery of Savannah respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to advise the Presbytery of Savannah how it may properly remove the said churches from its roll.

31. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

In view of the divisions which have developed within our Church, divisions brought about by divergence of opinions regarding the nature and mission of the Church—

In view of the growing paralysis of our work at home and abroad—

And with the feeling that only too often we have been interpreting "progress" in terms of organization, program and ecumenical involvements, while at the same time we find ourselves in grave danger of forgetting the spiritual nature of the Church and her witness—

The Presbytery of Asheville respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to suspend for three years all plans for any change in the Book of Church Order having to do with the ownership of church property by the local congregation.

That during this three-year period the General Assembly direct its primary energy toward reclaiming our spiritual heritage at the personal, congregational and Assembly-wide levels through united prayer, Bible study and the proclamation of the gospel, at the same time urging all to give full support to the boards and agencies of the Church, as they in turn lead us in a united witness to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ.

It is our conviction that such an action can bring renewed blessings and usefulness to our Church, while at the same time through the healing presence of the Holy Spirit, the problems which loom so large in dividing us will be resolved to the glory of God in our personal lives and in the life of the Church.

To the Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work, 67.67. From the Presbytery of Hanover:

Whereas:

The 1965 General Assembly affirmed the importance of continuing education for the ministers of our Church and took steps to follow-up that affirmation; and

Subsequent experience indicates that definite financial provision needs to be made to encourage and enable ministers and other professional church leaders to participate in the programs of continuing education that are now open to them; and

This provision can be made by stipulating in the terms of the call of a minister and/or director of Christian education that a period of time (suggested: a minimum of twelve consecutive days) and a sum of money (suggested: a minimum of $150.00) be made available each year to the minister and/or director of Christian education for use in continuing education away from the parish;

Therefore:

1. Hanover Presbytery overtures the General Assembly to authorize and instruct its Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work to study the need for some such provision of time and money in the terms of the call of ministers, and to present to the General Assembly a plan, including the form of a call, that will meet this need.

To the Standing Theological Committee, 57-59.

57. From the Presbytery of Memphis:

Whereas, the baptised children of believers are regarded as members of the body of Christ; and,

Whereas, children of believers are not permitted to partake of the Lord's Supper with other believers of the body of Christ:

The Presbytery of Memphis respectfully overtures the General Assembly as follows:

To study the issue of communion for children and to recommend specific action.

58. From the Presbytery of Norfolk:

Whereas, the Book of Church Order, Form of Government, Preface III-3, declares that children of church members are also members of the Church, whether baptized or not (see also B.C.O. 7-3); and,

Whereas, ceremonies and celebration of rites of the Church elicit an inner-emotional response and communication far beyond simple knowledge and "discernment"; and,

Whereas, manifesting a deep concern for the total Christian education of our children, and aware of the value of this Sacrament in teaching as well as in symbolizing the total self-giving of Himself by our Lord, as well as manifesting a concern for the child who sits year after year denied the visible symbols of his faith said by the Church to be holy and meaningful to all Christians; and in view of fresh considerations and actions by other Church bodies concerning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Norfolk respectfully overtures the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to instruct its Permanent Theological Committee to study (in addition to the matter of confirmation now before it) the whole relation of children of the covenant to communing membership; and, if it deems it in order, to recommend such changes as are necessary in our constitution in order to admit children of the covenant to the Lord's Table on their initiative and that of their parents in consultation with their Session and Pastor.

59. From the Presbytery of Asheville:

In view of the divisions which have developed within our Church, divisions brought about by divergence of opinions regarding the nature and mission of the Church —

In view of the growing paralysis of our work at home and abroad —

And with the feeling that only too often we have been interpreting "progress" in terms of organization, program and ecumenical involvements, while at the same time we find ourselves in grave danger of forgetting the spiritual nature of the Church and her witness —

The Presbytery of Asheville respectfully overtures the 111th General Assembly to:

Suspend for three years all work on a new Confession of Faith.

That during this three-year period the General Assembly direct its primary energy toward reclaiming our spiritual heritage at the personal, congregational and Assembly-wide levels through united prayer, Bible study and the proclamation of the gospel, at the same time urging all to give full support to the boards and agencies of the Church, as they in turn lead us in a united witness to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ.

It is our conviction that such an action can bring renewed blessings and usefulness to our Church, while at the same time through the healing presence of the Holy Spirit, the problems which loom so large in dividing us will be resolved to the glory of God in our personal lives and in the life of the Church.

OVERTURES RECEIVED TOO LATE FOR THE 1971 GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND REFERRED TO THE PERMANENT JUDICIAL COMMISSION UNDER FORM OF GOVERNMENT SECTIONS 20.6 AND 20.7

(Note: This material, as required by the Constitution, is referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission for their report to the 1972 General Assembly. See also Resolution 29, p. 74, and Resolution 39, p. 76.—Stated Clerk.)

60. From the Presbytery of Kanawha:

The Presbytery of Kanawha overtures the General Assembly as follows:

That the Book of Church Order Sections 5-4 and 26-2 (second paragraph) be amended so that instead of "any adult male member" they read "any adult member," and that Section 29-3, (in the question addressed to the members of the church) be amended so that instead of "Do you, the members of this church, acknowledge and receive this brother as Ruling Elder (or Deacon)" it read "Do you, the members of this church, acknowledge and receive this brother (or sister) as a Ruling Elder (or Deacon)" or to read "Do you, the people of this congregation, acknowledge and receive this member as a Ruling Elder (or Deacon)."

That, if the Permanent Judicial Commission note other sections of the Book of Church Order which are not consistent in language with the statement "Both men and women shall be eligible to hold church offices", it recommend changes accordingly.

75. From the Presbytery of the Everglades:

The Presbytery of the Everglades at its April meeting approved the writing of a letter to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States asking for an inquiry into the establishment of the best relationship between the Presbyterian work being done in Puerto Rico by ministers who are members of the Presbytery of the Everglades and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

By way of commentary we now have two ministers who have been received as members of our presbytery and are responsible to the Court as Teaching Elders but whose work is independent of any Court of the Church. It is felt that the denomination should establish some line of responsibility for this work.

76. From the Presbytery of the Ozarks:

Whereas, the Presbytery of the Ozarks, agreeably to the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and by permission of the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma, was effected by a merger of the former Presbytery of Washburn (PCUS) and the Presbytery of Arkansas (UPCUSA); and

Whereas, the newly constituted presbytery has 67 churches which are members of the presbytery and under its jurisdiction, 8 of which churches are geographically located in two sister presbyteries of the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma; and

Whereas, the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma, in its 1970 meeting held in Hot Springs, Arkansas, First Presbyterian Church, did approve the plan of union and give permission to the creation of a union presbytery as indicated above; and

Whereas, the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma did direct the Presbytery of the Ozarks to overture the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States for the purpose of seeking, by an authoritative interpretation, an affirmation of the Presbytery of the Ozarks laboring outside its geographical bounds (and ecclesiastically within the bounds of two sister presbyteries); and

Whereas, the Presbytery of East Arkansas and the Presbytery of Ouachita concurred with the Presbytery of Washburn in its request to the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma to permit us to labor outside the bounds of the presbytery and ecclesiastically within the bounds of these two presbyteries;

The Presbytery of the Ozarks, being a union presbytery, does hereby respectfully overture the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to affirm by an authoritative interpretation the action taken as described herein as being proper.

77. From the Presbytery of the Ozarks:

The Presbytery of the Ozarks, meeting in Special Session at Arkansas College, Batesville, Arkansas, May 18, 1971, does hereby respectfully overture the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to direct its Office of the General Assembly to print all statistics for union presbyteries in its Annual Reports in whole and total figures rather than by halves and near-halves; and simply carry in bold face type at the bottom of the presbytery's report the statement that amounts are to be halved.

The presbytery assigns the following reason to the overture: we and other union presbyteries are not half-presbyteries, we are whole presbyteries; we should be dealt with and represented in person and on page as a presbytery and not a numerical formula.

STATEMENT BY REFERENCE COMMITTEE

Section 10.1a of the Standing Rules requires New Business to be presented in this court before the close of business on the third day of business. Your Reference Committee interprets this rule to require presentation of new business to the 111th General Assembly before the close of business on Tuesday, June 15. The Standing Rules will have to be set aside to receive any new business thereafter.

RESOLUTIONS

The Stated Clerk reported the resolutions on hand. Reference, by number as recommended by the Reference Committee, were as follows:

Resolution 1 to Christian Education:

Whereas the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church U.S. is currently cooperating with the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A., United Church of Christ, the Episcopal Church and other denominations in publishing Focus—a bi-monthly tabloid newspaper; and

Whereas the November, 1970, issue states on its front page that “Focus is a newspaper for youth and adult planners and leaders. Planned by the youth staffs of several denominations, it is designed to give stimulation, vision and support for new ministry in the world”; and

Whereas the feature article on Page 1 of the November, 1970, issue entitled “Drugs and Youth—an American Way of Life” gave open support to the use of drugs by the youth in our land by the following paragraphs quoted verbatim from the paper:

1. “. . . people are upset because youth are taking drugs. Why should they do such a thing! It’s an American way of life. We reach for something to change the way we feel”.
2. “. . . each day people are finding that their lives are being improved through the use of drugs”.
3. “Today youths are teaching each other how to use a wide variety of drugs and are busily ‘turning on’ the older folks to drugs such as marijuana and LSD”.
4. “This is the first time in present recorded history that vehicles for exploration of the conscious and unconscious aspects of the mind are available to a mass of people. The consequences of this historical occurrence may well prove to be one of the most important factors in contemporary history. In the past the vehicles for mental exploration involved various bodily disciplines, fasting, prayer and the use of drugs. Today many of the same drugs are being used as well as other vehicles”.
5. “Using drugs does not make a person different, not predictable, not noticeably different because of the intenseness of the personal experience. There is an opening of the doors and a revealing of mysteries in many of the drug experiences”.
6. “Drugs have played a place in this growing understanding of the youth. The youth are involved in the same quest as the adults regarding drugs—how do you use them most successfully”.
7. “The issue is how drugs will be used. The youth are seeking that answer and quite often are doing a better job among themselves than through many drug programs. . . . One thing seems clear and very important for those concerned with drug use among the youth—that portion for whom drug use is part of a search for self-understanding and religious truth are learning to use drugs in a creative manner as a vehicle and not ends in themselves”.
8. “Drugs are an American way of life and the generation gap is in terms of how the drugs are used and not the drugs themselves”.

And whereas we believe that the publication of such an article in a paper sponsored by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church U.S. will encourage the youth of our Church to experiment with and become addicted to the use of drugs to the detriment of their souls;

And whereas this approach to moral and social questions is typical of Focus editorial policy, as evident in the treatment of other subjects in other issues;

Now, therefore, the 111th General Assembly expresses its disapproval of the Focus approach to moral and social questions as outlined in this resolution and directs the Board of Christian Education to withdraw its joint sponsorship of this publication.

Resolution 2 to Church and Society:

Be it resolved that the General Assembly adopt the following:

THE WAR IN INDOCHINA

In 1967 the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 107th General Assembly declared: "As Americans, we love our country, cherish its traditions, and endeavor to support its causes. Yet, as Christians, above everything we love the Lord of all nations. . . . We are deeply perplexed and anguished by the tragic war in Vietnam."

Now—four years later—our loyalty to the Lord of all nations and our love of our country and concern for its integrity remain undiminished. But our anguish over what the war in Indochina is doing to our neighbors, our nation, and ourselves, and our painful concern for all prisoners of war have substantially increased. We are now convinced that the continuation of this war cannot be morally justified. The killing must be stopped. Therefore, the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 111th General Assembly:

- 1) Urges all parties to the conflict to institute immediately a cease-fire.
- 2) Humbly petitions the President and the Congress to declare at once our government's pledge to withdraw completely all U.S. military forces from Indochina in the immediate future; to intensify the search for a political settlement; and to seek to provide asylum for any South Vietnamese who may need it.
- 3) Urges all members and courts of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, who in good conscience can do so, to support the President and Congress as they take the above steps.
- 4) Designates Sunday, October 3, 1971 (World wide Communion Sunday), as a Day of Prayer and Fasting in Repentance of the War, and invites other Christian bodies to observe this day with us.
- 5) Requests the Stated Clerk to inform the President and the Congress of this pronouncement; requests the Office of Church and Society to convene a meeting of members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in Congress and relevant executive branch posts; and requests the Moderator and Stated Clerk to present this pronouncement to them.

Paul Tudor Jones et al

Resolution 3 to General Council:

We, the undersigned commissioners, realizing the brokenness in our own Presbytery and throughout the General Assembly, consider healing and reconciliation to be matters of urgent priority. In earnest repentance, we have undertaken steps to begin such salutary things within Knoxville Presbytery. To the same ends, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly:

First: Call on Assembly-level public conference, to which a broad opinion-spectrum of the Church shall be invited, for the purpose of study of the Scriptures and prayer, and for the recommendation of specific action regarding peace, unity and reconciliation.

Second: Instruct the General Council to propose a new system of support distribution for the causes of the Assembly, in some other fashion that the present equalization program.

Third: Devise a new, broadly-based program of Presbyterian advance, in which goals are set in all areas of growth, which program shall be extended over a period of time.

Sam S. Cappell

Resolution 4 to Assembly Operation:

That standing rules of the General Assembly section 1.5 be amended so as to allow one informational nominating speech of five minutes for each candidate for moderator; then the nominated candidates shall present themselves to the General Assembly for fifteen minutes of questions and answers from the floor.

John M. Purcell et al

Resolution 5 to National Ministries:

Be it resolved that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States direct its Board of National Ministries as follows:

- (1) to prepare and circulate to its counsellors on problem pregnancies, and to those who seek their counsel in this matter, a comprehensive Bible study on God and the unborn child, and a historical study of the teaching and practice of the primitive Church and of the Constitution of our own Church in regard to abortion; and that these studies include the material prepared by Dr. W.C. Robinson and presented as a part of this resolution, as follows:

GOD AND UNBORN CHILDREN

According to His Word, how does God regard Abortion?

A. Introduction: LET GOD BE GOD!

As Lutherans have stressed the Gospel, Methodists the salvation of souls, and Baptists the new birth, so it has fallen to Presbyterians to keep the God-concept in the center of religious thinking. Calvinism is not so much this doctrine or that doctrine, but the effort to see every doctrine from the standpoint of God. And that means by the grace of His Spirit in the light of His Word. In His hand are the issues of life and of death, and His compassions, they fail not. Therefore, in the matter which is before us, Let God be God!

I. GOD IS THE CREATOR OF HUMAN LIFE, "IN THE IMAGE OF GOD CREATED HE HIM"

(Gen. 1.26-27)

According to the Psalms, "It is He that hath made us, not we ourselves", 100.3. "Thou sendest forth Thy Spirit and they are created", 104.30. "Forsake not the works of Thine own hands", 138.8. "Thy hands have made me and fashioned me", 119.73. "Thou didst form my inward parts, and didst cover me (knot me together) in my mother's womb", 139.13f. "In sin did my mother conceive me (not it)", 51.5. "Children are a heritage of the Lord", 127.3.

According to Job, "Thy hands have formed me and fashioned me", 10.8f. "Did not He that made me in the womb make him, and did He not fashion us in the womb?" 31.15. "There is a man-child (not a tissue) conceived.", 3.3.

In their conceptions and in their births individuals are spoken of as the gifts of God, cf. above David and Job. Also Cain, Gen. 4.1; Isaac, Gen. 18.4, 21.1f; Jacob and Esau, Gen. 25.31. The children of Jacob, Gen. 29.31-35; 30.17, 22-23. Obed of Ruth, Ruth 4.13. Samuel "asked of God", I Sam. 1.

Referring to several of the passages listed, G.C. Berkouwer, Man, the Image of God, p. 197 writes: "Man's conception and birth are viewed . . . always in their unbreakable relationship with the Divine Thou."

The fact that God made men in His own image, and that He remakes him into the image of Christ, Rom. 8.29; I Cor. 15.49; Col. 3.10 (cf 1.15); Eph. 4.24, witness to his worth and dignity both before and after birth.

"All that borrows life from Thee,
Is ever in Thy care."

II. AS THE GOD OF THE COVENANT, THE LORD IS THE GOD OF OUR SEED, THAT IS THEY ARE HIS CHILDREN. IN THE COVENANT SENSE THEY ARE HOLY BY THE IMPUTATION OF THE RIGHTEOUSNESS OF CHRIST TO THEM.

Gen. 17.7. God covenanted with Abraham to be a God to him and to his seed. Acts 2.39 "The promise is to you and to your children", applies the covenant to Christian believers and their seed.

I Cor. 6.15-7.14 teaches that even one believing parent sanctifies the union so that our children are "holy", that is they are God's children. The same passage teaches that we are not our own but are bought with a price so that we are to glorify God with our bodies which are members of Christ and temples of the Holy Spirit.

I Tim. 2.15 "A woman shall be saved through having children, if she perseveres in faith and love and holiness with modesty" (T.E.V.).

HISTORICAL STUDY OF THE PRIMITIVE CHURCH AND THE CONSTITUTION OF OUR CHURCH.

In the Old Testament, the people of God mingled with the Canaanites and took up their wicked practices so that they sacrificed their sons and daughters unto demons, the idols of Canaan, Psalm 106.35-40.

On the other hand, the primitive Christian Church refused to conform to the pagan practices of Roman society. Instead she taught that God provides for all His creatures, that human life is sacred, and that her children have eternal value as heirs of the kingdom of heaven. Accordingly, the Church of the Martyrs condemned abortion in at least four documents prior to 200 A.D.

Two of the Apostolic Fathers, Barnabas and the Didache preserve a document known as the two ways, the way of light and the way of darkness, the way of life and the way of death. This is an application to the evils of society of the Sermon on the Mount and the Ten Commandments.

Both Barnabas, 19.5, and the Didache, 2.2, declare: "Do not murder a child by abortion, nor again destroy that which is born." In the way of darkness are "those who are murderers of children, destroyers of the workmanship of God" (or "corrupters of God's creation"), Bar. 20.2i; Did. 5.2i. Barnabas 20 declares that the way of the Evil One is crooked and full of cursing "for it is entirely a way of eternal death with punishment, in which lie the things which destroy men's souls." The Didache provides that the Two Ways be rehearsed prior to baptism and to ordination. Something of this early repudiation of the crooked way of darkness is still echoed in those baptismal services in which the candidates or their sponsors renounce Satan and all his ways.

In his Pleas for the Christians 35, Athenagoras says, "Those women who use drugs to bring on abortions commit murder, and will have to give account to God for the abortion." Tertullian, Apology, 9, agrees, "In our case murder being once for all forbidden we may not destroy even the foetus in the womb . . . to hinder a birth is merely a speedier man-killing; nor does it matter whether you take away a life that is born or destroy one that is coming to birth. That also is a man which is going to be one."

Dr. Hermann Sasse, distinguished Erlangen theologian writes in the September 7, Lutheran, "Apart from the sin of idolatry, which means denial of Christ, there are in the early Church two sins which fall under the unforgiveable sins (sins the Church could never pronounce forgiven); fornication and murder. We may assume that murder in the ordinary sense of the word did not occur in the Christian Church. In almost all cases where we hear of murder, abortion is meant. There is from the very beginning remarkable agreement within the Church that abortion in the sense of willful termination of pregnancy is murder. . . . One of the great contributions of Christianity is the Biblical concept of the sanctity of the life of an unborn child . . . an object not only of God's providence, but also of God's grace."

According to the Constitution of our Church, the Larger Catechism interprets the sixth commandment as condemning practices which tend to the unjust taking away the life of any, and whatsoever tends to the destruction of the life of any, Answers 135, 136. Likewise our Confession commits Presbyterians to obey the lawful commands of civil magistrates except any that may be contrary to the will of God as revealed in His Word.

Any proposed abortion ought to be considered coram Deo, Prov. 3.6; Ps. 119.105. With the Lord there is forgiveness, Ps. 130.4; John 8.11; I Cor. 6.9-11.

APPENDIX NUMBER 1

I. Abortion action of Assembly. Both in the opening paragraph and in recommendation 3 of summary the main drive of the action is to "liberalize" the state laws against abortions. The drive is not to magnify Christ. Indeed He never is mentioned in the action, either as Lord or as Saviour—not even as super-star. Nor is the Holy Spirit who is given to guide Christians referred to, nor prayer. The Bible only comes at Section IV. The 4 words quoted from Scripture are "Be fruitful and multiply". These words dominate the short paragraph IV-1, but are negated by the whole paper. After this brief paragraph the Bible is dropped for a subjective principle, namely "Biblical Faith". Then it moves to "acceptable alternatives". This presents a false view of freedom, as Anselm pointed out centuries ago—God is the freest of all beings—yet it is certain that He will do right. Calvin: God can no more fail to do good than He can fail to be. So also elect angels and saints confirmed in holiness in world to come. Then IV.4 there is "the Christian community". The Report on this matter started its V. Summary with the observation that the following were Biblical and Theological, but the action as adopted omits these words—no doubt the Assembly of 1970 realized that such a statement would be inaccurate. The Summary almost leaves the decision in the hands of the pregnant woman, V-2.

As to Therapeutic Abortions, this paper uses these words differently from the way the American Medical Association has been using them—doctors use for cases in which the life of the mother is at stake or the fetus is deformed. The paper uses of any abortion performed by a licensed physician.

More important this paper issued by our Board of National Ministries never mentions God, or Christ, or the Holy Spirit, or prayer or faith—it is a purely business document.

The copy of our overture with supporting papers is somewhat revised from that offered the Presbytery, especially Scripture IV has been added. Also an added page of supporting scholars.

APPENDIX NUMBER 2

one of the methods used is: "to dilate the entrance to the womb, then insert a large forceps and drag out the baby and the afterbirth. This is not as easy as it sounds. The surgeon must work by touch alone. He gives a tug—a tiny arm comes away; then other fragments of body. The head is always difficult; the skull gets crushed; the eyeballs protrude. All the time the bleeding is profuse. When the abortion has been completed," writes Dr. Dunn, "the problem of the disposal of the remains has to be faced by the nursing staff. Incineration is the favored method. So ends the life of another human being—thrown out with a mess of blood clots and dirty swabs, unwanted, unremembered."

Another method of abortion described by Dr. Dunn is as follows: "The woman has a general anaesthetic, an abdominal incision, the womb is incised from top to bottom and the baby lifted out. It makes some weak movement of its arms and legs, and tries to breathe. Sometimes it manages a pathetic cry like a kitten; then after a few minutes it dies an asphyxial death and lies coldly in a stainless steel bowl."

The third method is the most "scientific." "A large needle," Dr. Dunn tells us, "is inserted through the abdomen into the womb and a strong solution of salt or glucose is injected. The baby can be felt to make a few convulsive movements and within a few minutes it dies. In about twenty-four hours labor starts and the already disintegrating baby is delivered."¹⁷¹

Abortion is a brutal and violent procedure which is fundamentally repugnant to the philosophy of medical practice. The New York Times quoted an obstetrician, "You have to realize that obstetricians by training and practice are geared to bringing new life into the world, not destroying it. For many of us, religious objections notwithstanding, abortions simply go against our grain."¹⁷² It has been reported that the massive abortion rate in Hungary "is resulting in increased depressive reactions and breakdowns among guilt-ridden Hungarian physicians."¹⁷³ In Oregon, obstetrical residents in state-supported hospitals rebelled against the assembly line of abortions which they were called on to perform under the state's new abortion law.¹⁷⁴ Mrs. Jill Knight, a Member of Parliament, reported that one London surgeon removes the fetus with the amniotic sac intact so that nurses will not hear the cry or see the movement of hands and feet.¹⁷⁵

It seems that many doctors who voted for relaxation of the law in one poll or another are having second thoughts, with the result that a large number of abortions are being performed in a relatively small number of institutions.¹⁷⁶

171 Matt, Murderous and Ghastly, Wanderer Reprint (1970) (reprinted from The Wanderer, Feb. 26, 1970). A new technique "literally sucks up the unborn child and macerates it beyond recognition." 175 Diamond, supra note 57, at 38.

176 In California, 8 hospitals, with only 8 per cent of the live births in 1968, accounted for 40 per cent of the abortions. Only 34 hospitals have performed as many as 100 abortions over the two-year life of the California law. THIRD ANNUAL REPORT, supra note 135 at 3. Britain and Hawaii are having similar experiences. See SHAW, supra note 135 at 7; N.Y. Times, June 8, 1970, at 1, col. 2. A poll of British doctors revealed that two-thirds are now in favor of a more restrictive law. SHAW, supra note 135, at 8.

(2) to require the reading of these studies with care, and the deliberation thereon with prayer for the guidance of God's Word and Spirit before coming to a decision;

(3) to regard a counsel favoring abortion as the exception rather than as the rule; and to insist that such decision be made always in the Presence of the living God to whom we are all accountable, and whose mercy, forgiveness and acceptance in Christ Jesus we always need.

Herman C. Quantz et al

Resolution 6 to Inter-Church Agencies and Councils:

Whereas the World Council of Churches not only received $6,005.71 directly from the General Budget of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in 1970, but also received an additional $100,104.50 indirectly through the Boards and Agencies; and

Whereas the World Council of Churches sponsors and participates in activities which have indicated serious intermeddling in the internal affairs of emerging nations; and

Whereas there is a growing opposition to the World Council of Churches around the world and a consequent decreasing effectiveness in its witness to Christ; and

Whereas the Presbyterian Church in the United States must seriously re-evaluate and re-order its priorities in the light of declining fiscal resources;

Therefore, be it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly does now withdraw from membership in the World Council of Churches.

H.J. Hyatt

Resolution 7 to Inter-Church Agencies and Councils:

Whereas recent structural changes in the National Council of Churches have created confusion within the National Council of Churches itself as well as renewed confusion and dissatisfaction from a large and growing segment of our church to whom we must look for continued fiscal support; and

Whereas there is a growing awareness that structural cooperation is not the most effective life style of the church for the Seventies; and

Whereas declining financial resources make it necessary for the Presbyterian Church in the United States to re-evaluate its priorities with great care; and

Whereas the National Council of Churches not only received $8,820.31 directly from the General Budget of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in 1970 but also received an additional $163,557.95 indirectly through the Boards and Agencies;

Therefore it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly does now withdraw from membership in the National Council of Churches.

Herbert H. Flitton, Jr.

Resolution 8 to Assembly Operation:

Whereas women are fully eligible for the offices of both Teaching Elder and Ruling Elder and are being more and more elected to represent their presbyteries at the General Assembly as more and more women are being ordained;

Whereas there is a serious question about what the presence of Women Delegates as a determinative force in the General Assembly says about our historic Presbyterian polity of rule by equal numbers of Ruling and Teaching Elders;

Whereas other specialized groups may seek similar special treatment to the further weakening of the system of rule by presbyters; and

Whereas the additional presence of non-commissioner delegates further confounds the problems and costs of hosting the General Assembly;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly send the matter of Women Delegates to the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operations for a careful evaluation and recommendation to the 1972 General Assembly.

Jerry G. Robinson

Resolution 9 to Inter-Church Comity and Union:

Whereas the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America in its recent General Assembly postponed action on the Plan of Union for two years and at the same time opened discussion with four additional churches, three of which are non-Reformed;

Whereas the study draft of "A Plan of Union" provides for uncertainty in regard to the theological basis for union, in that it would include the confessional documents of both denominations plus provision for a new confession not yet written;

Whereas sixteen presbyteries in our Presbyterian Church in the United States have already expressed official opposition to said union (this is but three less than the number which would be required to defeat said union); and

Whereas there is generally a reduced interest in structural union in favor of commonality of purpose and spiritual unity;

Therefore, be it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly

1. does answer the request "to study carefully the proposed draft of a Plan of Union" in the negative;
2. does now dismiss its Ad Interim Committee on Union with the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America with sincere appreciation for their untiring efforts to advance the cause of a united church; and
3. does express once again its deepest respect for its sister denomination, the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and our desire to continue our cordial cooperative relationship.

Nolan F. Armstrong

Resolution 10 to General Council:

Whereas the Presbyterian Survey has experienced a steady decline in subscriptions; and

Whereas such a decline indicates decreasing reader interest and acceptance; and

Whereas the Survey is presently without an editor and assistant editor; and

Whereas the need to carefully evaluate our priorities in the light of decreasing financial resources and increasing responsibilities for more viable ministries is evident; and

Whereas all efforts to revitalize the Survey by changed style and format have proven ineffective and futile; and

Whereas there is a need in the church for news communication of an objective and "newspaper" style; and

Whereas a previous publication entitled "This Week" under the General Council won wide and immediate and successful acceptance from those who received it;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly does hereby dissolve The Board of Directors of The Survey and discontinues said publication; further, termination pay of three months shall be given employees of the Survey and their employment concluded; further the General Council is instructed to reinstitute the publication "This Week"; further, all funds designated for the continuation of Survey are hereby allocated to the General Council for this purpose; and further, the General Council is hereby instructed to present a plan to the 112th General Assembly whereby "This Week" can be made available to the membership of the denomination.

Resolution 11 to Assembly Operation:

Whereas there is before the 111th General Assembly a question regarding the constitutionality of Youth Delegates to the General Assembly (Overture 11);

Whereas the 1970 General Assembly believed changes in The Book of Church Order were necessary to allow Youth Delegates to become a permanent part of the General Assembly (1970 General Assembly Minutes, p. 103);

Whereas there is serious question about what the presence of Youth Delegates as a determinative force in the General Assembly says about our historic Presbyterian polity of rule by equal numbers of Ruling and Teaching Elders;

Whereas responsible youth are more and more being considered for the office of Ruling Elder through the normal processes of congregational election and are not constitutionally prevented from service as Ruling Elders;

Whereas other specialized groups have or may seek similar special treatment to the further weakening of the system of rule by presbyters; and

Whereas the additional presence of non-commissioner delegates further confounds the problems and costs of hosting the General Assembly;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly send the whole matter of Youth Delegates and the changes in the Standing Rules adopted by the 1970 General Assembly to the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation for a careful reevaluation and recommendation to the 1972 General Assembly regarding the continuance of Youth Delegates beyond 1972.

Resolution 12 to Inter-Church Comity and Union:

Whereas "A Plan of Union" of the Consultation on Church Union (Church of Christ Uniting) has now been in the hands of the church for study for over one year;

Whereas said plan does away with the Reformed principle of the parity of the elders and discards completely the office of Ruling Elder;

Whereas said plan accentuates "Tradition" to an equal place with "Scripture";

Whereas the proposed Church of Christ Uniting anticipates structural union before developing its theological basis, quite contrary to the view of Presbyterians regarding the primary importance of a confessional foundation; and

Whereas the people of the Church evidence less and less interest in Church of Christ Uniting;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly

1. dismiss its Ad Interim Committee for the Consultation on Church Union with sincere appreciation for their arduous efforts and sincere investment of self into the dream of church unity;
2. cease being a full participant in the Consultation on Church Union and revert to the observer status; and
3. instruct the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations to appoint as observers persons from throughout the General Assembly reflecting a broad spectrum of views.

Resolution 13 to Assembly Operation:

Whereas the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States is primarily the presiding officer at the General Assembly when it is in session and is not the official head nor the traveling spokesman of the Presbyterian Church in the United States during his moderatorial year; and

Whereas the Moderator, by his very title, should be a moderating and reconciling force within the Presbyterian Church in the United States;

Therefore, be it declared the will of this 111th General Assembly that the Moderator shall be mindful that he should seek to relate helpfully to and be truly the moderator of all the members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, condemning neither individuals nor groups but seeking to reconcile all individuals and groups within the common fellowship;

further, that it be the declared will of this 111th General Assembly that the Moderator during his moderatorial year shall exercise careful discretion as to his statements and actions both public and private that large segments of the Presbyterian Church in the United States not be alienated; and further, that it be resolved that:

The Standing Rules of the General Assembly be amended by the addition of the following:

2.7 The Moderator shall conduct himself moderately and graciously toward all people both within and without the Presbyterian Church in the United States, mindful of his role as a reconciling agent to the brethren. He shall discreetly refrain from giving anyone the impression that he is the official head or the traveling spokesman of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Paul Rosenzweig

Resolution 14 to Theological:

Whereas the original resolution introduced at the 109th General Assembly called for the appointment of an Ad Interim Committee "to draft a new Confession of Faith or a Book of Confessions" (underscoring added);

Whereas there is a wide desire for a revised Confession or a new Confession, but much serious doubt about a Book of Confessions;

Whereas a Book of Confessions including several diverse documents would tend to confuse instead of clarify the confessional stance of our denomination;

Whereas the Presbyterian Church in the United States has always been a confessional church and the adoption of a revised or new confession would continue us in that pattern; and

Whereas the adoption of a Book of Confessions of diverse documents could well remove the Presbyterian Church in the United States to the position of being guided by many documents but adopting none—therefore making the Presbyterian Church in the United States non-confessional;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly does now modify the instructions to its Ad Interim on a New Confession and Book of Confessions by deleting in its mandate the words: "together with a Book of Confessions."

William C. Swain

Resolution 15 to Assembly Operation:

Be it resolved that:

The Standing Rules of the General Assembly be amended by the addition of the following:

XVI. NEUTRALITY REQUIRED OF STAFF MEMBERS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY BOARDS, AGENCIES, AND COMMITTEES

16.1 Since such are representatives of the whole church, no staff personnel of any General Assembly Board, Agency, Permanent Committee or Ad Interim Committee shall

(a) participate in any lobbying or caucusing, or

(b) take any action or stance (for or against) any item of business pending before the General Assembly during the time the General Assembly is in session, other than that business directly relating to his Board or Agency, except when he shall be an elected Commissioner—on penalty of forfeiture of his office.

Jack C. Oates, Jr.

Resolution 16 to General Council:

Whereas the recommendations of the Board of Women's Work urge congregations to explore the biblical concept of personhood and consequently enable women to share equally in the decision-making process;

Whereas the Board of Women's Work requests the 111th General Assembly to amend its standing rules to insure a woman delegate from each Presbytery;

Whereas it is demeaning to the liberation of women to be represented at the General Assembly as mere delegates;

Whereas women are now eligible for the offices of Ruling and Teaching Elders on the same basis as men;

Whereas a separate Board designated for women only as though they were not full members of the Church in every way is humiliating and unworthy of an enlightened church;

Whereas the continuation of such a separate Board continues to support a view of the place and role of women that is no longer consonant with the age in which we live and the vital role women play in the latter half of the 20th century;

Whereas House Resolution 7152, commonly known as the "Civil Rights Bill", guarantees that no citizen of the United States shall be discriminated against because of race, religion, place of national origin or sex; and

Whereas the Church should take the lead in combating and deleting those barriers, organizations and institutions which perpetuate the iniquities that prevent women from taking their rightful place as equals with men;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly does hereby dissolve and abolish the Board of Women's Work as the vestigial residue of an attitude toward women which it does deplore and reject; further, that the General Assembly does instruct the General Council to work with the employees of the former Board of Women's Work to assist them in finding new places of service which do not demean their equality.

Resolution 17 to Inter-Church Agencies and Councils:

Whereas recent structural changes in the National Council of Churches have created confusion within the National Council of Churches itself as well as renewed confusion and dissatisfaction from a large and growing segment of our church to whom we must look for continued fiscal support; and

Whereas there is a growing awareness that structural cooperation is not the most effective life style of the church for the Seventies; and

Whereas declining financial resources make it necessary for the Presbyterian Church in the United States to re-evaluate its priorities with great care; and

Whereas the National Council of Churches not only received $8,820.31 directly from the General Budget of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in 1970 but also received an additional $163,557.95 indirectly through the Boards and Agencies;

Therefore, be it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly does not instruct its Boards and Agencies to withdraw their support of National Council of Churches activities, unless they have gained the specific prior approval and authorization from the General Assembly to participate in specific projects, activities or agencies.

J.C. Hambright, Jr.

Resolution 18 to Inter-Church Agencies and Councils:

Whereas The World Council of Churches not only received $6,005.71 directly from the General Budget of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in 1970, but also received an additional $100,104.50 indirectly through the Boards and Agencies; and

Whereas the World Council of Churches sponsors and participates in activities which have indicated serious intermeddling in the internal affairs of emerging nations; and

Whereas there is a growing opposition to the World Council of Churches around the world and a consequent decreasing effectiveness in its witness to Christ; and

Whereas the Presbyterian Church in the United States must seriously re-evaluate and re-order its priorities in the light of declining fiscal resources;

Therefore, be it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly does now instruct its Boards and Agencies to withdraw their support of World Council of Churches activities, unless they have gained the specific prior approval and authorization from the General Assembly to participate in specific projects, activities, or agencies.

Francis H. Herndon

Resolution 19 to Judicial Business:

Whereas the Permanent Judicial Commission has warned:

"If it is the will of the General Assembly to delegate its power of union to lower courts, after 'the most serious consideration' of the issues involved, it must be remembered that the Constitution had hedged this power about with a requirement that any change be with the approval and recommendation of the General Assembly, the advice and consent of three-fourths of the Presbyteries, and the approval and enactment of a subsequent meeting of the General Assembly. Any attempt to circumvent this safeguard by ruling otherwise would seriously undermine the whole concept of constitutional government in our church. To be unquestionably constitutional, such amendments must have the advice and consent of three-fourths of the Presbyteries." (1967 General Assembly Minutes, page 238), and the 107th General Assembly sustained its Commission, (emphasis supplied)

Whereas the 108th General Assembly by a narrow margin failed to heed this warning of the Permanent Judicial Commission, but instead sent The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, to the Presbyteries for a majority vote for advice and consent;

Whereas the Stated Clerk reported to the 109th General Assembly that the Presbytery vote on such amendment was as follows (1969 General Assembly Minutes, page 92):

Presbyteries for	41
Presbyteries against	36; and

Whereas the 109th General Assembly did approve The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32 (Union Presbyteries) as a proper amendment to The Book of Church Order; and

Whereas there are already numerous points of contention and controversy arising from such an unwise and unconstitutional arrangement;

Whereas relatively few (eight) Presbyteries have actually entered into such an arrangement;

Whereas the Union Presbytery provision has been turned down by certain Presbyteries expected to favor it (Brazos, Northeast Texas, Southeast Missouri, twice);

Whereas The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, does not consider any rights for a minority of ministers or congregations which may oppose the implementation of a Union Presbytery whereby they become dual members of two denominations, subject to both;

Therefore, be it now resolved that the 111th General Assembly

1. declares that the 108th General Assembly erred in sending The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, for the advice and consent of a simple majority of the Presbyteries instead of the three-fourths urged by the Permanent Judicial Commission, and further declares that the 109th General Assembly erred in approving The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, when it had not received the advice and consent of three-fourths of the Presbyteries;
2. does declare that The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, having failed to receive the advice and consent of three-fourths of the Presbyteries, is therefore illegal, unconstitutional, void, and not binding;
3. does declare that The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, be and the same hereby is deleted from The Book of Church Order;
4. does now require every Presbytery which acted under The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, to cease and desist in its illegal union by January 1, 1972;
5. does now call upon each illegal Union Presbytery to divide all the property, real and personal, between the denominations or their courts of jurisdiction on the basis of the origin of the property, if such is determinable. If the origin is not determinable, then the property shall be divided equally between the denominations or their courts of jurisdiction, as may be proper; and
6. does now further declare that union churches so made under The Book of Church Order, Chapter 32, shall be declared illegal and no longer union churches and shall revert to their former status.

Rudolph Russell

Resolution 20 to Inter-Church Comity and Union:

Whereas it is recognized that within our denomination, as well as others, there are those who sincerely and in good conscience hold divergent views as to the nature and mission of the Church; and,

Whereas men of good will acknowledge the rights of their fellowmen to hold their respective views; and,

Whereas it would be profitable for unity that brethren be permitted to exercise and express their common convictions in new and united structures; and,

Whereas in mutual love and respect, this unity can be accomplished through a fair, equitable and peaceful realignment of the churches.

Now, therefore, be it resolved that this General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States amend and enlarge the authority and instructions heretofore given and made to its Ad Interim Committee of twelve now engaged with a like group from the United Presbyterian Church in joint conference "to study and explore areas of unity and diversity in our present faith and practice" (Minutes 109th General Assembly, page 88) by adding the following:

6. To recommend a plan which has and states as its purpose—the uniting of brethren having common convictions into two continuing bodies.
7. To recommend a plan which provides a method for such brethren having common convictions to so unite.
8. To recommend a plan which provides for an orderly and equitable transfer of each local congregation, together with its local properties, into the communion chosen by a majority of each local congregation; and for an orderly and equitable transfer of a representative and proportionate number of Presbytery, Synod, and General Assembly institutions, funds and properties (such as schools, homes, conference centers, etc.) to the appropriate judiciatories of the respective uniting and continuing bodies.
9. To instruct the twelve members of the Joint Committee of Twenty-four from the Presbyterian Church in the United States to have such a bilateral plan with the UPUSA Church presented for action at the 1972 General Assembly, if possible; or, in the alternative, in the event such Joint Committee cannot agree on such a plan, to instruct the twelve members from the Presbyterian Church in the United States to present a plan for peaceful realignment within the Presbyterian Church U.S. for action at the 1972 General Assembly.

Leonard H. Bullock et al

Resolution 21 to Judicial Business:

Whereas some ministers and particular churches of the Presbyterian Church in the United States may prefer to be under the constitution of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America; and, Whereas some ministers and particular churches of the UPCUSA may prefer to be under the constitution of the PCUS; and,

Whereas organic union of the two bodies is strongly opposed by many within both denominations and controversy thereover has consumed much energy and many vital resources of both bodies for over two decades; and,

Whereas the unity of the body of Christ is not destroyed by its divisions into different structures for worship and mission; but each structure which maintains the Word and Sacraments in their fundamental integrity is to be recognized as a true branch of the Church of Jesus Christ; and,

Whereas it is recognized that there are those in the PCUS and in the UPCUSA who sincerely and in good conscience differ as to the nature and mission of the Church of Jesus Christ for this latter half of the 20th Century; and,

Whereas it would be profitable for harmony, peace and unity that brethren be permitted to exercise and express their common convictions in a structure of their choice; and,

Whereas in mutual love and respect, this unity can be accomplished through a fair, equitable and peaceful realignment of the structures; and,

Whereas we believe that God will use this plan to create a renewed Church which will be a more vital and obedient instrument of Christ's presence in the world and of his mission to the world today.

Now, therefore, be it resolved:

1. CREATION OF COMMISSION

That an administrative commission, composed of Dr. J. Randolph Taylor, Dr. John E. Richards, Dr. William A. Benfield, Jr., Dr. Andrew J. Jumper, Dr. James A. Millard, Jr., Dr. J. Wayte Fulton, Mrs. John A. Fulton, Mr. Henry Goodpasture, Mr. Vernol R. Jansen, and Mrs. W. Jack Williamson, be, and the same hereby is, appointed for a term ending with the 113th General Assembly.

2. VACANCY ON COMMISSION

That any vacancy on this commission shall be filled by appointment by the Moderator of the General Assembly.

3. DUTIES OF COMMISSION

That this commission be, and the same hereby is, authorized to receive official notice of such individual ministers and particular churches as wish to transfer from PCUS to the UPCUSA.

4. NOTICE OF TRANSFER

That any minister under the jurisdiction of PCUS may give such official notice by written request to this commission and to his presbytery.

That any particular church under jurisdiction of PCUS may give such official notice by certificate of its Moderator and Clerk of Session to this commission and to its presbytery that such a decision was made at a congregational meeting, duly called by the session for this purpose, at which a quorum (as hereinafter defined) was present, and at which at least two-thirds (2/3) of the communicant members present voted by secret ballot in favor of such transfer. The quorum for such a congregational meeting shall be: for a church which has not more than one hundred members on the active roll, one-fourth of such members; and for a church which has more than one hundred members on the active roll, one-tenth of such members but not less than twenty-five.

5. PROVISIONAL SYNOD AND PRESBYTERIES

That as soon as three (3) churches and nine (9) ministers have so officially notified this commission of their desire to transfer, the commission shall organize them into a provisional dismissing synod. The geographic boundaries of this synod shall be the continental boundaries of the United States. This synod shall then establish provisional presbyteries and set the geographical bounds thereof. These provisional presbyteries shall then become the receiving and dismissing agents for such additional ministers and churches as express their desire to transfer from the PCUS to the UPCUSA.

6. TRANSFER TO PROVISIONAL PRESBYTERY

That after the formation of the provisional synod and, by it, of the provisional presbyteries, any minister or particular church wishing to transfer from the PCUS to the UPCUSA shall officially notify the presbytery of jurisdiction in PCUS and in the provisional synod. Such official notification shall be by the method set out above.

7. DISMISSAL OF MINISTERS—CHURCHES

That the respective presbyteries of the PCUS dismiss any such minister or any such church to the presbytery of jurisdiction in the provisional synod. Any church so transferring shall be permitted to retain and take with it all of its own property, subject to any existing liens and encumbrances.

8. MEMBERSHIP CONTINUED UNTIL UNION

That all such ministers and such churches so electing to transfer from the PCUS to the UPCUSA shall continue to be members in good standing of their respective presbyteries in the PCUS until the effective date of their union with the UPCUSA; and they shall not be subject to disciplinary action for such decision between the time of their giving such official notice to their presbytery in the PCUS and the effective date of their union with the UPCUSA.

9. ANNUITY PROGRAM

That the existing contractual commitments be continued between such ministers who transfer and the Board of Annuities and Relief of the PCUS; that there shall be no interruption in the fulfillment of contractual commitments or other procedures in effect on the effective date of such union; and that all such ministers who transfer be assured and guaranteed all the rights and privileges under their minister's annuity contract with the Board of Annuities and Relief that would accrue to any member of the fund who ceases to be a minister of the PCUS.

10. PRESBYTERY PROPERTY

If any church within a presbytery of the PCUS which so elects to transfer to the UPCUSA petitions the presbytery to divide with it the property of the presbytery, on receipt of such petition the moderator of the presbytery shall immediately call a special meeting of the presbytery for the specific and only purpose of responding to such petition. The presbytery shall have the power, at its judgment, to convey to such church a proportional interest in such property not greater than the proportion the membership of such church bears to the total membership of the presbytery. At its option the presbytery may convey a portion of its property equivalent in value to the proportionate share mentioned above. Action by a presbytery on such a petition shall be completed by the effective date of the union. The jurisdiction of the presbytery on such petition shall be final.

11. SYNOD PROPERTY

If any church within a synod of the PCUS which so elects to transfer to the UPCUSA petitions the synod to divide with it the property of the synod, on receipt of such petition the moderator of the synod shall immediately call a special meeting of the synod for the specific and only purpose of responding to such petition. The synod shall have the power, at its judgment, to convey to such church a proportional interest in such property, not greater than the proportion the membership of such church bears to the total membership of the synod. At its option the synod may convey a portion of its property equivalent in value to the proportionate share mentioned above. Action by a synod on such a petition shall be completed by the effective date of the union. The jurisdiction of the synod on such petition shall be final.

12. COMMISSION RELATIONS WITH UPCUSA

That this commission be instructed to convene by August 1, 1971, to organize itself, and to give notice to each minister and congregation of the PCUS of the means and method of initiating any such desired transfer to the UPCUSA; and

That this commission, immediately upon its such organization, contact the Moderator and Stated Clerk of the UPCUSA and seek to initiate an arrangement of comity and union with the UPCUSA whereby the UPCUSA will establish a second provisional synod with the geographical bounds of the continental limits of the United States as a receiving synod for churches and ministers of the UPCUSA who may prefer to place themselves under the constitution and jurisdiction of the PCUS; and

That as a matter of comity and union, the UPCUSA be requested to receive ministers and churches who wish to transfer from the PCUS and to dismiss ministers and churches who wish to transfer to the PCUS, granting to each reciprocal treatment as provided in the above paragraphs; and

That after the union has been completed on June 1, 1973, the General Assemblies of both PCUS and UPCUSA be requested to appoint a joint committee for the purpose of recommending to the two bodies a fair and equitable reallocation and distribution of the properties, funds and institutions of the respective General Assemblies.

13. TIME AND PROCEDURE FOR UNION

That these transfers and unions be accomplished as soon as possible but not later than June 1, 1973, and

That this commission and these provisional courts provide such other machinery and procedure as may be necessary and desirable to effectuate an orderly transfer of such ministers and churches.

14. DISSOLUTION OF PROVISIONAL COURTS

That if, for any reason these transfers have not been accomplished by June 1, 1973, then all ministers and churches who remain as members of these provisional presbyteries on June 1, 1973, shall be dismissed by such provisional presbyteries to the presbytery of jurisdiction in the PCUS; and thereupon said provisional synod and provisional presbyteries shall be automatically dissolved.

15. STAY OF ACTIONS

That there be no further actions with reference to restructuring, church union, or confessional changes in the PCUS until after June 1, 1973.

W. Jack Williamson

Resolution 22 to Church and Society:WELFARE REFORM AND INFLATION

Whereas a large deficit in the federal budget now projected will contribute to further inflation, and
Whereas prolonged inflation has fostered wide-spread expectation that further cost-of-living increases are unavoidable, and

Whereas further government expenditure commitments at all levels in excess of anticipated revenues are inflationary and of major concern to all citizens, and

Whereas the aged and the poor are injured most by inflation, and

Whereas the proposals for minimum guaranteed income without adequate work incentives are contrary to the basic need for man to have self-respect and affect adversely man's human dignity, and

Whereas such proposals are revolutionary and expensive and will add further to inflation;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Presbyterian Church in the United States in this 111th General Assembly urges church members, congregations, and the middle judicatories to study both the welfare needs and the tax resources of our nation; and

Urges them to help create a climate of national opinion supporting responsibility in the exercise of government to the end that there be a reduction in the level of increases in government spending through improved government operations, elimination of out-moded public programs, and the postponement of the expenditures for new or expanded welfare programs until deficit spending is curtailed and confidence in our economy is restored; and

Directs the Stated Clerk to inform the members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of this social pronouncement; and Directs the Office of Church and Society to seek implementation of the dissemination of the thoughts herein expressed.

John W. Roberts

Resolution 23 to General Council:

Whereas Southern Vocational College was founded by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Lawrence F. Haygood, in 1969, in Tuskegee, Alabama;

Whereas Southern Vocational College is an industrial and vocational training center for the destitute and disadvantaged of the rural south;

Whereas Southern Vocational College is enabling school dropouts, welfare recipients, and the underemployed to develop useful and marketable skills;

Whereas the central purpose of Southern Vocational College is to proclaim and communicate the gospel of Jesus Christ in word and deed for the purpose of uplifting the destitute men;

Whereas the students at Southern Vocational College are coming to a saving knowledge of the Lordship of Christ in the world;

Whereas Southern Vocational College provides a unique opportunity for the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to become profoundly involved in addressing itself to the mission of helping the helpless to help themselves;

Whereas the Southern Presbyterian Church has an unfulfilled evangelistic mission to the destitute of the rural south;

Whereas Southern Vocational College has an enrollment of 125 students and is governed by Trustees who are Presbyterians;

Whereas Southern Vocational College has been holding regular classes for a period of one year and is certified by the State of Alabama to carry out Manpower Development Training Programs;

Whereas the founder has been officially elected as President of Southern Vocational College and will begin to work full time for the school August 1, 1971;

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., recognize Southern Vocational College as an independent Christian Vocational College which will be directly related to the General Assembly through the General Council;

That an annual church-wide offering be made to Southern Vocational College on Race Relations Sunday of each year, beginning in 1972;

That Southern Vocational College be requested to make annual financial and program reports to the General Assembly through the General Council;

That Rev. Lawrence F. Haygood, President of Southern Vocational College, be granted the opportunity of addressing the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. in support of this resolution.

Resolution 24 to Bills and Overtures:WORLD HUNGER

Whereas we are faced with the ever-increasing problems of world hunger, and

Whereas the Presbyterian Church in the United States has declared world hunger as a "top priority;" and

Whereas the alleviation of world hunger requires our actions as well as our words,

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly proclaim:

(1) That a time of fasting and prayer for the alleviation of world hunger be held at the noon hour, Thursday, June 17th.

(2) That each commissioner and youth delegate contribute an amount of money equal to the cost of the noon meal as an act of self-denial for the use of the assembly agencies in alleviating hunger.

(3) That commissioners and youth delegates use the noon hour as a time of private and corporate prayer and meditation to ask the direction of the Holy Spirit in alleviating world hunger.

Henry Edward Russell

Resolution 25 to General Council:

Whereas the 109th General Assembly declared world hunger to be so real and grave as to demand top priority from the denomination; and

Whereas all possible resources of the Presbyterian Church in the United States for at least the next five years thence were to be focused on ways and means of dealing with this problem; and

Whereas an Inter-Board Task Force on world hunger was formed with representatives from the boards and agencies and with a full time director called this year; and

Whereas it is hoped that good progress has been made in the fulfillment of the mandate of the Assembly, yet there is a growing awareness that man, indeed, shall not live by bread alone; and

Whereas Scripture describes the early Church as follows: "and the twelve summoned the body of the disciples and said, 'it is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables.'" thereby appointing others to this task, giving a balance of evangelism and social action to the early church; and

Whereas our sister denomination, the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America showed a loss of 77,000 members in 1970 and our own gains of very minimal number (626) with some Synods showing significant losses (Arkansas 1,165, Texas 1,656, Virginia 1,337, and West Virginia 1,189); and

Whereas there is an obvious need for spiritual revival on a global scale so real and grave as to demand top priority from the denomination equal to its emphasis on world hunger; and

Whereas the resources of the whole church need to be marshalled in the battle against the forces of darkness;

Therefore, the 111th General Assembly does hereby establish a Task Force on Evangelism and Lay Renewal for at least the next five years; further, it does instruct its boards and agencies to create an Inter-Board Task Force for this purpose; further, it instructs such boards and agencies to provide financial resources for this Task Force equivalent to that provided for the Task Force on World Hunger; further, it does instruct the Board of National Ministries to make available to the Task Force those personnel from its division of Parish Ministries consisting of Sherrard Rice, James L. Doom, and Charles M. Olsen to serve as professional staff for the Task Force; further, does appoint the following laymen to serve on the Task Force: Bob Fenn of Dallas, Texas, Knox Scherer of Florence, South Carolina, Jay Fesperman of Chattanooga, Tennessee, D.A. Sharpe of New Orleans, Louisiana; further, does appoint the following ministers to serve on the Task Force: Robert Pitman of Dallas, Texas, Andrew Jumper of St. Louis, Missouri, Matthew McGowan of Chattanooga, Tennessee, and James Kennedy of Fort Lauderdale, Florida; further, that Bob Fenn shall be named chairman of the Task Force; and further, the Task Force shall report to the General Assembly through the General Council.

Jerry Lee Tabler

Resolution 26 to General Council:A RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE "EXECUTIVE COMMISSION ON OVERSEAS EVANGELISM"

Whereas the General Council has issued a Special Report to the General Assembly setting out a full and detailed narrative of correspondence and conversations between the General Assembly's Board of World Missions and an independent missionary organization known as the Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism (ECOE); and,

Whereas said Special Report advises this Assembly that the Board of World Missions has made every effort possible within the rules of the General Assembly to accommodate the special interests of ECOE so as to receive its offer of funds, notwithstanding the fact that ECOE refuses to abide by the approved benevolence program of the General Assembly, repudiates the approved ecumenical commitments of the General Assembly, and makes invidious public insinuations against the evangelical soundness of some of the personnel and programs of the General Assembly's Board of World Missions; and,

Whereas ECOE is now broadly soliciting funds from the constituency of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., in a manner designed to subvert confidence in the General Assembly's world mission program and to divert the people's support therefrom to its own activities; and,

Whereas ECOE has sought to divide the overseas missionaries of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and to undermine the approved processes of the General Assembly's Board of World Missions by offering money to selected missionaries on condition that it be kept secret from others;

Now therefore, be it resolved:

1. That the General Assembly commend the Board of World Missions for the careful and orderly manner in which it has acted, for the kindly forbearance that it has displayed, and for the faithfulness to the Assembly's benevolence program that it has exhibited in all matters relating to the Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism (EEOE).

2. That the General Assembly concur with the expressed judgment of the General Council that the emergence of ECOE is indeed a serious threat to the peace and unity of the church.

3. That the General Assembly declare to the membership of the church that the possible temporary gain for parts of the overseas mission that might be realized by money given through ECOE is far outweighed by the likelihood of grievous harm to the life and health of the church by the accommodation or toleration of such divisive enterprises.

4. That the General Assembly instruct its Board of World Missions to desist from any further efforts to seek accommodation with ECOE, and to take such steps as may be necessary to see to it that this policy of non-alliance with ECOE is observed by all of the personnel and all of the programs operating under the direction of the Board.

Resolution 27 to Bills and Overtures:

RESOLUTION ON DECENCY AND ORDER IN THE CHURCH

Whereas the church is sick unto death of the public insinuations and accusations being made against the faith, character, or orthodoxy of fellow members of the church who are in good and regular standing in the church, without recourse to the orderly processes of discipline provided in our church's Constitution; and,

Whereas the church is sick unto death of the public subversion of the approved programs of the several courts of the church by members or groups of members who take actions, not simply to criticize those programs (which is proper), but to seek to deprive them of the confidence, support, and participation of fellow church members, without recourse to the orderly processes of review and control of such programs provided for the church's Form of Government; and,

Whereas such activities are repugnant to the faithful, injurious to the church's life and order, a reproach upon the Gospel in the eyes of the world, and an offense against the peace, unity, and purity of the church to which every member, officer, and minister is sworn and which every church court is bound to uphold;

Now, therefore, be it resolved—

1. That the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States bears solemn testimony to every member and to every court within its bounds that it regards the following kinds of activities to be such as are against the peace, unity, and purity of the church, and the honor and majesty of the Lord Jesus Christ as the King and Head thereof:

a. The making or disseminating of public statements which impugn or defame the Christian character, evangelical faith or doctrinal orthodoxy of a member, officer, or minister of the Presbyterian Church in the United States who is in good and regular standing in the church, or of any class or group of such persons, except in cases of judicial process in accordance with the orderly provisions of the Rules and Discipline of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and that only;

b. The subversion of approved programs of lawful courts of the Presbyterian Church in the United States by making or disseminating public statements which attack the propriety of those programs in a manner which is designed to draw away from them the confidence, support, or participation of other members, officers, or ministers of the church, except in the exercise of the lawful power of review and control within the church court of appropriate jurisdiction.

2. That the General Assembly urge the ministers, officers, and members of the church to abstain from all such activity as that herein described, and to separate themselves from and have nothing to do with any organizations which practice, countenance or promote such activities.

3. That the General Assembly remind all Sessions and Presbyteries that they, being the only courts of original jurisdiction in matters of church discipline, bear a heavy weight of responsibility for the continuation of the strife and disorder currently afflicting the life of the whole church; and that the General Assembly therefore urge the Sessions and Presbyteries to consider whether or not the kinds of activities herein described are being carried on by any person or persons under their ecclesiastical authority, and to take such steps as may be appropriate toward correcting such offenses and toward bringing decency and order into the public discussion of matters affecting the life and work of the church.

Resolution 29 to Permanent Judicial Commission:

(Note: This material, as required by the Constitution, is referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission for their report to the 1972 General Assembly—Stated Clerk.)

To amend the Book of Church Order 25-3

That the Book of Church Order (25-3) be amended to permit an Associate Pastor to succeed the Pastor in a church they serve together upon the Pastor's death, retirement, incapacitating illness, or other extraordinary circumstances—the congregation proceeding in the manner prescribed for the calling of a minister (Book of Church Order (chapter 26)).

Resolution 30 to Assembly Operation:

To amend the Standing Rules of the Assembly, Section 22, as follows:

That the General Assembly approves the undertaking of itineraries by the Moderator between meetings of the General Assembly for the purpose of bringing the Moderator before representative gatherings throughout the Church; as well as providing occasions through which the Moderator, as the representative of the Assembly, may witness for the Church in the world.

Resolution 31 to Bills and Overtures:

YOUTH REPRESENTATION ON PRESBYTERY LEVEL

Whereas the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States officially recognizes Youth Delegates to this Court, and

Whereas these delegates are given speaking rights on the floor of the Assembly, and full speaking and voting rights on standing committees, and

Whereas the Church actively encourages and supports the youth of the Church in becoming actively involved in all aspects of our Presbyterian Church;

Therefore, the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States strongly encourages all presbyteries to:

1. Establish a system whereby a designated number of youth delegates from churches within the presbytery be formally recognized and granted full speaking privileges on the floor of presbytery on all issues.

2. Encourage Nominating Committees to endorse and nominate youths for membership on all committees of presbytery with full speaking and voting rights the terms being one year.

Resolution 32 to Assembly Operation:

Be it resolved that Standing Rule 12.3(d) of the General Assembly be amended to read as follows:

12.3(d)—A statement of the division of the vote on every official recommendation made to or by the committee, this division shall be reported as follows:

	For	Against
Commissioner's vote:	_____	_____
Youth Delegates vote:	_____	_____
Total vote:	_____	_____

Resolution 33 to Judicial Business:

To Amend Book of Church Order 31-1(2); 30-2(2); 30-3(2)

Whereas Presbyterian and Reformed Church bodies hold to the historic form of Representative Church Government; and

Whereas this form of representative government is seriously jeopardized in the "one Presbytery-one Vote" method of tabulating Presbytery votes on Constitutional changes (it being possible for Presbyteries representing a small minority of communicants to block the will of a substantial majority under the present system); and

Whereas weighted Presbytery votes more adequately assure fair representation and provide the safeguard of ecclesiastical power being exercised jointly in the courts of the Church; and

Whereas our denomination has indicated its approval of a similar plan in the proposed Plan of Union with the Reformed Church in America;

Be it therefore resolved:

That the 111th General Assembly instruct the Permanent Judicial Commission to prepare and present to the 112th General Assembly amendments in the Book of Church Order 30-1(2); 30-2(2); 30-3(2) to provide for presbyteries' votes on Constitutional Changes to be weighted in the final tabulation according to the number of commissioners each presbytery has to the General Assembly.

(Example: Presbytery A votes approval of a Constitutional change; Presbytery A has 8 Commissioners to the General Assembly; Presbytery A's vote is given a weight of 8 in the final tabulation; as compared to a weight of 15 given to another Presbytery who has 15 Commissioners and also voted to approve the Constitutional change—thus assuring a fair and equitable representation of the number of communicants in each Presbytery; and at the same time safeguarding the principle of joint ecclesiastical power.)

Resolution 34 to Annuities and Relief:

Whereas the oldest retired ministers and their dependents of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. were 'born out of due season', before the establishment of the annuity program of the Church, and

Whereas commendable efforts have been made to increase from time to time the level of financial assistance to those on "Ministerial Relief" this support is still less than adequate, and

Whereas "the Income Assistance Formula" is based soundly on the annual income received, and

Whereas the independence and self-help of the elderly are to be encouraged, out of a Christian compassion and respect for their privacy, personal dignity, integrity and morale;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Board of Annuities and Relief be urged to modify, if feasible, the "Income Assistance Formula" as it applies to eligible persons over 70 years of age, so that occasional earnings and special gifts need not be reported as regular income thereby reducing the amount of support received from the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and giving them no "relief" from maintaining the bare level of subsistence.

James L. Price et al

Resolution 35 to Assembly Operation:

Whereas the Standing Rules of the General Assembly (1.1) direct the Permanent Committee on Assembly's Operations to "select places in different parts of the Church with adequate convention type facilities . . ."; and

Whereas the Assembly desires facilities adequate for visitors and the press both during the Assembly and while the court is in session; and

Whereas we live in a day when many in the Church need to make wise use of travel time through usage of air transportation, it is important that the Assembly meet in places which are easily accessible to through air transportation; and

Whereas retreat center facilities are often removed from large population centers, and, therefore, difficult to reach through air transportation, and also fail to meet the directive of the Assembly;

Therefore, be it resolved that the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operations be instructed by the 111th General Assembly to seek meeting places for future meetings of the Assembly which have adequate convention type facilities, and are in different parts of the Church and are easy to reach through air transportation.

Joe T. Sheeler et al

Resolution 36 to Assembly Operation:

Whereas Resolutions Numbers Eight and Eleven of the 111th General Assembly express concern regarding the selection of delegates representing certain identifiable groups within the church which are not ordinarily included among the voting Commissioners to the General Assembly, and

Whereas The same problem exists throughout the courts of the church due to the fact that all church courts are composed exclusively of teaching and ruling elders, and

Whereas The referral of the identified resolutions to the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation indicates that specific questions regarding representation will be examined, and

Whereas Such examination is a "piece meal" approach to the question of representation; therefore, be it Resolved that the representation throughout the Church courts be re-examined and re-evaluated by the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation in consultation with the Permanent Judicial Commission with a view to insuring that the various constituencies throughout the church are adequately represented in each of the church courts, and, further, that recommendations regarding this matter be made to the 112th General Assembly which meets in 1972.

Resolution 37 to Church and Society:

PUBLIC EDUCATION

The Presbyterian Church in the United States has affirmed over the years that we must not only believe in the brotherhood of man, but must act it out (as exemplified by Jesus Christ) in all aspects of our relationships in the society in which we live. We must be the beacon on the hill to our brethern. In addition, the socially equalizing value of public education has long been recognized and valued by the Reformed churches.

In various communities, individuals and groups are strongly resisting the establishment of a public school system in which children of all races meet as equals. This is done in various ways, including withholding support for the changes necessary to implement such a system; by withdrawing their own children from such systems when they are established; and by establishing, supporting and patronizing private schools whose deliberate purpose or practical effect is to undermine the public education system.

Basic to the success of public schools is improved human relationships among people of all races at all age levels. The parents and members of the community need to recognize the value of brotherhood as well as the children. As followers of Christ we have been chosen to light the way.

In view of these facts, the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 111th General Assembly:

1. Commends all presbyteries, sessions, pastors and church members who have exhibited support of public education, and especially those who have refused to allow their church educational facilities to be used to subvert the public education system.

2. Notes not only the urgency and desirability, but also the complexity of providing equal educational opportunity for all children, and affirms that there are no easy solutions, but that we must seek God's help in finding ways.

3. Directs all presbyteries, sessions, pastors and individual members to work in ways relevant to particular communities to bring about better understanding through personal contact, encounter in groups and in private discussion with those of other races.

4. Directs the Council on Church and Society to seek out and report to the churches ways in which meaningful interracial contacts are being made or can be made.

5. Calls on all members to search diligently for avenues by which racial understanding can be achieved, and to give wholehearted support and encouragement to all reasonable efforts in this direction.

Resolution 38 to Minister and His Work:

Whereas a minister considering a call needs in-depth and meaningful information concerning the church in question; and

Whereas a pastorless church needs to examine its goals and objectives as a congregation of Jesus Christ; and

Whereas the present church data form is inadequate as to a statement of these purposes;

Therefore, the General Assembly recommends that the permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work be instructed:

- 1) To revise the church data form to enable the church to express its short-term and long-range goals as duly decided upon by the session of said congregation.

- 2) To strongly urge Presbytery commissions on The Minister and His Work to assure that said forms be thoughtfully completed and returned to the Presbytery Commission.

Resolution 39 to Permanent Judicial Commission:

(Note: This material, as required by the Constitution, is referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission for their report to the 1972 General Assembly—Stated Clerk.)

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE BOOK OF CHURCH ORDER (concerning: "Original Jurisdiction")

Whereas modern means of rapid transportation and communication make possible today a far more extensive involvement in the affairs of one court by persons who are under the jurisdiction of another court than could have been anticipated when our church was founded and its constitution first drawn; and,

Whereas church members, Ruling Elders, deacons and ministers have been known to travel great distances in order to propagate opinions and promote activities within the bounds of other church courts than that to which they are themselves officially related, of a kind and in a manner regarded as harmful, contentious and schismatic by the court having responsible oversight of that part of the church; and,

Whereas in the Rules of Discipline as presently stated, the doctrine of original jurisdiction effectively forbids the initiating of judicial process against such persons in any other court of the church than in their own session or presbytery, no matter how distant may be their incursions into the bounds of other courts of the church nor how grievous may be their actions against the peace, unity and purity of the church amidst those other courts; and,

Whereas so long as the mischievous member is given sanctuary by his own session or presbytery through its unwillingness to institute judicial process against him, he cannot by any presently authorized means of ecclesiastical discipline be made accountable for his actions within the bounds of other courts of the church, however harmful thereto his actions may be; and,

Whereas such a situation represents a conflict between the constitutional powers of one session or presbytery (to initiate discipline of its own members) and the constitutional powers of another session or presbytery (to order whatever pertains to the spiritual welfare within its bounds), but without there being any means presently available in the constitution for the equitable adjudication of such a conflict, with the result that the rights of the latter in such instances are effectively denied; and,

Whereas the Rules of Discipline already provide for one exception in the application of original jurisdiction, namely: "In cases where the court having original jurisdiction is unable to exercise jurisdiction, process may be begun before the next higher court" (BCO 104-1)—

Now, therefore, we, the undersigned commissioners to the 111th General Assembly, respectfully request the General Assembly to amend the Book of Church Order by adding to paragraph 104-1 the following sentence:

In cases where persons under original jurisdiction of one court take action within the bounds of another court which the latter court determines to be against the peace, unity and purity of the church, process may be begun before the lowest court having oversight of both parties, and judgment rendered therein as though it were in all respects the court of original jurisdiction.

In order to bring our discussions into correspondence with union discussions currently being carried on by the United Presbyterian Church with the Second Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, that the Committee of Twelve forming our portion of the Committee of Twenty-four on Church Union be instructed to enter discussion with the above named churches along with COEMAR of the U.P.U.S.A. Church and, if it should be possible, to include the four above-named churches in the current proposed plan of union.

REPORT OF PERMANENT JUDICIAL COMMISSION ON CASES OF PROCESS

Mr. Joseph W. Grier, Chairman of the Permanent Judicial Commission, was introduced by the Moderator. The Commission was seated on the platform and all members present were introduced by the Chairman.

The Stated Clerk read from the Constitution the rules, procedures, and authority of the commission.

Rev. P.J. Garrison, Jr., a member of the Commission, read the report of the Commission in the case of Wayne P. Todd, Complainant, versus the Synod of Alabama, Respondent, as follows:

Wayne P. Todd, Complainant
v.
Synod of Alabama, Respondent

G. A. Complaint
No. 1-1971

This complaint against the Synod of Alabama grew out of action taken by the Synod at its 134th meeting held on June 24-25, 1969, in sustaining a complaint against the North Alabama Presbytery with respect to its procedures in acting upon proposed amendment to Book of Church Order relating to Union Presbyteries. The complaint was not heard by the 1970 General Assembly because it was not lodged with the Clerk of the General Assembly until June 10, 1970, which did not permit time for a proper hearing of the case by the Commission prior to the meeting of the General Assembly of that year. (Book of Church Order Section 116-5.)

While it appeared that the complaint was, therefore, not filed within the time requirements (see Assembly's Digest, pp. 69, 230, 329), the Commission at its meeting on March 17-19, 1971, found the complaint in order and set it for hearing on May 13, 1971. By letter dated March 25, 1971, complainant was notified that the complaint would be heard by the Commission on May 13, 1971.

On May 9, 1971, complainant notified the Chairman of the Commission by telephone, and confirmed the telephone conversation by letter to the Chairman dated May 9, 1971, that neither he nor his representative would be able to be present for the hearing. Complainant advised that in the fall of 1970 the Board of World Missions asked him to conduct a seminar for ministers in Japan from May 10 to June 2, 1971. Complainant further advised that the representative secured to appear before the Commission would not be able to attend "due to a death in the family."

Complainant also requested a continuance of the case, saying that a postponement would not be injurious to anyone and that the question was of sufficient substance to justify a continuance.

A representative of the Synod of Alabama appeared before the Commission on May 13th and was given an opportunity to express the views of the Synod regarding the continuance requested. The Commission was advised that the Synod would not object to a postponement; the Commission was also advised that Synod would not object if the complaint was not ever heard.

Neither complainant nor his representative appeared for the hearing before the Commission on May 13th.

Book of Church Order 116-9, made applicable to complaints by BCO 117-4 provides:

"An Appeal will be treated as abandoned, if the appellant does not appear before the higher court in person, or by counsel, at its meeting next following the date of his notice of Appeal; and the judgment of the lower court will stand, unless the appellant gives the court satisfactory explanation of his failure to appear and prosecute the Appeal."

The Commission, after consideration, concluded that complainant did not give the Commission satisfactory explanation of his failure, and of that of his representative, to appear and to prosecute the complaint, and accordingly it is the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission that the complaint is abandoned. (Book of Church Order Section 116-9). This determination is not a judgment upon the issues raised by the complaint.

David H. Edington, Jr., a member of the Commission and of the Synod of Alabama, recused himself and did not participate in the case in any aspect.

Joseph W. Grier, Jr., Chairman
Permanent Judicial Commission

The Moderator put the following question: "Shall the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the General Assembly Complaint No. 1, 1971, as above recorded be made the final judgment of the General Assembly?" The Moderator advised commissioners from the Synod of Alabama that they were not to vote on the question. There being no questions and no requests for clarification, and upon vote of the Assembly, the Moderator declared: "The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the case of Wayne P. Todd, Complainant, versus the Synod of Alabama, Respondent, is now the final judgment of the General Assembly, and the case is herewith closed."

Rev. Charles L. Moffatt, Jr., a member of the Commission, read the report of the Commission in the case of George C. Stulting, Complainant, versus the Synod of Florida, Respondent, as follows:

George C. Stulting, Complainant
v.
Synod of Florida, Respondent

G.A. Complaint
No. 2-1971

The point at issue in this case is whether or not the Committee on Church and Society of the PCUS Synod of Florida, acting jointly with the Committee on Social Concerns of the UPUSA Synod of Florida, did, in fact, violate the provisions of Book of Church Order Section 19-1 when it agreed to petition members, officers and the governing board of the Florida Sheriffs' Association and individual sheriffs of the counties in the State of Florida, requesting information concerning admission procedures and the reasons for the practice of segregation in connection with the operation of the Sheriffs' Boys Ranch and also requesting suggestions as to how the church might become involved in the rehabilitation and reconciliation of these young men.

A recommendation dealing with matters related to what was requested in the petition was included in the report of the Committee on Church and Society to the Synod of Florida. This recommendation was adopted.

Motion was then made by the Complainant to the effect that the Committee on Church and Society had acted in violation of Book of Church Order Section 19-1 in the matter of the petition outlined above. The motion was defeated.

Complaint was then filed against the action of the Synod of Florida alleging that the Synod had erred in its judgment in failing to find the Committee on Church and Society in violation of Book of Church Order Section 19-1, which states:

"19-1. A Committee of a Church court is appointed either to study and recommend, or to carry into effect specific directions or decisions already made by the court. Its recommendations require action by the court; but its report of performing actions assigned by the court and of executing the court's decisions needs to receive no further action by the court."

The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission is that the complaint be not sustained since in the opinion of the Commission no violation of Book of Church Order Section 19-1 occurred. The activity of the Committee disclosed by the record was within the duties assigned to it by the Synod. The Committee did not undertake to speak for the Synod. Its activity was approved by Synod. The only publicity of its activities resulted from insertion in regular procedure of its report in Synod's handbook in advance of its meeting.

Frank L. Elvery, a member of the Commission and of the Synod of Florida, recused himself and did not participate in the case in any aspect.

Joseph W. Grier, Jr., Chairman
Permanent Judicial Commission

The Moderator put the following question: "Shall the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the General Assembly Complaint No. 2, 1971, as above recorded, be made the final judgment of the General Assembly?" The Moderator advised Commissioners from the Synod of Florida that they were not to vote on the question. There being no questions and no requests for clarification, and upon vote of the Assembly, the Moderator declared: "The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the case of George C. Stulting, Complainant, versus the Synod of Florida, Respondent, is now the final judgment of the General Assembly, and the case is herewith closed."

Rev. James E. Drinkard, a member of the Commission, read the report of the commission in the case of Chester B. Hall, et al, Complainants, versus the Synod of Kentucky, Respondent, as follows:

Chester B. Hall, et al, Complainants
v.
Synod of Kentucky, Respondent

G. A. Complaint
No. 3-1971

This is a complaint against the action of the Synod of Kentucky at its meeting on November 19, 1970, in which the Synod approved an overture of the Presbytery of Louisville, PCUS, asking that the Presbytery of Louisville, PCUS, and the Presbytery of Louisville, UPUSA, become a union Presbytery under the provisions of Book of Church Order Chapter 32.

On September 26, 1970, the Presbytery of Louisville, PCUS, had approved an overture to unite with the Presbytery of Louisville, UPUSA. At that same meeting a motion was passed to "recommend to the union Presbytery proposed Standing Rules" which contained the following provisions:

"VIII.B. Sale of Property.

2. Property Owned by a Particular Church

A church shall not sell, mortgage, or otherwise encumber any of its real property subject to any encumbrance or condition without the permission of the Presbytery transmitted to the Church through the Session of the particular Church. This provision is not intended to infringe upon the rights of beneficial ownership of the property of a particular Church, but is intended to strengthen the relational ties among the particular Churches in the union Presbytery, and is further intended to be a safeguard, both for the particular church and for the Presbytery, during times of financial crisis."

At the November 19, 1970, meeting of Synod the overture from Presbytery was approved but the proposed Standing Rules were not a part of the overture nor were they separately approved by Synod.

The Permanent Judicial Commission found the complaint to be in order and set the time and place for hearing the case at 11:00 a.m. Thursday, May 13, 1971, in Atlanta, Georgia. Notice was given to complainants and respondents.

The complaint was heard by the Permanent Judicial Commission on May 13, 1971. Complainants Chester B. Hall and Earl L. Glenn appeared for Complainants and William G. Walker appeared for Respondents.

Grounds assigned by Complainants' written complaint in summary are that the proposed Standing Rules violate the Book of Church Order as to the chapter concerning church property and as to Form of Government Sections 20-7 and 30-1 concerning amending the Book of Church Order.

Complaints argued orally that the Standing Rules which were proposed for the union Presbytery were in violation of the present Book of Church Order.

The Permanent Judicial Commission finds that the action of the Synod of Kentucky was proper.

The Standing Rules complained of were not adopted by any Presbytery, but only recommended by Louisville Presbytery, PCUS, to be adopted by the new union Presbytery on January 9, 1971, at the first meeting of the union Presbytery. The rules could not be adopted prior to that time since there would be no union Presbytery in existence until January 1, 1971. Said proposed Standing Rules were not adopted on January 9, 1971, in the form in which they were originally recommended by Louisville Presbytery, PCUS.

The overture adopted by the Synod of Kentucky did not contain the Standing Rules complained of and, therefore, the Synod of Kentucky's action is not unconstitutional or improper as alleged in the complaint. In fact, the Synod of Kentucky proceeded and approved the overture to establish a union Presbytery in exactly the form provided for in Book of Church Order Chapter 32.

The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission is that the complaint as a whole be not sustained for the above stated reasons.

Joseph W. Grier, Jr., Chairman
Permanent Judicial Commission

The Moderator put the following question: "Shall the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the General Assembly Complaint No. 3, 1971, as above recorded be made the final judgment of the General Assembly?" The Moderator advised Commissioners from the Synod of Kentucky that they were not to vote on the question. There being no questions and no requests for clarification, and upon vote of the Assembly, the Moderator declared: "The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the case of Chester B. Hall, et al, Complainants, versus the Synod of Kentucky, Respondent, is now the final judgment of the General Assembly, and the case is herewith closed."

Judge David E. Cuppett, Jr., a member of the Commission, read the report of the

v.

Synod of South Carolina, Respondent

Charles E. Raynal, Jr., et al, Complainants

G. A. Complaint
No. 6-1971

v.

Synod of South Carolina, Respondent

These are three complaints, each bearing on the same subject, each arising out of the same action by the Synod of South Carolina, and heard as one judicial case before the Permanent Judicial Commission.

The basic complaint is that the Synod of South Carolina declined to hear and judge a complaint filed against the Presbytery of Bethel. This complaint was filed by members of Bethel Presbytery.

The record reveals the following:

1. The Presbytery of Bethel adopted a resolution on October 18, 1970, in the following language:

"NOW, THEREFORE, we, the Presbytery of Bethel, do hereby declare that we have covenanted together henceforth to stand for the historic doctrine and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. To be very specific:

"1. The Presbytery of Bethel will not consent to organic union with the United Presbyterian Church USA, which union would inevitably result in the disappearance of the distinctive witness of the Presbyterian Church US and facilitate further non-Reformed mergers such as is proposed by the COCU or Church of Christ Uniting.

"2. The Presbytery of Bethel cannot in good conscience accept any dilution of the Confession of Faith; nor will we accept any changes in ordination vows which will no longer bind officers of the Church to adhere to the doctrinal standards of the Church.

"3. The Presbytery of Bethel will refuse to recognize as binding upon its churches any change in the Book of Church Order which would take control of local church property from congregations and vest it in the Presbytery.

"4. The Presbytery of Bethel will not surrender ownership or control of its property to any united, combined, or restructured body if such surrender, in the judgment of this Presbytery, would constitute a threat to the spiritual and moral principles elsewhere defended in this resolution.

"5. The Presbytery of Bethel will not consent to any plan for restructuring the Church which does not require the explicit consent of the Synods involved."

2. Members of the Presbytery of Bethel filed a complaint against the action of Bethel Presbytery with the Synod of South Carolina on October 26, 1970, alleging irregularity in the proceedings and unlawful exercise of authority forbidden by the constitution of the Presbyterian Church.

3. The Synod of South Carolina was called to meet in a special session on December 5, 1970, for the purpose of hearing and judging the complaint.

4. The Synod of South Carolina met on December 5, 1970, and the following procedures are listed in the minutes of Synod:

- a. The call for the Synod meeting was read and found in order.

- b. The Clerk of Synod announced that the Complaint had been filed in proper time and manner.

- c. The following recommendations of the Standing Committee on Judicial Business were adopted:

1. That the Complaint received from members of Bethel Presbytery against the action of that Presbytery be found in order and that the Synod proceed to hear and judge it.

2. That Complainants and Respondents be allowed forty-five minutes for each side in presenting their cases for and against the Complaint, each side to use this time as they think best.

3. That, after hearing Complainants and Respondents, members of the court shall be allowed five minutes each, the moderator seeking to equalize sides as to time.

4. That the voting on the Complaint be item by item (or count, or specification) and the question be put in the affirmative.
5. That the voting be by standing.
- d. The Complaint was read to the Synod.
- e. A point of order was raised, and Synod voted "that due to the nature of the business before the court, the members of Bethel Presbytery not be allowed to participate in the discussion nor vote."
- f. Another point of order was raised, "... whether the complaint was properly before the court (or whether it should have been handled as a protest or dissent to the Presbytery) based on the question of whether the resolution passed by Bethel Presbytery was an 'act or decision' of Bethel Presbytery (based on BCO 117-1)."
- g. Debate followed on this last point of order and it was sustained by the Synod, and Synod declined to try the case and give judgments.
- h. Notice was given that a complaint would be forwarded to the General Assembly against this action of the Synod.

The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission is that the complaint be sustained in part as stated hereafter, and that all three cases be sent back to the Synod of South Carolina with instructions to hear and adjudicate the complaint against the Presbytery of Bethel on or before September 30, 1971. The reasons for this preliminary judgment are:

1. The Synod erred in holding the complaint against the resolution of Bethel Presbytery was an improper subject of complaint. The resolution complained against is a proper subject of complaint. Book of Church Order Section 117-1 (first paragraph) states:

"A Complaint is a written representation made to a higher court against some act or decision of a lower court, or made to the appointing court against some act or decision of a Commission"

The remedies of dissent and protest may also be appropriate but do not deprive the complainants in these cases of their right to proceed by complaint.

2. The Synod of South Carolina erred in first finding the complaint in order and then refusing to hear it. When a higher court has found a case in order, the procedure is mandatory. (Book of Church Order Sections 116-7, -8.)

3. The Synod erred in reversing a previous action without a motion to reconsider. (Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, pp. 265).

This preliminary judgment is limited to the irregularities in proceedings as stated above. This preliminary judgment does not express a finding or any opinion on the merits or demerits of the Complaint against the action of the Presbytery of Bethel in adopting the Resolution. As to the Complaint against the Presbytery of Bethel, the only effect of this preliminary judgment is a determination that the adoption of the Resolution by the Presbytery of Bethel was an act of the Presbytery which is subject to review by Complaint.

Eugene F. Rogers, a member of the Commission residing in the Synod of South Carolina, recused himself and did not participate in the case in any aspect.

Joseph W. Grier, Jr., Chairman
Permanent Judicial Commission

The Moderator put the following question: "Shall the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the General Assembly Complaints Nos. 4, 5, and 6, 1971, as above recorded be made the final judgment of the General Assembly?" The Moderator advised Commissioners from the Synod of South Carolina that they were not to vote on the question. There being no questions and no requests for clarification, and upon vote of the Assembly, the Moderator declared: "The preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission in the case of Carlyle A. McDonald, et al, Complainants, versus the Synod of South Carolina, Respondent; A.B. Montgomery, Jr., et al, complainants, versus the Synod of South Carolina, Respondent; and Charles E. Raynal, Jr., et al, Complainants, versus the Synod of South Carolina, Respondent, is now the judgment of the General Assembly, and all three cases are remanded to the Synod of South Carolina for hearing and adjudication on or before September 30, 1971.

Eugene F. Rogers, a member of the Commission, read the report of the commission in the case of T. Harry Eckhoff, Complainant, versus the Synod of South Carolina, Respondent, as follows:

T. Harry Eckhoff, Complainant

v.

Synod of South Carolina, Respondent

G. A. Complaint

No. 7-1971

Prior to the date this matter was scheduled to be heard and considered by the Commission, Mr. Eckhoff notified the Commission in writing of his decision to abandon the complaint and he accordingly did not appear at the hearing.

The complaint is therefore abandoned. (Book of Church Order Section 116-9.)

COMMITTEE ON THANKS

The Moderator appointed the Committee on Thanks as follows: Rev. C. Darby Fulton, Chairman; Rev. Alexander McGeachy, and Miss Virginia Allen.

The Assembly recessed at 9:00 P.M. with prayer voiced by Rev. Howard Cobbs.

THIRD DAY—TUESDAY

June 15, 1971—8:30 A.M.

The Assembly met at 8:30 A.M. and engaged in a service of worship led by Rev. W. Spencer Hamrick and Rev. W.W. Peters.

The Minutes of Sunday and Monday were read and approved.

The floor was granted to Mr. Russell Merritt, youth delegate, to read a Communication to the General Assembly from a majority of the youth delegates present, as follows:

AN APPEAL TO THE 111TH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES FROM THE MAJORITY OF THE YOUTH DELEGATES

Most of us, for a very long time, have heard about the serious disagreements in the Church, we have heard about so-called liberals and so-called conservatives, about what it means to support the Westminster Standards, and about what it means to be truly in the "Reformed tradition". We hear dire threats of imminent schism and scoffing remarks about reactionaries. We are, frankly, tired of such talk. We disavow that which reeks of intolerance, and we affirm the principle of a Presbyterian Church working through all of its members towards a unity of purpose and in dedication to the Lordship of Jesus Christ.

We call upon all individual commissioners and delegates not to take on a cloak of self-righteousness and to disavow any claim to exclusive possession of the truth, for we affirm that we are all striving for perfection but are yet unable to judge others. Judgment is the sole province of God. Love is God's Will, and his love is of dynamic reconciliation. Therefore, we strongly urge that this Assembly take our plea seriously, and we pray that God fill this Assembly with loving tolerance which respects differences between brothers, active understanding, and honest, open communication.

Russ Merritt, Chairman

DOCKET FOR THE DAY

The Assembly adopted the recommendation of the Program Committee that the Standing Rule requiring distribution of reports at a previous session be suspended, so that the following reports could be distributed and considered: TRAV, Annuities and Relief, Minister and His Work, Review and Control of Synods, and National Ministries.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON TRAV

Rev. Charles H. Gibboney, Chairman, resumed the presentation of the report of the Standing Committee on TRAV, which was adopted as follows:

- I. The Standing Committee on TRAV considered the following items referred to it:
 - A. Minutes of the Board of Directors of TRAV.
 - B. Report of the Board of Directors of TRAV with recommendations and audit.
 - C. Nominations.
- II. Your Committee Recommends:
 - A. That the minutes of the meetings of the Board of Directors of TRAV be approved.
 - B. That the annual report of the Board of Directors of TRAV be approved (see Appendix, p. 203) and that the following recommendations be adopted:
 1. That the General Assembly join TRAV Board of Directors in expressing thanks to the individuals and groups which have made outstanding contributions to the broadcasting ministry of the Presbyterian Church in the United States during the past year:
 - a. The Rev. Dr. Wade P. Huie of Decatur, Ga., and the Rev. Dr. H. Louis Patrick of Charlotte, N.C., for preparing a series of sermons for "The Protestant Hour."
 - b. The Chancel and Chapel Choirs of First Presbyterian Church, Orlando, Fla., for preparing and recording the music for the 1970 series of "The Protestant Hour."
 - c. Mr. Tennessee Ernie Ford and Mr. Mose Henry for preparing special materials for use on discs of the Presbyterian Appalachian Broadcasting Council.
 2. That the General Assembly urge Commissioners, upon returning home, to encourage attendance from their home churches on the first TRAV Communications Conference in the history of the Church. It will be held in Montreat, N.C., July 28-30, 1971.
 3. That the General Assembly call attention to the fact that individuals, groups, and congregations now have an opportunity of taking a direct hand in the broadcasting ministry of their church through assisting in the placement of programs on local stations, and by contributing all or part of the distribution cost. Another area of assistance is to choose from the General Council's Project Book one of the broadcasting ministries to which they may wish to give help.
 4. That the General Assembly again encourage all members of the Church to express written and verbal appreciation to radio and television stations which broadcast Presbyterian Church, U.S., and other high-quality Christian programs, bearing in mind that words of thanks are not often expressed to these stations, and mean a great deal to them.
 5. That the General Assembly encourage ministers, lay leaders, and other interested persons to watch for TRAV's announcement of, and take advantage of, opportunities for training in the use of mass media. Special attention is called to the continuing education courses in Christian use of mass media which are being cooperatively offered by seminaries and TRAV.
 6. That the General Assembly urge presbyteries and synods to take advantage, through appropriate committees, of opportunities for communications training in this media age provided by TRAV, in view of the fact:
 - a. That mass media communications workshops are conducted by TRAV so that interested Presbyterians may be introduced to broadcasting and audiovisual techniques and receive some training in the use of these media.
 - b. That one- and two-day workshops in audiovisual utilization, three- to ten-day seminars on communications theory, broadcasting, and audiovisual techniques are scheduled in presbyteries and synods;
 - c. That the need is for presbytery and synod TRAV or mass media committees to undertake local sponsorship of workshops and to provide local organization, promotion, and housing.
 7. That the General Assembly express appreciation to Mr. Bluford Hestir and his staff for their creative and helpful service to the church.
 - C. That the following people as nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee be elected to the Board of Directors of TRAV as follows:

Class of 1974:	Rev. Lawrence W. Bottoms	Nat. Min.
	Rev. Massey M. Heltzel (3)	Ala.
	Rev. Hubert V. Taylor (3)	Ga.

to replace William D. Hedden (term expired)
- Class of 1974* Richard Steck, (1) Fla. to replace Mrs. Charles A. Young, Jr.,
(deceased)

D. Your Committee reports the Audit of TRAV to be in order and notes that the auditors made no recommendations and took no exceptions.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES H. GIBBONEY, Chairman

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON ANNUITIES AND RELIEF

Mr. G. Allen Mebane, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on Annuities and Relief, which was adopted as follows:

- I. The Standing Committee on Annuities and Relief considered the following items referred to it:
 - A. Minutes of the Board of Annuities and Relief.
 - B. Report of the Board of Annuities and Relief with its recommendations.
 - C. Overtures Nos. 32 and 62.
 - D. Resolution 34.
 - E. Nominations.
- II. YOUR COMMITTEE UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS:
 - A. That the minutes of the Board of Annuities and Relief be approved.
 - B. That the annual report of the Board of Annuities and Relief be approved (see Minutes, 1971, Part III, Annual Reports), and that the following recommendations be adopted:
 1. That the General Assembly endorse the following action of the Board: We are pleased to announce that, with the advice and consent of Huggins and Company, Inc., our actuaries, it will be possible on January 1, 1972, to add to each member's account in the Ministers' Annuity Fund a sixth special "Good Experience Credit." This special credit is possible at a cost of approximately $700,000 for each 1% of accumulated credits held by the Fund. This actuarial computation provides for the same percentage of increase in the amount of payment for those already receiving annuities, even as it provides an increase in credit to the accounts of those in active service.
 - As of December 31, 1971, sufficient reserves will be transferred from "Reserve for Actuarial Fluctuations and Other Contingencies" to the "Actuarial Liability to Members and Survivors for Annuity and Death Benefits" of the Ministers' Annuity Fund, making possible a 5% increase in all annuities being paid as of that date and in all 1/80th annuity credits accumulated to that date.
 - Such special credits do not change the terms of the Official Plan of the Ministers' Annuity Fund. These "special benefits" will be payable in addition to the normal benefits under the terms of the Official Plan.
 - This special "Good Experience Credit" in no way effects the future accumulation of credits or the dues required as outlined in the Official Plan. The accumulation of credits in the future will be on the same basis as in the past.
 2. That the General Assembly concur in the expression of appreciation that the Board extended to Dr. George H. Vick for his leadership as Executive Secretary, and in accordance with the Charter of Incorporation approve the Board's unanimous election of Dr. Vick for a three-year term, beginning September 1, 1971.
 - C. That Overture 32 from the Presbytery of Nashville (see p. 36) and Overture 62 from the Presbytery of Montgomery (see p. 36) be answered in the negative for the following reasons:
 1. The contractual purpose of the Ministers' Annuity Fund is to provide annuities, actuarially based on 10% dues, to members of the fund who have retired from service to the Presbyterian Church, U.S. Retirement from service to the Presbyterian Church, U.S., is not mandatory at any age, and a retiree may return to active service to the church at any time, subject to the approval of his presbytery.
 2. Annuities are not paid on the basis of the need of churches for the services of retired ministers nor on the financial circumstances of a particular church or a particular minister. Annuities are subject to the legal and contractual provisions set forth in the Age-Retirement Pension Plan of our church and are paid and actuarially based on the assumption of retirement from all remunerative service to the church.

3. The Official Plan of the Ministers' Annuity Fund makes no contractual provision for any continuation of retirement annuity during any period of remunerative service to the Presbyterian Church, U.S. Therefore, the continuation of annuity payments, as is presently allowable to annuitants under clearly defined circumstances, is provided only upon the advice and with the approval of the Board's Actuary, Huggins and Company, Inc., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This actuarial safeguard is followed for the benefit of the church and for the security of present and future retirees.

4. The record of the Board of Annuities and Relief gives every assurance that "benefits beyond the contract," such as the Liberalization (most recent additional benefit January 1, 1971) currently in effect, are promptly made available when it is financially and actuarially possible to do so without doing violence to the long term fiduciary responsibilities involved and the nature of the fund.

It should be further noted, in clarification of Overture 32, amount of remuneration in service to any one church for a period of up to thirteen weeks in any twelve month period without interruption of his annuity receipts.

D. That Resolution 34 (see p. 75) be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

1. The record of the Board of Annuities and Relief in relation to distributing Ministerial Relief funds is one unmatched by any other denomination and in recent years has been truly spectacular.

2. The formula under which such funds are distributed has been increased since 1962 from $1,700.00 for individuals and $2,600.00 for couples, all regular income considered, to the present formula of $3,000.00 for an individual and $4,400.00 for couples, all regular income considered.

PLUS the refund of total premiums paid the government for Part B of Medicare.

PLUS total premiums for supplemental major medical coverage.

PLUS a special gift at Christmas, which in 1970 amounted to $100.00 for individuals and $200.00 for couples.

3. Although the Board has expended, in maintaining the ever-increasing formula of income assistance in the past few years, more than $1,000,000.00 in excess of the current gifts of living donors, the possibility of an increase in the formula will be considered at the forthcoming meeting of the board in October, as it is annually. Any additional increase which will be considered will be dependent upon the generosity of the church.

4. In any formula increase in the future, as in the past, OCCASIONAL EARNINGS and SPECIAL GIFTS to those receiving income assistance WILL NOT BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT. All Persons regardless of their age receiving income assistance from the Fund for Ministerial Relief are asked to report only regular income.

The Board of Annuities and Relief is instructed to clarify, for all recipients of Ministerial Relief, the bases for reporting their incomes to the Board, since there appears to be a confusion in the minds of some recipients of relief and of their ministers, and others, in the Church.

E. That the people nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee be elected to the Board of Annuities and Relief as follows:

That the following be elected for additional terms:

F. That the General Assembly express to the Board of Annuities and Relief, its officers, executive secretary, and all staff members its appreciation, commendation, and thanksgiving for the excellent administration of funds and programs entrusted to it and for the constant liberalization of benefits which have earned the respect and admiration of all.

Respectfully submitted,
G. ALLEN MEBANE, Chairman

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON THE MINISTER AND HIS WORK

Mr. Merle A. Simpson, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work, which was adopted, as amended, as follows:

- I. The Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work considered the following items referred to it:
 - A. Minutes and audit of the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work.
 - B. Report of the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work.
 - C. Recommendation 5 from the report of the Board of National Ministries.
 - D. Overture 67.
 - E. Resolutions 28 and 38.
 - F. Nominations.

II. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:

A. That the minutes and audit of the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work be approved with exception: the absence of the minutes of the Executive Committee since the 1970 General Assembly

B. That the annual report of the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work be approved (see Appendix, p. 212), and that the following recommendations be adopted:

1. That the Committee sees no reason to study further the implications of Communication No. 5 in Paper A, Report of the Council on Church and Society (Minutes, 1970, Part I, p. 118) in as much as there is neither preferential tax treatment for, nor discrimination against, Ministers of the Gospel in the Internal Revenue Code.

2. The General Assembly adopt the following statement: "The General Assembly endorses fully the proposition that in furtherance of the Church's mission of God's work in this world pastoral counseling, as a form of ministry that utilizes the knowledge and skills of the social and psychological sciences, is a vital and integral part of the total ministry at large and, in particular, of the pastoral care of ordained ministers and their families."

3. The General Assembly take the necessary steps to enlarge the function of the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work and charge it with responsibility in the area of pastoral career development and counseling services, including the planning and coordination of such services and the definition of professional standards which shall be determined by the Assembly's Committee upon the advice of a Professional Advisory Board, appointed by the Assembly's Committee and composed of eminent representatives in the mental health field. The Committee shall consult with the Board of Christian Education to avoid duplication of efforts in this area.

4. The General Assembly establish, within the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work, the office of Coordinator of Pastoral Career Development and Counseling Services, funding for such office to be provided as a part of the regular budget of the Assembly's Committee.

5. The General Assembly commend the Board of Annuities and Relief for increasing the insurance coverage it makes available by including benefits for out-patient treatment for mental illness, and that the Board be urged to consider a further increase of these benefits.

7. The General Assembly urge presbyteries and synods to seek local funds for low-interest loans for ministers, or their families, needing such for mental illness treatment.

8. The General Assembly direct its Committee on the Minister and His Work to complete the compilation and analysis of data from the field study of 1970 with a view to reporting any further findings to a future General Assembly.

9. The General Assembly commend the members of the Task Force, the Field Representative, the regional consultants, and all others involved in the study on mental health of our ministers, including those who answered the questionnaires, for their dedication of time and effort to this study and for their concern over this entire problem in our Church.

C. That Recommendation 5 from the Report of the Board of National Ministries be adopted:

5. Realizing that within the last 20 years the General Assembly committed itself to the abolition of vestigial racial segregation in our Church, called on synods, presbyteries, and sessions to seek ways of achieving an inclusive society, challenged employment practices which excluded employment on the grounds of race, therefore the General Assembly in order to set a worthy example for society, instruct the General Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work to include on the information form its requests from congregations seeking its assistance, a question to determine whether or not that congregation would be open to call a candidate of an ethnic group different from the majority ethnic group of the congregation; and further to mail quarterly to all ministers of a racial minority a special opportunity list which would include a brief description of ministerial staff positions open in the Presbyterian Church, U.S. to candidates regardless of race.

D. That Overture 67 from the Presbytery of Hanover (see p. 56) be answered in the affirmative.

E. 1. That Resolution 28 (see p. 74) be answered in the affirmative.

2. That Resolution 38 (see p. 76) be answered in the affirmative.

F. That those persons nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee be elected to the Assembly's Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work, Class of 1974:

Rev. James A. Allison (3); Rev. Robert G. Hall (3);
Rev. W. Frank Harrington (2); Dr. Edward H. Knight (3);
Rev. William H. Jones (1)

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON REVIEW AND CONTROL OF SYNODS

Mr. John V. Matthews, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on Review and Control of Synods, which was adopted as follows:

I. The Standing Committee on Review and Control of Synods considered the following items referred to it:

- A. Minutes of the 15 Synods.
- B. Communication 2 from the Synod of Alabama.
- C. Communication 7 from the Synod of Georgia.
- D. Communication 10 from the Synod of Mississippi.
(Note: Communication 13 from the Synod of North Carolina was referred to the Committee but, at the request of the Stated Clerk, was withdrawn from consideration.)
- E. Minutes of the General Assembly, 1970, page 101, II F.

II. THE STANDING COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:

- A. In reference to A above:
 - 1. That the Minutes of the Synods of Alabama, Appalachia, Arkansas-Oklahoma, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia to be approved without exception.
 - 2. That the Minutes of the Synod of Missouri be found in order as a record of its proceedings.
 - 3. That the attention of the General Assembly be directed to the fact that, although our church has not approved the establishment of union synods, the Synods of Missouri, PCUS and UPCUSA are, in effect, functioning as one. Joint meetings are being held, and voting is done jointly unless a specific request is made that the votes be separately recorded. There is a common moderator, vice moderator and stated clerk, and the General Council, the departments and the permanent committees are the same for both synods. Since those elected are members of union presbyteries, they are eligible for election by both synods. The minutes of the synods are jointly bound and, in most instances, they are identical. It is evident that every effort has been made to obey the letter of the law set forth in our Book of Church Order; but, in some instances, reference is made to actions of "the Synod" as if it were one body and not two separate entities (e.g. page 22, par. 3; page 23, pars. 2, 3 and 6). Included in the minutes is a Resolution celebrating 'unity' and expressing "joy that, at long last, the Synods of Missouri have now met as one joint body . . ." and containing the decision to "express our joy and sense of satisfaction to our respective General Assemblies by sending this Resolution as a Communication to those Assemblies". The report of the Stated Clerk of the PCUS Synod stated, with regret, the fact that the Presbytery of Southeast Missouri, PCUS, had voted not to become part of a union presbytery (page 38). He stated that "while this action disrupts the many years of anticipated union and working together, your clerk sincerely hopes that we will proceed to function cooperatively in spite of the inconveniences".

Your committee expresses no opinion of the validity of the plan under which the Synod of Missouri is now operating. We would recommend that the structure and procedure described above be carefully reviewed by the Assembly's Permanent Judicial Commission with a view toward determining whether any violation of the polity of our church is involved.

4. That the 1968 Minutes of the Synod of Oklahoma have not yet been presented for review; that the Stated Clerk be directed to communicate with the stated clerk of the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma asking why the aforementioned Minutes have not been so presented; and that the Synod of Arkansas-Oklahoma be directed to present these Minutes to the 1972 General Assembly.

5. That the General Assembly instruct the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation to provide annually a written set of guidelines to assist the Standing Committee on Review and Control of Synods in making its work more efficient and effective as it reviews the minutes of synods.

6. That three (3) copies of the minutes of each synod be sent to each General Assembly meeting for review by the Standing Committee, with one of these being designated as 'official'.

B. In reference to I. B, C and D above:

That Communication 2 from the Synod of Alabama, Communication 7 from the Synod of Georgia and Communication 10 from the Synod of Mississippi be received as complying with the directive of the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 101, II. F.1

C. In reference to I. E above:

That the General Assembly take note that the Synod of Florida and the Synod of South Carolina have not replied as directed (Minutes, 1970, p. 101, II. F.) and direct these two Synods to reply to the 1972 General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN V. MATTHEWS, Chairman

Noting that the Communication received earlier this morning from the majority of the youth delegates is a commendable and conciliatory declaration, the Assembly voted that the Communication be duplicated and placed in the hands of all Commissioners to this General Assembly for the Assembly's continued reflection.

The Assembly stood for one minute of silent prayer for the prisoners of war in Vietnam and for their families.

The Assembly took recess until additional reports were available.

PARTIAL REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON BILLS AND OVERTURES

The Standing Rules were suspended to allow action on Resolution 24 at this time. The Resolution was adopted as amended (see p. 132).

At the request of the Moderator, Rev. J. McDowell Richards presided during the presentation of the report of the Standing Committee on National Ministries.

Rev. Charles E. S. Kraemer, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on National Ministries. During the debate, the Assembly voted to postpone discussion of Item II. E. until the beginning of the afternoon session.

Rev. Howard Blake, Executive Secretary, Celebration of Evangelism, spoke on the forthcoming Celebration of Evangelism in Cincinnati.

The Assembly took recess until 2:00 P.M. with prayer voiced by Rev. J. McDowell Richards.

AFTERNOON SESSION

June 15, 1971—2:00 P.M.

The Assembly reconvened at 2:00 P.M. with prayer voiced by Rev. Ben L. Eller.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON NATIONAL MINISTRIES

Rev. Charles E. S. Kraemer, Chairman, resumed the presentation of the report of the Standing Committee on National Ministries, which was adopted, as follows:

- I. The Standing Committee on National Ministries considered the following items referred to it:
 - A. Minutes of the Board of National Ministries.
 - B. Auditor's Report.
 - C. Report of the Board of National Ministries with its recommendations 1-4, 6-12 (Recommendation 5 is referred to the Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work).
 - D. Communication 4: Supplemental Report of the Board of National Ministries with Recommendations 13-16.
 - E. Nominations to the Board of National Ministries.
 - F. Resolution 5.
- II. THE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:
 - A. That the minutes of the Board of National Ministries since the last General Assembly be approved.

B. That the annual report of the Board of National Ministries be approved (Minutes, 1971, Part III, Annual Reports), and that the Board of National Ministries be commended for its creative leadership. We advise the General Assembly that the Report of the Expenditures of the board as listed in the Handbook indicates that the board stayed within the guidelines approved by the General Assembly; and further, that the audit of the Board of National Ministries is in order, without recommendation or exception by the auditors.

C. That the following recommendations be adopted:

That the General Assembly:

1. Express appreciation to Mrs. Patrick C. Murphy for her years of service on the Board of National Ministries.

2. Ratify the election of the Rev. John F. Anderson, Jr., for another three-year term as executive secretary of the Board of National Ministries beginning September 1, 1971.

3. Urge all church courts that, as the body of Christ on earth, the Church should attempt fulfillment of its fourfold ministry, i.e.,

The priestly role, which is the proclamation of the faith in both word and ritual act.

The pastoral role, which is the caring for individuals and communities.

The prophetic role, which is inquiry into judgment of the justice and humaneness of the social order and pointing to changes required if the Christian value is to be present. It is the affirmation of the sovereignty of God over the world.

The kingly role, which is governance and organization of activities for the care of man in the world through responsible corporate action.

4. Urge synods, presbyteries and sessions:

(a) To consider operating summer educational recreational programs for children in low-income areas, including nourishing meals and utilizing assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, if needed.

(b) To study the inadequacies in our present welfare system and to organize groups to work for its reform, utilizing consultation with welfare recipients.

(c) To join with other religious organizations and civic groups to work for the immediate and full implementation of the 1970 School Lunch Law.

(d) To study the administration and implementation of the food stamp program or the commodity food program in their geographic areas and to work for local improvement in these programs. (Volunteer transportation pools should be considered as a means of assisting the poor in getting to distribution centers to purchase food stamps or obtain commodity foods.)

5. Because the General Assembly believes in supporting the law of the land and is disturbed that there have been a number of private academies recently established primarily to circumvent compliance with federal laws regarding a unified public school system; and because of the danger growing disinterest of some communities in providing adequate public school appropriations necessary to insure that all children receive a quality education, therefore, the General Assembly urge synods, presbyteries, sessions and all communicants to support and strengthen in every way possible the unified, racially inclusive public school systems in their communities and not support any group or educational institution which opposes a unified racially inclusive public school system.

6. Urge all Church courts:

(a) To use some of the resources minority suppliers can provide in purchasing goods and securing services. (A minority buyer's guide is available from U.S. Department of Commerce to help churches locate these suppliers.)

(b) In order to enhance the economic strength of the minority community, to consider placing deposits in minority controlled banks, realizing that all investments are guaranteed up to $20,000.

(c) To encourage those in the legal profession to allot some time in their schedules for non-fee generating counsel, which could be given the poor through church-sponsored legal clinics.

(d) In their desire to understand the changes in the struggle for racial justice, to make use of the counsel of the Board of National Ministries and together seek to analyze situations of individual and institutional racism as a prerequisite to practical strategies for reconciliation.

(e) To use the services of the Board of National Ministries in strategy formation concerning the Church's role in minority manpower development and entrepreneurial projects in light of the need for economic empowerment of minority communities.

7. Whereas five denominations of the Reformed Family (UPUSA, PCUS, ARP, Cumberland Presbyterian, and Reformed Church in America) are planning jointly for "A Celebration of Evangelism" in Cincinnati, Ohio on September 20-24, 1971, which will be "a gathering sponsored by Presbyterians and others to celebrate and communicate to all people in our time the reality and transforming power of Jesus Christ"; and

Whereas the 1970 General Assembly, in its "Goals for Mission in the Seventies," lifted up many objectives which will be the specific concern of this "Celebration of Evangelism";

Therefore, be it resolved that the 111th General Assembly call the attention of its constituency to the "Celebration of Evangelism"; urge synods, presbyteries, and sessions to support this "Celebration" through representation from appropriate committees and through aid to individual pastors and evangelism leaders in local churches where this is feasible; and challenge the church to undergird this "Celebration" with prayer, especially on Sunday, September 20, 1971. That the General Assembly allow five (5) minutes to Rev. Howard Blake, executive secretary, "A Celebration of Evangelism", to speak to this subject, at the conclusion of this report.

8. Call the attention of synods, presbyteries and local congregations to the Montreat National Ministries Conference, July 31-August 6, 1971, on the theme, "Renewed Minds for Now Times," with the text, "Do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is good and acceptable and perfect," (Roman 12:2—RSV), and the following purpose:

"To explore together how the corporate church and the individual Christian can exert Christian leadership in a world that is radically changing in all areas of life:

- (a) By focusing upon a Christian theology which undergirds life in this age;
- (b) By describing major changes now affecting the human scene;
- (c) By evaluating these forces in terms of human survival and social justice through examining ethical criteria by which choices are made;
- (d) By arousing responsible participation so that the potentialities of the future may be realized and its dangers averted; and
- (e) By offering training experiences for churchmen engaged in various tasks of Christian mission."

9. Urge synods or presbyteries to schedule "Pass It On" meetings in which churches can come together to share what they are doing in witness and service, support one another in their common ministries through prayer, and together seek God's will for the future, using models now being developed by the Board of National Ministries if desired.

10. Call to the attention of synods, presbyteries and sessions the size and scope of the housing needs that exist in the nation and how, through joint participation with other interested groups, local churches and presbyteries can provide housing for the poor.

11. Approve the Board's manual revised to read as follows:

(Note: This recommendation also comes through The General Council Recommendation 16. (See p. 162).

Detailed information shall then be assembled by the Executive Secretary and the Treasurer for presentation to the Budget and Stewardship Committee of the General Council. 3.2.1.3.1 Duties: Recommend to Board, or in emergencies to Executive Committee, appointment and dismissal of executive staff; to review annually and make recommendations regarding salary for the executive staff and salary scales for the secretarial staff; to review and recommend various types of staff training and personnel support.

3.2.1.4 Chaplains Endorsement Committee

3.2.1.4.1 Duties: To recommend to the Board chaplains to be endorsed by the denomination for service in the military and V.A. chaplaincy; to recommend to the Board endorsement of institutional chaplains when and if such endorsement procedures are worked out; to have delegated authority for withdrawal of endorsement by committee action only in emergency situations; to have delegated authority to act in the interest of our chaplains in emergency situations; and to serve as liaison with interdenominational agencies concerned with all types of chaplaincy and special ministry services.

3.2.1.4.2 Professional consultants may be retained by Chaplains Endorsement Committee to assist in the endorsement procedure.

12. Encourage:

(a) Synods, presbyteries and sessions to examine the need for care and planning for children from the broken and troubled family.

(b) All child-care agencies under the above judicatories to evaluate their programs, facilities and services, in light of current Performance Standards adopted by the General Assembly and at least on a biennial basis.

(c) All said judicatories to encourage and support the child-care agencies in their development of consultative services and their utilization of such services in expanding their ministry through action-oriented programs which help in identifying causes and preventing family breakdown.

(d) All child-care agencies, with the assistance of their judicatories, to develop multi-service programs to meet needs of children, such as foster family care, adoption services, family aid, counseling services and group homes.

(e) All child-care agencies to consider providing consultative services to help the local church broaden its ministry through action-oriented programs in identifying causes and helping to prevent family breakdown.

13. (a) Express its continuing concern for the aging and for the Church's effective ministry to and with them.

(b) Urge synods, presbyteries and sessions, through their appropriate agencies, to determine needs, evaluate existing programs and develop multiservice programs, including physical facilities, to meet the needs of all social, economic and ethnic groups, utilizing the Standards adopted by the General Assembly and the consultative services of the Board of National Ministries' staff in such efforts.

14. Be cognizant of suggested programs for local churches now being developed by staff members from the Boards of National Ministries, Christian Education and Women's Work in the area of the use and misuse of drugs and urge synods, presbyteries and local churches to make use of these programs.

15. That Resolution #19 from the 110th General Assembly, which reads as follows:

Whereas, since there appears to be a resurgence of evangelism; and,

Whereas, since our church has believed down through the years that all that we do is evangelism (the proclamation of the God News of Christ); and,

Whereas, since the church has initiated and encouraged forms of social, humanitarian forms of evangelism, which we consider Biblical and reformed; and

Whereas, there is a feeling that the General Assembly and the denomination be made aware that while we have evangelism in many forms and have encouraged our communicants to participate . . . that we have neglected the specific calling of evangelists as seen in Scripture . . . and in the past we have had preaching evangelists on the Presbytery and Synod level . . . ;

Therefore, be it resolved, that the 110th General Assembly instruct the Board of National Ministries to study the specific role of preaching evangelists as it relates to the General Assembly, Synod and Presbytery and report back in 1971.

It was answered by the Board of National Ministries with the paper, "A Study of the Specific Role of Preaching Evangelists," and the following statement:

Realizing that in the 1970's the preponderant masses of the unchurched in the nation are not attending the classical preaching services, the Board of National Ministries will continue to study, explore and report to the 112th General Assembly additional and alternative methods of proclamation.

That the Board of National Ministries distribute this paper to all churches for study.

D. That the following people, nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee, be elected to the Board of National Ministries:

For an additional term:

Class of 1974:	Rev. I. Howard Chadwick (3)	Fla.
	Rev. Cook W. Freeman (3)	Ga.
	Rev. Robert A. Pfrangle (2)	Fla.
	Rev. Bruce L. Robertson (2)	Fla.
	Rev. R. Davis Thomas (3)	Appa.
	Wallace F. Armstrong (3)	La.

Mrs. James Brimberry (2)

Fla.

Erst Long (3)

Miss.

To fill the vacancy in the Class of 1972:

Miss Margaret James (1)

Va.

The Standing Committee on National Ministries nominated, and the Assembly elected, Mr. Louis Lazarine to replace Mr. Freeman, Class of 1974.

E. That Resolution 5 (see p. 60) be answered in the negative. We reaffirm the position of the 110th General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 124-126). It is the standing committee's judgment that said statement is both sensitive and comprehensive and represents an adequate theological and Biblical basis.

Respectfully submitted,

C.E.S. KRAEMER, Chairman

DOCKET FOR THE DAY

The Program Committee reported the following order of business: Inter-Church Agencies and Councils, Inter-Church Comity and Union.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON INTER-CHURCH AGENCIES AND COUNCILS

D. Resolutions 6, 7, 17, 18.

E. Nominations.

II. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:

A. That the Minutes of the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations be approved.

1. WE RECOMMEND TO THE ASSEMBLY THE CONTINUATION OF THE ONE AND ONE-HALF CENTS PER CAPITA ASSESSMENT FOR THE WORLD ALLIANCE OF REFORMED CHURCHES.

2. WE RECOMMEND TO THE ASSEMBLY THE FOLLOWING APPOINTMENTS BE MADE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES, DECEMBER 3-9, 1972:

Dr. R.L.D. Davidson to replace Rev. William R. Sengel

Alternates

Rev. James E. Andrews to replace Mr. Charles Motley

Mrs. Donald W. Shriver to replace Dr. Sara Little

Rev. Irvin Elligan, Jr., to replace Mr. William J. Haynes

Rev. George M. Webb to replace Mr. William G. McGavock

3. That the following be elected to the General Board of the National Council of Churches for the Triennium ending December, 1972:

Principals

Rev. T. Watson Street to replace Rev. William Kadel

Mr. David W. Robinson—additional representative

Alternates

Rev. James E. Andrews to replace Rev. Albert J. Kissling

Rev. J. Sherrard Rice to replace Mr. William J. Haynes

Mrs. Donald W. Shriver to replace Rev. T. Watson Street
 Rev. Irvin Elligan, Jr.—additional representative

(The recommended nominations in this Section B.3. differ from the recommendations of the Permanent Committee in that we recommend the election of Mr. David W. Robinson as the additional representative rather than Rev. Albert J. Kissling because Mr. Kissling is already serving as a representative to the North America Council, World Alliance of Reformed Churches, and that we felt that Ruling Elders should have additional representation.)

4. That the following be elected to the North American Council, World Alliance of Reformed Churches

1) Class of 1973

Alternate: Dr. Mary L. Boney

2) Class of 1977

Principals:

Rev. Frank A. Mathes

Rev. Albert J. Kissling

Mrs. John W. McQueen

Rev. James A. Millard, Jr.

Rev. J. Rodman Williams

Rev. Louis H. Farrior

Rev. Harry G. Goodykoontz

Rev. Shirley C. Guthrie, Jr.

Rev. James E. Andrews

Dr. Samuel R. Spencer

(The recommended nominations in this Section B.4. differ from the recommendations of the Permanent Committee in that we recommend the election of the Rev. Frank Mathes as a principal in the Class of 1977 in the place of the Rev. James E. Andrews, who we recommend should be the alternate. This was done because we believe that there should not be two principles from the office of the Stated Clerk.)

5. That when the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations submits recommendations for nominations to the various positions, offices, etc., which are under their cognizance, the permanent committee shall be required to include supporting information which is available to them and which will aid the standing committees in evaluating nominees.

C. That Overture 71 from the Presbytery of South Mississippi be answered in the negative because this is a question properly decided by the General Assembly and not by the presbyteries.

D. The Resolutions 7 (see p. 63), 17 (see p. 67), 6 (see p. 63), and 18 (see p. 67) be answered in the negative.

E. That this Assembly express its recognition not reflected in the vote on Resolutions 7, 17, 6, and 18, that strong negative feelings on the part of some of our constituency at the local level exists toward the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches. These negative feelings seem to arise out of widely publicized statements of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches which a significant segment of the local constituency finds unacceptable. We see this as a serious problem regarding our involvement in these two organizations.

We wish to make it known that the vote to continue to remain members of and to support the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches is not an agreement with all of the statements and actions of these two bodies, but is an attempt to substantiate the overriding good which is done through dialogue with representatives of other Christian bodies, and through programs which carry out the mandate of our Lord to meet the physical and spiritual needs of people throughout our nation and around the world.

We, therefore, resolve to improve our methods of informing local congregations as to the nature and the programs of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches, and, further, to advise these organizations of the nature and scope of these negative feelings.

F. We recommend that this General Assembly recognize the strong and creative leadership of the Rev. William R. Sengel, who finishes, at the end of the 111th Assembly, a nine-year term of service on the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations. Having served previously for five years as a member of the permanent committee, he has since given four years of devoted and imaginative service as its chairman. He has been highly effective in interpreting the ecumenical movement to our communion and greatly useful as an honored representative of the denomination in inter-church forums. We express appreciation for the sacrifices of time and energy which he has made for the task and dedication with which he has served the whole church. (Adopted without dissent.)

G. We recommend that the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations be directed, in selecting representatives to various bodies and in proposing nominations to the General Assembly, to take into account the need for a balance between the clergy and the laity, and the expressed determination of the Presbyterian Church to provide significant involvement of women, of people of minority races, and of youth.

H. We express appreciation to Mr. Roy I. Madsen, Executive Secretary for Church Relations, American Bible Society, who represented the American Bible Society at this General Assembly.

I. We recommend to the assembly the following, nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee, be elected to the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations:

Class of 1974:	Rev. W. G. Foster (3)	S.C.
	Rev. Albert J. Kissling (2)	Fla.
	Rev. James D. Newsome, Jr. (2)	Ky.
Vacancies:
Class of 1972:	Rev. J. Robert Keever, Jr. (1)	Ala. to replace Motley (resigned)
Class of 1973:	Rev. Walter A. Bennett (1)	La. to replace Richards (resigned)
Class of 1974:	Dr. Angie T. King (1)	W. Va. to replace Roberts (term expired; also deceased)
	Rev. William J. Boney (1)	Va. to replace Sengel (term expired)
Respectfully submitted,
B. HERMAN DILLARD, Chairman

The Assembly recessed until 7:30 P.M. with prayer voiced by Moderator Rose.

EVENING SESSION

June 15, 1971—7:30 P.M.

The Assembly met at 7:30 P.M. and was opened with prayer by Mr. Jim Collie.

SPECIAL ORDER

The Moderator presented Rev. Robert Hall, Chairman, Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work, who read a statement of appreciation for Mr. R. Graham White, upon his approaching retirement:

Whereas the year 1971 marks the end of a notable career in full-time service to the Presbyterian Church in the United States on the part of R. Graham White; and

Whereas his expertise in the area of pastoral relationships has benefitted many ministers and churches, as well as the Commissions and Committees on the Minister and His Work of the Presbyteries and Synods of our Church; and

Whereas the General Assembly is desirous of expressing its gratitude to God for having raised up such a man for the problems of his times;

Now, therefore, the One-Hundred-Eleventh General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States adopts the following "In Appreciation" statement as an expression of its gratitude to God and to R. GRAHAM WHITE for his service as executive secretary of the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work from June 1, 1951, through December 31, 1971, and as auditor of the Board of Annuities and Relief from March 14, 1940, to May 31, 1951, and directs that a copy of this statement be presented to Mr. White.

The Assembly adopted the above action, and stood in recognition of Mr. White, who was escorted to the platform by Rev. Walter Styles, a member of the Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work. Rev. Mr. Hall presented Mr. White with a plaque, on which was enscribed the statement of appreciation just read. Moderator Rose led the Assembly in a prayer of thanks to God for Mr. White and of earnest petition that God will continue to raise up such men for the church in all its difficult times.

- II. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:
 - A. That the minutes of the Permanent Theological Committee be approved.
 - B.1. That the Report of the Permanent Theological Committee be approved and the paper, "The Person and Work of the Holy Spirit", be adopted as amended:

The Person and Work of The Holy Spirit,

With Special Reference to "the Baptism of the Holy Spirit"

Introduction

The following study on the Holy Spirit comes to the General Assembly in response to the Assembly's action on a resolution introduced at the 1967 Assembly (G.A. Min., p. 103) by the Reverend Andrew A. Jumper. Specifically, the 1967 Assembly referred the resolution to the Permanent Theological Committee "for a study of the doctrine of the person and work of the Holy Spirit."

As the remit to the committee is worded, it may be construed as a request for a dissertation of book length. Such a study, if possible for a committee at all, would be of staggering cost in time, effort, and money, and could not be expected to appear in print for a number of years. (Moreover, the committee calls attention to the selected bibliography appended to this report on which several rather thorough-going and comprehensive works on the Holy Spirit are listed.) In view of this situation, the committee has decided to offer a paper which does not claim to be comprehensive, but intends to speak directly to the specific situations and events which gave rise to the resolution. Fortunately, Mr. Jumper has provided a clear presentation of the background for his resolution in a printed pamphlet entitled "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit and the Renewal of the Church."

Examination of the background pamphlet and of the text of the resolution indicates that the central issue is the concept of the "baptism of the Holy Spirit" or "infilling" of the Spirit, together with the various "spiritual gifts" or manifestations of the Spirit which may follow that event. It is clear, furthermore, that the event of Spirit baptism is conceived as something which is not merely to be identified with, and may be removed in time from, one's conversion and/or baptism with water. An understanding of the Spirit's work becomes the more urgent when it is recognized that the entire ministry and mission of the church, present and future, is dependent upon his life and power in our midst. It is with special reference to these observations that the following discussion is presented.

The committee is also aware that this resolution and pamphlet stem from a situation that is fairly widespread today. Hence the reply which follows will seek first to give some outline of the contemporary scene before proceeding to Biblical and theological reflection.

I. Certain Contemporary Experiences of the Spirit

A. There are a number of people in historic Protestant churches—and most recently in the Roman Catholic Church—who have had an experience which they call “the baptism of (with, in) the Holy Spirit,” or sometimes “the filling of (with) the Holy Spirit.” This experience has been so meaningful and vivid to those who have gone through it that they have difficulty putting it into words: “a new relationship, a deeper encounter, a closer walk.” Many speak of it primarily as an extraordinary sense of God's reality and presence, and lay claim to a praise and adoration of God hitherto unknown to them. At the same time they often testify to a new bond of community with those who have had the same experience, and a heightened desire and capacity to bear witness to the gospel. In all aspects of life they claim a deeper love, joy, and peace. Frequently they testify to a multiplicity of “charismata,” such as “speaking in tongues,” prophecy, healing and so on. Many claim that “speaking in tongues” was the primary manifestation of their “filling” or “baptism,” for it has been either an immediate accompaniment of their experience or has followed some time later. They usually disclaim an interest in the spectacular as such; rather, their testimony is to the reality of God, a deeper awareness of his presence, and the wonder that the Holy Spirit has filled their being.

As these people seek to understand what has happened to them, they generally speak of it as an occurrence within their Christian life. Usually they think of themselves as having been believers for a long time; hence, they do not interpret this experience as entrance into faith but as something beyond. Sometimes they speak of salvation and being “filled with the Spirit”. They claim that both could (and sometimes do) occur at the same moment, but for most of them there has been a separation in time. Frequently this “baptism with the Spirit” has occurred after the laying on of hands; but this is not true in all cases. For most of these people the testimony is that—with or without the laying on of hands—the experience occurred after extended prayer and seeking. Some speak of this event as a transition within their Christian experience, from the state of Christ's (or the Spirit's) being with them to his being in them. Others say that the transition is rather to be understood as a fuller realization of what was already within them. In any case, these people feel sure that they have entered into a new and exciting life in the spirit.

B. The events which we have enumerated have raised some critical problems for our Church, and especially for those congregations in which the events have occurred. In the first place, we have tended to stress the work of the Spirit in the life of the believer as uniting the believer to Christ and thereby bringing to him God's grace in salvation. Justification has been viewed as the initial work of the Spirit in applying to man the benefits of Christ's work, and sanctification as the ongoing work of the Spirit in completing the divine purpose by transforming a human life more and more into the likeness of Jesus Christ. But in this contemporary experience of the Spirit there seems to be testimony to an additional working of the Spirit that goes beyond the initiation of Christian life (justification) and its progress (sanctification)—a “baptism” or “filling” with the Holy Spirit. The critical question here is how, in the light of the Biblical witness and the Reformed tradition, this understanding is to be adjudged.

In the second place, problems of another kind also arise from the situation to which we have referred. When some members of a congregation claim special pneumatic experiences, or claim extraordinary gifts—e.g., healing, speaking in tongues—the peace, unity, and fellowship of the Church may be seriously jeopardized. Differing views of the Spirit and his work may give rise to a schism between those who claim a Spirit baptism and those who do not, or between those who recognize the validity of such claims and those who do not. Obviously our Church ought to provide some guidance in these matters where strong differences of opinion may result in contention and the disruption of the Church's work.

Manifestly, any valid guidance that can be given on this, or on any other subject, must be derived from the teachings of Scripture, and must be evaluated in the light of the Standards of our church. We shall therefore attempt to sketch what the Old and the New Testaments have to say with regard to the Spirit, and then to examine the teachings of the Confession of Faith and Catechisms, before proceeding to draw conclusions.

II. Concerning the Spirit in the Old Testament

The Old Testament offers no teaching regarding the Holy Spirit as a distinct person of the Godhead alongside the Father and the Son. On the few occasions when the term “holy Spirit” occurs (only Isa. 63:10f. and Ps. 51:11 [H. 13], it is virtually a synonym for the person and presence of the holy God himself. But “the Spirit of God/Yahweh (the LORD)” is mentioned with great frequency throughout the Old Testament and clearly represents an important aspect of its understanding of God and his actions.

A. "Spirit" in General. The Hebrew word for "spirit," ruach, occurs approximately 375 times in the Old Testament. Although we are concerned here with the word only as it is applied to God, a few remarks regarding its usage in general would be helpful by way of background.

1. The basic force of ruach is physical; wind, breeze, air, breath. The word frequently has this sense in the Old Testament, e.g., Num. 11:31; Jer. 14:6; Gen. 3:8. From this physical force there develops quite naturally the metaphorical one: what is empty, vacuous, without substance, "windy." This meaning is likewise attested in the Old Testament (Isa. 41:29; Jer. 5:13; etc.).

2. Still with the physical sense of "wind, breath," ruach is used of the breath which is in man, which keeps him in life (e.g., Isa. 42:5; Ps. 104:29). It thus can denote the vital principle in man and beast (e.g., Gen. 6:17; 7:15, 22; Ecc. 3:19) and even on occasion, life itself (e.g., Job 12:10; Ps. 31:5 [H. 6], "Into thy hand I commit my ruach"). Note, however, that although men die when their ruach is taken away (Ps. 104:29), ruach is never used in the Old Testament to denote an apparition, a ghost, as "spirit" often is in English.

3. Most often, however, when "spirit" is used of man it denotes a dominant disposition, an impulse, a mood, feeling or temper (as in Gen. 41:8; 1 Kings 21:5; Num. 5:14; Hos. 4:12; Prv. 25:28; etc.). In this connection the Old Testament often depicts God as acting upon the dispositions of individuals or groups—for good or for ill—in order to accomplish his purpose. Thus he sent "an evil spirit" (i.e., bad blood) between the men of Shetchem and Abimelech in order to prepare for the latter's down fall (Jds. 9:23); or he sent "an evil spirit" (a demonic mood, a diabolical disposition) on Saul (1 Sam. 16:14-23; 18:10; 19:9); or placed a "lying spirit" in the mouth of the prophets to entice Ahab to his ruin (1 Kgs. 22:22f.); or poured out "a spirit of deep sleep" (i.e., of stultification) on his own people (Isa. 29:10). On the other hand, he "put a spirit" (i.e., an anxiety) in the Assyrian king to turn him from Jerusalem (Isa. 37:36-37); he "stirred up" the spirit of the Medes against Babylon (Jer. 51:11), and that of Cyrus to decree the restoration of the Jewish community (Ezra 1:1); he likewise "stirred up the spirit" of Zerubbabel, Joshua, and the people to undertake the rebuilding of the temple (Hag. 1:14). We see, thus, that God not only confers his Spirit upon men (below), but moves upon their spirits for the accomplishment of his purpose.

B. The Spirit of God/Yahweh

1. The word ruach when applied to God may have as wide a range of meanings as does ruach in general. Although some of these are not directly germane to our discussion, we shall briefly mention them.

a) Even when used of God, ruach may retain its primary sense and denote the wind, as when God piled up the waters of the Red Sea by the "blast" (ruach) of his nostrils (Exod. 15:8). Frequently, however, "wind" (or "the breath of Yahweh" or "the blast/breath of his nostrils/anger," etc.) is used as a metaphor for God's wrath as he comes to judge (e.g., Isa. 11:15, 40:7; Jer. 4:12f.; Hos. 13:15; Job 4:9).

b) Again, God's ruach may denote the "breath" which God infuses in man (cf. Gen. 2:7), giving him life and sustaining him in it (e.g. Job 27:3; Ps. 104:29f.). In such passages man's breath is spoken of as "the spirit of God" which is the source of his life, but which is finally withdrawn so that he dies (Job 34:14f.; Gen. 6:3). Sometimes, indeed, the "breath" of Yahweh is extended to denote God's creative power in general, and is made synonymous with his "word" whereby he brought all things into being (Ps. 33:6).

c) Most frequently, however, the term "ruach (Spirit) of God/Yahweh" is used to denote a mysterious divine energy, or charisma, which from time to time came upon men and possessed them, enabling them for the performance of certain specific tasks. This usage of the term is, of course, central to our interest here. The Spirit is always depicted as manifesting itself in unusual powers, gifts, and abilities of various kinds. Sometimes this might be exceptional artistic and technical skill, as when Bezalel was filled "with the Spirit of God, with ability, with intelligence, with knowledge, and with all craftsmanship" in order to undertake the preparation of the tabernacle and its furnishings (Exod. 31:3; 35:31). Or it might be an extraordinary understanding and wisdom such as that which enabled Joseph (Gen. 41:33f.) or Daniel (Dan. 5:14) to interpret dreams and other divine revelations. Indeed, wisdom and understanding generally can be spoken of as a gift of the Spirit (Job 32:7f.). But although the gifts of the Spirit were considered exceedingly diverse, and not confined to any single class of people, in the overwhelming majority of its occurrences "the Spirit of God" is associated with the charismatic leaders of Israel's early period, and with prophetic inspiration.

2. The Spirit and Israel's Leaders. Israel's leaders prior to the establishment of the monarchy were said to be men who were filled with the Spirit. This is true of Moses (Num. 11:25) and Joshua (Num. 27:18). In the case of Moses this involved the gift of prophecy, for when "some of the spirit that was upon him" was placed upon the 71 elders, they prophesied. But the Spirit also conveyed the gifts of leadership, for when Moses laid his hand on Joshua to appoint him as his successor we are told that Joshua "was full of the spirit of wisdom," so that the people obeyed him (Deut. 34:9).

But the possession of the Spirit is associated especially with the Judges. Here the Spirit is conceived as an invading divine power, a charismatic fury, which seized the Judge and inspired him to rally the people and lead them to victory over their foes, and in some cases enable him to perform feats of superhuman strength. Thus the Spirit of Yahweh "came upon" Othniel (Jds. 3:10) and Jephthah (Jds. 11:29), and "took possession" of Gideon (Jds. 6:34; lit. "clothed itself" with him), enabling each to win mighty victories for Israel. Samson's career began when "the Spirit of Yahweh began to stir him" (Jds. 13:25), and when the Spirit "came mightily upon him" he was able to kill a lion with his bare hands (Jds. 14:6) and perform other feats of valor and prodigious strength (Jds. 14:19; 15:14). Saul also stood in the line of the charismatic Judges, for we read (I Sam. 11:6) that, when danger threatened Israel, "the Spirit of God came mightily upon him" and inspired him to rally the clans to battle. In none of these cases are we to think of the Spirit as a permanent possession of the Judge, but rather as a power from God which came to him in moments of emergency; it was not something that was with him always, still less could he pass it on to a successor, as Moses did to Joshua. In the case of Saul we are specifically told that because of his disobedience the Spirit was taken from him, and an "evil spirit" from God sent in to its place (above).

Although David is spoken of as a man of the Spirit (I Sam. 16:13), it is with him that the line of charismatic leaders ends; thereafter king followed king by dynastic succession, and no other ruler in Israel is said to have possessed the Spirit of God (though in Zech. 4:6 it is promised that Zerubbabel will be enabled to complete the temple by God's Spirit). But the ideal of the Spirit-endowed ruler was treasured as a promise for the future. The time will come (Isa. 28:6) when God himself will be "a spirit of justice—and strength" to Israel's rulers. There will come an ideal king, "a shoot from the stump of Jesse," upon whom "the Spirit of Yahweh shall rest" (Isa. 11:1-2); and this Spirit is characterized as "the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of Yahweh" (i.e., the presence of God's Spirit will endow the coming king with all these graces). Likewise, God's Servant, whose task it is to bring God's salvation to the nations, will have God's Spirit upon him (Isa. 42:1; cf. also 61:1).

3. Prophecy and the Spirit. The Spirit also manifested itself in prophetic inspiration. As we have seen, when some of the Spirit that was on Moses was transferred to the 70 elders, they prophesied, as did Eldad and Medad (Num. 11:25, 29). Balaam likewise gave his oracles under the influence of the Spirit (Num. 24:2). When Saul met a band of prophets who were prophesying to the sound of music, the Spirit of God "came mightily upon him," and he too prophesied (I Sam. 10:5f., 10). The ecstatic nature of such experiences is evident from I Samuel 19:23f., where we read that Saul stripped off his clothes and lay naked on the ground all day and all night "prophesying." Elisha was gripped by God's "hand" (RSV "power") while a minstrel played and, in that condition, uttered an oracle (II Kgs. 3:15). Sometimes the Spirit is considered a quasi-physical force which carried the prophet from one place to another, like a great wind blowing the leaves (I Kgs. 18:12; II Kgs. 2:16; Ezek. 3:14; 8:3; 11:1; 43:5). So closely, indeed, were Spirit possession and prophetic utterance connected that it was possible to speak of the prophet as "the man of the spirit" (Hos. 9:7); it was God's Spirit that spoke through the prophet's mouth (II Sam. 23:2; I Kgs. 22:24). Spirit possession was primarily associated with ecstatic prophecy, and (outside Ezekiel) is seldom mentioned in the books of the classical prophets; but even Micah could say, "I am filled with power, with the Spirit of Yahweh, and with justice and might, to declare to Jacob his transgression and to Israel his sin" (Mic. 3:8).

4. The Spirit and All Israel. Although it is occasionally stated that God's Spirit was with Israel in the wilderness days (Isa. 63:11; Neh. 9:20), the Spirit is never depicted as being bestowed on the people as a whole, but only on certain exceptional individuals. But the hope is expressed that the time will come when all Israel will receive the Spirit. Moses expressed the wish that all God's people might be prophets (Num. 11:29); and Joel announced the time when the Spirit would be poured out on all flesh, and all would in fact prophesy (Joel 2:28f. [H. 3:1f]). But the outpouring of the Spirit will bring not merely the gift of prophecy; it will bring to Israel a new spirit of obedience (Ezek. 36:26f.; cf. 37:14; 39:29), and a new loyalty and devotion to God (Isa. 44:3-5), a spirit of "compassion and supplication" (Zech. 12:10). Indeed the gift of the Spirit is the sign and pledge of the fulfillment of his covenant promises (Isa. 59:21) and of the new future that God has prepared for his people (Isa. 32:15).

5. In the Old Testament, then, the Spirit is not distinct from God, but represents God himself in one aspect of his activity toward his creation. God is in his nature "spirit" and not "flesh" (Isa. 31:3). The Spirit of God is indistinguishable from God in his work as creator (Isa. 40:13), and the presence of the Spirit with God's people is equivalent to the presence of God himself (Hag. 2:5). As the Psalmist said, "Cast me not away from their presence, and take not thy holy Spirit from me" (Ps. 51:11 [H. 13]); and again, "Whither shall I go from thy Spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" (Ps. 139:7). To have the gift of the Spirit is to be in the presence of God.

III. Concerning the Spirit in the New Testament

A. "Spirit" in General. The New Testament word for spirit, pneuma, has many of the same general associations as the Old Testament word ruach. Its basic sense is that of a movement of air, a wind, a breath. By reason of its use to designate the breath of a living being, it accrued to itself the meaning of the vital principle of life or animation. It is then used generically to denote a simple essence which is without material substance, and thus may mean a human soul (in this sense often an equivalent of psyche), an angel, or a demon. Sometimes it carries the general idea of a disposition or influence, an affection, emotion, or desire.

B. The Spirit of God. As the term is applied in the New Testament to God, however, it takes on a special meaning. Much of this special meaning is determined by the fact that the writers of the New Testament, as the early Christians generally, were thoroughly schooled in and influenced by the Old Testament Scriptures. It is only natural, therefore, that "the Spirit of the Lord" or "the Spirit of God" (sometimes simply "the Spirit") occupies a special place in New Testament thought. By virtue of the prominence it has in the New Testament, the particular expression "Holy Spirit" was adopted by the post-apostolic church, the concept developed doctrinally and used in creeds through the centuries, and is the term most popularly used today by Christians (as evidenced by our own Confession of Faith, especially Chapter IX).

1. From the New Testament standpoint, the most significant divergence from the Old Testament usage and meaning appears in the fact that the Holy Spirit is now inseparably connected with Jesus Christ. The nature of this connection is stated in various ways. Among the most prominent are the following:

a) The Gospels of Matthew and Luke state that the Spirit was uniquely active in the conception of Jesus (Matt. 1:20; Luke 1:35).

b) The Spirit descended upon Jesus in a special way at the time of his baptism (Mark 1:10 and parallels).

c) After his baptism Jesus was led (driven) by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted (Mark 1:12 and parallels).

d) The deeds and words of Jesus are due to the Spirit's presence with him (Luke 4:18), and according to Matthew (12:28) his exorcisms are explicitly by the power of God's Spirit.

e) The Gospel of John, in which the Spirit figures most prominently, presents Jesus as the one who will send the Spirit upon his disciples (1:33; 16:7), and the giving of the Spirit by the risen Lord is reported among the resurrection stories (20:22).

f) The Apostle Paul states outright: "The Lord [i.e., Christ] is the Spirit" (II Cor. 3:17).

g) The first epistle of Peter identifies the Spirit of the Old Testament as "the Spirit of Christ" (1:11).

h) There are numerous New Testament passages in which the "Spirit of Christ" is used as a synonym for, or interchangeably with, the Spirit of God" or the "Holy Spirit" (for example: Acts 16:6, 7; II Cor. 3:17, 18; Romans 8:9; Galatians 4:6; Philippians 1:19; I Peter 1:11).

2. Moreover, the unique place occupied by the Holy Spirit in the New Testament is further determined by the faith of the disciples that in the events of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus the new age had dawned. It was noted above that the messianic king for whom Israel looked was to be one on whom the "Spirit of God shall rest" (Isaiah 11:1-2), and the faith that Jesus was the Messiah is the basis for the New Testament's close association of the Spirit with Jesus. Also, when the Spirit is said to have descended upon the followers of Jesus on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2), it is clear that his event is portrayed as a fulfillment of the eschatological hope of the Jews. Peter's speech (Acts 2:14-36) cites the words of Joel 2 to the effect that the "last days" have now come, and God is now pouring out his Spirit upon his servants, enabling them to prophesy (see especially Acts 2:16-18). These two aspects of the New Testament concept of the Spirit are merely two of the most basic out of a multitude of ideas which point up the fact that the Spirit is to be understood as an eschatological reality. His presence is not only the fulfillment of Old Testament expectations, but, as we shall also mention again below, the guarantee of the completion of God's purpose in the future.

3. Since the Spirit is an eschatological reality, and because the church is to be seen as the eschatological people of God, the New Testament also teaches that there is a special connection between the Holy Spirit and the church. Although possession of the Spirit is sometimes said to characterize individual Christians and to work through them in a sense not common to the whole body (see below), the most common concept of the Holy Spirit in the New Testament is that he is present in and among all believers. It is not so much, therefore, a matter of an individual's special relation to God which is expressed by the concept of the Spirit, but the relation between God and his church ("church" being understood here as the body of believers, and not simply the earthly institution). The Spirit is present in every believer and sanctifies them all (Romans 8:9-11; I Cor. 6:19; I Peter 1:2). He is the bond of unity, the power which makes the wholeness of the body a reality (I Cor. 12:4-11, Eph. 4:1-16). Moreover, the Spirit equips church members with gifts, gifts which may seem on occasion to set apart the possessor of the gifts from other believers; but these gifts of the Spirit are always seen in the New Testament as special talents and abilities provided for the purpose of carrying out the church's mission (as in Acts 2:1ff. and throughout Acts), or for the purpose of edifying the whole body of believers (Cor. 12:14; Eph. 4:1-16). Never are they to be understood as a ground for boasting or personal glorification. The giver from whom they come is the same Spirit who dwells in all (emphatically in I Cor. 12:4ff.). Nowhere in the New Testament is there a basis for considering these gifts as a mark of special "spirituality" or a greater degree of piety. Although Paul, for example, may speak of the Corinthian Christians as "spiritual men" (pneumatikoi), he makes it clear that their spirituality is not to be understood as an achievement on their part, something of which they may be proud and boastful (see I Cor. 2:14-3:4, and 4:6-7). According to John's Gospel, "It is not by measure that he gives the Spirit" (3:34).

4. The work of the Holy Spirit is also quite variously expressed in the New Testament. The Christian life arises out of the fact that Christians are "born of the Spirit" (John 3:5-8), or from the fact that the Spirit "falls upon" people (as in Acts 10:44, reiterated in 11:15). The Spirit convicts of sin, and it is through the power of the Spirit that men are enabled to turn in repentance and faith to Jesus Christ (Acts 2:1-38). By the spirit men have access to God the Father and are built into a dwelling place of God in the Spirit (Eph. 2:19-22). Paul repeatedly characterizes the whole manner of the believers' life as life "according to the Spirit," or by using a similar phrase (e.g., Romans 8:4, 5, 6, 10, 14, 16; Galatians 5:16, 25; etc.); and for him the life of faith is nothing other than life "in the Spirit" or led "by the Spirit" (e.g., Romans 8:9, 13, 14; 9:1; Galatians 5:16, 18, 25; etc.). According to John, the Spirit testifies to Christ and his words in the hearts of believers (John 14:26; 16:14); or, to put it another way, he testifies to "the truth" (14:17, 15:26; 16:13), but "the truth" is none other than Christ himself (14:6). The active presence of the Spirit bears concrete results in the believers' lives: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control (Galatians 5:22f.). The Spirit acts as the believers' advocate before God (John 14:16, 15:26; 16:7), interceding for them also in prayer (Romans 8:26f.). He attests that the believers are indeed God's children and heirs of his grace (Romans 8:14-17), and serves as the guarantee of all that God will bestow upon them in the future (Romans 8:23, 11 Cor. 1:22, 5:5; Eph. 1:14). The Spirit is also active in the work of sanctification. By the Spirit all believers are sanctified (1 Peter 1:2), and the sanctifying Spirit enables believers to be changed into the likeness of Christ "from one degree of glory to another" (11 Cor. 3:18). The Spirit at work among all believers is constantly summoning them to growth in Christ and obedience to his will.

5. There are in the Book of Acts five references to the coming of the Holy Spirit which demand special note. These are particularly important because of the problems of interpretation which they raise, and because many of those who claim or recognize a phenomenon of the present days as "baptism of the Holy Spirit" also lay special emphasis on these passages. The texts to which we refer are as follows:

- 1) Acts 2:1-42 The Pentecost account;
- 2) Acts 8:4-25 Samaritan converts receive the Spirit;
- 3) Acts 9:1-18 Saul of Tarsus is "filled with the Spirit";
- 4) Acts 10:1-48
and 11:1-18 The Spirit falls on Cornelius and his household;
- 5) Acts 19:1-7 The Spirit comes upon those at Ephesus who had previously known only the baptism of John.

In the Pentecost narrative it is clear that we are to understand the disciples' being "filled with the Spirit" as the fulfillment of the promise of Jesus in Acts 1:5 ("before many days you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit"), and also the word of John the Baptist in Luke 3:16 ("he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire"). Here the disciples are empowered by the Spirit to be the witnesses Jesus had commanded them to be (Acts 1:8), and the church is thus launched upon its mission. So much is clear. The problem with which we are faced is whether we should view the disciples as having received the Spirit some time after their initial coming to faith in Jesus as the Christ. Though the writer seems not to have been concerned with that question, it is still a legitimate one for us to ask.

In one way the answer points in the direction of a wide separation between coming to belief and receiving the Holy Spirit. The disciples had believed in Jesus for a long time. Many of them had followed him throughout his earthly ministry, and at least some of them recognized him as the Messiah. So viewed, we have to say that coming to belief and the gift of the Spirit were widely separated in time.

But it is possible to look at the matter in another way. The passage reaches back ultimately (via Acts 1:3-5) to Luke 3:16 (and parallels), where John the Baptist promises that Christ "will baptize you with the Holy Spirit." Though all the Gospels record this saying (the Synoptics verbatim), none of them thereafter says anymore of baptism with the Spirit. It is only in Acts 1:3-5, after the crucifixion and resurrection, that the theme is resumed. Jesus appears to the disciples, strengthens their faith (vs. 3), and promises that within a few days they will be "baptized with the Holy Spirit." The crucifixion had been a shattering experience to the disciples; it left them confused, discouraged, not knowing what to believe (e.g., Luke 24:21: "We had hoped that he was the one to redeem Israel . . ."); or vs. 38: "Why are you troubled, and why do questionings arise in your hearts?"). Moreover, it was only after crucifixion and resurrection that they could really believe in Christ as the risen Lord, and could fully understand the gospel they were to proclaim. And within a few days of their coming to full understanding and belief—and after several days of prayer—the Holy Spirit is bestowed upon them.

Whichever way the story is understood, it seems clear that this particular event of the disciples' being "filled with the Spirit" is viewed as subsequent to their coming to faith in Jesus Christ. The filling with the Spirit came to those who already believed in Christ. There is suggested a kind of movement from initial to a more complete faith as background for the coming of the Holy Spirit. But the precise nature of the relation between this event and the disciples' faith is not made explicit by the Biblical writer.

Acts 8:4ff. envisions a rather different set of circumstances. Philip the Evangelist has proclaimed the gospel to the Samaritans; they believe and are baptized. However, these converts do not receive the Holy Spirit until later when Peter and John come down from Jerusalem, pray, and lay hands upon them. Here the coming of the Holy Spirit is clearly removed in time, and thus differentiated, from their conversion. The emphasis in the narrative, however, falls upon the fact that God, through the outpouring of his Spirit, thereby confirms the new turn of events in which people other than Jews are being brought into the community of believers and so become involved in the mission of Jesus Christ. To Samaritan believers God also sends the Holy Spirit.

The narrative of Saul's conversion in Acts 9:1ff. (cf. 22:6-16; 26:4-18) is likewise significant in that there is a period of some three days between the crisis experience on the road to Damascus and his being "filled with the Holy Spirit." The difference here, however, is that there is no prior baptism followed sometime later by the reception of the Spirit. Rather, after his encounter with the Lord and three days of blindness, prayer and fasting, Saul is visited by Ananias who lays hands on him to receive the Holy Spirit and, following this, baptizes Saul. Although there is a separation in time between the crisis experience and reception of the Holy Spirit, once again the precise relationship between the crisis experience and coming to faith is not made explicit. Saul's being "filled" with the Holy Spirit is clearly for the purpose of his becoming a "chosen instrument" to carry the gospel to men and nations.

In Acts 10:1—11:18 where the Holy Spirit is described as falling on Cornelius and his household, this is represented as occurring at the time of their conversion. While the gospel is still being proclaimed by Peter, the Spirit is poured out upon these Gentiles, and baptism is administered thereafter. It may be noted that Cornelius before this event was said to be a "devout man" who "with all his household . . . prayed constantly to God." Following the outpouring of the Spirit, Peter finds himself unable to refuse baptism, since he recognizes that the same thing has happened to the Gentiles that occurred at Pentecost. The Gentiles also, through the reception of the Holy Spirit, have become a part of God's witnessing community.

In Acts 19:1ff. a group of people—apparently converts of Apollos—who know only the baptism of John, are baptized by Paul in the name of Jesus, and receive the Holy Spirit with the laying on of Paul's hands. The writer clearly sees the case of these "disciples" (notice the word used in 19:1) as differing from others: they had "believed," yet their belief and instruction was imperfect and incomplete; they had never even heard of the Holy Spirit. Thus Paul baptizes them—this time in the name of Jesus—and the Spirit comes. We may say, therefore, that in this instance the people involved occupied a sort of middle ground between unbelief and mature faith. What is important for our concern is that the reception of the Spirit is at some distance from their early conversion, and though it occurs in conjunction with their baptism in the name of Jesus, it is described as following thereupon.

This brief survey has dealt with various situations in Acts which treat of faith (baptism, conversion) and the coming of the Holy Spirit. Several of these passages have suggested a view that would allow for a separation in time, and thus a clear differentiation, between an initial act of faith or conversion and the reception of the Spirit. One passage has demonstrated a coincidence between the two. But it should be reiterated that even the initial act of faith itself is a work of the Spirit. What seems to be said in most of these passages is that additional manifestations of the Spirit, while presupposing faith and conversion, are bestowed for specific ministries.

Also it is to be noted that, though faith in Jesus Christ is invariably depicted in Acts as the context for the gift of the Spirit, other matters such as prayer and the laying on of hands are regarded as important preparation for the Spirit's coming. In some instances, as noted, there is also a kind of maturation in faith before the Spirit is received. Obedience is mentioned in one instance (Acts 5:32) as needed for the gift of the Holy Spirit. The total picture suggests that the Holy Spirit is given in the situation of believing openness, growth in faith and obedience and concern for other persons.

6. The expression "baptism of (with, in) the Holy Spirit" calls for further elaboration. Except for Mark 1:8 (see parallels in Matthew 3:11; Luke 3:16; John 1:33) the expression is peculiar to Acts. The Gospel passages report the words of John the Baptist thus: "I have baptized you with water; but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit." Yet Jesus is nowhere represented as "baptizing with the Holy Spirit" during his earthly ministry. The theme is taken up again in Acts 1:4-5, where the risen Christ, after making reference to the words attributed by the Gospels to the Baptist, promises his disciples that they would be baptized with the Holy Spirit within a few days. One further use of the expression is found in Acts 11:15-16, where Peter, referring to the event of the Spirit's falling on Cornelius and his household, says, "As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them just as on us at the beginning. And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, 'John baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.'"

It is evident that "baptism with the Holy Spirit" is viewed as occurring in the coming of the Spirit upon the disciples at Pentecost and later upon Cornelius and his household. When these events take place, it is said that the Spirit was "poured out" (2:33 and 10:45), or the Spirit "fell on" certain persons (10:44; 11:15); and those "baptized with the Holy Spirit" are said to be "filled with the Holy Spirit" (2:4) and to have "received the Holy Spirit" (10:47). It would seem clear, by implication, that the other narratives in Acts about the Samaritans, Saul of Tarsus, and Ephesians, where the language is that of the Spirit's "falling" or "coming," and their "receiving" or being "filled" with the Spirit (8:16, 17; 9:17; 19:2, 6), likewise refer to fulfillments of the promise of "baptism with the Holy Spirit."

It is also to be noted that "baptism with the Holy Spirit" is not to be equated with baptism with water. Baptism with water is associated from the outset with repentance, forgiveness of sins, and therefore conversion. For example, according to Mark 1:4-5, John the Baptist comes "preaching a baptism of repentance [metanoia—"turning about," conversion] for the forgiveness of sins," and people are "baptized in the Jordan river, confessing their sins." The same association of water baptism with conversion and forgiveness is found in words of Peter on the day of Pentecost: "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins . . ." (Acts 2:38). But, as earlier noted, John the Baptist says, in the words of Mark 1:6, "I have baptized you with water; but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit"; and the promise is echoed in the words that conclude Acts 2:38—"and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

"Baptism with the Holy Spirit" is associated with such symbols as fire and wind (e.g., note Matthew 3:11, ". . . he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire" and the imagery of Acts 2:2-3), and points particularly to the investment of power. Basic to all that occurs in Acts thereafter in reference to "baptism with the Holy Spirit" (or the "outpouring," "falling," "coming," etc. of the Spirit) are the words of 1:8—"But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you. . . ." Here it is emphasized that, as a result, the disciples will be able to bear witness to Christ (" . . . and you shall be my witnesses . . ."). In the various accounts of the coming of the Spirit in Acts immediate signs, particularly tongues and prophecy, often occur (Acts 2:4, 17; 10:46; 19:6). These all would seem to represent the coming of the Spirit for empowerment: to bring forth a mighty testimony to God's great deeds.

To conclude, in the Book of Acts the expression "baptism with the Holy Spirit" (and similar terms) points not to the forgiveness of sins (symbolized in baptism with water) but to the endowment of power. It is not necessarily identified with conversion. Only those who turn in faith and repentance to Christ may receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit—His power, gifts, etc.—but the actual turning is not necessarily the only point at which this baptism may occur (although it must be insisted that faith and repentance are themselves the work of the Spirit). But in Acts, this baptism of the Spirit invariably assumes faith, repentance, conversion, and the like. The Spirit is given, according to Acts, not only to convert but to empower. However, the concern of Acts seems clearly to be that of showing how one community after another is empowered by the Holy Spirit in the widening outreach of the gospel. Whoever receives this special endowment is enabled thereby to extol God mightily, to witness with great force, and to give to the world extraordinary demonstration of God's presence and activity. It must be repeated, however, that the teaching of Acts with regard to the Holy Spirit is not to be read in isolation from the teaching of the rest of the New Testament. For example, a similar expression to "baptism of (with, in) the Holy Spirit" is used by Paul in I Cor. 12:13: "For by (or "in") one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—Jews or Greeks, slaves or free—and all were made to drink of one Spirit." Here the baptism of the Spirit brings about the unity of all believers in Christ.

7. Statement was made in the Introduction of this report that the central issue is not only "baptism of the Holy Spirit" but also the various "spiritual gifts" or manifestations which may follow this event. Accordingly we now move on to the New Testament witness in this regard, and, in so doing, deal again primarily with the Book of Acts wherein occurrences of this "baptism" or reception of the Spirit are narrated. In the five accounts earlier discussed we may now note that three of these specifically record spiritual manifestations: Acts 2, 10, and 19. According to Acts 2:4, immediately after the disciples at Pentecost were "filled with the Holy Spirit" they "began to speak in other tongues." In the story of Cornelius and his household, Peter and those with him recognized that the Holy Spirit had been poured out upon the Gentiles: "For they heard them speaking in tongues and extolling God" (Acts 10:46). Following Christian baptism and the laying on of Paul's hands, the Holy Spirit came upon the Ephesians, and "they spoke with tongues and prophesied" (Acts 19:6). There is no direct reference to any spiritual gift or manifestation in the account of the Samaritans in Acts 8 or Saul of Tarsus in Acts 9. It is evident that the one sign appearing in all the other narratives (Acts 2, 10, and 19), that of tongues, represents a kind of ecstatic utterance (so New English Bible in reference to Acts 10 and 19 translates "tongues of ecstasy"). Even in Acts 2, where the record might suggest that the tongues spoken were foreign languages, the ecstatic element also appears (thus the accusation, "They are filled with new wine," verse 13). This ecstatic speech is depicted also in close connection with praise (10:46; cf. 2:11) and prophecy (19:6). Since there is no reference to tongues, praise, or prophecy in Acts 8 and 9, it would be concluding too much to say that the writer of Acts assumes any particular spiritual manifestations invariably to accompany the reception of the Holy Spirit. On the other hand, it seems clear that the writer of Acts does view speaking in tongues as undeniable evidence that the Holy Spirit has been given.¹

The writings of Paul express a viewpoint which is concerned with another aspect of the Spirit's activity. Thus the spiritual gifts of which he speaks are not connected with such events as Acts reports, but are regarded as manifestations of the Spirit's continuing life and work within the church (see, for example, Rom. 12:6-8; I Cor. 7:7; I Cor. 12-14; cf. Ga. 5:16-26). The same understanding is found also in Ephesians 4:1-16 and I Peter 4:10-11. Moreover, in the discourses of Jesus in John 14-16, which are replete with promises concerning the coming of the Spirit and his future work among Jesus' followers, no mention is made of the kind of events we have seen in Acts; rather, the view of the Spirit and his work to be found here is much more closely akin to the thought of Paul.

8. This leads to the recognition that the New Testament also bears witness to the outpouring of the Spirit at various points in the lives of believers. It may occur at the initiation of the life of faith and/or at later times. According to Acts, the Christian community, already having received the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, and now coming under persecution, prays earnestly for courage to witness, and, as a result, are again "filled with the Holy Spirit" (4:23ff.). The same thing occasionally is said to happen to individuals. Peter, standing to testify before the rulers of the Jews, is "filled with the Holy Spirit" (Acts 4:8), and Paul according to Acts, had before been filled with the Spirit, Peter at Pentecost and Paul in Damascus.

It is also to be noted that certain persons are described in Acts as "full" of the Holy Spirit. The "Seven" who were chosen to serve the early church, as well as Paul's companion Barnabas, are singled out as men who were "full of the Holy Spirit" (see 6:3, 5; 7:55; 11:24). This statement, not made of all the Christians, would seem to emphasize the importance of spiritual endowment for leadership of the early community.

Alongside these references in Acts must be placed other New Testament references to such things as the fruits of the Spirit, the gifts of the Spirit, walking by the Spirit, life in the Spirit. The writer of Ephesians admonishes, "And do not get drunk with wine . . . but be filled with the Spirit, addressing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs . . ." (5:18, 19). Thus here is challenge to the church to be filled with the Spirit, whereby there is continuing enhancement of life in Christ. The Corinthians are encouraged by Paul to "earnestly desire the spiritual gifts" (1 Cor. 14:1), and the Colossians are prayed for that they "may be filled with the knowledge of his [God's] will in all spiritual wisdom and understanding" (1:9). Such statements as these suggest that within the Christian community there is the continuing possibility of, and need for, growth in life in the Spirit.

In light of these statements it is evident that the New Testament witnesses both to the importance of being "filled" with the Spirit and the possibility of further bestowal of the Spirit. In the former case there is both the challenge to such filling ("be filled . . .") and the depiction of certain Christians as "full of the Spirit." In the latter instance there is represented additional "filling" wherein is renewal of boldness to witness, the power to discern evil, and the like. There is, all in all, in the New Testament, the continuing challenge to live in the fullness of the Spirit.

9. Finally, the New Testament does not make its claims of honor for the Holy Spirit on the basis of the Spirit's "supernatural" character. Other spirits, evil in disposition and activity, are not only admitted as existing, but are set in opposition to the Holy Spirit and his purposes (e.g., 1 Tim. 4:1, Rev. 16:13f.; Eph. 2:2; 1 John 2:22; 4:1-6; 5:7f.). The Holy Spirit is to be honored and trusted, to be regarded as the Spirit of God who alone is the object of faith, not simply because he is spirit, but because of his unique identity as the Spirit of God or of Christ. In the same way, Paul teaches that the value of spiritual gifts is not to be judged by how "supernatural" or extraordinary they are. 1 Corinthians 12-14 makes it clear that those gifts are most to be desired which are most efficacious in the edification of others. The unusual quality of a gift does not make it a "higher" gift or its possessor a more spiritually mature Christian; rather, the more excellent gift is the one which excels in loving service. Among the long list of spiritual gifts the Apostle mentions several activities which are in no way extraordinary—viz., teaching, helping, administration (1 Cor. 12:28)—but which are nonetheless important for the mission of the church.

IV. Concerning the Spirit in the Standards of Our Church

The teaching about the Holy Spirit in the Westminster Confession of Faith and Catechisms is found in a number of places and also gathered together in one chapter of the Confession entitled "Of the Holy Spirit" (Chap. IX). We shall briefly summarize, making use of the pattern of Chapter IX.

A. The nature of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is fully God, and therefore "to be believed in, loved, obeyed, and worshipped throughout all ages." At the same time as One who proceeds from the Father and the Son, He is a "third person," and accordingly has His own distinct personal reality and work. (See also Chap. II, 3.)

B. The activity of the Holy Spirit in relation to the world, revelation, and the proclamation of the gospel. The Holy Spirit is "the Lord and Giver of life," active in the work of creation (see also Chap. IV), and is to be recognized as the source of goodness, purity, and holiness wherever found among men. It is the Holy Spirit who moved the prophets to speak God's Word and the writers of Scripture to record it infallibly (see also Chap. I). This same Spirit continues particularly to act in the proclamation of the gospel, accompanying it with "persuasive power."

C. The work of the Holy Spirit in redemption. The Holy Spirit brings about conviction of sin, repentance, and faith in Jesus Christ (see also Chap. XII). Accordingly, the Holy Spirit "unites all believers to Christ" and "dwells in them," whereby they receive "the Spirit of Adoption and Prayer" (see also Chap. XIV). The Holy Spirit as the "Sanctifier" works in the lives of believers, performing various functions, until the day of final redemption (see also Chap. XV).

D. The relation of the Holy Spirit to the Church. The Holy Spirit who dwells in all believers and thus unites them to Christ also unites them to one another in the church (see also Chap. XXVIII). The Holy Spirit “anoints” ministers, “qualifies” officers, and “imparts various gifts and graces” to church members. He also gives efficacy to the “ordinances” of the Church (word, sacraments, worship—see also Chaps. XXIII and XXIX-XXXI). Finally, the Holy Spirit preserves, increases and purifies the church until it is at last “made perfectly holy in the presence of God.”

Since the central question of this report has to do with “the baptism of the Holy Spirit,” its relation to conversion and/or baptism with water, we may now note in more detail the teaching of the Standards in these areas. The crucial matter concerns whether it is proper to view a possible separation in time between conversion and/or baptism with water and a “baptism” or reception of the Holy Spirit. In order to deal with these matters, we shall consider, in order, baptism with water, conversion, and baptism with the Spirit. Thereafter we shall note the teaching of the Standards on “spiritual gifts” and further bestowal of the Holy Spirit.

1. Baptism with water is to be done in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost (Chap. XXX, 2). Baptism, as a sacrament, is both sign and seal of the grace of God (ingrafting into Christ, remission of sins, regeneration, adoption, resurrection) so that “by the right use of this ordinance the grace promised is not only offered but really exhibited and conferred by the Holy Ghost” (Chap. XXX, 6). Baptism with water accordingly is more than a representation and confirming of God’s grace: It is also the means or channel of that grace to be conferred by the Holy Spirit. But note that the Confession says that grace is conferred only “by the right use” of this ordinance.

Two other points are also relevant: First, the Confession teaches that the efficacy of baptism is “not tied to that moment of time wherein it is administered” (Chap. XXX, 6), that is to say, the grace conferred may yet be in the future or it may, alternatively, already have been conferred before baptism. This statement would seem to be related particularly to infant baptism (which is mentioned in the same section), and provides for the efficacy of such baptism to be appropriated at a later date. Second, the Confession denies baptismal regeneration in two ways: Persons may be regenerated without baptism, and not all persons baptized are regenerated—“grace and salvation are not so inseparably annexed unto it [baptism] as that no person can be regenerated or saved without it, or that all who are baptized are undoubtedly regenerated” (Chap. XXX, 5). It may be observed that among the proof-texts cited in the Confession for this double statement are Acts 10:45-47 and Acts 8:13, 23, the former having to do with Cornelius and his household who receive the Spirit before baptism, and the latter relating to Simon the magician who despite his baptism remains “in the gall of bitterness and in the bond of iniquity.”

It is evident that, according to the Confession, the grace of God—bringing about remission of sins and regeneration—while closely identified with baptism is not bound to it. What is conferred in baptism may become efficacious by the Spirit at a later time; without baptism there may be salvation; and not all baptized are also regenerated.

2. The word “conversion” is not frequently used in the Standards. It is to be found, as such, in the Confession of Faith only in Chapter XI on “Free Will.” Here it is said that in regard to salvation man is “not able by his own strength to convert himself”; rather it is “God [who] converteth a sinner.” In Chapter XII on “Effectual Calling,” though the word “conversion” is not used, what the word signifies in terms of a “turning” is found in such a statement as that wherein God is said to call men “by his word and Spirit . . . enlightening their minds . . . taking away their heart of stone . . . renewing their wills . . . so as they come most freely . . .” (Chap. XII, 1). All of this occurs through “saving faith” (the title of Chap. XVI), which is described as “the grace of faith, whereby the elect are enabled to believe to the saving of their souls” by “the work of the Spirit of Christ in their hearts”; and through “repentance unto life” (the title of Chap. XVII), whereby a person through the conviction of the Holy Spirit “so grieves for, and hates his sins, as to turn from them all to God.” When the word “conversion” appears in the two catechisms, it is used in connection with reading the Scriptures and preaching. The Larger Catechism, Question 4, speaks of the Scriptures as having the power “to convince and convert sinners;” and in Question 159 it directs those who preach God’s word to his people to do so “aiming at his glory, and their conversion, edification, and salvation.”

The concern of the Standards thus is for a total change of man—mind, heart, will, a faith that saves, and repentance that is unto life. It is through the Holy Spirit, in conjunction with the word, that this transformation comes about.

3. “Baptism by the Spirit,” as such, is referred to only in the Larger Catechism, Question 167. This question deals with “the needful but much neglected duty of improving our baptism.” According to the Catechism this “is to be performed by us all our life long.” Illustrations of this are given such as “being humbled for our sinful defilement, our falling short of, and walking contrary to, the grace of baptism . . . by growing up to assure of pardon of sin, and of all other blessings sealed to us in this sacrament; by drawing strength from the death and resurrection of Christ, into whom we are baptized . . . and to walk in brotherly love, as being baptized by the same Spirit into one body.” This statement makes clear that baptism by the Spirit is to be understood in close connection with baptism by water; indeed, that it is not actually by water itself but by the Spirit that we are baptized into the body of Christ.

Accordingly, we may note that the Catechism lays stress on baptism by the Spirit as referring not so much to pardon of sin, and like blessings, but to the uniting power of the Spirit whereby we become one body with others. It may be added that there is some suggestion here that the effectuality of this baptism is not limited to the moment when the sacrament is received. Thus even as we are to "grow up" to assurance of pardon, so, through walking in brotherly love, are we to come to express our baptism by the Spirit into the one body.

4. It is evident that the Standards envision the possibility of separation in time between baptism with water and the baptism of the Holy Spirit. Whether this is understood in terms of a baptism with water that only becomes efficacious at a later time by the Holy Spirit, or as an aspect of that into which one may grow, there may be many years between. The Standards do not, however, seem to consider a possible separation in time between conversion and the reception of the Spirit, since the critical question, emerging especially from the practice of infant baptism, is the relationship of such baptism to its future efficacy, whether thought of as appropriation of grace, conversion of the whole man, or baptism into the one body. What is important for our consideration in this report, however, is that the Standards recognize a differentiation, and the possibility or chronological separation, between baptism with water and baptism with the Holy Spirit. The latter may precede the former, or may follow it.

5. "Spiritual gifts" have little mention in the Standards. We have already noted that statement in the Confession's chapter on the Holy Spirit (IX) to the effect that the Holy Spirit "imparts various gifts and graces" to the members of Christ's body. Outside of this reference in Chapter IX (a chapter not in the original Confession), there is nothing to be found about spiritual gifts in the Standards. The Larger Catechism also makes reference to "gifts and graces," however the giver there is described as the exalted Christ who "furnisheth his ministers and people with gifts and graces" (Q. 54). The Shorter Catechism is silent about spiritual gifts and graces.

6. Finally, the matter of further bestowal of the Spirit or of gifts of the Holy Spirit is not directly mentioned. The closest approximation would seem to be that of Larger Catechism, Q. 182, where the Spirit is described as helping in prayer by "quickening in our hearts (although not in all persons, nor at all times in the same measure) those apprehensions, affections, and graces, which are requisite for the right performance. . . ." There is also reference in the Larger Catechism, Question 75, to the "powerful operation" of the Holy Spirit in sanctification whereby God's chosen are in time "renewed in their whole man after the image of God" by various "saving graces" within being "stirred up, increased, and strengthened as that they more and more die unto sin, and rise into newness of life." Hence, there is some picture of further operations of the Holy Spirit in the direction of quickening and renewal.

V. Concluding Observations

An evaluation of contemporary events involving a "baptism of the Holy Spirit" must begin, as the structure of the report implies, with the guidance furnished us by the Scriptures. At the same time we are called upon to give serious heed to the doctrinal Standards of our denomination. Likewise it is imperative that we seek to understand what is deeply involved, and at stake for those who claim to have had such a "baptism" within their Christian experience, and particular "charismatic" manifestations. The Scriptures remain our primary source; yet our understanding of Scripture depends upon the illumination provided by the Spirit himself.

Our study of the Old and New Testaments, however, has revealed no single consistent doctrine of the Spirit which is now immediately applicable to the contemporary situation; nor has it furnished us with a simple straight line of doctrinal development of this regard. Moreover, we must avoid the temptation to improve on the concept of the Spirit through any speculative theory drawn from other sources. Hence, our point of departure in this task can be no other than the New Testament's close identification of the Spirit with Jesus Christ. As Christians we must be guided first of all by God's self-revelation in Christ, testing our understanding by the Scripture's testimony to him who is our Lord.

A. As we seek to give an expression of our faith in the Holy Spirit that will be an aid in comprehending the experiences which have prompted the present study, there are several basic principles which we must bear in mind. First, as the Scriptures repeatedly affirm, the Holy Spirit is the Spirit of the holy God, the God of the Bible. All our speech about the Holy Spirit is therefore speech about God. We shall make no attempt to define the concept of "spirit" in general and then move to an understanding of the Holy Spirit based on our ideas about the essential properties or characteristics of "spirit." Rather, our task is to discern the meaning of God's action, in the person of his Spirit, in the lives of his people.

Second, as the New Testament makes clear, and as Calvin aptly reminds us (Inst., III, i, 4), there is no understanding of the Spirit apart from faith. This means that all our statements about the Holy Spirit are in essence affirmations of faith. They are not "factual" statements in the sense that they purport to give objective data or information which may then be tested for accuracy by scientific means. In speaking of the Holy Spirit we speak from faith to faith.

Third, since the Holy Spirit is the spirit of the God whom we know only through Jesus Christ, we are compelled, in regard to the contemporary spiritual phenomena, to "test the spirits to see whether they are of God" by the measure of their confession of Jesus Christ (I John 4:1-3). Nothing that contradicts what we see in Christ can rightly be regarded as the activity of the Spirit; on the other hand, whatever bears witness to Christ and his work of the redemption of mankind exhibits the incontrovertible evidence of the Spirit's presence.

B. With the foregoing principles in mind, and with constant reference to the Biblical teachings, the Standards of our Church, and the contemporary situation, the Permanent Theological Committee offers the following statement for the guidance of the Assembly.

1. The greatest emphasis in the Bible, and the most prominent aspect of our Reformed tradition, is to be found in the work of the Spirit in bestowing upon man all the benefits of God which come to him in Jesus Christ. Faith in Jesus Christ is the way whereby all benefits are received, such as justification, sanctification, and eternal life (I Cor. 6:11; John 3:16; Confession of Faith, XVI, 2), and through the Holy Spirit this salvation is a reality.

2. The Holy Spirit accordingly dwells in all who thus believe. If anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to him (Rom. 8:9). Thus it is impossible to speak of a transition within Christian existence from the state of Spirit's being with to being in. The Spirit indwells all Christians.

3. Baptism with water is a means of grace whereby the grace of salvation is not only offered but conferred by the Holy Spirit (Confession, XXX, 6). However, according to the Confession, the significance of baptism is not tied to the moment of administration, for, though God's saving grace is conferred thereby, such grace may become efficacious at a later time, or it may have become efficacious earlier. For example, there are those who do not come to an appropriation of this grace (especially if baptized in infancy) until a later date. Calvin speaks (particularly regarding infants) of being "baptized into future repentance and faith" (Institutes IV, 20), and urges that this should fire us with greater zeal for renewal in later years. From this perspective it is possible to say that baptism with water may very well be separated from salvation, or at least from full entrance upon it. Though baptism is a channel of God's grace, this grace is not automatically efficacious. Accordingly, there may be special need in the Reformed tradition to lay stress on later occasions (such as entrance into communicant membership) on which God's grace may also be appropriated. Reformed teaching about baptism must be held in creative tension with all that is also said about the importance of conversion and regeneration, and the practice of our church should be in harmony therewith.

4. "Baptism with the Holy Spirit," as the Book of Acts portrays it, is a phrase which refers most often to the empowering of those who believe to share in the mission of Jesus Christ. The significance of "baptism with the Spirit" is also represented in terms such as "outpouring," "falling upon," "filling," and "receiving," being for the most part attempts to depict that action of God whereby believers are enabled to give expression to the gospel through extraordinary praise, powerful witness, and boldness of action. Accordingly, those who speak of such a "baptism with the Spirit," and who give evidence of this special empowering work of the Spirit, can claim Scriptural support. Further, since "baptism with the Spirit" may not be at the same time as baptism with water and/or conversion, we need to be open-minded toward those today who claim an intervening period of time.² If this experience signifies in some sense a deepening of faith and awareness of God's presence and power, we may be thankful.

5. We are called upon to recognize a work of the Spirit which involves the application of special gifts and benefits to the members of Christ's church. The confession of Faith suggests this in Chapter IX, 4 where, following the paragraphs on the Spirit's work in redemption, the words, in part, read, "He calls and anoints ministers for their holy office, qualifies all other officers in the church for their special work, and imparts various gifts and graces to its members." Here is a special work of the Holy Spirit of calling and anointing that is peculiarly related to the life of the believing community. We would add that it is important for the church constantly to bear this work of the Holy Spirit in mind so that there will be a continuing readiness for, and recognition of the calling, the qualifying and the imparting of the gifts and graces of the Holy Spirit to the community of faith. Both a fresh confrontation with the biblical record and contemporary spiritual experience, we believe, are bringing us into a fuller understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit.

6. The "baptism of the Holy Spirit" may be signified by certain pneumatic phenomena, such as speaking in tongues and prophecy (Acts 2:4; 10:46; 19:6). In the Old Testament, as we have noted, the Spirit is understood at times as an invading power, a charismatic fury; also it is frequently associated with ecstatic prophecy. However since the Spirit came only to certain exceptional persons, this was quite limited. With the New Testament dispensation the Spirit is now available to all who believe in Jesus Christ. Hence such signs of this invading power as ecstatic language and prophecy could occur with anyone who has experienced this visitation. Clearly it would be a mistake to say that all upon whom the Spirit comes must manifest specific pneumatic phenomena. The Spirit usually manifests himself in other ways. However, that such extraordinary manifestations may occur—and in so doing give evidence of the Spirit's working—is quite in accord with the witness of the New Testament.

7. There may be further bestowal of the Holy Spirit. "Baptism with the Spirit" signifies the initial outpouring of God's Spirit wherein the community and/or person is filled with the presence and power of God. But also there may be later bestowal in such fashion as to signify implementation of the original event, whether or not accompanied by pneumatic phenomena (cf. Acts 2:4 with 4:31). This renewed activity of the Spirit ought not to be designated "baptism" (at least, the New Testament never uses this term for it), but as "filling," wherein the empowering Spirit moves to renew the believer and believing community.

8. The bestowal and reception of the Spirit, or the gifts of the Spirit, do not suggest that some Christians have more of the Holy Spirit than others. Such expressions as "baptism," "filling," and the like point rather to the Spirit's implementing activity: endowment for the witness to the gospel. The Spirit is active in all believers, and they may be "filled" with the Spirit in various ways for the mission of the Church. It should be added that such expressions as "having" or "filled with" the Spirit are not to be construed as obviating the possibility and actuality of growth in grace and knowledge.

9. Both the coming of the Spirit himself and the various abilities or charismata which he may bestow upon men are, above all, to be received as the benefits of God's free grace. Neither the Spirit, then, nor his gifts may be considered "possessions" of the believer; he does not own them, nor can he presume that they are, or will be, at all times (or at any given time) available. Each occasion on which the Spirit's presence is known or his gifts made manifest is to be an occasion for new thanksgiving and praise to God. Hence, there should be no jeopardizing of the peace, unity, and fellowship of the church because of special experiences of the Holy Spirit, but a rejoicing together in all those ways whereby God leads His people into fuller apprehension of the riches of His grace.³

10. An experience of the Spirit can neither be validated as such, nor evaluated with respect to its theological significance, by any scientific (i.e., psychological, sociological, etc.) means. It is to be acknowledged that such events, just as any other human events, may become the legitimate objects of scientific inquiry without prejudging the results of such inquiry. But regardless of the scientific conclusions which may be reached, the question of the theological significance of these phenomena will remain, and it may be answered only within the context of the Christian faith. The Corinthians' ability to speak in tongues, for example, may have a perfectly good psychological explanation; but whether the Spirit of Jesus Christ was active in that phenomenon is a question which neither psychology nor any other science can answer. But this conclusion leads also to the observation that the extraordinary or unusual nature of an experience (and the same would apply to gifts) is no criterion by which to judge its significance for faith. Ecstasy is not in itself an unambiguous occurrence. Not every dramatic event, experience, or ecstasy is necessarily a work of the Spirit.⁴

11. It is clear that there is Biblical and Reformed witness concerning baptism of the Holy Spirit and special endowments of the Holy Spirit in the believing community. Of course, it is impossible to make any general pronouncement concerning the validity of particular claims made, since multiple factors may be at work. But where there is divisiveness, judgment (expressed or implied) on the lives of others, an attitude of pride or boasting, etc., the Spirit of God is not at work. However, where such an experience gives evidence of an empowering and renewing work of Christ in the life of the individual and the church, it may be acknowledged with gratitude. This means above all that Christ should be glorified, his own Spirit made manifest in human lives, and the Church edified. For such evidences of the presence of the Holy Spirit the Church may rejoice.

¹ So Alan Richardson in his An Introduction to the Theology of the New Testament: "St. Luke regards 'speaking with tongues' (glossolalia) as an unmistakable sign of the gift of the Spirit . . ." (p. 119).

³ The UPUSA Church 1970 declaration, "The Work of the Holy Spirit," in the section entitled "Guidelines," begins thus: "We believe the Church needs to pray for a sensitivity to see the manifestations of the Holy Spirit in our world today. . . . We believe that those who are newly endowed with gifts and perceptions of the Spirit have an enthusiasm and joy to give, and we also believe that those who rejoice in our traditions of having all things done in 'decency and order' have a sobering depth to give. We therefore plead for a mutuality of respect and affection."

⁴ Compare this statement from the 1965 General Assembly declaration on "Glossolalia": "The gifts of the Spirit can be counterfeited or sought for the wrong motive (I John 4:1). There is no reason to suppose that forms of utterance voiced at the prompting of the Spirit cannot be initiated or cultivated by men and women variously motivated. While there may be among us some who 'speak in tongues' as the Spirit gives them utterance, there may also be present among us those who, succeeding in the effort to 'speak in tongues,' unwarrantedly assume their utterance to be an evidence of the Spirit of Christ. The gift may be sought and its counterfeit achieved from wrong motives."

Your committee feels that these amendments clarify points already implicit in the paper, and that they are consistent with the 1965 General Assembly declaration on "Glossolalia."

Rev. Morton H. Smith wished to have his vote recorded in the negative.

B.2. That the General Assembly commend this paper to the churches for study, and authorize the Office of the General Assembly to publish it in booklet form, distribute copies to all ministers and clerks of sessions, and make copies available to the church at large.

C. We note that Rev. Albert C. Winn, Chairman of the Ad Interim Committee on A New Confession of Faith Together with a Book of Confessions, has the privilege of the floor to participate in the discussion of all matters pertaining to the work of the Ad Interim Committee.

D. That the Report of the Ad Interim Committee be approved and its recommendations adopted as amended:

1. That the General Assembly encourage wide-spread study of Reformed Confessions of all ages, by use of the committee's study guides or otherwise, in order that the whole Church may make suggestions as to which documents should be included in the proposed Book of Confessions, and what emphases should appear in the new confession.

2. That the General Assembly encourage wide-spread study and discussion of successive drafts of the proposed new confession, including a preliminary draft to be published as study material by John Knox Press, if and when the way is clear.

3. That the General Assembly add to the assignment of this committee the preparation of an appropriate form of subscription in the ordination vows as a proposed amendment to the Book of Church Order.

4. That the Committee be continued.

The Assembly voted to hear Rev. Albert C. Winn re the New Confession for a period of not more than ten minutes.

E.1. That Overture 57 from the Presbytery of Memphis (see p. 57) and Overture 58 from the Presbytery of Norfolk (see p. 57), both concerned with the issue of communion for children, be answered in the affirmative and referred to the Permanent Theological Committee, in consultation with the Permanent Judicial Commission, which is presently engaged in a study of the matters indicated in these overtures.

E.2. That Overture 59 from the Presbytery of Asheville (see p. 57), asking suspension for three years of all work on a new Confession of Faith, be answered in the negative. Either the study of crucial theological questions, or the refusal to study them, can be divisive. It is imperative, especially at this time, to continue the open discussion of the basic theological issues that are involved in widespread confessional study by our denomination. Such study will bring renewed blessings and usefulness to our church.

F. That Resolution 14 (see p. 66) be answered in the negative.

G. That the persons nominated by the permanent Nominating Committee be elected to the Permanent Theological Committee as follows:

Vacancies:

Class of 1974:

Rev. Prescott H. Williams, Jr. (1) to replace Bright (term expired) (Texas)

Rev. C. Benton Kline, Jr. (1) to replace Vandenbosch (term expired) (Georgia)

Professor Jesse de Boer (1) to replace Williamson (term expired) (Kentucky)

(Vote: 28 for, none against)

H.1. That the Permanent Theological Committee be commended for their work, and that appreciation be expressed to Dr. John Bright, Chairman, for his assistance to the Standing Theological Committee.

H.2. That the Ad Interim Committee on A New Confession of Faith Together With A Book of Confessions be commended for their work, and that appreciation be expressed by Dr. Albert C. Winn, chairman, for his assistance to the Standing Theological Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

GRAVES H. THOMPSON, Chairman

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY

Mrs. Pauline O. Keeley, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY, which was adopted, as follows:

I. The Standing Committee on PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY had referred to it:

B. The report of the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY for 1970, with recommendations, and the audit of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY.

C. Report of Permanent Committee on Nominations relating to the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY.

II. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS AS FOLLOWS:

A. That the minutes of the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY for 1970 be approved.

B. The report of the Board of Directors of SURVEY for 1970 (see Appendix, p. 265), together with the audit, be approved.

C. Report of the Permanent Committee on Nominations relating to the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY be approved with one exception as noted. This recommendation was by unanimous vote.

Christian Education: Rev. J.A. Nisbet, replacing Wilkins

World Missions: Rev. J.T. Magruder, replacing Hope

*Miss Potter is the Committee's unanimous nomination to replace Rev. William N. Todd who was submitted by the Permanent Nominating Committee.

III. The committee recommends:

"That the 111th General Assembly reaffirm its belief that the PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY is urgently needed, in view of a widening communications gap among members of the Church of Jesus Christ; that a church-wide publication, which undertakes an in-depth analysis of issues facing Christians today, is an imperative resource for information and inspiration of all.

That the 111th General Assembly call upon the Board of Directors of the SURVEY, editorial committee, and all others responsible for the magazine's content, to reaffirm Article III of the SURVEY's "Manual of Operations", items 1-6, which describes their "functions and duties"; and that items four and five, which read: 4. "To report on the work of the various church boards, agencies, the church courts, and institutions are doing to carry out that mission;" 5. "To clarify issues which confront churches today in education, stewardship, evangelism, church extension, world missions, and other aspects of church life, and to stimulate leadership to meet these issues;" be emphasized especially in future issues of the SURVEY.

This emphasis is recommended because of two present dangers which threaten the life of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. First, a serious breakdown in communications and confidence between the boards, agencies, church courts and institutions on the one hand, and the membership of the church on the other. Second, a distressing confusion concerning major issues confronting the church, causing divisive polarization, aggravated by biased statements published by spokesmen of factions within the church. The PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY should not be a one-sided news medium, but one of its main functions is to present, honestly and impartially, the major issues facing members of the Body of Christ in the world today.

1. To provide information, inspiration and guidance for the individual as he strives to live as a Christian in all aspects of life;

2. To lead individuals to strengthen their personal commitment to Christ through a deeper understanding of prayer, of the Bible, and of the quality of life the Christian Gospel creates;

3. To stimulate an interest in and an understanding of the particular mission of the Presbyterian Church in the United States;

4. To report on the work that the various church boards, agencies, the church courts, and institutions are doing to carry out that mission;

5. To clarify issues which confront churches today in education, stewardship, evangelism, church extension, world missions, and other aspects of church life, and to stimulate leadership to meet these issues;

6. To show the relationship of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to the total impact of Christian forces in the world.

IV. The committee unanimously recommends the following resolution:

Whereas the General Assembly meeting at Memphis, Tenn., June 14-19, 1970, requested "the General Council and the PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY jointly to study the best means of disseminating news throughout the Church;" and

Whereas in September of 1970 the Agency Communications Cabinet of the General Council, the Stewardship Education Council of the General Council, and communication specialists from other General Assembly agencies met in Montreat and requested the Executives' Co-ordinating Committee to call a consultation to explore foundations for an effective communication system in the Presbyterian Church U.S.; and

Whereas a Consultation on Communication composed of members of the Executive Co-ordinating Committee, the Agencies' Communication Cabinet, the Stewardship Education Council, and communication specialists of other agencies of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., was held in Montreat in March of 1971 and requested the Communication Committee of the General Council, the TRAV Board of Directors, and the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY to begin to meet together immediately for the purpose of co-ordinating all phases of communication; and

Whereas the Communication Committee of the General Council, the Board of Directors of TRAV, and the Board of Directors of Presbyterian Survey met in Atlanta in April, 1971, and the following resolution was adopted:

"(1) A communication council of six members from the Communication Committee of the General Council; the Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY; and the Board of Directors of TRAV be created;

(2) The communication council be an integral part of the organizational structure of the General Council;

(3) Called for the election of a communication secretary for Print Media;

(4) The Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY requested the General Council to express to the General Assembly its willingness to transfer its responsibilities to such newly-created communication council;" and

Whereas the Executive Committee of the General Council in a conference telephone meeting with the chairmen of the boards of TRAV and SURVEY approved the establishment of the communication council as one of the divisions of General Council;

Therefore, be it resolved:

(1) That the SURVEY Board of Directors be instructed to transfer to the General Council of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., all responsibilities and resources of finance and personnel no later than December 31, 1971, for the purpose of coordinating and publishing official periodicals;

(2) That the SURVEY Board of Directors take all necessary legal action to accomplish the above directive;

(3) That the General Council accept and continue to fulfill responsibilities and utilize resources presently assigned to the PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY Board of Directors;

(4) That initially the Communication Council be composed of six members each from the General Council, present SURVEY Board of Directors, and TRAV Board of Directors;

(5) That the General Council submit to the 1972 meeting of the General Assembly necessary revisions of the Standing Rules and Manuals of Operations to consummate the above actions;

(6) That the General Council pursue with diligence proposals for further development of a unified communication system;

(7) That the staff of the Division of Communication of the General Council include the office of secretary of communication of print media responsible to the executive secretary of the General Council and responsible for the production and distribution of print media assigned to the General Council and responsible for supervision of the required personnel;

(8) That this report and its recommendations be received by the General Assembly from the Standing Committee on Presbyterian Survey as information and that the General Assembly receive this report and its recommendations from the Standing Committee on the General Council for action.

V. The committee expresses special commendation and thanks for the contributions of our youth delegate members and to Dr. E.A. Dean, Dr. J.W. Lancaster, Mr. Richard Gore and Mr. John Ard for their information and services.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. PAULINE O. KEELEY, Chairman

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE ON WORLD MISSIONS

Rev. J.V.C. Summerell, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on World Missions, which was adopted, as follows:

I. The Standing Committee on World Missions considered the following items referred to it:

- A. The minutes of the Board of World Missions.
- B. The report of the Board of World Missions with its audit and recommendations.
- C. Communication 6 from the Board of World Missions.
- D. Nominations to the Board of World Missions.

The Committee reviewed the report of the Board and expresses gratitude to Dr. T. Watson Street, Executive Secretary, for his appearance before the Committee and for his forthright response to questions directed to him concerning both the theology and practice of missions. Not one but a variety of paths lead us toward the primary goal of missions: to bring all men everywhere to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. To the limit of the resources made available to it by the Church, the Board of World Missions is following all of these paths. A Church frustrated by its obvious failure to meet this God-given responsibility in a time of tremendous need and opportunity is a Church certain to be found in a state of tension and division. To the staff and Board of World Missions and to all of our faithful missionaries we extend sincere appreciation, with the assurance to them of our prayers and renewed efforts toward more encouraging financial support.

To the constituency of the Church whose long arm of service they are in the name of Christ, we bring an urgent reminder that the Church itself does not "send" missionaries, but that the whole Church itself is sent by God so to labor and witness that the kingdoms of this world become the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Wholeness and a renewed spirit will return to the Church, we believe, when the Great Commission again receives first and foremost priority in the Church and every member views this mandate as fundamental to his response to the call of God in Christ.

II. THE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:

A. 1. That the Minutes of the Board of World Missions, which we found to be in good order, thorough and complete, be approved.

A. 2. That the audited accounts of the Board of World Missions be approved.

B. That the annual report of the Board of World Missions be approved, and that the following recommendations be adopted:

1. That the General Assembly appeal to members and ministers of the Presbyterian Church to make careful preparation for the 1972 Season of Christian Witness as an effective means to increase understanding of and commitment to the world-wide mission of the Church in Jesus Christ. The theme for 1972 is "The Church in Mission to a World in Crisis," with focus on Africa and the Republic of the Congo.

2. That the General Assembly urge a meaningful observance, at every level of church life, of a "Week of Prayer and Self-Denial for World Missions" (suggested time of observance: February 13 to 20, 1972) and promotion of a special offering for world mission (suggested time: February 20, 1972).

3. That the General Assembly urge promotion of the annual "Special Offering to alleviate World Hunger and Human Suffering," to be received on Easter Sunday, April 2, 1972.

4. That the General Assembly urge each Presbytery to consider that the portion of the Presbyterian dollar for the overseas missionary outreach of our Church has declined from 11 cents in 1928 to 3.3 cents in 1970. Among results of this situation is a steady decline in the number of our Church's missionaries and the fact that salaries for overseas missionaries are far below the average salary of professional personnel serving in the home Church.

C. Communication 6 (see p. 30). The election of Mr. Coffin was confirmed by the Assembly.

D. That the General Assembly elect to the Board of World Missions the nominees of the Permanent Nominating Committee as follows:

Class of 1974 (for an additional term):	Rev. George M. Ogilvie (3)	Va.
	Rev. Wayne P. Todd (3)	Ala.
	Dr. Thomas R. Ross (2)	W. Va.

Also nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee in the Class of 1974, but serving or to be elected to head agencies of the General Assembly, are:

Rev. Warner L. Hall (3)	N.C.
Dr. Harold N. Stinson (1)	Ala.

To serve in these places the committee recommends the election of:

Rev. E. Lee Stoffel (1) N.C. to replace Hall (ineligible)

Rev. William A. Benfield (1) W. Va. to replace Stinson (ineligible) for Pharr (resigned)

To the Class of 1974:

Mr. Willie Jones (1) Tenn. to replace McMullen (term expired)

Rev. Vincent R. Castro (1) Tex. to replace Johnson (resigned)

Mr. James C. Robinson (1) Fla. to replace Anderson (resigned)

To serve in the place of Mr. Castro the Standing Committee recommends the election of Rev. Ruben Armendariz (1) Tex.

To the Class of 1973:

Mr. Charles F. Myers, Jr. (1) N.C. to replace Jones (resigned)

Respectfully submitted,

J.V.C. SUMMERELL, Chairman

AFTERNOON SESSION

July 16, 1971—2:00 P.M.

The Assembly reconvened at 2:00 P.M.

REPORT ONE OF CONSTITUTIONAL COMMITTEE

The Moderator announced as his ruling that of the Constitutional Committee.

The Assembly voted that the opinion of the Constitutional Committee be the opinion of this court, as follows:

The Constitutional Committee has been asked to give an opinion under Standing Rule 10.3 as to the constitutionality of "realignment of Presbyterians into two Churches, one reflecting the historic Reformed theology and Presbyterian polity and mission of the Church, and the other reflecting the contemporary and broadening view of theology, polity, and mission of the Church" (Report of Standing Committee on Interchurch Comity and Union, Recommendation II C (1) b. v.; Overture 56 and Resolution 20 IIE).

Book of Church Order 14-5 states "For the orderly and efficient dispatch of the Church's business it is necessary that the sphere of action of each court should be distinctly defined. . . . The jurisdiction of these courts is limited by the express provisions of the Constitution."

The sphere of activity of the General Assembly as set forth in Chapter 18 of the Book of Church Order does not expressly provide for the division of the Church as requested. Such a division does not appear to be incident to any power which is expressly granted to the General Assembly.

It is the opinion of the Constitutional Committee that the General Assembly has no power under its present constitution for accomplishing what Recommendation 9, Resolution 20 and Overture 56 ask.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON INTER-CHURCH COMITY AND UNION

Rev. Edwin W. Albright, Jr., Chairman, resumed the presentation of the report of the Standing Committee on Inter-Church Comity and Union, which was adopted, as amended, as follows:

I. The Standing Committee on Inter-Church Comity and Union considered the following items referred to it:

A. Portion of the report of the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations, Item V (see Appendix, p. 238).

B. Re Consultation on Church Union:

(1) Report of the Ad Interim Committee for COCU.

(2) Recommendation 4 of the report of the Board of Women's Work.

(3) Overture 72, Overture 65, and Resolution 12, re withdrawal from participation in COCU.

C. Re Union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.:

(1) Report of the Ad Interim Committee on Union with the UPCUSA, with recommendations.

(2) Overture 53, Overture 54, Overture 55, and Resolution 9, re withdrawal or moratorium on plans of union.

(3) Overture 74 re preparation of a pamphlet setting forth advantages and disadvantages of union.

(4) Resolution 41 re inclusion of four other denominations in union discussions.

D. Overture 52 re adherence to constitutional standards.

E. Overture 56 and Resolution 20, re realignment of Presbyterians.

II. THE COMMITTEE MAKES THE FOLLOWING RECOMMENDATIONS:

A. Re portion of the report of the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations, Item V (see Appendix, p. 238).

We recommend that the report re the barriers to intercommunion between our church and the Protestant Episcopal Church be approved as submitted by the Committee.

B. Re Consultation on Church Union:

1. Re Report of the Ad Interim Committee for COCU:

We recommend that the Report of the Ad Interim Committee be received as information (see Appendix, p. 251).

2. Re Recommendation 4 of the Report of the Board of Women's Work:

We recommend that Recommendation 4 be adopted as amended as follows:

That Presbyterian women initiate and/or participate in interdenominational groups in local communities to study the Plan of Union for the Church of Christ Uniting, and give any response to the Consultation Office, 228 Alexander Street, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540; that these study groups be composed of men, women, and youth from the denominations in the community that are involved in the Consultation, and interested members of other denominations.

3. Re Overture 72 from the Presbytery of Enoree (see p. 47) and Overture 65 from the Presbytery of Southwest Georgia (see p. 47) re withdrawal from participation in COCU, and Resolution 12 (see p. 65).

We recommend these items be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

a. The Presbyterian Church, U.S., has important contributions to make to the Consultation on Church Union.

b. The historic Presbyterian and Reformed position is one of openness to efforts to unite the Body of Christ.

c. The 107th General Assembly reaffirmed "making our church a full participant in COCU, calling attention to the fact that COCU is only a consultation and that participation does not and cannot commit our church to any change in the Standards of our church." (Minutes, 1967, p. 86).

C. Re Union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.:

1. Re Report of the Ad Interim Committee on Union with the UPUSA with recommendations:

a. We recommend that representatives of the Joint Committee of Twenty-Four be heard by the Assembly for a period of not more than fifteen minutes to be followed by not more than ten minutes of question and response from the floor. The Standing Rules were set aside to permit this presentation and discussion.

b. We recommend approval of the Report of the Joint Committee of Twenty-Four as submitted (see Appendix, p. 252, and the separately bound Study Draft, a Plan for Union) and adoption of the recommendations as amended as follows:

1. That the General Assemblies affirm once against our resolve "to seek a plan for the reunion of the two Churches."
2. That the General Assemblies urge the two Churches to study carefully the proposed draft of a Plan of Union.
3. That the General Assemblies distribute the Plan of Union to all ministers and local sessions at the earliest possible date.
4. That Stated Clerks and Executives of Synods and Presbyteries be asked to assist the Churches in this study of the Plan of Union.
5. That the Joint Committee be continued and its personnel services be used by the Churches as this study is undertaken.
6. That comments and recommendations from members, ministers and judicatories be sent to either Office of the General Assemblies for transmission to and study by the Joint Committee, and that such comments and recommendations be sent, if possible, by November 30, 1972, but not later than January 15, 1973, in order that recommendations may be prepared for the 1973 meetings of the General Assemblies.
7. That the first year of study churches, presbyteries, synods, and other groups under their care be earnestly encouraged to seek a variety of means of establishing and intensifying personal acquaintance with United Presbyterian officers and members both in the same geographical areas and in other areas.
8. That the Joint Committee be enlarged by the inclusion as full members of the four youth advisory members appointed in 1970 by the Moderators of the two General Assemblies.

(A point of order regarding a constitutional ruling was requested. Recommendation 9 was referred to the Constitutional Committee. See p. 124 for the report of the Constitutional Committee. Another Recommendation 9 was then introduced and adopted.—Stated Clerk.)

9. That in the next two years of study the Joint Committee of Twenty-Four be enlarged by one member from the UPCUSA who is not happy with the present Plan of Union and one member from the PCUS who is not happy with the present Plan of Union, to participate in the formulation of the Plan of Union.

That the Moderator of the PCUS, and both co-Chairmen of the Joint Committee of Twenty-Four, communicate the spirit of this action to the Moderator of the UPCUSA, in hope that she will make provisional appointment of a UPCUSA counterpart to the newly appointed PCUS member, pending the next meeting of the UPCUSA General Assembly.

2. Re Overtures 53, 54, and 55, from the Presbyteries of the Everglades, Asheville, and Augusta-Macon, respectively, (see pp. 45-46) re withdrawal or moratorium on plans of union, and Resolution 9 (see page 64):

- a. We recommend that these items be answered in the negative.
- b. We recommend that the following statement be adopted:

That during the period of study on union the General Assembly direct primary energy toward reclaiming our spiritual heritage at the personal, congregational and Assembly-wide levels through united prayer, Bible study and the proclamation of the gospel, at the same time urging all to give full support to the boards and agencies of the church, as they in turn lead us in a united witness to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ."

3. Re Overture 74 from the Presbytery of Memphis (see p. 47) re preparation of a pamphlet setting forth advantages and disadvantages of union:

We recommend that it be answered in the affirmative.

4. Re Resolution 41 (see p. 77):

- a. We recommend that Resolution 41 be answered in the negative on the grounds that in the case of three of the four churches it appears it may be constitutionally impossible as our Book of Church Order now reads.

- b. We recommend that the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations be requested to communicate with the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the UPCUSA to inform themselves and our General Assembly on these discussions.

- D. Re Overture 52 from the Presbytery of Memphis (see p. 45) re adherence to constitutional standards:

We recommend that it be answered in the affirmative.

- E. Re Overture 56 from the Presbytery of Central Mississippi (see p. 46) re realignment of Presbyterians, and Resolution 20 (see p. 68):

(A point of order re a constitutional ruling was requested. Item II.E was referred to the Constitutional Committee.—Stated Clerk.)

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN W. ALBRIGHT, JR., Chairman

EVENING SESSION

July 16, 1971—7:30 P.M.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON BILLS AND OVERTURES

Mr. Roscoe Nix, Chairman, resumed the presentation of the report of the standing committee, which was adopted, as follows:

I. The Standing Committee on Bills and Overtures considered the following items referred to it:

A. Report of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries, with the omission of recommendation #13.

B. Overture 33.

C. Overture 34.

E. Overture 36.

F. Overture 37.

B. The basic purpose for restructuring or not.

At the request of the Committee Dr. Harvard Anderson and other members of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries appeared before the Committee and participated in their discussion.

III. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:

A minority report was filed, considered, rejected. (See text of rejected report below.)

MINORITY REPORT REJECTED

A minority recommendation, concerning the report and recommendations of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries, and signed by 14 members of the committee, is as follows:

- a. that recommendations 1-12 and 14 be answered in the negative;
- b. that the report be received as information;
- c. that the committee be dissolved with thanks;
- d. that the report, background data, study materials, maps, and all other information used by the ad interim committee be filed in the office of the General Council and be made available upon request to synods and presbyteries who are working or will work toward restructuring;
- e. that the General Assembly encourage those synods who have restructuring committees appointed to continue their work and encourage those synods who do not have restructuring committees appointed to appoint them;
- f. that the General Assembly encourage synods to communicate with neighboring synods concerning the possibility of merger and/or closer cooperation.

Hugh W. McClure et al

A. That the report and recommendations of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries (see Appendix, p. 284) be adopted, as amended, as follows:

1. That the General Assembly approve the principle of restructuring as expressed above.

2. That the General Assembly create seven (7) synods out of the existing fifteen (15). The boundaries of these synods to be as follows:

Synod "A": consisting of the State of Virginia, excepting the counties of Lee, Wise, Scott, Washington, Russell, and Dickenson; the State of West Virginia, excepting the counties of Wetzel, Marshall, Ohio, Brooke, Hancock; and including the county of Lawrence in the State of Ohio; the counties of Gates, Camden, Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan in the State of North Carolina; the counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Baltimore, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Calvert, Charles, St. Marys in the State of Maryland; and the District of Columbia.

Synod "B": consisting of the State of North Carolina, excepting the counties of Gates, Camden, Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans, and Chowan.

Synod "C": consisting of the State of Kentucky; the State of Tennessee; and including the counties of Lee, Wise, Scott, Washington, Russell, Dickenson in the State of Virginia; the counties of Dade, Chattooga, Walker, Catoosa, Whitfield, Murray in the State of Georgia; the counties of Mississippi, Crittenden in the State of Arkansas; and the counties of Dunklin, Pemiscot in the State of Missouri.

Synod "D": consisting of the State of Missouri, excepting the counties of Dunklin, Pemiscot; the State of Arkansas, excepting the counties of Mississippi, Crittenden; the State of Oklahoma.

Synod "E": consisting of the State of Louisiana; the State of Texas; the counties of Curry, Roosevelt, Lea, Otero in the State of New Mexico.

Synod "F": consisting of the State of Mississippi; the State of Alabama, excepting the counties of Russell; and including the counties of Escambia, Santa Rosa, Okaloosa, Walton, Holmes, Washington, Bay, Jackson, Calhoun, and Gulf in the State of Florida.

Synod "G": consisting of the State of South Carolina; the State of Georgia, excepting the counties of Dade, Chattooga, Walker, Whitfield, Murray; the State of Florida, excepting the counties of Escambia, Santa Rosa, Okaloosa, Walton, Holmes, Washington, Bay, Jackson, Calhoun, and Gulf; and including the county of Russell in the State of Alabama.

3. That these new synods select their names subject to the approval of the General Assembly.

4. That the Moderator of the General Assembly appoint Convenors and Clerks Pro Tem of the proposed synods

5. That those who will comprise the membership of the proposed synods be ordered to meet in convention for the purpose of organization not later than the spring of 1972; the appointed Convenors, with the Clerks Pro Tem, will give notice of the time and place of the meetings.

6. That the conventions elect committees on:

(a) the boundaries of presbyteries;

(b) the mission and organization of the synod;

(c) the clarification of legal titles and relationship with institutions;

(d) other committees as needed.

7. (a) That the conventions shall meet again to act on reports from these committees after February 1, 1973, at a time and place set by the proposed synods, giving consideration to the progress being made in adjoining proposed synods.

(b) and that July 1, 1973, be the effective legal date for the establishment of the proposed new synods and the presbyteries which they create.

8. That the maps and studies made in preparation for this report by the Ad Interim Committee be made available to the committees on the boundaries of presbyteries of the conventions.

9. That existing administrative and financial structures continue until after their successors are established July 1, 1973. Care should be exercised to provide adequate budgetary funds for existing programs and institutions, and protection of capital funds campaigns in progress.

10. That synods and presbyteries give thoughtful consideration to staff deployment with adequate provision for the security of those now employed by them.

11. That the expenses of ministers, and the representatives of churches, to these meetings of synods be provided by their respective churches.

12. That a commission be appointed by the General Assembly, consisting of one Ruling Elder and one Teaching Elder from each existing synod, and be empowered to readjust a particular boundary line of a proposed synod when requested by an existing synod. This commission shall name legal successors to synods, and reorder their relationship to institutions having multi-synod support in such a manner as to encourage continued support of the institutions in the period of transition. This commission shall begin its work July 1, 1971, and shall cease to function December 31, 1975.

13. That if the 1972 General Assembly votes for a plan of union with the UPUSA Church and three-fourths of the presbyteries approve union by January 31, 1973, then the conventions will not meet and the files of the convention committees will become a part of the considerations of the proper planning committees of the new united Church.

(The amendment to Recommendation 12 was made because it was felt that a commission of only fourteen persons, as provided in the recommendation of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries, would not be sufficient adequately to represent all areas of the church, and that a thirty-member commission, with two members from each presently existing synod, would provide the needed representation.

DISSENT FROM ACTION OF ASSEMBLY ON SEC. III.A.

Reconciliation is more than word and sometimes deed. Therefore I dissent from this action of the General Assembly.—Herbert H. Flitton, Jr.

B. That Overtures 33, 35, and 63, from the Presbyteries of Charleston, Abingdon, and Mobile, respectively (see pp. 36 and 39), be answered by the adoption of the report and recommendations of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries.

C. That Overture 34 from the Presbytery of Asheville (see p. 36) be answered in the negative because one General Assembly cannot bind a future Assembly (Minutes, 1939, p. 67).

D. That Overture 36 from Mr. C. G. Forthman, Paris, Texas (see p. 37) be answered in the negative because:

1. the Overture deals with more than one matter, and

2. the General Assembly currently has a Theological Committee working on matters germane to this Overture.

E. That Overture 37 from the Presbytery of Knoxville (see p. 38) be answered in the affirmative.

F. That Overture 38 from the Presbytery of Norfolk (see p. 38) be answered in the affirmative.

G. That Resolution 24 (see p. 72) concerning a time of fasting, prayer, and giving for world hunger be answered in the affirmative, with the following addition:

(4) that the Massanetta staff provide sign-up sheets for those commissioners, youth delegates, and guests who wish to fast during the Thursday noon hour, so that the kitchen staff may make appropriate meal plans.

(5) that the General Assembly and its communicants be reminded of the hunger priority set by the General Assembly of 1969.

H. That Resolution 27 (see p. 73) concerning the alleviation of defamation against individuals and subversion against lawful programs in the church be answered by the affirmative response on Overture 37, which reads as follows:

That "the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. . . . use its resources, its influence, its boards and agencies, to institute a positive program of reconciliation of the various factions within our denomination, and that the General Assembly instruct the synods and their members presbyteries to institute such programs of reconciliation, also."

I. That Resolution 31 (see p. 74) concerning the encouragement of presbyteries to give youth delegates speaking rights in their meetings and full membership rights in their committees be answered in the affirmative.

Respectfully submitted,
 ROSCOE R. NIX, Chairman

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON WOMEN'S WORK

Mr. E.E. Church, Chairman, presented the report of the Standing Committee on Women's Work, which was adopted, as follows:

- I. The Standing Committee on Women's Work considered the following items referred to it:
 - A. Minutes of the Board of Women's Work.
 - B. Report of the Board of Women's Work with its financial statement, audit, and recommendations.
 - C. Nominations.
- II. YOUR COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS:
 - A. That the minutes of the Board of Women's Work be approved and the Board be commended for its diligence and completeness in presenting these minutes.
 - B. That the 59th Annual Report of the Board of Women's Work be approved, with its financial statement and audit (see Minutes, 1971, Part III, Annual Reports).
 - C. That the following recommendations of the Board of Women's Work be adopted:
 1. That sessions be urged to take note of that fact that the program of resources and activities of Women of the Church for the program year October, 1971-September, 1972, are built around that theme "God Rules!" with the following objectives as guidelines:
 - a. Gain a deeper understanding of the character of God as He is revealed in history, both biblical and secular.
 - b. Live with an assurance of the reality of God's rule in our own time.
 - c. Respond in faith to God's rule in the changes which affect personal style of life.
 - d. Act with courage in obedience to God as He accomplishes His purpose in current problems and emerging revolutions.

2. That session committees planning work in local churches be made aware of the Resource Packet on the theme "God Rules—Right in the Middle of Now!" which includes resources related to "God at Work in the World," "Responding to God's Rule Through Work," and "God's Rule in Family Life Styles."

3. That pastors and sessions encourage their congregations to work locally with churches of other denominations, and in cooperation with secular agencies, in order that the church may make an impact on the community and bring about changes toward a more Christian society.

4. That young people thinking of marriage, couples of child-bearing age, and the ministers who counsel them be encouraged to take seriously the problems indicated in the following quotations:

a. "The twins of hunger and population explosion stalk the earth." (Population Explosion and Hunger, by John Abbott, Executive Assistant in Development, in September, 1970 issue of Interpreter, United Methodist Church Program Priority.)

b. "Overpopulation is indeed a world-wide problem and it has many faces." (Overpopulation, Planned Parenthood-World Population, Planned Parenthood Federation of America)

c. "We Americans comprise 6 percent of the world's population, yet, because of our wealth, technology, and enterprise, we use almost 40% of the world's resources." (Our Spaceship Earth—Standing Room Only, by Senator Morris K. Udall, July 30, 1969.)

d. "Middle class Americans must realize that it is really their own excessive reproduction that accounts for most of the United States population growth rate." (Population Resources and Environment, Paul Ehrlich, W.H. Freeman Co., p. 247.)

e. "If people stop at two [children] now, the population will stabilize by the year 2015." (Zero Population Growth, Inc., quoted in New York Times, January 12, 1971.)
and that they be encouraged to move toward responsible action in order to help maintain the quality of life which expresses a Christian concern for all people.

Reason: The language as printed in the draft submitted to the Standing Committee was ambiguous and did not properly indicate that certain parts of the recommendation were quotations.

5. That the members of congregations be encouraged to study individually and in groups the meaning of world development in order that they be confronted with the responsibility of American Christians to people in developing countries and be moved to action that will witness to our commitment and concern.

6. That pastors and sessions be urged to study the findings of the White House Conference on Aging (to be held in November, 1971) and assist their congregations in making definite plans to implement findings of the conference in order that our churches may minister more fully to this rapidly growing segment of the population.

7. That the General Assembly note with appreciation the increasing participation of women in decision-making groups in the congregations, presbyteries, and synods and the attention the Permanent Nominating Committee of the General Assembly is giving to the guidelines approved by the 1970 General Assembly, and urge continuing effort in this direction.

8. That sessions be encouraged to plan their curricula so that definite periods can be given to the exploration of the biblical concept of personhood and the study of the changing role of men and women in church, family, and society in order that there may be better understanding on the part of both men and women as to their full responsibility in the family of God, thus enabling women to share equally in the decision-making process of the church.

Reason: Original recommendation was inconsistent with the Book of Church Order Sec. 15-6(9).

9. That the General Assembly recognize the valuable service which has been rendered the Church through this Board during nine years of service by the Reverend Morris D. Warren, Kingsport, Tennessee.

D. That the people nominated by the Permanent Nominating Committee be elected to the Board of Women's Work as follows:

Elect for additional term—Class of 1974:

John J. Deifell (3)	Ga.
Mrs. W. H. Franz (2)	Tex.
Mrs. Henry L. Harkey (2)	N.C.
Mrs. C. A. McArthur, Jr. (3)	S.C.
Mrs. R. Sims Munford (2)	Miss.

Vacancy—Class of 1974

Rev. Thornton W. Tucker (1)	N.C. to replace Rev. Morris D. Warren.
-----------------------------	--

E. Your Standing Committee on Women's Work expresses its concern to the General Assembly that the salaries of the staff of the Board of Women's Work are below the level of other Boards of the General Assembly and respectfully suggests that adjustments be made as soon as it is practicable to do so.

Respectfully submitted,

- B. That the following recommendations be adopted:
 - 1. That the paper "Ecumenical Action for Development" be received as information and printed in the Minutes (see Appendix, p. 292).

(Note. The Council's recommendations that the General Assembly commend to the churches for study the paper "American Churches and World Development" are incorporated as Item 7 in "The Commitment of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. to Development.")

The Commitment Of The Presbyterian Church, U.S. To Development

In light of the urgency of the need, its own priority program on hunger, and the action of ecumenical agencies of which it is a member, the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 111th General Assembly:

1. Declares its renewed sense of responsibility and firm intention to work for development, with these understandings:
 - a. Development should be seen as the process by which both persons and societies come to realize the full potential of human life in a context of social justice. Liberation, self-reliance, and self-determination in the process should be emphasized, and economic growth should be seen as one of the means for carrying forward this process.
 - b. From a Christian perspective, the underlying purpose of development is to free man for the fuller use of his God-given powers, and to provide for all men a fuller and more rewarding life.
 - c. The issues of development affect people around the world, both in "developed" and "developing" countries.
 - d. Because the primary responsibility for development programs rests at the local, national, and regional levels, there should be increased opportunities for those most affected by these programs to influence, by means of Christian democratic processes, the decision-making process which would lead to the formulation of such programs.
2. Calls on all its members to engage in study, prayer, increased benevolence giving, and political action for development.
3. Expresses its appreciation for the leadership and other services provided for the churches in this area by the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches; and the establishment by the World Council of Churches and the Roman Catholic Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace of the Committee on Society, Development, and Peace.
4. Requests its representatives to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches and to the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches, as well as its members on the various boards and committees of these agencies, to be mindful of this declaration of intent and to take such action as is appropriate in light of their responsibilities and authority.
5. Requests its boards and agencies, working together under the direction of the Executives' Coordinating Committee to design, develop, and implement an educational strategy to alert our people to the urgent need and the church's responsibility for development.
6. Requests its boards and agencies, in light of their various responsibilities, resources, and authority, to take whatever action they deem appropriate to implement this church's intention to work for development.
7. Commends to the churches for study the paper prepared by the Council on Church and Society, "American Christians and World Development," which may be purchased from the Presbyterian Book Store, P.O. Box 1176, Richmond, Virginia, 23209.

American Christians And World Development

We live in a world whose human inhabitants are reaching out in unprecedented numbers for new ways of life. The names which men give to this new life are varied. Some speak of "liberation," some of "modernization," others of "development." A great worldwide debate rages over the practical meaning of such terms, and Christians are participants in the debate.

As we listen to the mounting world discussion of "development," we remember our Lord's words, "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly."¹ Today's worldwide human yearning for a more abundant life is only occasionally expressed in Christian terms; but down through the centuries the gospel of Jesus Christ has done its part to kindle such yearning; and no responsible Christian will fail to ask how the Lord of history may be at work in stirring men to hope for new societies in which the full potential of human life will be realized in a context of justice, freedom, and prosperity.

Among other groups of Christians in the world, American Christians have particular reason to be attentive to this world ferment around issues of development. The United States has played a critical historical role in stirring up the development debate; and, for better or for worse, Americans will continue to have large impact on this debate in the near future.

This study paper is addressed to those members of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. who seek an answer to the urgent question: how should American Christians respond to the challenges of world development? As we consider this question, at least three imperatives should claim our attention.

1. We must understand the human meaning of the growing disparity between the situation of the rich and the situation of the poor in today's global civilization.

A basic test of the American Christian's sensitivity to the modern world and to the ancient wisdom of the gospel, is his interpretation of the often-made observation: the United States of America is the richest country in the world.

Most of our ancestors migrated to this continent in the hope of achieving for themselves freedom from poverty in combination with freedom from political and religious oppression. So successfully have most Americans achieved the goal of freedom from poverty that it is natural for us to equate "development" with material prosperity. Indeed, one emphasis of the Biblical message inclines the Christian to bless the Creator for the material abundance enjoyed by most living Americans. Surely no people in the world's history has more reason to delight in the fatness of the land that the Lord has provided us.²

But other emphases in the Bible give us pause. The Bible speaks often of physical riches in the midst of spiritual poverty and spiritual riches in the midst of physical poverty.³ It is this emphasis that also speaks to the condition of modern America. We are a nation of stocked supermarkets, air-conditioned buildings, diet foods, industrially polluted rivers, space programs, and one hundred five million automobiles for two hundred five million people. Surely all this wealth we cannot confidently count as a sign of divine blessing. Some of these things are signs of our own greed and foolishness. Indeed, how can we be sure that America is not another Babylon, materially prosperous and spiritually bankrupt? This should be a live question for American Christians, and they have an important critical service to render to our nation by reminding their fellow citizens that wealth and righteousness are not synonymous, that superior riches and superior way of life are not one and the same. With a per capita income of $3600 per year,⁴ the United States is indeed incredibly more affluent than a country like India whose per capita income is less than $100 a year. But it is a form of cultural imperialism to rely on money as the crucial measurement of human "progress." Whenever citizens of rich countries publicly use such a measurement, they stir up untold resentment in the citizens of the poorer countries. What right have Americans to judge another people's progress in terms of steel mills, railroads, telephones, universities, and hybrid wheat?

Once we have begun to be truly sensitive to this widespread resentment against many Americans' attitude towards wealth, we can begin to appreciate a second source of this same resentment: what right have the rich to feast while the majority of men live close to starvation? Those who ask this question are clear in their insistence upon the importance of material well-being for the total development of human persons and human societies. Man does not live by bread alone, but he does live in part by bread; and a vast surplus of bread in one part of the world is an affront to men in another part who lack bread for tomorrow. Envy, anger, and hatred are certain accompaniments of the needy man's perception that his rich neighbors have more than enough for tomorrow.

In itself, this particular human meaning of the economic gap between the rich and the poor is nothing unique to the modern world. The Bible and every other historical record attest to the existence of this gap in almost every civilization. The uniqueness of this gap in the twentieth century is twofold. First, modern technology, industrialism, and organization have vastly increased the prospect that a large proportion of the world's people might live well above the mere survival line. Heretofore in human history, the vast majority of people have been poor—that is, death from scarcity of material goods has been a threat that they have regularly reckoned with. Our Lord's prayer for "daily bread" must be understood in the context of a society whose members had long and anxiously sought protection from this threat. But modern industrialism has radically changed this situation for many a nearly-starving man on this planet; at least in his mind this situation is changed. It is now plain to growing numbers of very poor men that lifelong hunger, weakening diseases, and early death are not fates to which men must adjust. These are conditions that can be changed; and of this the economically "developed" countries of the world—Japan, Russia, Europe, America—are dramatic proof. In these countries basic economic wants are being met for the great majority of the population to a degree without precedent in the history of nations. The result is a "revolution of rising expectations" among the poorer people of the world. Once adjusted to their poverty as an inevitability, they are no longer adjusted.

This growing maladjustment to poverty is accelerated in the modern world by a second new factor affecting the gap between the rich and the poor who live together on this planet: modern communication, transportation, trade, and politics have produced a kindred "revolution of global awareness." During most of human history, men have been too much preoccupied with local affairs to give much attention to abstractions like "the human race." Within this very century, technology promises to provide the means for millions of men to think about a global community. Andean Indians tend their flocks with transistor radios in their pockets. Africans in the bush look at a television set proposed on a tree. The Indian villager looks at American movies. And readers of newspapers the world over know that the nuclear powers are able to destroy most of civilization in less than a day. An interdependent world community is already a reality in the affairs of large numbers of people; and the very fact that it can be an idea for so many others is an additional source of the cry for "development" around the world.

In sum, the rich nations of the world now live increasingly on fish-bowl display before the eyes of the world's poor. The affluent societies are conspicuous consumers, and the disparity between them and low-consumption societies has become impossible to conceal. Thus it is easy for poor people in the Southern hemisphere to know that the rich nations of earth are mostly in the Northern hemisphere. It is easy for them to sense intuitively the truth in a comparison like this:

If all the world were a community of 1000 people, 330 would be affluent and 670 would be poor, with tremendous variations in this affluence and poverty. Very generally, 63—mostly living in North America—would earn over $2000 per year, with another 82—mostly living in Europe—earning between $1000 and $2000. But the vast majority of people (855) would earn less than $1000 per year, and almost half (495) would earn less than $100 per year. . . . 670 people would earn less than $300 per year.⁵

As part of that exceedingly privileged 63, we Americans have limited knowledge and imagination for understanding fully how the poor of the world feel about the rich of the world. We are too rich to understand fully. We live in a country that produces annual goods and services—a Gross National Product—valued at one trillion dollars. In the 1960's, as a nation we added each year to the G.N.P. an amount equal to the total annual G.N.P. of all African countries put together. At present rates of consumption of food and other material goods in the two countries, the average American in his lifetime will consume at least 25 times as much as the average citizen of India.⁶ It is a sad, puzzling fact about the way modern economic systems seem to work: the surpluses of the affluent everywhere multiply; the necessities of the poor are everywhere in short supply. It is easier for the typical American to buy a second car than for the typical Asian to feed his children.

As American Christians, few of us may be able to give an expert analysis of why the economic systems of the world are apparently in a state of growing, radical disparity. But we should be able to understand that, as islands of relative affluence in a worldwide sea of relative poverty, the rich nations of the world are targets of the cry: "Injustice!" Any Christian who has read the Old and the New Testaments should be the first to hear that cry.

2. We must understand our implication as Americans in the economic problems of poor people around the world.

Most American Christians have kindly feelings toward people in the developing countries. We wish that no child on earth were permitted to starve. We give our dollars to support international hunger relief. We contribute to the cause of world missions. We go along with Congressional foreign aid appropriations.

Personal charitableness on our part, however, does not strike at the deepest root of the resentment of the poor against the affluent countries of the contemporary world: the work and the raw materials of the poorer countries are among the necessary economic bases of affluence in other parts of the world. It is in this connection that the cry "Injustice!" arises with greatest fury on the lips of those who are best acquainted with the realities of our global economy. The poor appear to be subsidizers of the rich.

International trade relations are not easy to understand; but no extensive technical background is required for most Americans to perceive their daily dependence upon their economic relations with poorer countries around the world, in ways like these:

—Most of us use rubber products whose raw materials come largely from countries like Liberia. Rubber workers in that country receive less than $1.00 a day for their labor on plantations owned by American companies and Liberian aristocrats. The iron in some European-made automobiles comes from African mines that pay similar wages. How much more would automobiles cost in the West if wages in such countries as Liberia approached "minimum wages" in the auto-consuming nations?

—Chances are that the beans for our morning coffee were grown in Brazil by peasants paid little more than workers in Liberia. Much of the profit on Brazil's coffee trade goes to upperclass landowners who, among many other things, have persuaded their central government to forbid small farmers to organize coffee price-support cooperatives. The "little man" in Brazil is largely defenseless before the economic power of these large landowners. The United States government in recent years has supported Brazil's military dictatorship with arms and money as part of our appropriations for "foreign aid." Brazilians aided by this program are seldom the poor.

—Geologists estimate that the world supply of fossil fuels—especially oil and gas—at present rates of consumption will last less than 30 years. In our own lifetimes, most of us Americans have used more crude oil from South America and the Middle East than most South Americans and Middle Easterners will ever use. If present trends continue, world supplies of copper, gold, iron, and diamonds are likely to be mined mostly in one set of countries—the poor—and used mostly in another set—the rich.

It would be false to suggest that affluent societies' use of raw materials from the poorer societies is out-and-out exploitation. Raw materials offer any country some basis for accumulating capital, taxes, and bargaining power for their own development. But in the current international market, rich industrial countries purchase raw materials at relatively low prices all over the world while selling manufactured goods at relatively high prices all over the world. This inequity is compounded by the walls of tariffs and import quotas on manufactured goods which many developing countries would like to sell to developed countries such as the United States and Japan. In effect, with such restrictive policies, the richer countries say to the poorer: "We will help you build your economy by buying your raw materials, but we will not help you by buying certain of your manufactured goods. It would slow our own industrial growth to do so."

Americans who live in southern textile-producing states have much reason to understand the conflicts of economic interest at stake here. Textiles is often one of the first industries through which a developing country can successfully compete on the world market with the developed countries. The history of the textile industry in the "underdeveloped" post-Civil War South is a demonstration of this fact in our own history. Some advocates of "free trade" predict that much of the world's clothing can eventually be produced in the developing countries because they will be able to produce textile goods at maximum benefit to themselves and to the world consumer. Critics of this view in countries like Japan and the United States say that a national must protect its domestic industries whenever there is a choice between their survival and the survival of similar industries in another country.

When consumers, producers, and citizens of developed countries make such judgments, they are implicated in the affairs of the poor in the rest of the world. We are first implicated in their affairs when we use their natural resources; we are secondly implicated when we establish our trade relations with them in manufactured goods.

In the modern world, a rich country touches the lives of millions outside its borders; that is one reason it becomes and continues to be rich. Discomforting as this truth may be, no American Christian will permit himself the immoral luxury of forgetting it.

3. We must exert our influence as Christians to promote intensive international efforts to rectify injustices in the relations of the rich and poor nations.

It will take more than deepened understanding, more than troubled consciences, to bring justice to the tangled world of the developed and developing nations. To be sure, the complexity of world economic relations alone—not to speak of the political, social, and cultural dimensions of development—are enough to tempt us to leave the whole matter to someone else. Christians have many reasons to resist this temptation. God rules this world ultimately, no one else; and the duty of Christians is to act in conformity to his rule in every part of the world where they find themselves. His justice and his love call us to oppose man's injustice and carelessness—in ourselves and other men. Because our world neighbors' well-being is at stake in these matters we cannot be neighbors to them if we turn away from needs of theirs that are frustrated in economic, social, and political systems. We are compelled, by our love of God and our neighbor, to serve them by seeking changes in those systems.

For American Christians this means that, on the level of practical action on behalf of world development, we must commit ourselves to work through a variety of institutions. The problems of world development involve the decisions of people in all the major institutions of our society—business, labor unions, education, government, the church. The fact that we are Christians does not make us wise or good enough to answer many of the baffling questions confronting these institutions in regard to world development; but insofar as we can we must do our part to help them to search for answers.

In American Corporations

Many Presbyterians in the South are managers, workers, or stockholders of major American corporations. The sales and investment policies of these corporations may be vitally related to the interests of poor people in developing countries. In a time when American business leaders speak increasingly about their desire to be "good corporate citizens," it is imperative for Christians to define that citizenship internationally. We can do so by raising questions like the following in stockholder meetings, in church discussion groups, in management associations, and in other communications with the business community:

What standards does a particular company use for choosing investment opportunities in other countries? Does the company choose a country whose leaders have a reputation for active promotion of the needs of poor people? Can investment be made that will have a high probability of benefit to the poor, or will most profits for the proposed enterprise gravitate into the pockets of the already-affluent? Does the enterprise involve opportunity for local people to assume steadily larger roles in its management and operation? Has every effort been made to purchase equipment for the enterprise from the local market? What is the role of this particular enterprise in the overall locally-initiated development plans of this country? If national leaders have no such plan, can this investment be the occasion for first steps toward a plan? What is the relation of accessible United States markets to the success of such a plan? Does the company have influence it should use to be sure that the economy of the developing nation is not severely restricted by tariffs and import quotas imposed by the United States government? How does the American company itself benefit, if at all, from these very restrictions on international trade?

The last pair of questions will be of particular concern to many citizens of the southern part of the United States. Southern textile companies in recent years have made a strong appeal to Congress for quota-legislation that will control the import of foreign textile goods into the United States. Other problems than foreign competition confront the American textile industry; but precisely because textiles is a "natural" industry for developing countries to promote, the threat of such competition to textile jobs and profits in America is very real. Since the American South is in some respects the least developed region of the United States, we cannot avoid posing the question: are the jobs of southern textile workers to be preferred over jobs for workers in Africa and Asia?

In thinking about this hard question, Christians living in the South should do their best to follow the lead of some economists in trying to pose the question in a way that will avoid the assumption that the economic interests at stake here are utterly and sharply antagonistic. Are there alternatives to bitter competition between American and foreign textile interests? Can industry and government together work our financial support for retraining American textile workers for other employment? Can the very demand for quota-legislation be coupled with these retraining plans so that restrictions on international trade are transitional and temporary?

In Labor Union and Other Wage-Earner Groups

American labor unions have always been acutely aware of that threat that foreign countries may pose to the American workingman's share in this country's economic prosperity. Unions have been among the major supporters of tariffs and other political measures designed to protect our domestic industries.

The sensitive Christian wage earner confronts very difficult issues here. He is part of that group of people in American society most likely to be hurt by any sudden, drastic changes in job opportunities. The slogan, "Protect American Jobs" is bound to have meaning for him in terms of financial security for himself and his family. At the same time, one price of economic growth in the developing countries may well be changes in production—specialization within our own national economy. Thus the humanly responsible question for all segments of American industry to ask is: how can we work towards the creation of new jobs and new specializations for workingmen in various parts of the world?

To the Christian, justice means particular concern for the weakest members of any society. It would be unjust to ask the American wage earner to bear the major cost of justice for the poor of other countries; but it would be unjust also for the American worker to see his chief enemy as the foreign worker. The enemy of both may be a system whose leaders have not turned their intelligence sufficiently to the creation of new forms of production suited to the resources of particular areas of the world. In this light, Christian wage earners can be a leaven among their fellows if they will seek occasions to inquire: Is our support for a particular tariff law or quota-restriction a way of ignoring the needs of our world neighbors? Have labor and management leaders consulted sufficiently with each other to see how both could meet the "threat of foreign competition" with new industrial inventiveness? Through what compromises might we pursue justice both for ourselves and for our unseen neighbors on another continent?

In Government

Our national government has the responsibility to take much of the initiative for American contribution to world development. In their trade policies, foreign aid appropriations, encouragement or discouragement of private investments abroad, and support or nonsupport of the economic policies of other governments, decision-makers in Washington shape the economic impact that 2000,000,000 of us make upon the other three and one-half billion of us on this planet. And beyond the economic dimensions of world development, our political policies often tip the balance of power between the forces of liberation and the forces of repression in the world political arena.

In the economic dimension alone the United States has been a leading world supplier of "development assistance." In terms of proportion of our Gross National Product devoted to such assistance, however, America's recent contribution to world development has been unremarkable. Just after World War II, our country devoted some two per cent of its G.N.P. to world economic development, primarily for the reconstruction of Europe. But in the past ten years, as the American G.N.P. has climbed to a trillion dollars, our proportional commitment to development assistance has steadily declined. In the late nineteen sixties, when our nation was devoting some $60 billion a year to war and other military purposes, Congress was appropriating some $2.6 billion a year for international economic development. We now devote about one-third of one per cent of our G.N.P. to such development. We are tenth among the wealthy nations in our proportional private investment in developing economies, and we are seventh among them in government-sponsored aid programs.⁷

Whatever may have been the policy and tactical errors of our government's foreign aid programs, it should be plain to us citizens that, as taxpayers, we have been asked to pay thirty dollars for military purposes for every one dollar for foreign economic aid. For world development purposes, it would appear that we are severely undertaxed. For ten years the United Nations—responding to a 1958 recommendation of the World Council of Churches—has called upon its wealthier members to devote at least one per cent of their national incomes to the cause of development. A few European nations have actually done so; but to reach a similar goal proposed in the recent Pearson Report, would require the United States at least to double its government appropriations for foreign aid over the next five years and to raise by 50 per cent our level of private investment in developing economies. Though the technical specifics of such modest goals cannot be matters for ordinary citizens to decide, a sense of justice should compel all Americans to support nothing less than these goals.

In these matters it is appropriate that we sense our common responsibility with Christians in other wealthy countries in the world. As Barbara Ward has well reminded us, "Christians alone straddle the whole spectrum of rich nations, and therefore Christians can be a lobby of incomparable importance in this field. And if we don't do it, when we come to see God ultimately and he asks us, 'Did you feed them, did you give them to drink, did you clothe them, did you shelter them?' and we say, 'Sorry, Lord, but we did give them three-tenths of one per cent of our gross national product,' I don't think it will be enough!"⁸

Candid politicians tell us that American foreign aid appropriations remain low partly because in our governmental structure no one has the responsibility of representing the poor people of other countries. If Christians in every country will not undertake this responsibility, who can be expected to do so? Specifically, our political responsibilities may include lobbying with our political representatives on behalf of policies such as these:

- To increase this nation's participation in non-military economic aid programs to at least level of one per cent of its G.N.P.

- To scale down or to eliminate tariffs and other barriers to the sale of manufactured products from the developing countries.

- To frame aid-giving policies in such a way that the welfare of the poorest segments of the aid-receiving country is the uppermost consideration, and to make this the only "political string" attached to such aid.

- To increase grants over loans to the developing countries in order not to nullify transfers of financial aid by countertransfers of interest-payments.

- To encourage private domestic corporations to invest in developing economies and to provide some protection of these investments through government guarantees similar to those available for certain domestic investments.

- To use, whenever possible, multi-national structures for the distribution of grants and loans, in order to remove from national aid programs all appearance of economic imperialism.

- To avoid every other trace of paternalism by incorporating into aid programs a deep respect for cultural differences among nations, for each nation's right to define "development" on its own terms, and for our own nation's need to learn from others what it means to be a receiver as well as a giver in a developing global society.

In the Church

The Bible warns us that the world and all its structures, while under the ultimate dominion of our Lord, is only fitfully responsive to his will. As Christians, therefore, we cannot realistically expect governments, corporations, and economic interest groups to abide consistently by standards of justice and compassion as they are understood in the Christian ethic. Only a minority of people in the world claims to be Christian. To be sure, we can realistically ask our national government to increase its annual foreign aid budget from $2.6 billion to $8 billion by 1975 because that proportion of our annual national income represents a small sacrifice for so rich a country and because it is in the long-range self-interest of all nations to live in a peaceful, prosperous world. By the standards of self-giving which we encounter in Jesus Christ, however, these are minimal expectations. By such standards, we have to recognize how "underdeveloped" all men and institutions are, how little we ourselves have yet learned individually or institutionally to love our neighbors. This, after all, is the standard by which Christians must measure the human quality of any society.

Though the church has all of the weaknesses of any other human institution, we must not hesitate to apply the standard of sacrificial love to its ministry in the world. Christians as citizens and the church as a body must act as leaven in the economic, social, and political dimensions of world development; but they must act also as a community of men in Christ with unique responsibilities in the world.

Christians throughout the world can be thankful that the mission and ministry of previous generations of Christians have borne fruit in certain changes in human societies currently associated with world development. Among these are the improved diet and medical care that came with early missionaries, the education brought by mission schools, and the impetus towards political freedom that has been derived from the Christian movement in some countries.

These achievements of the past must now be seen as having prepared the way for new forms of Christian mission related to the new circumstances of our time. Now as never before, Christians in many parts of the world are busy in study, consultation, and experimentation concerning appropriate roles for individual Christians and the institutional church in world development. It is imperative that the General Assembly, the Boards, the Presbyteries, the congregations, and the individual members of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. involve themselves in this ferment of concern for development among our fellow churchmen around the world. This concern, if it is to be genuine, must be nurtured among us for many years to come; and it must move us to formulate forms of mission and ministry which as yet we cannot clearly envision. As we work toward a knowledge of these new forms, it is appropriate that those churchmen who read this paper should first take its message to heart in terms of some personal commitments. In commending this paper to study by its constituent members, the General Assembly urges them to consider the personal costs of a genuine concern for world development. Among the costs may be the following:

An intellectual commitment, to study the meaning, the opportunities, and the problems of world development.

A vocational commitment, to search for ways in which one's own time and talent might be put to use in the service of human development in one of the poorer countries of the world.

A political commitment, to represent the interests of the developing nations to the politicians of one's own nation, and to call for a long-range view of this nation's interdependence with other nations in the world.

An economic commitment, to increase one's benevolent giving by at least 1 per cent of one's personal income, and to turn this 1 per cent over to church agencies prepared to use it for the cause of world development.

A commitment to pray for our neighbors throughout the world, that together we may come at last to participate in the abundant life of dignity, justice, liberation, and love for one another.

The Need For Welfare Reform

Popular Myths About Welfare

What do you believe about the poor and those on welfare? Do you believe that most poor people are able-bodied but lazy loafers? that most people on welfare could work but prefer to freeloader off the rest of society? that most of the poor spend their welfare money for expensive cars, color TV's, and other luxuries?

Millions of sincere Americans believe these and other things about the poor and those on welfare. But these statements are all untrue. They are myths which have clouded our thinking about welfare and poverty. They are misconceptions which have tempted us to do nothing. They are smoke screens which have justified our complacency. Let's look at a few popular myths—and the facts.

Myth No. 1: "Most poor people are able-bodied but lazy loafers."

The facts: Here is the Census Bureau's 1968 breakdown of the 24.5 million people who were poor by the official standard of poverty:

- Almost half were under 18 years of age.
- Almost 20 percent were 65 and over.
- Almost 20 percent were family heads.
- Almost three-quarters of the family heads worked; about one-half of them full-time.
- Of the family heads who did not work, about a third were ill or disabled and over half were female family heads with children to care for.
- Only 100,000 able-bodied, single poor men did not work.¹

Myth No. 2: "Those on welfare could work, but prefer to freeloader off society."

The facts: Some 7.3 million people were on welfare rolls in 1967. Of these:

- 3.5 million were children.
- 2.1 million were over 65, mostly women.
- 900,000 were mothers.
- 700,000 were either blind or so severely handicapped that they could not work or be trained.
- 50,000—or less than one percent of the total welfare population—were able-bodied, employable males.²

Myth No. 3: "What money the poor have, including tax-supported benefits, is spent on expensive cars, color TV's, and other luxuries."

The facts: The poor have little money for such expenditures. The President's Commission on Income Maintenance Programs (The Heineman Commission) determined that a family of four with a monthly income of $284 ($3,408 a year) spends all but $9 of it for such basic necessities as food, housing, public transportation, and clothing and personal care. This leaves almost nothing for emergencies, medical care or insurance—not to mention such items as a car, a bed for each family member, or school supplies. The food budget for such a family adds up to $1 a day per person. How do ends meet? One witness told the Heineman Commission: "They don't meet."³

Myth No. 4: "Welfare mothers are immoral. All they do is have illegitimate children so that they can get more welfare."

The facts: This is a particularly vicious myth. The average family in the United States has 4.2 members. But the average family on welfare has only 3.9 members. The Welfare Department in Massachusetts found that 71 per cent of the families on its welfare rolls had no illegitimate children, and that 18 per cent had only one child illegitimately born.⁴ Illegitimacy may be more noticeable among the poor because they do not have the same privileged access to private doctors that more affluent people have.

Myth No. 5: "Welfare takes most of your taxes."

The facts: The federal budget for fiscal 1971 totaled $201 billion. Military programs received 36.7 per cent of that, farm subsidies 2.7 percent, interest on debt 8.9 per cent, and public assistance programs received 1.9 per cent.⁵ Thus, less than two cents of your federal tax dollar goes for public assistance programs.

Myth No. 6: "Most of America's poor people are black."

The facts: Two-thirds of the poor are white, one-third nonwhite. However, over 40 per cent of the nonwhite population is poor. In 1966, half of all poor families lived in the South. One out of every five Southern families were poor that year, while only 9 per cent of non-Southern families were poor. The poor in the South in 1966 included close to 2 million white families—42 per cent of all poor white families—and nearly two-thirds of all poor nonwhite families.⁶

Myth No. 7: "Everybody who is poor can get a government handout."

The facts: Less than 40 per cent of the poor receive assistance under our present welfare system.

Millions of needy Americans—the working poor—are excluded from any assistance at all. The President's Commission on Income Maintenance Programs estimates that nearly 5 million heads of poor families work, 2 million of them full-time, but still remain below the poverty line.⁷

Myth No. 8: "The whole thing is so complicated we can do nothing about it."

The facts: The system is complicated, intolerably so, but it can be changed if an aroused citizenry demands change. We need, then, to consider why the system has failed and what ought to be done.

The Welfare System: "A Colossal Failure"

The present welfare system of the United States was brought into being in the 1930's when unemployment was massive and the need to devise emergency measures to provide sustenance for tens of millions of Americans was clear. Over the years thirteen major revisions have been made in the system, but the basic welfare structure inherited from the days of the Great Depression persists. It is clearly inadequate to cope with the problems of poverty today. As President Nixon said in his national television address in August, 1968, "Whether measured by the anguish of the poor themselves, or by the drastically mounting burden on the taxpayer, the present welfare system has to be judged a colossal failure."⁸

Four major indictments may be brought against the existing public assistance system—if it can be truly called a system.⁹

1. Public assistance benefits are not sufficient to provide a decent living for most of the recipients. The federal government defined poverty in 1968 as an annual income of $3,553 or less for a family of four ($296 per month), and this can be regarded as only a bare subsistence level.¹⁰ More recently, the Social Security Administration has estimated that a family of four needs $3,800 to subsist at a poverty level, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics has estimated that a family of four needs $5,500 for a "low" family budget.¹¹ Yet maximum cash benefits allowed by states for a family of four under the Aid of Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program in 1968 ranged from $55 per month in the lowest state to $332 in the highest, with only two states exceeding the poverty threshold.

Of particular interest is the fact that the ten states of the fifty providing the lowest maximum cash AFDC payments in 1968 for a family of four were all in the region served by the Presbyterian Church, U.S.¹² Those ten, and the maximum monthly AFDC payments they allowed were:

Georgia	$125	South Carolina	$93
Missouri	124	Arkansas	90
Tennessee	120	Alabama	89

Maximum monthly cash AFDC payments for a family of four in other states served by the Presbyterian Church, U.S., were: Virginia $191; Kentucky, $187; District of Columbia, $184; Maryland, $178; Oklahoma, $175; and North Carolina, $144.

These figures should be compared with the federal government's poverty-line figure in 1968 of $296 per month; and with these maximum cash payments allowed by the top five states in 1968: New Jersey, $332; Connecticut, $307; Massachusetts, $288; Illinois, $279; and New York $278.

It should be noted that these figures are the maximum monthly cash payments allowed by state law as of April, 1968. Average payments actually made, of course, were lower. For example, Mississippi's maximum monthly payment under the AFDC program as of April, 1968, was $13.75 per recipient. Its average monthly payment per recipient was $10.20 in June, 1969, and $12.05 in July, 1970.¹³

2. The system does not cover even half of those who need help. Benefits provided by public assistance are not available to 60 per cent of the poor. The main group excluded under the present system is the working poor, who work at full-time or part-time jobs but do not earn enough to escape from poverty. Thus our present system covers only a minority of the poor, though millions left outside the system have a claim, in terms of want and deprivation, equal to those who can qualify for public assistance.

3. The system has built into it disincentives and inequities which tend to perpetuate the very poverty that it is intended to alleviate and to encourage continued dependence on welfare. Until recently, the welfare structure has afforded no inducements to work, because public assistance allotments were reduced customarily by the amount of family earnings, dollar for dollar, so that the effect was to put a 100 per cent tax on earnings. Moreover, by excluding families with a able-bodied male head of a household from inclusion in the dependent children program, the system has created a financial incentive for the breakup of family units: an unemployed or poorly paid father, by deserting his wife and children, entitles them to public assistance benefits. Finally, the present system is such that a poor family with a working father may have significantly lower income than an AFDC family which the father has deserted.

4. The wide variation in state levels of public assistance payments and welfare services that is permitted and even fostered by the present "system" is inherently unjust and places unfair and onerous financial burdens on some states and communities. In effect, there are fifty different welfare programs in the United States. Each state is free to decide such matters as how much of the federal money available to it it wishes to accept; how much it will share with its localities; what rules and eligibility regulations, within a framework of federal regulations, it wishes to apply; what levels of payment it prefers. Moreover, the state's own financial resources influence what it can provide for the needy, since the state must match federal funds.¹⁴

The uneven and inequitable benefits available in the several states are suggested by the figures cited above: The maximum monthly cash AFDC payments available for a family of four in New Jersey in 1968 were $332, in Mississippi, $55. However, the gap between the amount of state and local tax income—in relation to the personal income of their residents—spent by the states and localities in federally aided public assistance programs was not nearly so great. New Jersey and its localities spent $3.70 per $1,000 of personal income for these programs. The figure for Mississippi was $2.40.¹⁵ New Jersey, which was first in the maximum cash benefits allowed, was 23rd in the amount per $1,000 personal income spent by the state and locality. Mississippi, which was 51st (including District of Columbia) in the maximum cash benefits was 40th in the amount per $1,000 personal income. Virginia, to cite but one more example, was in the very middle—26th—in the maximum payments allowed ($191), but was 51st in the amount per $1,000 personal income used by the state and localities to match federal funds. Virginians spent only $1.00 per $1,000 personal income for this purpose. (It must be remembered that these figures are for the year 1968, and more recent figures are now available.)

Proposals for a Change

The welfare system has been under intensive examination for years by presidential study commissions and other informed groups, including the poor themselves. The sense of need for change is so widespread that it seems quite likely that major revisions in the present system will be made soon, though it is not at all clear at this time what those revisions will be.

A variety of proposals have been offered in recent years as ways to complete the task of eradicating poverty from American life. Among these proposals (not all of which are mutually exclusive) are federally guaranteed job opportunities, in which the government would be the "employer of last resort"; guaranteed income "in kind," in which the government would supply basic goods and services, such as food, housing, and medical care, directly to the poor; guaranteed cash income plans, with or without work incentives, in which the government, through such means as a "negative" income tax, would guarantee that a person's income for any given year would not fall below a specified level; family allowances, in which the government would provide grants to all families, without regard to need, on the basis of the number of dependent children; and family assistance plans which would assure needy families of a minimum income.¹⁶

The most widely publicized proposal for income maintenance in recent years has been the Nixon Administration's Family Assistance Plan (FAP), submitted to the 91st Congress in October, 1969. The House of Representatives passed a modified version of the Administration bill in April, 1970, and sent it to the Senate, but the Senate never agreed on a proposal so the bill died when the 91st Congress adjourned early in January, 1971. The plan is to be reintroduced early in the 92nd Congress, and Congressional action is expected in 1971.

The Concern of the Presbyterian Church in the United States

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has repeatedly expressed the concern of this Church for those imprisoned by poverty and has recognized that economic justice is a demand of God.

The 1966 General Assembly expressed the theological basis for our concern in these terms:

[God's] concern . . . for man's physical and material welfare expresses itself in his concern for the secular social structures which influence and determine this welfare. Through his prophets he warned his people again and again that proper religious observances are not enough. He demanded social, political and economic justice for the poor, the exploited, the defenseless, the weak, the alien (Is. 1:10-17; Jer. 6:13-21, 7:1-27; Amos 5:21-27). In Jesus the Word made flesh, he showed his concern for sick bodies and minds as well as for sick souls. When asked whether he was the "one to come" from God, Jesus offered as proof of his messiahship first of all his ministry to the physical needs of suffering men . . . (Matt. 11:5f). . . .

What does this mean for us as witnesses to the Creator God who affirms and renews his good creation in Christ? In Matt. 25:31ff. Jesus warns us that whether or not we stand in the way of judgment depends upon how we minister to the physical and material needs of our fellowmen: the hungry, the naked, the stranger, the sick, the imprisoned.¹⁷

The 1965 General Assembly affirmed "its approval of efforts by local, state, and federal governments to eradicate poverty and its causes," and encouraged church members "to give support to such programs, infusing them with Christian compassion and condemning any tendency toward bureaucracy or political exploitation."¹⁸

The 1969 General Assembly declared: "The Biblical tradition clearly asserts that justice—the equitable treatment of all men, with particular concern for the weak, the poor, and the oppressed—is the basic principle of social order."¹⁹

Finally, the 1970 General Assembly urged Ruling and Teaching Elders to study with care the welfare programs in their respective communities with a view to improving them; and instructed the Council on Church and Society to consult with representatives of the National Welfare Rights Organization, to consider ways and means of encouraging the government to come up with more adequate welfare programs, and to report its recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly²⁰—a mandate which the Council has now fulfilled.

The official poverty figure of $3,553 for a nonfarm family of four in 1968 was established by the Social Security Administration in this way: it took a temporary, low-cost food budget, derived by the Department of Agriculture, and multiplied it by three to reflect the fact that low-income families typically spend one-third of their income on food. The figure—which allows $2.43 daily to each person for all food and nonfood needs—seems clearly inadequate. Mississippi, which ranks 51st in per capita income, qualifies for 83 per cent federal aid.

4. That the paper "A Call for Welfare Reform" be adopted, as amended, as follows:

A Call For Welfare Reform

The Presbyterian Church in the United States shares the widespread conviction that the welfare system in our nation has failed miserably. Public assistance benefits are not sufficient to provide a decent standard of living for most recipients. Many needy persons receive no benefits at all. The system has built into it disincentives and inequities which tend to perpetuate the very poverty it is intended to alleviate. The need for reform is clear.

We confess that we have often accepted and taken comfort in common myths about the poor and those on welfare. We have believed along with many others misconception such as these:

- Most poor people are able-bodied but lazy loafers.
- Those on welfare could work but prefer to freeloader off society.
- Welfare recipients waste their money on expensive cars and the like.

Believing such myths, we have done little to effect change.

Now we emphatically reject the myths as false. Moreover, our recognition that God calls us to seek justice for all men, our sense that justice demands that every man have the material conditions necessary for his physical and social existence, our awareness of the injustice suffered by the poor in the midst of our affluent society, and our sensitivity to the fact that half of the poor in our nation are in the region served by our church compel us to act. Therefore, the Presbyterian Church in the United States in this 111th General Assembly:

1. Urges the enactment of a national program which provides a basic and adequate minimum income or opportunity to earn such for all persons in the United States.
2. Declares its judgment that the adequacy of any proposed program of income maintenance should be measured by these criteria:
 - a. It treats the basic necessities of life as a universal human right, without reference to judgments as to who does or does not deserve them.
 - b. It contains strong incentives for work, but does not require acceptance of employment as a condition for receiving public assistance for mothers with preschool or elementary school-age children.
 - c. It grants an income large enough to provide for basic needs and to sustain every person's participation, with dignity, in society.
 - d. It provides job training and assistance by the government, if necessary in obtaining jobs for all those desiring them.
 - e. It provides income primarily in money so that a social stigma will not be attached to the form of one's subsistence, though this does not exclude additional public provision of social services, facilities, and the education of welfare recipients in the best use of their resources.
 - f. It provides for grants in such a way that objective standards are established and maintained, and arbitrary judgments by public officials are minimized.
3. Urges church members, congregations, and middle judicatories to study both the welfare system in their own localities and specific income maintenance proposals; and to help create a climate of national opinion supporting the earliest possible enactment of an adequate program of income maintenance.
4. Urges support of specific legislation, which meets or moves significantly in the direction of the foregoing criteria.
5. Directs the Stated Clerk to inform the Administration and Congress of this social pronouncement, and directs the Office of Church and Society to seek implementation of the action called for herein.

5. That the paper "The Use and Abuse of Drugs" be adopted, as amended, as follows:

The Use And Abuse of Drugs

Introduction

The increasing use and abuse of drugs by Americans deserves the serious attention and concern of Christian churchmen. There may have been a time when the "drug problem" referred to the growing number of heroin addicts in the ghetto alone; today it encompasses the teen-age sons and daughters of middle- and upper-class families, as well as drug-dependent housewives in suburbia, alcoholic businessmen, experimenters and "acid heads" on the school and college campuses and in the armed forces. Though the current youth subculture receives the major publicity because of its increasingly open use of drugs, it needs to be remembered that many of their elders seek to escape their discomfort, boredom, and misery through the use of such drugs as alcohol, tranquilizers, amphetamines, barbiturates, aspirin, nicotine, and caffeine. Without doubt, ours is a drugged, pill-taking culture.

Some Reasons for the Use of Drugs

The reasons persons use drugs today probably differ little from the past, that is, to relieve tension and anxiety, to escape from problems and responsibilities, to overcome inhibitions and facilitate social interaction, to test and explore new levels of awareness and consciousness of self, and to express their rejection of or rebellion against traditional standards of parents, institutions, and society in general.

But though the reasons for drug use have not substantially changed, a number of new factors have heightened use and led to abuse. Growing affluence has provided money for purchase and leisure for experimentation at many levels of our culture. The ready availability of drugs and the great confidence in the power of medication inbred from childhood have further contributed to the use of drugs as a kind of magical protection against anxiety and pain. A new attitude toward risk also seems widespread in our culture, as the constant danger of injury or death on highways or airways or from the polluted environment has evoked a certain fatalism ("What is to be is to be") or sense of invulnerability ("It won't happen to me"). Moreover, the increasing depersonalization of our day prompts many persons to welcome the kind of authentic, first-hand experience, self-discovery, personal meaning, and awareness of the dimension of death and mystery in life, which the consciousness-expanding drugs are claimed to provide.

Drugs attract both the rich and the poor. Because of their expense, drugs often create financial problems for habitual users. Less affluent drug-users frequently compound their problems by the means they use to obtain drugs.

Kinds of Drugs and Drug Use

One of the problems in formulating a responsible attitude toward drugs is the great variety of drugs and various kinds of addiction. The amphetamines (Benzedrine, dexedrine, and methedrine) are stimulants, speeding us up. The barbiturates (Amytal, Nembutal, Seconal, and Luminal) are depressants, slowing us down. The opiates (opium, morphine, heroin, and codeine) differ from the hallucinogens (psilocybin, mescaline, and LSD), and both differ from marihuana. Some drugs are habit forming, creating physical addiction and/or psychological dependency, while others are not. And some are dangerous while others, if used under proper professional supervision, are relatively safe. Those who use these various drugs as stimulants, tranquilizers, pain relievers, and sedatives are dependent in different ways upon them.

Guidelines for Appropriate Legislation

Recognizing that the abuse of drugs cannot be eliminated by legal means, no matter how effective the law enforcement, that the illegal status of some drugs may even encourage their use and abuse, and that unfair laws unevenly enforced promote disrespect for other laws, we must seek for modification of existing laws according to the following guidelines:

- 1) Drug addicts should be treated first of all as persons who are victims of medical and social problems, not criminals to be treated with the usual punitive measures. Thus measures should be supported which recognize that drug addiction is an illness, and provide treatment instead of criminal litigation or imprisonment.

- 2) Prosecution to the full extent of the law and appropriate severe punishment should be meted out to those who profit from traffic in illegal and harmful drugs, who benefit from the addiction of others, and hence seek to encourage it.

- 3) Because marihuana is not properly classified with the other "narcotics" and conclusive evidence is lacking that it produces permanent physiological effects or automatically leads to the use of more serious, addictive drugs, the arbitrary and excessive penalties currently leveled against users of marihuana should be eliminated. This is not to say that the use of marihuana should be legalized, because too much is still unknown about this drug.

- 4) In order to have more trustworthy public information about the use and effects of all drugs, public funds should be appropriated for large scale research in this area. Such research should attempt to establish clearly the physiological, psychological, and social effects of the drugs upon both long-term and casual users.

Guidelines for Church Action

Churchmen should assume responsibility for working on the underlying causes of drug abuse, recognizing that drug abuse, such as alcoholism, will never be eliminated or even significantly reduced until society deals with its underlying causes. The large numbers of our population turning to drugs is evidence not just of need for crutches or desire for adventurous experimentation, but also of profound boredom and dissatisfaction with American culture and institutions. Because our culture tends to define its main goal as the good life privately enjoyed, measuring it in terms of individual comfort and pleasure, it is not surprising that a hedonism represented by "turning on" with drugs is a logical consequence. Moreover, many feel that the dimensions of mystery, wonder, and awe are diminished in our technocratic lives, and that bureaucratic, scientific, and mechanized standards leave little room for human sensitivity and feeling. It is not surprising that many persons look elsewhere for religious experiences and for a deeper awareness of what it means to be fully human to the degree that the church ignores the artistic, ritualistic, sacramental, emotional, and mystical dimensions of life in its preoccupation with correct doctrine or practical service.

Some guidelines for effective work and witness for the church in relation to drug abuse are as follows:

- 1) The Church has the potential for making human life whole and satisfying and should seek to enable persons to experience the excitement of New Life offered in our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 2) Drug education programs should be initiated and sponsored on the local level with careful attention to goals, leadership, and audience. Rather than trying to frighten persons away from drugs—a strategy that is often ineffective among sophisticated youth—such programs should disseminate trustworthy information and provide enlightened counseling, not frightened prohibition.
- 3) Programs for the care and rehabilitation of victims of drug abuse should be developed, including training workshops and conferences for clergymen and lay persons interested in developing a ministry to persons addicted or habituated.
- 4) Financial support should be provided by churches for existing centers and therapeutic communities directly involved with the drug culture. Since alienated youth are often reluctant to avail themselves of traditional counseling services, centers such as Daytop, Synanon, and Gateway deserve church support in developing new life styles for former addicts.
- 5) Churches should recognize the particular capabilities and effectiveness of youth in ministering to their peers in the area of drug abuse; presbyteries and sessions should encourage youth of the church in continuing and developing this ministry and support them in this effort with the resources of the church.
- 6) The church through the judicatories and congregations should advocate and stimulate government action in the development of programs for research and rehabilitation and also take advantage of government resources.
- 7) Special concern of the church should be directed to the poor and oppressed who are involved in the drug problem and who do not share as easily as others in the usual community services.

6. That the church urge the armed forces to deal more constructively with the serious drug problem among military personnel and encourage chaplains to minister more intensively to the needs of these persons.

7. That the paper "The Population Crisis" be adopted, as amended, as follows:

The Population Crisis

The existence and growing urgency of a worldwide population crisis are by now well established even though projections by authorities will understandably vary. As projected by some authorities:

8,000 babies are born every hour; 70,000,000 are born every year.¹

At the present rate of growth (excess of births over deaths), the world population is doubling every 35 years.²

This means, barring such catastrophes as thermo-nuclear war, chemical and biological devastation, or massive international famine that by the year 2000 the world population will be nearly 7 billion; by the year 2035, 14 billion; and by the year 2070, 28 billion; or one hundred years from now there will be 8 people on earth for each one now alive.³

Many Americans tend to think of this problem as limited to undeveloped nations, but the facts do not support that assumption.

The annual net gain in U.S. population is more than 2 million.⁴

By the year 2000, or shortly thereafter, there will be more than 300 million Americans.⁵

If we were to accommodate the full increase in new communities, we would have to build a new city of 250,000 persons each month from now until the end of the century.⁶

The worldwide implications are inescapable that given present rates of growth even the most drastic and heroic efforts to increase food production and to utilize fully all the earth's resources in meeting even the minimum survival needs will be inadequate. Along with this recognition, which has been voiced for several years, there is now the new awareness of the relation of population growth to the growing pollution of earth, air, and water and the increasing probability of severe ecological crisis. As Paul R. Ehrlich has put it: "the progressive deterioration of our environment may cause more death and misery than any conceivable food-population gap."⁷ Many problems are labeled "urgent" today, but none can be regarded as more desperately urgent than this.

A statement on population issued by thirty heads of state called the population crisis "a situation unique in human affairs and a problem that grows more urgent with each passing day."⁸

Dr. Philip Handler, president of the National Academy of Sciences, has said that "the greatest threat to the human race is man's own procreation."⁹

Moreover, Robert S. McNamara insists:

What we must comprehend is this: the population problem will be solved one way or the other.

Our only fundamental option is whether it is to be solved rationally and humanely—or irrationally and inhumanely. Are we to solve it by famine? Are we to solve it by riot, by insurrection, by the violence that desperately starving men can be driven to? Are we to solve it by wars of expansion and aggression? Or are we to solve it rationally, humanely—in accord with man's dignity?

There is so little time left to make the decision. To make no decision would be to make the worst decision of all. For to ignore this problem is only to make certain that nature will take catastrophic revenge on our indecisiveness.¹⁰

The more pessimistic observers conclude that it is already too late to avert such catastrophes, and some are taking what A.V. Hill has called "the purely biological view that if men will breed like rabbits they must be allowed to die like rabbits. . . ." To fail to act in face of the population explosion would be to adopt by default such a morally and Biblically indefensible position.

Recent Actions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

In recent years the Presbyterian Church in the United States, through its General Assembly, has begun to address itself to the problem. In 1960, the General Assembly adopted this statement:

The sexual relation is the creation of God and is not therefore evil in itself. Within the marital bond it is to be regarded not merely as a means of bringing children into the world but also as a divine provision for the mutual fulfillment of husband and wife.

The God whose creative grace makes possible the blessing of children through marriage likewise vests man and wife with moral responsibility in the exercise of their procreative function. This responsibility is intensified today by what is known as "the population explosion" and the threats to human welfare it involves. The bringing of children into the world is a privilege not to be lightly or selfishly evaded by married couples. On the other hand, the responsibility of prospective parents obligates them to consider well how their children are to be provided with that which will make for their best physical, cultural, moral and spiritual development.

If man and wife are not to be denied mutual fulfillment in the sexual relation, and if society is not to be penalized by the unplanned and irresponsible production of children, it will follow that access to information regarding the best methods of birth control is the right of all married couples, and the provision of this information the duty of a responsible society (General Assembly Minutes, 1960, p. 43.)

In 1969 and 1970 the General Assembly received and affirmed the intentions of overtures calling for church awareness of the population problem and involvement in the education of persons to respond to the crisis.

Finally, in 1970, the General Assembly urged "Presbyterian married (and to-be-married) couples of child-bearing ages to begin seriously studying the implications of the population explosion for planning their own families"; and further urged "ministers especially to become aware of their grave responsibilities to be informed and to counsel couples in terms of limiting the size of their families as a Christian response to the growing problem of over-population." (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, p. 143).

These statements speak to the problem primarily in terms of family planning. They call on individual couples to make private decisions to limit their families. We must now recognize that reliance on individual desires and private decisions to effect voluntary control, however well supported by information and means, will not be sufficient to provide the necessary limitation of population growth unless there is a radical and rapid change in the attitudes and desires.

The church must commit itself to effecting this change. The assumption that couples have the freedom to have as many children as they can support should be challenged. We can no longer justify bringing into existence as many children as we desire. Our corporate responsibility to each other prohibits this. Given the population crisis we must recognize and teach, beginning with ourselves, that man has an obligation to limit the size of his family.

The following minority report was substituted for the above motion and was adopted as amended, as follows:

THE WAR IN INDOCHINA

In 1967 the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 107th General Assembly declared: "As Americans, we love our country, cherish its traditions, and endeavor to support its causes. Yet as Christians, above everything we love the Lord of all nations. . . . We are deeply perplexed and anguished by the tragic war in Vietnam."

Now—four years later—our loyalty to the Lord of all nations and our love of our country and concern for its integrity remain undiminished. But our anguish over what the war in Indochina is doing to our neighbors, our nation, and ourselves, and our painful concern for all prisoners of war have substantially increased. We are now convinced that the continuation of this war cannot be morally justified. The killing must be stopped.

The Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 111th General Assembly:

1. Publicly commends and supports the President of the United States in his efforts and those of the government to bring about an end to the unfortunate conflict in Indochina, and for the disengagement and return of our forces.

2. Encourages the commissioners, youth delegates, and congregations to express their views concerning the Vietnam War to the President and their congressional representatives by letter, telephone and in person.

3. Designates October 3 as a Day of Prayer and Fasting for Peace in Indochina.

F. That Resolution 22 (see p. 71) be answered by reference to the Assembly's adoption of the paper "A Call for Welfare Reform", Item B.4. above.

G. That Resolution 37 (p. 76) be adopted, as amended, as follows:

PUBLIC EDUCATION

The Presbyterian Church in the United States has affirmed over the years that public education for all people must be supported and protected.

In various communities, individuals and groups are strongly resisting the establishment of a public school system in which children of all races meet as equals. This is done in various ways, including withholding support for the changes necessary to implement such a system; by withdrawing their own children from such systems when they are established; and by establishing, supporting and patronizing private schools whose deliberate purpose or practical effect is to undermine the public education system. (This statement, indeed the entire statement, does not intend to undermine Christian private schools established and supported for the purposes consonant with the educational mission of the Church.)

Basic to the success of public schools is improved human relationships among people of all races at all age levels. The parents and members of the community need to recognize the value of brotherhood as well as the children. As followers of Christ we have been chosen to light the way.

In view of these facts, the Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 111th General Assembly:

1. Notes not only the urgency and desirability, but also the complexity of providing equal educational opportunity for all children, and affirms that there are no easy solutions, but that we must seek God's help in finding ways.

2. Commends all presbyteries, sessions, pastors and church members who have exhibited support of public education, and especially those who have refused to allow their church educational facilities to be used to subvert the public education system.

3. Expresses its concern for and commendation of people of all races who now struggle to be responsible educators, students, and parents in these days of turmoil within the public education system.

4. Requests all presbyteries, sessions, pastors and individual members to work in ways relevant to particular communities to bring about better understanding through personal contact, encounter in groups and in private discussion with those of other races.

5. Calls on all members to search diligently for avenues by which racial understanding can be achieved, and to give wholehearted support and encouragement to all reasonable efforts in this direction.

6. Requests the Council on Church and Society to study the responsibility of Christians for public education and to present recommendations to a subsequent General Assembly.

H. That the General Assembly commend the Board of Christian Education for distributing the Report of the Council on Church and Society to the churches and to all commissioners, in an easily read format, as soon as the report was available, so that it could be studied and discussed prior to the meeting of the General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,

DOUGLAS W. OLDENBURG, Chairman

SPECIAL PRAYER

Following action on Item II.E. of the above report, the Assembly stood for a Special Prayer for Peace, which was voiced by Moderator Rose.

The Assembly voted that the statement "The War in Indochina" passed by the Assembly be reproduced and made available to Commissioners before the Assembly is adjourned.

PROTESTS TO ITEM II.E.

The Assembly heard Mr. Russ Merritt, Jr., youth delegate, who read a statement re Item II.E. of the Church and Society report prepared and signed by forty-two of the youth delegates. The Assembly voted that the statement be received as information, and that it be printed in the Minutes together with the names of the Youth Delegates signing it:

We, the undersigned Youth Delegates to the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, would record our deepest disappointment at the adoption of the Assembly of Section II.E. of the report of the Standing Committee on Church and Society, as amended.

It is our feeling that, in commending the President, the statement of the General Assembly treats lightly the great hurt and deep frustration which we and this nation experience arising from American involvement in Southeast Asia.

Respectfully submitted,

Robert H. Grier, Gary H. Aven, W. Russell Merritt, Jr., Kimberly Potter, Alex Yeilding, George A. Armstrong, Beach Vickers, John Causey, Margie Mayberry, Bob Donnell, Barbara Cloud, J. Glenn Ferrell, David S. Dollar, Charles Edgar Hart, Jamie Walkup, Susan Gould, Elaine Rhodes, Janice Price, Scott Wilds, John Jefferson Carter, Jr., Mac Lumpkin, James M. Collie, Warren J. Muller, Samuel C. Highsmith, Carter Moffett, Polly Ann Moak, Steve Cloniger, Louis Lazarine, Nancy Carver, Stephen Berger, Lynn Thomas, Peter H. Hobbie, Lynn Allison, Johnny Bron, Kathy Seddon, Chris Hager, Janet L. Annis. Claude Stayton, David Paulsell, John V. Bravard, Marilyn Wion, Carol Watson.

The Assembly heard Mr. David Cozad, a page, who read a statement prepared and signed by all of the pages. The Assembly voted that the statement be received as information, and that it be printed in the Minutes together with the names of the pages signing it.

The pages of the 1971 General Assembly of the PCUS unanimously express their deep disagreement with the action of the General Assembly in adopting the third paragraph of Section II.E of the report of the Standing Committee on Church and Society.

We feel that the Assembly has erred in

- 1) failing to address itself effectively to the theological and ethical issues involved in the war,
- 2) supporting a policy which does not call for an immediate cessation of conflict, and
- 3) failing to condemn decisively this immoral conflict.

Respectfully submitted,

Clarence O. Magee, Jr., Helen Hassell, Tom Currie, John Strange, Joseph W. Groves, David B. Cozad, David E. Swindall, George L. Oehler, Radford Rader, Patricia B. Highfill.

The following protest was entered in response to the action taken by the Assembly re Item II.E. of the report of the Standing Committee on Church and Society:

Remembering how the prophet Jeremiah warned against healing lightly the wounds of the people and crying "peace, peace," when there is no peace, we respectfully request the opportunity to enter a protest against the adoption of Section II.E. as amended of the report of the Standing Committee on Church and Society, which amended motion, while truly declaring that the continuation of the war in Indochina cannot be morally justified and that the killing must be stopped, omits Declaration 1 of the original which "urges all parties to the conflict to institute immediately a cease-fire," and Declaration 2 of the original, which "humbly petitions the President and the Congress to declare at once our government's pledge to withdraw completely all U.S. military forces from Indochina; to intensify the search for a political settlement; and to seek to provide asylum for any South Vietnamese who may need it."

Respectfully submitted,

Albert G. Harris, Patricia A. McClurg, Douglas W. Oldenburg, Earl S. Mulley, Robert P. Richardson, Gordon S. Bowie, John K. Alexander, Edward A. White, William C. Head, Irving E. Birdseye, Robert H. - 3. That Session and Presbyteries seek among the members of their congregations or churches persons who are equipped to provide assistance needed for more adequate planning for the fulfillment of their mission in and to the world.

4. That Presbyteries and Synods in scheduling meetings and appointing of committees include more lay men and women on the policy and program planning committees.

5. That the Church Calendar for 1971-72 be amended and for 1972-73 be approved as follows:

6. That the General Assembly urge churches to activate a program of year-round stewardship education and emphasis. Within this program, that the Every Member Canvass emphasis season in 1971 be confirmed as October 10-November 14, with November 7 designated as Dedication Sunday; that in 1972 the Every Member Canvass emphasis season begin October 8-November 12, with November 5 designated as Dedication Sunday.

7. That the 1971 Every Member Canvass themes be: "Man Freed for Mission: Give—Live," and "Growing in Personal and Family Stewardship," and that churches be urged to make full use of the stewardship materials offered.

8. That the following agencies of the General Assembly be authorized to promote a supplemental offering in 1972: a. Board of Christian Education (Rally Day Offering), b. Board of Annuities and Relief for use in Ministerial Relief (Joy Gift Offering).

9. That a special offering be approved for the Alleviation of World Hunger and Human Need through the Board of World Missions; that the offering be received on Easter, April 2, 1972; and that proceeds be remitted directly to the Board of World Missions, Department of Overseas Relief and Inter-Church Aid.

10. Because of the Church's concern for the unprecedented demands on the Board of World Missions by runaway inflation in certain countries of the world where we minister in Christ's name, the General Council recommends that the Witness Season Offering for 1972 and 1973 be allocated in its entirety to the Board of World Missions, and that it be a special offering not subject to equalization, provided such funds are received by the Board of World Missions or the Central Treasurer of General Assembly benevolences not later than 60 days after the offering date. This recommendation is made with the understanding and endorsement of the Board of National Ministries.

11. That the General Assembly be informed that commitments to the Presbyterian Development Fund have produced $12,793,366 as of December 31, 1970; and that churches and individuals be urged to complete payment of their commitments in full at the earliest possible time.

12. The Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. asked the General Council to consider whether all or part of the foundation's annual budget should come from the General Assembly budget or from use of its undesignated funds as has been the practice.

The General Council recommends to the General Assembly:

That the General Assembly endorse the principle of partial support of the budget of the Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. through the General Assembly budget and that costs beyond these covered in the budget of the General Assembly be provided-for from the proceeds of undesignated bequests.

That income from all designated bequests be distributed according to the directions of the donor. Where no designation is made, and to avoid duplication of budgeting responsibility, the income from such funds in excess of the amount needed to supplement the partial provision for Foundation operations received from the benevolence budget of the General Assembly, be transmitted to the Central Treasurer for distribution according to the ratio of the adopted Assembly benevolence budget.

13. We recommend that the General Assembly direct the Boards and Agencies to report annually through the General Council the total amounts spent with interchurch agencies as the cost of Presbyterian Church U.S. participation, including travel and other expenses, and that amounts spent for materials be reported separately.

14. We recommend that (in subsequent years) the report be made to the General Assembly in a form which shows the amounts to each interchurch agency and the source within the Presbyterian Church U.S.

15. The 1970 General Assembly approved a procedure authorizing Boards and agencies to make gifts to non-PCUS agencies subject to certain provisions (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, p. 145). This affirmation is interpreted as a vote of confidence and trust in the Boards and agencies of our Church to interpret their mission and allocate funds as they see fit.

- * To further this trust between Boards and agencies and the whole Church,

- * To give publicity and greater significance to any symbolic gifts made by agencies of the General Assembly,

- * To eliminate suspicion that is invariably fostered by any lack of information, and,

- * To add to two-way communication and confidence, we feel that a full and complete accounting report should be made readily available to the givers of these monies.

"THEREFORE, we recommend to the General Assembly:

That the Boards and agencies of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., make, as part of their annual report to the General Assembly, a full and complete reporting of gifts made in the previous year to non-PCUS agencies."

16. The General Council recommends that the proposed manual changes for the Board of National Ministries be referred to its respective standing committee on the Board of National Ministries. The General Council finds them to be in order and within the frame of concern the General Assembly has assigned to that Board.

17. That the report of the Interboard Committee on Crisis, and its financial report be admitted to record (see Minutes, 1971, Part III, Annual Reports).

F. Black Ministries

18. For the further development of the program of the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus for witness to Jesus Christ by their ministry especially to minority members, we recommend to the General Assembly that it authorize a special offering during the year June 1971 to June 1972 for support of the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus. The date suggested for the offering is October 3, 1971, or as close to that date as is convenient for the local church.

(A late budget placed with the Stewardship Committee by the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus was considered and answered by this recommendation. This conforms to and is in harmony with action taken by the 1970 General Assembly.)

19. That the General Assembly request its boards and agencies to fund $10,000 for the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus for the remainder of 1971.

20. That $30,000 be budgeted in 1972 for the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus.

21. That the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus be requested to publish to the General Assembly their receipts from sources outside the General Assembly treasury.

22. That the General Assembly answer Resolution 23 by instructing its Board of National Ministries to investigate an affiliate relationship with Southern Vocational College and to report back to the General Assembly in 1972. If the recommendation from the Board of National Ministries is affirmative, the report may include a plan and manual of operation which would provide for (1) election of trustees by the General Assembly; and (2) annual reporting of fiscal and program matters.

During debate on the above issues, Rev. Larry Haygood, President, Southern Vocational College, was granted the privilege of the floor.

SPECIAL PRAYER

The Assembly stood and engaged in special prayer in behalf of the Black Ministries of our Church, voiced by Rev. Ross Kirven.

G. Budget

23. That the General Assembly adopt a Benevolence Budget of $9,077,000 for 1972.

24. That the 1972 Benevolence Budget be divided among the eighteen agencies of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., as follows:

(This represents an increase of 6.7882% over the 1971 budget.)

1972 BASIC BENEVOLENCE BUDGET OF THE ASSEMBLY'S BOARDS AND AGENCIES WITH PERCENTAGE BREAKDOWN

Board or Agency	Basic Benevolence Budget	Percentage Breakdown

World Council of Churches	12,500	.1377
Totals	$9,077,000	100.0000%

25. That the foregoing 1972 Benevolence Budget be apportioned to the fifteen Synods on the basis of urging each Synod to accept at least 100% of the askings for 1971 as its asking for 1972. The 1972 Budget does not reflect a large increase in program and services, but provides for meeting inflated costs. Each Synod is urged to "close the gap" between askings and actual giving, if such a "gap" exists. Each Synod which accepted in full the askings for 1971 is urged to consider a challenge of 7% increase for 1972 to offset the anticipated cost of living increase.

H. Church and Society

That the General Assembly answer in the negative Recommendation 9 and Paper H (see Appendix, p. 294), for the reasons given in the Position Paper from the Presbyterian Foundation, received as Communication 15 (see p. 33).

I. National Council of Churches and World Council of Churches:

That the General Assembly answer Overture 51 (see p. 42) in the negative.

J. Interboard Committee on Crisis

That Recommendation 25 which is as follows:

"That the Interboard Committee on Crisis be lodged within the General Council. This recommendation is made in the light of the desire of the Boards and agencies to coordinate all the various Task Forces and Committees under a new model of cooperation adopted by the General Council with the full support of the Executive Secretaries of Boards and agencies.", be deferred without prejudice until the 1972 General Assembly, in order that there may be consultation between the Interboard Committee on Crisis and the General Council regarding changes in the General Council and Manual and other possible adjustments.

K. Women's Work

That Resolution 16 (see p. 66) be answered in the negative.

L. Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism

1. That the General Assembly adopt the Special Report of the General Council, as amended, as follows:

A SPECIAL REPORT TO THE 111th GENERAL ASSEMBLY FROM THE GENERAL COUNCIL

The General Council reports to the General Assembly its concern and convictions about an independent missionary enterprise known as the Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism (E.C.O.E.). We consider it to be a serious threat to the peace and unity of our Church and report to the General Assembly as follows:

1. The Board of World Missions sought to facilitate E.C.O.E.'s original declared intention of "working with the Board to foster the work of evangelism in the overseas program of our Church." The record of the transaction between the Board of World Missions and E.C.O.E. is as follows:

On August 5, 1970 a letter addressed to the Board of World Missions was received in the office of the Board in Nashville, Tennessee. It was signed by the Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons, the Rev. William E. Hill, Jr., the Rev. Ben Wilkerson, and Mr. W.A.L. Sibley, "a committee of four representing the Executive Commission on Overseas Evangelism, set up by the Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship." These four were authorized to "correspond and confer with the Board of World Missions concerning the possibility of working with the Board to foster the work of evangelism in the overseas program of our church." The letter affirmed, "We believe our deep concerns are shared by the Board," expressed the hope for a "friendly and profitable cooperation," affirmed belief that there are many "evangelistic projects within the Board's approved program which the Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship and its Commission would find both congenial and challenging" and expressed the desire to meet with the Board or its representatives for conversation.

The executive secretary of the Board of World Missions replied on August 7. He expressed "a cordial and positive reaction to your suggestion." He asked for a meeting at which some guidelines could be agreed on, looking to the presence of the representatives of E.C.O.E. with the Board of World Missions.

The chairman of E.C.O.E., the Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons, replied to the letter of the executive secretary, "It is a very gracious letter." From a number of possible dates suggested for a preliminary meeting, the chairman of E.C.O.E. selected September 17, for a meeting in Atlanta.

A two-hour meeting was held in Atlanta on September 17 between four representatives of E.C.O.E. and the executive secretary of the Board. In preparation for the meeting the executive secretary had prepared tentative guidelines. The guidelines affirmed the Board's willingness to accept all contributions designated for approved evangelistic programs of the Board, to guarantee that the full amount given and accepted would be used for the purpose for which it was given and accepted, to guarantee that the funds given would be used as an addition to the amount budgeted by the Board. The guidelines affirmed that the Board would abide by all rules established by the Presbyterian Church, U.S., asked E.C.O.E. to abide by rules of Church courts within which it functioned and not to seek funds in ways that would subtract from the contributions of congregations and Church courts to world missions through the benevolence program of the General Assembly.

Near the close of the meeting the executive secretary reported to the representative of E.C.O.E. his concern over receiving from several of our Church's missionaries copies of a letter sent by E.C.O.E. The letters were sent after conversations between E.C.O.E. and the Board were begun, but the Board was given no information about the letter to missionaries offering financial aid and suggesting that the Board not be informed of the financial aid.

The executive committee of the Board of World Missions invited the representatives of E.C.O.E. to be present for the meeting of the Board on October 12-14. The Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons, the Rev. William E. Hill, Jr., and the Rev. Ben Wilkerson were present. These representatives met with the executive committee of the Board of World Missions for almost three hours. The chairman of the E.C.O.E., the Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons, made a presentation of a full plenary session of the Board of World Missions.

The representatives of E.C.O.E. stated that the purpose of E.C.O.E. is to "study, report on and actively pursue evangelistic work overseas; to support, as the way is clear, evangelistic work overseas which is directly consistent with the stated purposes of the Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship." The Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons, declaring that the tentative guidelines prepared by the executive secretary of the Board of World Missions, were unacceptable, affirmed three guidelines:

1. E.C.O.E. wants to make contributions to the work of world missions without being subject to equalization processes.
2. E.C.O.E. wants to support specific projects and specific personnel whose concept of evangelism agrees with that of the Presbyterian Evangelistic Fellowship.
3. E.C.O.E. wants to be assured that no funds contributed by it would be used for or through the National Council of Churches or the World Council of Churches.

The Board of World Missions, in official action, responded to the guidelines stated by the Rev. Jimmy L. Lyons as follows:

1. As for your first concern, the Board of World Missions has no power to set aside the rules of the General Assembly concerning equalization of operating funds. Since by General Assembly action, contributions of foundations and similar groups for capital or endowment projects, whether at home or overseas, are not now subject to equalization procedures, it is possible that the General Council and General Assembly will make a special ruling with respect to E.C.O.E., since it is an independent and separate corporation. Because E.C.O.E. intends to solicit for operating funds and intends to solicit Presbyterian sources, we urge that you discuss your desires and programs directly with the General Assembly.

2. As for your second concern, we see no difficulty. Support of specific projects and specific personnel in the Board's approved program has always been possible and is, indeed, encouraged. Many congregations and individuals participate in our church's overseas program in this way at the present time.

3. As for your third concern, we see no difficulty. Your selection of specific objects can be done with this in mind.

Following the meeting of the representatives of E.C.O.E. with the Board of World Missions, the chairman of E.C.O.E. expressed gratitude "for the very gracious reception and hearing you gave us."

A copy of the Board's response to E.C.O.E. was sent to the General Council which invited E.C.O.E. to meet with the executive committee of the General Council. One representative of E.C.O.E., the Rev. William E. Hill, Jr., met with the executive committee of the General Council at its November meeting.

The action of the General Council, communicated to the Board of World Missions, is as follows:

1. The General Assembly has designated the responsibility for determining the policy, selecting the personnel and implementing the program of our Church overseas to the Board of World Missions. The Board of World Missions, therefore, has the responsibility of setting policy as regards E.C.O.E. and the Board's relationship to it.

2. The present policy of our Church as regards benevolent giving operates from the policy of equalization as adopted by the General Assembly. In relation to the request of E.C.O.E. regarding equalization to the Board of World Missions, E.C.O.E. should be made aware that this equalization policy is in force until changed by action of the General Assembly.

In January 1971 there was apparent change in E.C.O.E.'s announced intentions. A news release distributed on January 13 stated E.C.O.E.'s intention to become a "sending agency," to "to develop a policy with respect to every aspect of recruiting fielding and undergirding missionary personnel." According to the news release, the E.C.O.E. criticized the Board of World Missions for "social, political (and) economic ventures not in accord with our Lord's mandate to evangelize the world."

The Board of World Missions, in its meeting on January 18-20 asked the chairman of the Board of World Missions to contact the chairman of E.C.O.E. to determine if the news release was accurate and to seek reasons for the apparent change. The reply of the chairman of E.C.O.E. made reference to the position of the General Council on equalization, to the policy of the Board on the Japan Church, and to threats to conservative missionaries by the Board's staff. The reply stated, "This called for a separate organization. At the same time we were receiving information from various churches that they could not support the Board's program stripped as it is by equalization. If these funds which were normally available were to be kept for this work overseas, some specific organization had to be formed."

Since the news release affirmed that funds for E.C.O.E. would come from "southern Presbyterian individuals and churches" the Board asked its executive committee to arrange a consultation with the executive committee of the General Council to discuss the implications for the life and benevolence program of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

The Board noted that its responsibility is to follow the mandate of the General Assembly given to the Board and that any action about E.C.O.E. is the responsibility of the General Assembly. The Board has been given by the General Assembly the mandate "to be an instrument of our Church in the fulfillment of her God-given mission to proclaim the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ to the ends of the earth." Acting under this mandate, the Board has under present appointment 409 missionaries in 11 countries. Half of the missionaries are assigned to evangelistic ministries (Church extension and Church development) and evangelical witness is the fundamental assignment of all missionaries.

2. The Council records its concern to the Assembly that the Church reaffirm the fact that the Board of World Missions has been given a mandate by the General Assembly to organize, direct, and promote the world mission program of our Church. We view E.C.O.E. as a direct challenge to this mandate of the General Assembly.

3. The official statements of E.C.O.E. make it clear that this independent mission activity will take place largely within our denomination. We remind the Assembly of the action of a previous General Assembly, which says, as follows:

"a. We reiterate the conviction inherent in the Presbyterian Church and constantly proclaimed by her, that the Kingdom of God is world-wide, that worthy activities therein are not confined to any denominational program, and that its progress is dependent on the multiplied efforts of all men who truly accept and love the Lord Jesus Christ and would follow Him and His call to service.

"b. Furthermore we are aware that there are outside our Church certain agencies for which we have a measure of responsibility, in that they are coordinating or administrative agencies for work in which many churches, including our own, are united. Our Church shares in the support of several such agencies.

"c. Under our General Assembly's plan of operation, even our own benevolent agencies are not free to make Churchwide appeals except at such seasons as may be assigned for them.

"d. We cannot look with approval upon a general circularization of our ministry with requests that their congregations be encouraged to give support, financial and otherwise, to outside agencies with which we have no affiliation and in which we have no responsibility or control. Particularly is this the case when, as has been true at times, such appeals carry a definitely implied questioning of the soundness and validity of the work done through our own agencies; and when the work for which appeal is made is one which parallels that of our own benevolent agencies.

"Therefore this General Assembly expresses its strong disapproval of unauthorized circularization of our ministers and churches by outside agencies, and particularly of appeals for financial support for work which parallels our own." (Minutes, 1941, p. 75.)

2. a. That the General Assembly reaffirm its action of 1941 (quoted above), and express to the Church at large that E.C.O.E.'s announced plans bring it under the disapproval expressed in the 1941 action.

b. That the General Assembly commend the members, missionaries and staff of the Board of World Missions for diligence in carrying out the mandate of the General Assembly to proclaim the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

3. That the General Assembly request ECOE to bring its policies and practices into conformity to the requisites of the standards of our church and to a proper respect for the prerogatives of our Board of World Missions, desisting from activities which are directly destructive of those interests which properly belong to our Board.

4. That the General Assembly concur with the General Council in viewing the method of operation of E.C.O.E. as a grave departure from the orderly processes of the church which are designed to protect its unity and its peace.

5. That the General Assembly declare to the missionaries and members of the church that the possible temporary gain for parts of the overseas mission that might be realized by money given through E.C.O.E., as it is presently operating, is far outweighed by the likelihood of grievous harm to the life and health of the church by solicitations or offers of support that are made in a divisive or irregular manner.

6. That Resolution 26 (see p. 72), Overtures 48, 66 and 68, from the Presbyteries of Potomac, New Orleans, and Atlanta, respectively (see pp. 41, 43 & 44), be answered by reference to the above actions.

During the debate, Rev. T. Watson Street, Executive Secretary, Board of World Missions, spoke to the above issue.

M. PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY

1. That the General Assembly receive the report of the Standing Committee on PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY and adopt its recommendations (see p. 265):

2. That this action be taken as the Assembly's response to Resolution 10 (see p. 64) and to General Council's Recommendations 6 and 21.

(Note: Recommendations 6 and 21 read as follows:—Stated Clerk.)

6. That the General Assembly take note that a Joint General Council-SURVEY Board Committee is working on the assignment for developing a plan for placing SURVEY in every home and on the exploration of the best means of disseminating news throughout the Church; that the General Council and the SURVEY Board of Directors be permitted to continue to study and seek to implement wider distribution of the official magazine of the General Assembly and greater dissemination of denominational and general religious news with a report to be further made to the 1972 General Assembly.

21. That the General Assembly take note that a Joint General Council-SURVEY Board Committee is working on the assignment for developing a plan for placing SURVEY in every home and on the exploration of the best means of disseminating news throughout the Church; that the General Council seek to implement wider distribution of the official magazine of the General Assembly and greater dissemination of denominational and general religious news; and that a further report be made to the 1972 General Assembly.)

N. World Hunger

1. That the General Assembly receive this report (see Appendix, p. 218) and adopt its eleven recommendations:

A continuing war on hunger and its root causes demands a continuing commitment and strategy of presbyteries, particular churches, and individual Christians. Therefore, we offer the following recommendations:

1. That the General Assembly reaffirm the necessity for sessions and presbyteries to maintain task forces on World Hunger (1) to identify local needs and work toward solutions, (2) to interpret overseas needs and cultivate support for solutions to these, and (3) to report to General Assembly's Task Force on World Hunger (341 Ponce de Leon Ave., N.E., Atlanta, Ga., 30308) for help and sharing of ideas.

2. That the General Assembly urge every Presbyterian family wherever possible to become personally acquainted and involved with a welfare recipient family.

3. That the General Assembly urge congregations to increase financial support of General Assembly's boards and agencies which include specific programs within their budgets to fight hunger and poverty, at home and abroad.

4. That the General Assembly urge individual Presbyterians also to support organizations and voluntary agencies which work toward better welfare programs, human development, and elimination of root causes of hunger.

5. That the General Assembly encourage study and appropriate support of needed reforms in domestic social welfare and foreign aid legislation.

6. That the General Assembly urge sessions to arrange for volunteer legal services to be made available to welfare recipients who need aid in securing adequate housing, food, and financial assistance; and to insure that present legislation is being implemented as intended by the legislators, such as the hot lunch program in schools.

7. That the population explosion being a major cause of hunger domestically and internationally, the General Assembly urge Presbyterians at home and abroad to practice responsible family planning; pastors to preach and counsel about this matter; couples contemplating marriage to consider limiting children to two; and if there be a desire for additional children, to adopt these.

8. That the General Assembly call upon young people to consider the vocational opportunities for new forms of Christian service at home and abroad in the disciplines of biochemistry, nutritional research, agriculture, community planning and development, conception control research, and similar areas.

9. That the General Assembly urge sessions to provide opportunities for congregations to experience the need and problem of hunger through "welfare meals" or other hunger education programs.
10. That the General Assembly urge sessions to provide facilities and leadership, in consultation with appropriate local agencies, for hot breakfast programs, day-care centers for children of working mothers, home demonstration and home management classes, summer recreational programs including hot lunches for disadvantaged children, literacy and other tutorial programs, delivery of hot meals to senior citizens, and similar activities.
11. That in view of the nutritional needs of the poor in the United States, the General Assembly encourage presbytery Task Forces on World Hunger to explore with food processors in their area the improvement of the nutritional quality of their low-cost items.

2. That the General Assembly hear for five minutes the Rev. James A. Cogswell, the new Director of the Task Force on World Hunger.

Rev. Mr. Cogswell addressed the Assembly.

O. Equalization

1. That Overture 49 from the Presbytery of Congaree (see p. 42) be answered by reference to action on Recommendation 10 (see p. 161).
2. That Overture 50 from the Presbytery of Congaree (see p. 42) be answered by referring it to the General Council, in view of the restudy of the benevolence program currently under way, which invites opinions and assistance from church members; and that the Presbytery of Congaree and all other interested parties be reminded that the equalization system is not the only system of giving for the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and that all funds received by the central treasurer are disbursed exactly as designated by the donor, all funds not otherwise designated being assumed to be designated for the total program of the church according to the needs of the budget.
3. That Resolution 3 (see p. 60) be answered (paragraph 1) calling attention to the Celebration of Evangelism in September and the Presbyterian Convention in October; (paragraph 2) by reference to action on Overture 50 above; (paragraph 3) by referring to the General Council.

P. Restructuring Boards and Agencies

1. That the General Assembly receive as information the progress report of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Boards and Agencies (see Appendix, p. 321) with the understanding that the Committee will report to the 1972 Assembly.
2. That Overture 46 from the Presbytery of the Everglades (see p. 41) be answered in the negative in view of the study of restructuring by the Ad Interim Committee.

Q. Evangelism

1. That in answer to Resolution 25 (see p. 72) the General Assembly call the entire church to renewed emphasis on evangelism, and request the Board of National Ministries to establish a Council on Evangelism and Lay Renewal, with at least one member from each synod, for a three-year period; and that this evangelism emphasize regeneration by the Holy Spirit and the saving grace of God toward sinners through Jesus Christ the Redeemer.

R. Ministry

1. That Overture 61 from the Presbytery of Holston (see p. 42) be amended to include the Board of World Missions among the agencies to be represented in the Ad Interim Committee (numbered paragraph 2), and answered in the affirmative.
2. That Overture 69 from the Presbytery of Atlanta (see p. 44) be answered by reference to the above.

S. Publications

1. That Overture 47 from the Presbytery of Asheville (see p. 41) be answered as follows: that the Presbytery of Asheville be advised that the name of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., has been removed from Colloquy effective with the June 1971 issue; and that the General Assembly request all boards and agencies to list in their annual reports to the Assembly any magazine or periodical published jointly with any other denomination which carries by direct or indirect implication any indication that same is approved by the General Assembly.

T. Joint Work

1. That Overture 73 from the Presbytery of Enoree (see p. 45) be answered in the negative on the grounds of recent actions by the General Assembly encouraging cooperation with other denominations.

All ministers of the presbyteries of the synod shall be members of synod.

(2) When a synod meets each presbytery shall be represented by commissioners chosen by the Presbytery. "No vote shall be taken by a Presbytery on any issue sent to such Presbytery by the General Assembly for advice and consent under this chapter unless at least ten days' notice has been given in writing to each Teaching Elder enrolled in the Presbytery and to the Clerk of Session of each church in the Presbytery. Such notice should state the issue to be presented for advice and consent and the time and place of such Presbytery meeting."

5. That the proposed new Chapter 20 of the Directory for Worship not be enacted. (See Appendix, p. 321)

2. That Overtures 2, 3 and 4 from the Presbyteries of August-Macon, Everglades and Savannah respectively (see p. 48) and Late 1970 Overture C (see p. 35) concerning church property be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommended to the 1970 General Assembly that the subjects of "Incorporation and Property of a Particular Church" be referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission for study and the making of recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly relative to revision of Chapter 6, Form of Government. In addition, overtures C from Memphis Presbytery, 2 from Augusta-Macon, 3 from the Everglades, and 4 from Savannah Presbytery ask the General Assembly to amend or interpret the Book of Church Order with respect to property of a particular church.

The Permanent Judicial Commission has laboriously reviewed the Book of Church Order as presently revised, the historic roots from which it grew, the origin and formation of the Church, the structure and life of the Church, the doctrine of the Church, and its tradition.

The Permanent Judicial Commission believes that a general revision of Chapter 6 of the Book of Church Order is not merited at this time. It believes that the provisions of Chapter 6 are sufficiently clear to respond to the questions of ownership of property which are presented by the above overtures.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the General Assembly adopt the following statement with respect to these overtures:

The following declaratory statement was adopted by the General Assembly in 1953 (Minutes, 1953, pp. 42, 143) after a study and recommendation of a committee appointed for the purpose of studying the question and reporting back with a recommendation for amendment to the Book of Church Order, if found necessary.

"The beneficial ownership of the property of a particular church of the Presbyterian Church in the United States is in the congregation of such church and title may properly be held in any form, corporate or otherwise, consistent with the provisions of civil law in the jurisdiction in which such property is situated. The congregation, with respect to such property, may properly exercise any privilege of ownership possessed by property owners in such jurisdiction. In every instance nothing in the manner of tenure of such property or the use thereof shall be in violation of the obligation of such congregation to the body of the Presbyterian Church in the United States as established by the Constitution of such Church. (Emphasis added.)

"Disposition of the property of a particular church rests in the will of the congregation of that church. The congregation is that body of persons recognized as members of that particular church by the respective courts of the Church." (Assembly's Digest, p. 76) (Emphasis added.)

In 1967 the Presbytery of Potomac overtured the General Assembly to make clear the Presbyterian Church, U.S. position regarding the ownership of church property. The General Assembly reaffirmed its 1953 statement and responded: "The Book of Church Order, when supplemented by the declaratory statement of the General Assembly of 1953, is sufficiently clear. (Minutes, 1967, p. 127).

The Book of Church Order provides that Presbytery has the authority to receive and dismiss churches. Appellate procedure is outlined in Chapter 14 of the Form of Government and Part V of the Rules of Discipline.

It should be pointed out that Section 4-1(2) provides that upon organization, the members of the congregation of a Presbyterian church shall enter into a covenant and with uplifted hand ". . . solemnly promise and covenant that they will walk together as an organized church, on the principles of faith and order of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, ..." (Emphasis added.)

All persons who subsequently enroll themselves as communing members on profession of faith of the particular church must first agree to submit themselves to the government and discipline of the Church. (Section 210-5(5), Directory for the Worship and Work of the Church.)

Ministers and other officers before ordination approve the government and discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and promise subjection to their brethren in the Lord. (Form of Government, Sections 29-3, 27-6.)

When any Minister, other officer or communing member feels that he can no longer in good conscience remain a part of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the Book of Church Order provides an honorable and orderly procedure for separating himself from it. (Rules of Discipline, Chapter 11.)

Section 14-5 of the Book of Church Order sets forth the sphere of action of each Church court and their interrelations to each other: "These courts are not separate and independent tribunals. They have a mutual relation, and every act of jurisdiction is the act of the whole Church performed by it through the appropriate Church court."

Section 16-7 of the Book of Church Order provides that Presbytery has the power to receive, dismiss, ordain, install, remove and judge ministers, to review the records of the Sessions, redress whatever they may have done contrary to order, and take effectual care that they observe the Constitution of the Church. The Presbytery further has the power to establish the pastoral relation and to dissolve it at the request of one or both of the parties or where the interest of religion imperatively demands it and, further, the Presbytery has the power and authority to see that the lawful injunctions of the higher courts are obeyed, to condemn erroneous opinions which injure the purity or peace of the church, to visit churches for the purpose of inquiring into and redressing evils that may have arisen in them, to unite or divide churches at the request of the members, to form and receive new churches, to dissolve churches and in general to order whatever pertains to the spiritual welfare of the churches under its care. Further, the Presbytery has the power and authority to appoint commissioners to the General Assembly of the Church and to propose to the Synod or to the General Assembly such measures as may be of common advantage to the whole Church.

It takes more than a name to become a Presbyterian Church, U.S. It takes more than to profess the same faith as the Presbyterian Church, U.S. professes to become a Presbyterian Church, U.S. It takes a profession of that faith and subjection to the government of that Church to make a Presbyterian Church, U.S.

A Presbyterian congregation, with its officers, pastor, elders and deacons, is a complete organization in itself, but it is not independent. (Preface to the Form of Government, III, 1, 5.) It is a part of an extended whole, living under the same ecclesiastical constitution, and therefore subject to the inspection and control of the Presbytery, whose business is to see that the standards of doctrine and rules of discipline are adhered to by the particular churches under its care. It is the court of review and control, over all the sessions of the particular churches within its bounds. To the Presbytery are superadded the higher judicatories of Synods and General Assemblies, as the means of preserving the standards of doctrine and discipline on a more extended territorial scale.

Such has been the organization of the Presbyterian Church in Scotland, from the time of John Knox to this date, and has been substantially followed by the Presbyterian Church in England and the United States.

The foregoing represents the Presbyterian Church, U.S. position on church property. This position is subject, however, to the civil laws of the State where the property is situated. Generally, however, the civil courts concluded that a congregation belonging to a religious denomination and subject to the constitution, faith and doctrines thereof, cannot use its property for a purpose which violates the relationship of the congregation to the denomination.

3. That Late 1970 Overture A from Washburn Presbytery (see p. 35) concerning the meaning of "inactive membership" be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends, as amended:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends this overture be answered as follows:

a. An inactive member is not an ex-communicated or suspended member but remains the active redemptive concern of the Session of the Church in which his name appears on the inactive roll. (BCO 8-7, -8, -9.)

b. While the Rules of Discipline 211-7 specifies that the Minister should "invite to partake of the Sacrament all those who are communicants in good standing in some Christian church" it goes on further to say in two subsequent clauses "who trust in the Lord Jesus Christ and repent of their sins, and who would covenant afresh to live as followers of Christ."

c. If a member whose name is on the inactive roll of the Church presents himself at the Lord's Table in response to the invitation as stated in Directory for Worship 211-7, it should be regarded as evidence of renewed interest and spiritual concern. The Minister and Session should pursue all avenues to encourage and enlarge this renewal. BCO 8-11 provides that "If a member whose name is on the inactive roll shall resume participation in the ordinances of his church, the Session shall act to restore his name to the active roll."

d. The same principle should apply when parents who are on the inactive roll request the sacrament of baptism for their children.

e. In view of BCO 8-8, -9, -11, the members on the inactive roll should not be denied pastoral oversight. The obligation of the Church to these people is to redeem them to Christian life and activity as much or even more than to those not previously committed to the Church, since they once were quickened in their spiritual concern, and now, possibly through the Church's neglect or other failure are inactive.

f. The following should be noted:

(1) The Session has a responsibility for care and oversight of all members on both its active and inactive rolls.

(2) The "ordinances" of the Church include more than the Sacraments (BCO 3-5).

(3) Book of Church Order Sections 8-9, 8-10, 8-11 and 8-12 are administrative provisions and are not disciplinary provisions.

4. That Overture 5 from the Presbytery of Brazos (see p. 48) concerning inactive members be answered in the negative as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the negative for the following reason:

To do this would open the way for a Session to act hastily and without proper consideration of its responsibility to take pastoral concern for delinquent members, or for members who move beyond the jurisdiction of a particular church and into that of another. Sessions should be reminded of their responsibility to review the inactive roll annually (BCO 8-8) but more particularly of its responsibility to notify churches into whose jurisdiction a member may have moved, and to notify such a member of his duty to arrange a transfer (BCO 8-10).

5. That Overtures 6-9 from the Presbyteries of Potomac, Northeast Texas and Hanover respectively (see pp. 48-49), late 1970 Overture D from Presbytery of Everglades (see p. 35), the referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 109), Resolution 10 from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 62) which was brought to our attention by Communication 14 (see p. 33.), all of which concern representation by Ruling Elders in Presbytery and Synod, be answered in part, as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends, as amended:

a. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for their advice and consent an amendment to Section 16-1 of the Form of Government which would replace third sentence thereof with the following: "A church whose communicants exceed 750 shall be represented by two Ruling Elders and shall be entitled to one more Ruling Elder for each additional 750 communicants."

b. That the overtures from the Presbyteries of Potomac, Hanover and Northeast Texas be answered by the General Assembly's instructing the Stated Clerk to obtain from the Stated Clerks of the Presbyteries the statistical information as to the imbalance between the numbers of Ministers and Ruling Elders having the right to attend Presbytery using the present basis of representation, 1500, and the proposed basis, 750, and the actual experience of imbalance in the Presbytery at meetings of Presbytery during the preceding twelve months. On receipt of such information from the Stated Clerk, the Permanent Judicial Commission is instructed to study the matter further and make recommendations to a future meeting of the General Assembly in order to correct any imbalance on the basis of membership.

c. Late Overture D, from the Presbytery of the Everglades, be answered in the negative since an affirmative answer would be departing from Presbyterian polity by allowing a Presbytery to designate its membership. However, a Presbytery in its Standing Rules may permit the naming of a Ruling Elder who has been selected as an officer or committee chairman to be an advisory member of the court.

d. It is noted that an amendment to Section 17-1 providing for a system of optional establishment by Synods of delegates from Presbyteries as its constituency was sent down to the Presbyteries for advice and consent by the General Assembly of 1970 (Minutes, 1970, p. 109), which amendment, if adopted, would afford a means of achieving the purposes of Overture 8 with respect to meetings of Synod.

6. That Overtures 10a and 10b from the Presbytery of Columbia (see p. 49) requesting that Synods be abolished, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends, as amended:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the negative with the following statement:

a. The jurisdiction of Synods is of such magnitude and is so related to the jurisdictions of Presbyteries and the General Assembly to make it impractical at this time to abolish Synods.

Such action would substantially increase the jurisdiction of the General Assembly and enlarge its work, already difficult to handle in a single annual session. To do so likely would raise legal problems with respect to church property presently held under wills and trusts, and property to which Synods may subsequently become entitled to receive under wills and trusts drawn in advance of Synods being abolished. To do so would give the Presbyterian Church in the United States a structure which would not parallel that of most Reformed denominations. It does not appear that the existence of a Synod unduly restricts a Presbytery "to order whatever pertains to the spiritual welfare of the churches under its care" (B.C.O. 16-7(17)).

b. If the General Assembly desires to abolish Synods by amendments of the Book of Church Order, there appears to be nothing in the Confession of Faith or the history of the Presbyterian Church in the United States which makes Synods essential.

c. If Synods are to be abolished, a very careful revision of the constitution will be required, and this should be undertaken only after careful study at each level of Church courts.

d. The advantages in administration likely to result from abolishing Synods would not appear to equal the difficulties and complications which also would result.

7. That Resolution 8 from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 94, 102-103) dealing with requested changes in the Book of Church Order to make Youth Delegates to succeeding General Assemblies part of the Book of Church Order be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission:

The Permanent Judicial Commission advises the 1971 General Assembly, after a further study of the referral, that no change in the Book of Church Order is necessary to accomplish the purposes of Resolution 8 for the following reasons:

a. The General Assembly amended the Standing Rules of the General Assembly and they remain unchanged until amended or suspended by the General Assembly. (Standing Rule 15.1; Minutes, 1970, p. 103.)

b. The General Assembly has the power to establish rules for the government, discipline, worship and extension of the Church, and possesses whatever administrative authority is necessary to give effect to these powers. (BCO, 14-3(3), 14-3(5).)

8. That Overture 11 from the Presbytery of Central Mississippi (see p. 50), concerning Youth Delegates to the General Assembly, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends as amended:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the overture be answered as follows:

a. The question of constitutional change is dealt with in the reply of the Permanent Judicial Commission to the referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 94, 102, 103). (see Item 7 above.)

b. Concerns of youth can be more effectively heard before the General Assembly if they can be present to speak and work (Standing Rules 12.8, 12.8(2)).

c. The question of a vote in Standing Committees is a matter to be determined through Standing Rules and not through constitutional change.

d. Election of Youth Delegates is permissive for each Presbytery, and the matter of how expenses are to be paid is to be determined by the Standing Rules of the General Assembly or as a matter of budget.

9. That Late 1970 Overture ■ from the Presbytery of Wilmington (see p. 35) asking for a restoration of the power of General Assembly to restructure Synods by adding "with the advice and consent of the Synods involved" to BCO 18-6(9) be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture from the Presbytery of Wilmington be answered with following statements:

a. To require the advice and consent of Synods in making boundary changes would be contrary to action taken by the 1970 General Assembly which specifically gave to the General Assembly the power to change Synod boundaries without such advice and consent (Minutes, 1970, page 132-3; Item 10 of this 1971 Report.)

b. To approve the proposed amendment would open the way for requesting that the same restrictions be applied to Synods with respect to Presbytery boundaries and even to Presbyteries with respect to its powers in organizing new churches or in relocating existing churches.

c. To approve the amendment would be in conflict with proposals by the Ad Interim Committee on Restructure of Synods currently being considered by the General Assembly.

10. Minority Report

Item 10 responding to Overtures 12 and 13

We recommend that Overtures 12 and 13 from the Synod of Mississippi and Congaree Presbytery concerning the changing of presbytery lines by the General Assembly be answered with the recommendations of the Permanent Judicial Commission as found in the Appendix, p. 192, Item #10.

John M. Purcell et al

During debate on Item III. 10, a Point of Order was raised re the constitutionality of whether the General Assembly “does or does not have power to divide presbyteries.” It was referred to the Constitutional Committee for its action and report to this Assembly through the Moderator, (see p. 184.)

11.A. That Overtures 14, 15, and 17 from the Presbyteries of Greenbrier, Winchester and Charleston, respectively (see pp. 51-52), concerning non-pastoral work of Ministers, be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that each of these overtures be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

A Study on the Function of the Minister as defined in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 10, was made by the Permanent Theological Committee and approved by the General Assembly of 1968. This Study makes the point, among others, that “. . . our standards in principle recognize a diversity of ministries. They allow that the ministry of the word may itself be carried on in a great variety of ways.” This study makes the further point that, “It would seem here that it is the task of the Presbyteries to exercise supervision over all ministries under their jurisdiction—pastors and others alike—to determine if the work that each is engaged in can properly be regarded as a ministry of the word and, further, if that work is faithfully being performed as a ministry of the Church.” (Minutes, 1968, p. 180. See also p. 176).

Service by ministers of a non-pastoral nature is contemplated and authorized. (BCO, 10-3, 107.)

Thus, the procedure for calling a minister to such work is delineated in the Book of Church Order; the call must be “appropriate to the service” and would thus adequately define his duties. (BCO 26-8; see also BCO 23-5.) He would ordinarily hold membership in the Presbytery where the work is located. (BCO, 16-2.) Also, provision is made for the method of approval of a minister accepting work other than of a pastoral relationship. ((BCO, 21-2(2)). Moreover, the Presbytery’s Commission on the Minister and His Work must report annually the type of work in which each minister of the Presbytery is engaged. (BCO, 21-2(1).)

There is also provision for a situation in which a minister desires to accept work not under the jurisdiction of any Church Court. (BCO, 26-9; 16-2.) His Presbytery must determine the nature of the work as proper to the ministry of the Gospel and serves the best interest of the Gospel. (BCO, 26-9.) Moreover, an annual report is required with respect to this work as well. (BCO. 21-2(1).)

The Commission notes that in 1965, Overture No. 22 from the Presbytery of Hanover, suggested the appointment of a committee to study and report an outline of the doctrine of the ministry “as it pertains to unusual kinds of work, work which is ordinarily all ‘secular’, and work not under the jurisdiction of the ordained minister; and to propose a new section on the subject for Chapter 10 of the Book of Church Order if one is deemed desirable.” This overture was answered in the negative “for the reason that this involves details which are not appropriate for inclusion in the Book of Church Order, and it should be left to individual Presbyteries to handle.”

The Commission recommends further that this position be affirmed at this time.

The Commission recommends also that the General Assembly urge all Presbyteries, Synods, and executors of institutions of the Church courts to observe and carry out diligently all relevant provisions of the Form of Government with respect to the matter of ministers engaged in non-pastoral service.

11.B. That Overture 16 from Washburn Presbytery (see p. 52) asking for a study of the bases and implications of ordination to the ministry with particular reference to extra-ecclesiastical work and to the continuing jurisdiction of Presbytery over this work, be answered by referring it to the Permanent Theological Committee.

12. That Overture 18 from the Presbytery of South Texas (see p. 52) requesting a clarification statement from the Permanent Theological Committee as to the ordination vows required by the Book of Church Order, be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered by the following statement:

a. While the overture requests an interpretation by the Theological Committee, the Book of Church Order requires the Stated Clerk to refer to the Permanent Judicial Commission all overtures requiring an interpretation of the Book of Church Order (BCO 20-2).

b. The 1970 General Assembly instructed its Permanent Theological Committee to bring to the next General Assembly "(1) an interpretation of our Church's understanding of 'doctrinal loyalty' in light of the ordination question which describes 'Confession of Faith and the Catechisms of this Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures. . . .'" and (2) an interpretation of the meaning of loyalty to the 'authority of Scripture as the only rule of faith and life.'" (See Minutes, 1970, p. 101).

c. There appears to be no lack of clarity in the meaning of the words as presently contained.

d. The questions sought to be clarified must be read together with other questions in the respective vows of ordination. ((See especially BCO, 29-3(7) and 27-6(7).))

e. The General Assembly in 1898 and 1934 has answered this matter, at least in part, when defining the meaning of the phrase "system of doctrine" and the phrase "the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures," by saying the words "system of doctrine" as applied to the whole body of truth contained in the Confession of Faith is not ambiguous, but sufficiently definite and plain and declined further definition (See Assembly's Digest, p. 213 and Minutes, 1898, p. 223), and by saying the use of the words "the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scripture" as used in our ordination vows, means a candidate for ordination, when receiving and adopting the Confession of Faith and the Catechism of the Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scripture, does not affirm that each doctrine of the Confession is an integral part of that system, or an essential doctrine of the Scripture. The General Assembly cannot set forth "the fundamentals of this system of doctrine" as required in the ordination vow. It can, of course, declare what it conceives to be the fundamentals of this system. But it cannot determine abstractly, apart from regular judicial process, how the presbytery, which under our Constitution is charged with the duty of ordaining candidates, is to interpret this requirement in the regular discharge of its own functions. To attempt to do so would be in effect to amend the Constitution by extra-constitutional methods (See Assembly's Digest pp. 213-214 and Minutes, 1934, p. 32.)

f. The Ad Interim Committee on a New Confession of Faith Together with a Book of Confessions is still at work and is to report of its progress to the 1971 General Assembly (see Minutes, 1970, pp. 81, 201.)

g. Reference to apparent lack of corresponding vows of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America raises no new problem. The Presbyterian Church in the United States will, in a constitutional and orderly manner, resolve these and many other questions of a similar nature if union is effected at some future date. A draft of a Plan of Union is being recommended for study to the 1971 General Assembly. (See Minutes, 1970, p. 84.)

13. That the referral from the 1970 General Assembly, Overture 7 of that year (Minutes, 1970, pp. 109, 49) and Overture 19 from the Presbytery of Columbia (see p. 53) concerning "unit voting" by Presbyteries be answered by the reply of the Permanent Judicial Commission, as amended:

The 1970 General Assembly directed the Commission to clarify whether "Unit Voting" will actually result in confusion, complications and administrative difficulties, as was reported by the Commission (Minutes 1970, pp. 160-61, 109) and to provide constitutionally acceptable language to effect the change.

1. The Commission believes that the proposed change in the method of voting on matters amending the Constitution and effecting Church Unions would be confusing, complicated, and administratively difficult for the following reasons:

1. The Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, in arriving at the vote-units in the proposed plan, will have to translate the actual votes of the members of the Presbyteries to vote-units. This means that in matters amending the Constitution or effecting Church Unions the Clerk will be dealing with approximately 960 vote-units instead of the present 73 Presbytery votes. For example: Presbytery X with 14,760 communicants, plus minister members, presently reports its action on these measures as one vote, either for or against. Under the so-called "vote-unit" procedure, the Presbytery would report the actual vote of its members to the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly. The Clerk would then calculate the vote-units of the Presbytery, which in the case of Presbytery X cited above would be 15 vote-units. Let us say that there are 81 members of the Presbytery eligible to vote at a particular meeting of the Presbytery and that the recorded votes are 75-6 for one proposition, 55-18 for another, 35-43 against another, and so on. Under the "vote-unit" procedure the Clerk will calculate that there are 15 vote-units for the Presbytery and that in the first instance there is one vote-unit for each 5.4 votes cast, based on 81 votes cast, so that the vote in the first case will figure out as 13.88 for and 1.12 against the proposition. Using the vote-unit procedure the Clerk would record the vote as 14 for and 1 against the proposition, since a fraction of a vote-unit will be credited to the majority side. For each vote taken on a proposed change to the Constitution the Clerk would have to go through this same mathematical procedure for each of the 73 Presbyteries. It is transparently clear that this procedure is in fact more complicated, more confusing, and more susceptible to administrative error than the simple method now provided for in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30.

2. The "vote-unit" procedure is, in reality a misnomer. The Presbyteries now vote as a unit and the new proposition would be more accurately called a "split-vote" or "proportionate-vote" procedure.

3. The vote-unit procedure inculcates a different philosophy of Church order from that set forth in our Book of Church Order. The Preface to The Form of Government, III. 1. states, "The Presbyterian form of Church government is government by Presbyters or Elders, gathered in courts . . ." The same Preface, III.5, continues, "Ecclesiastical jurisdiction is a joint power, to be exercised by Presbyters in courts, and cannot be exercised by Presbyters as individuals." The Book of Church Order, 1-4, states, "Church power . . . is exercised by Church officers individually, as in preaching the Gospel, administering the Sacraments, reproofing the erring, visiting the sick, and comforting the afflicted, and is called the Power of Order. It is exercised by the Elders jointly, in Church courts, in the form of judgment or administration, and is called the Power of Jurisdiction." (Italics supplied.) (See also BCO, 13-1.)

The proposal erodes the Presbyterian philosophy because under its provision members of the court exercise the church power individually whereas it is in matters of judgment or administration to be exercised "jointly, in church courts." This power is properly exercised by a Presbytery as a court of the Church. Under the present voting procedure, moreover, there operates a system of checks and balances since a small Presbytery has one vote and a large Presbytery also has one vote. The proposition appears to gravitate toward a pure democracy concept instead of our historic Presbyterian representative government.

II. As instructed by the 1970 General Assembly the Commission reports that the following language when added to the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30, would be sufficient and appropriate to accomplish the intended purpose:

Amend Section 30-1(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through a majority of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Amend Section 30-2(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Amend Section 30-3(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Add a new Section 30-6 to read, "The Presbytery shall report to the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly the number of votes of members of the Presbytery cast for and against the proposition. The Stated Clerk of the General Assembly shall calculate the vote-units of each Presbytery on the basis of one vote-unit for each 1,000 active communing members or major fraction thereof. The number of active communing members shall be that of the last statistical report published by the General Assembly preceding the vote. The Presbytery's vote-units shall be divided in proportion to the votes cast by members of the Presbytery present and voting. When the division of Presbytery's vote-units produces a fraction of a vote-unit, that vote-unit shall be credited to the majority side."

In summary, regarding all the above, the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that no change be made in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30.

14. That Overture 20 from the Synod of Appalachia (see p. 53) asking that only the Presbyterian, U.S. "factor" of the vote from union presbyteries on matters relative to union be considered, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered with the following statements:

1. The 1969 General Assembly adopted Chapter 32 of the Book of Church Order, which provides that "The churches of a union presbytery shall be considered union churches belonging to each denomination" (32-2(5)), and "Ministers of the union presbytery shall be full and responsible members of each denomination (32-2(6)). There is in union presbyteries no "Presbyterian Church in the United States Factor" after union has taken place.

2. In 1967 it was pointed out to the General Assembly that "What is asked is, in baldest terms, that the General Assembly delegate to lower courts by constitutional amendment a power that has heretofore been its most jealously guarded power. . . . An amendment of this type involves issues that go far beyond the mere mechanics of polity. . . . It involves a shift of power and a fundamental change in procedures that would leave in question the effect on some presently well-defined and efficiently executed responsibilities on the Assembly level. There are pragmatic considerations that ought to be explored in depth before new structural arrangements are made." (Minutes, 1967, p. 234.)

It was pointed out prior to the adoption of Chapter 32, BCO, that "Churches would also be 'members' of two, or three, denominations, on half- or third-scale, with exemptions and special privileges that would not apply to their brethren who were non-union." (Minutes, 1967, p. 237.)

The Commission, however, recommended that if the General Assembly wanted to make this change it could do so by drawing up a uniform plan with other Committees of the UPUSA Assembly and the RCA General Synod.

The General Assembly did adopt Chapter 32 as submitted by a Committee that provided a uniform plan worked out with the UPUSA and RCA Committees. It is to be assumed that the General Assembly, having had all this pointed out, did not intend for UPUSA churches or ministers that might come into a union presbytery to be deprived of any rights which other churches and ministers enjoy and even to have special privileges in some cases. To change the rule now would be grossly unfair to those who have already entered into union presbyteries.

15. That Overture 21 from the Presbytery of St. Johns (see p. 53), asking the Assembly (1) to define the phrase "Other Reformed bodies" and (2) to answer the question, "Is the United Church of Christ a Reformed body?" be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the following statements:

In 1968 the Presbytery of Brazos asked the Assembly to establish an agreement with the United Church of Christ for "union" churches. This was answered by referring to the negative answer given the Presbytery of Louisville which had asked the Assembly to approve in principle the uniting of its particular congregations with other evangelical congregations not specifically of the Reformed System (Minutes, 1968, p. 33, 118).

In 1970 the Presbytery of Winston-Salem asked for clarification of the meaning of "a particular church of another Reformed body" (Minutes, 1970, p. 55). The Assembly answered this overture by adopting the recommendation of the Permanent Judicial Commission, as follows:

"The term 'another Reformed body' is not defined in the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and is not susceptible to precise definition outside of said Constitution. The history of Chapter 31 suggests that it was never meant for Presbyteries to have powers greater than the General Assembly in effecting union with other church bodies. Book of Church Order, Sections 18-6 (13) and (17) limit the General Assembly's powers in matter of union to 'other ecclesiastical bodies whose organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church.'

"Therefore, a particular church of the Presbyterian Church in the United States may unite with another Reformed body under the provision of the Book of Church Order, Chapter 31, when said Reformed body's 'organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church' (BCO, 18-6 (17)).

"This union is to be done with the approval of the Presbytery of which said particular church is a member. (BCO, 31-1). Chapter 31 of the Book of Church Order places the responsibility for approval of said union upon the Presbytery of the particular Church.

"In granting approval of the union, Presbytery must determine if the other Reformed body in question is an 'ecclesiastical body whose organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church.' Such determination by a Presbytery is subject to appellate jurisdiction." (BCO, 18-6(1), (6), 17-5 (1), (3), 114-1.). (Minutes, 1970, p. 113).

16. That Overture 22 from the Presbytery of Norfolk (see p. 53) concerning federated churches, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends, as amended:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons given to the 110th General Assembly:

1. Such proposed changes involve a radical departure from our present Constitution. A proper implementation of these proposed changes would require substantial amendments:

(a) To many sections of The Form of Government including: The Preface, Chapters on Incorporation and Property of Particular churches (Ch. 6), Jurisdiction over Church Members (Ch. 8), Nature of Church Office (Ch. 9), The Minister of the Word (Ch. 10), Doctrine of Church Courts (Part IV), Doctrine of Church Orders (Part V).

(b) To many sections of The Rules of Discipline.

(c) To provisions in The Directory for the Worship and Work of the Church for the administration of the Sacraments.

(d) And other possible changes; but that the Board of National Ministries be instructed to work with the presbyteries to devise a variety of ways in which Presbyterians may participate in ecumenically oriented church development or in relating existing Presbyterian churches pragmatically with churches of other denominations.

17. That the referral from the 1970 General Assembly of Resolution 12 of that Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 116); and Overtures 23-27 from the Presbyteries of Brazos, Louisville-Union, and Central Texas-Union, respectively, (see pp. 53-55) and from members of the Presbytery of Nashville and from the Youngblood Church of Waco, Texas concerning union churches and union Presbyteries, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that these items raising questions about Chapter 31 and 32 of the Book of Church Order be answered as follows:

The referral asks that churches that become union churches because the Presbytery to which they belonged became a union Presbytery, be allowed to withdraw by proper procedure and become a member of a new Synod set up for this purpose.

Overture 23 asks for an interpretation of Section 31-2(2) to see if it infringes upon authority granted by Section 16-7(9) and, if so, to provide a constitutional amendment to remedy the situation.

Overture 24 states that in union Presbyteries there may be conflicting mandatory provisions, regarding real property transactions between the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and U.P.U.S.A. constitutions and asks if such conflict does exist that it be resolved by authoritative interpretation or by constitutional amendment.

Overtures 25 and 27 ask that Section 32-2(4) be amended to allow ministers and churches in a union Presbytery, who do not want membership, to transfer to a non-union Presbytery.

Overture 26 asks Chapter 31 be amended to allow a union church which became union by virtue of being in a union Presbytery to again become a non-union church should it become a member of a non-union Presbytery.

In 1967 it was pointed out to the General Assembly that "no church in a United Presbytery or Synod would have the privilege granted under Section 31-2 (old BCO Section prior to 1969 Amendment) of "ceasing to operate" as a union church. They would be irrevocably united as long as the Presbytery was a union Presbytery. . . ." and "no provision is made in the proposed amendment for exemption from union of those congregations which may not want it." (Minutes 1967, p. 237).

These provisions are now being asked for by the above overtures and, if changes are to be made, uniform provisions need to be enacted by the UPUSA Church and the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Therefore, it is recommended that the matters raised in these overtures be referred to the Stated Clerks of the General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to consult, work out and draft acceptable amendments to the Book of Church Order, Chapters 31, 32 and other chapters, where needed.

18. That Overture 28 from the Presbytery of Ozarks-Union (see p. 56) asking the General Assembly to resolve the conflict presented when a Ruling Elder on the session of a church in a union Presbytery desires to renounce the authority and jurisdiction (but not the communion) of one of the two denominations of which the particular church and Presbytery are members, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered with the following statement:

It is not possible to renounce the authority and jurisdiction of the Church without renouncing the communion. (Chapter 11 of the Rules of Discipline). A member of a union church or union Presbytery is a member of both denominations.

The matter of clarification of the different ordination vows required by the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. constitution is now being studied by the Stated Clerks of the two General Assemblies in an effort to work out some agreement. (Minutes, 1970, p. 114.)

19. That Overture 29 from the Presbytery of the Everglades (see p. 56) asking that Chapter 32, Book of Church Order, be deleted, be answered in the negative as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

1. Though some clarification is needed for Chapter 32 BCO, the proper remedy is necessary amendment, not deletion of the entire chapter.

2. The matter of constitutionality of the adoption of Chapter 32 has been settled by the General Assembly, the court of highest authority in the P.C.U.S. (Minutes, 1968, p. 118). BCO 18-6(3) gives the General Assembly the power to decide finally in all controversies brought before it respecting doctrine, order and discipline.

3. The Constitution of the Church should not be easily or hastily changed. It took several years to work out Chapter 32 and it has only been in operation one year. For the sake of good order those Presbyteries which have entered into union under Chapter 32 should have a chance to make it work.

20. That Overture 30 from the Presbytery of Savannah (see p. 56) concerning a congregation withdrawing, be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the following response:

There is no constitutional right provided for a congregation to withdraw from its relationship to the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The churches in question having taken an action in violation of the constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States can be deemed no longer to exist as Presbyterian churches in relation to this denomination and therefore need no longer be carried on the rolls of Presbytery.

21. That a Communication from the Synod of Louisiana (see p. 198) enclosing a communication from the Board of Trustees of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary to that Synod regarding worship in the seminary community, which was referred by the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly to the Permanent Judicial Commission, be answered by the opinion of the Permanent Judicial Commission:

A communication from the Synod of Louisiana, enclosing a communication from the Board of Trustees of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary to that Synod regarding worship in the seminary community, was referred by the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly to the Permanent Judicial Commission.

On examining the document, the Permanent Judicial Commission is of the opinion that it is not properly an overture to the General Assembly, that the original communication from the Seminary to its supporting Synod was intended to be responded to by the Synod, and that the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly should so inform the Synod.

22. That the proposed amendment to Section 20-1 in the report of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries, Item 22, Report of the Permanent Judicial Commission (see Appendix, p. 198), be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission including sending it to the Presbyteries for their advice and consent. Only for the sake of clarification it should be noted that the proposed change is to delete one sentence in the present BCO 20-1, the first, and replace it by two—"The General Assembly shall elect a Permanent Judicial Commission composed of six ministers and six ruling elders. To the extent permitted by the number of synods, from time to time established by the General Assembly, at least one member shall reside in each synod, and membership shall be equitably apportioned among the synods", so that the entire section shall now read:

The General Assembly shall elect a Permanent Judicial Commission composed of six ministers and six ruling elders. To the extent permitted by the number of synods, from time to time established by the General Assembly, at least one member shall reside in each synod, and membership shall be equitably apportioned among the synods. Four members shall be elected each year to serve a term of three years. No person who has served two terms, or portions thereof, shall be eligible for re-election. No member of any other commission, permanent committee, or agency of the General Assembly, and no person holding an official or employed relationship to the General Assembly or any of its agencies shall be eligible for membership on the Permanent Judicial Commission until he shall have resigned such other relationship."

23. That the referral from the 1969 General Assembly of Overture 47 to that Assembly (Minutes, 1969, p. 63) requesting the General Assembly to make necessary changes in the Book of Church Order to establish a special service for retirement of ministers, which was referred to the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work and to the Permanent Judicial Commission, which has been dealt with this year in the Report of the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work, Recommendations 1, 2 and 3 (see p. 199) be answered as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Judicial Commission has received a report from the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work concerning this matter.

The Permanent Judicial Commission advises the General Assembly that the subject of the overture and the proposed amendments as submitted herewith are not properly constitutional matters. The matter of honorable retirement cannot be placed on the same level with the Ordination and/or installation of a minister. Services recognizing honorable retirement are in the same category as current practices such as installation of Directors of Christian Education, recognition of candidates for the ministry, commissioning of Missionaries, etc.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends

a. That the language of the proposed service be approved and commended to the Presbyteries for information and discretionary use.

b. That the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work prepare copies of the service and circulate to Commissions on the Minister and His Work of each Presbytery.

24. That a communication from Louisville Presbytery, (see p. 199) referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission, concerning further amendments to the Book of Church Order which will be required if the amendment to Section 17-1 before the 1971 General Assembly is finally enacted, be answered as recommended by the Permanent Judicial Commission:

If the amendment to BCO 17-1 is consented to by the requisite number of Presbyteries and is approved by the General Assembly, the Permanent Judicial Commission respectfully recommends:

a. That a new sentence be added to Book of Church Order, Section 17-3, at the end of the present paragraph in these words: "When a Synod is composed of only two Presbyteries three Ministers from each of the two Presbyteries and one Ruling Elder from each of the two Presbyteries shall constitute a quorum."

b. That a new sentence be added to the Book of Church Order, Section 17-4 immediately following the first sentence of the paragraph in these words: "When a Synod is composed of only two Presbyteries the Moderator shall, at the request or with the concurrence of four Ministers and four Ruling Elders from each of the two Presbyteries, call a special meeting."

25. That Overture 31 from the Presbytery of Asheville (see p. 56) asking the General Assembly to suspend for three years any change in the Book of Church Order dealing with local church property, be answered in the negative as the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons: The General Assembly has twice previously answered in the negative overtures for limitation of the process of amending the Constitution (see Minutes, 1945, pages 28, 54; 1947, pages 52; or Assembly's Digest, page 219). The Assembly has consistently acted upon a principle expressed in the Minutes of 1939, page 67 (Assembly's Digest, page 112) that no Assembly can bind a future Assembly. This rests upon a fundamental principle of parliamentary order expressed in Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, Section 8, page 75.

26. The Committee notes that Item 26 in the report of the Permanent Judicial Commission (see p. 199) concerning amendments to the Book of Church Order which were recommended in the report of the Ad Interim Committee on Certification of Lay Workers (see Appendix, p. 257) was not filed with the Stated Clerk by February 1, 1971 and could not be considered by the Permanent Judicial Commission for the 1971 meeting of General Assembly. The Commission will retain the report for study and report to the 1972 General Assembly.

IV. RESOLUTION 19 (see p. 67) REGARDING THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF BOOK OF CHURCH ORDER CHAPTER 32.

Minority Report

We, the undersigned, constituting a minority of the Standing Committee on Judicial Business, do submit to the General Assembly, and recommend to it for adoption as a substitute for the Committee Report, Item IV, and the following:

That the General Assembly answer Resolution 19 in the negative.

Donald K. Campbell et al

Resolution 19 was referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission.

V. RESOLUTION 21 (see p. 69) REQUESTING THE CREATION OF AN ADMINISTRATIVE COMMISSION EMPOWERED TO DISMISS MINISTERS AND CHURCHES TO ANOTHER DENOMINATION AND TO MAKE A TRANSFER OF PROPERTY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES.

That Resolution 21 be answered in the negative.

VI. RESOLUTION 33 (see p. 74) REQUESTING THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO INSTRUCT THE PERMANENT JUDICIAL COMMISSION TO PREPARE CERTAIN AMENDMENTS TO THE BOOK OF CHURCH ORDER TO PROVIDE FOR PRESBYTERIES' VOTES ON CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES TO BE WEIGHTED ACCORDING TO THEIR NUMBER OF COMMISSIONERS TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

That the 111th General Assembly request the Permanent Judicial Commission to prepare, draft and present to the 112th General Assembly its recommendations as to any changes in the Book of Church Order required to provide for Presbyteries' votes on Constitutional Changes to be weighted in the final tabulation according to the number of Commissioners each Presbytery has to the General Assembly.

VII. NOMINATIONS.

The Committee recommends that the following persons nominated by the Permanent Committee on Nominations be elected to the Permanent Judicial Commission, Class of 1974:

Reverend Frank L. Elvery (2)	Fla.
Reverend Joseph B. Ledford (2)	Mo.
Mr. Frank L. Taylor (2)	W. Va.

Respectfully submitted,
DAVID L. STITT, Chairman

The Moderator asked Mrs. David Stitt to take the Chair for the report of the Committee on Thanks.

SPECIAL RESOLUTION

The Standing Rules were suspended to allow a special resolution to be presented. The Assembly adopted the following Special Resolution re the Youth Delegates:

That the Youth Delegates to the 111th Meeting of the General Assembly be commended for their intelligent and mature manner in which they have conducted themselves throughout the Assembly within standing committees and on the floor of the Assembly. They have demonstrated to their elders and peers alike their effective use of insight and wisdom in dealing with issues before us, their genuine persuasiveness in discussion and debate, and their patience with and understanding of our Presbyterian system of government; and, further, that the Youth Delegates be requested to rise while Commissioners be allowed to express their appreciation by the sound of the firm application of one hand upon the other.

The Assembly applauded as the Youth Delegates stood.

COMMITTEE ON THANKS

Rev. C. Darby Fulton, Chairman, presented the report of the Committee on Thanks. It was adopted, as amended, as follows, by a rising vote of thanks:

The 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has been a memorable experience for each commissioner. We would express gratitude to God our Father for His blessing and for the warm comradeship we have enjoyed with one another even in the heat of spirited debate on the major issues that have been before us, both in the standing committee meetings and in the plenary sessions of the court itself. We are aware of the prodigious amount of planning and work involved in preparation for and care of this Assembly. Many hours have been given by many people to make our stay pleasant, so that the days and tasks which in prospect seemed so arduous and forbidding have passed swiftly, leaving us with a store of happy reminiscences which will enrich our memories of these hours together.

Among the many to whom we are indebted, we would express our special appreciation to:

1. Our host, Massanetta Springs, Inc. of the Synod of Virginia, and to the President of its Board of Trustees, Mr. D'Earcy Davis; its Executive Director, the Reverend Philip A. Roberts; the Administrator, Col. Hal Finlayson; the hotel staff, the lovely young ladies who served us with grace in the dining room, the maids who looked after our sleeping accommodations, the young men who helped us with our baggage, the efficient group of parking attendants, the cooks who prepared the ample and delightful meals, the transportation corps, and all those who attended constantly to our need and comfort;
2. The attractive and obliging postmistress of the Massanetta Springs Station of the United States Post Office, Miss Margaret Webb, who handled all our mail;
3. The local Arrangements Committee, headed by Mr. D'Earcy Davis, and the large number of people who served so graciously with him;
4. The local churches of this area which have contributed so generously of their time, interest, talent, and hospitality;
5. Madison College and its distinguished President, Ronald E. Carrier, for making available for the housing of commissioners the modern and spacious accommodations of luxurious new dormitories on the rapidly-expanding campus, and the winsome hostesses who were on duty early and late to extend entertainment and hospitality;
6. The Secretarial Staff under the efficient direction of Mrs. H. Linden Wright, which worked with speed and coordination to produce the mountain of paper work necessary to the smooth operation of the Assembly;

7. The Reverend J. Davison Philips, Chairman of the Program Committee, for wise planning of the program of this Assembly;

8. Our Stated Clerk, Reverend James A. Millard, Jr., the Assistant Clerks, Recording Clerk, temporary clerks, and staff, for their capable handling of the Assembly's business;

9. Our Moderator, the Reverend Ben Lacy Rose, for his experience, skill, and alertness, and for his impartiality combined with firmness in presiding over the sessions and dispatching the full docket of the Assembly;

10. Our retiring Moderator, the Reverend William A. Benfield, Jr., for his thought-provoking sermon and for setting the tone of the Assembly at the opening session with dignity and warmth;

11. The Boards of World Missions and National Ministries and the speakers and discussion leaders at the Pre-Assembly Conference on the Mission of the Church;

12. The Chairmen and Secretaries of standing committees for hours of labor in the preparation of reports, and clarity and conciseness of statement in presenting the recommendations for action;

13. The Reverend Horace Allen who prepared the services of worship, and the persons who led us in these services;

YOUTH DELEGATE RESOLUTION

Mr. Bill Bradley, a Youth Delegate, presented a Resolution, making Miss Averille Gouldy, a Commissioner, an "Honorary Youth Delegate."

Whereas, Miss Averill Gouldy has repeatedly acted with youthful spirit and genuine concern on the floor of the General Assembly; and,

Whereas, she has continually "told it like it is" and provoked needed thought and consideration; and,
Whereas her "garbage" adds a spicy flavor to the sometimes tasteless servings of parliamentary procedure we are attempting to digest;

Therefore, be it resolved that the youth delegation to the 111th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States "get with it" and bestow upon Miss Gouldy the title of "Honorary Youth Delegate."

Right On!

Mr. Bradley expressed to the Assembly the thanks of the Youth Delegates.

An inscribed seal was presented by the Stated Clerk to Mr. D'Earcy Davis and

Rev. Philip Roberts, and their staff, in appreciation for all they have done for this meeting of the Assembly.

REPORT TWO OF CONSTITUTIONAL COMMITTEE

The Moderator announced as his ruling that of the Constitutional Committee:

The Constitutional Committee of the 111th General Assembly has been asked for an opinion under Standing Rule 10.3 whether the General Assembly "does or does not have power to divide Presbyteries."

It is the opinion of the Constitutional Committee that while the General Assembly does not have the power to divide Presbyteries directly, such power being given to Synods BCO 17-5(4), the power of the General Assembly to unite or divide Synods is not limited by the existing bounds of Presbyteries. BCO 18-6(9) contains no such express limitation and none should be implied.

This question was submitted to the Constitutional Committee of the 110th General Assembly and was answered, as follows:

"Therefore, the Constitutional Committee advises the General Assembly that under BCO Section 18-6(9) it does have the power to restructure synods with whatever changes in the existing bounds of presbyteries that may result from changing the bounds of synods, but that it has no power over the number or bounds of presbyteries within the bounds of restructured synods."

This opinion of the Constitutional Committee was adopted by the 110th General Assembly.

The same question was considered by the Permanent Judicial Commission at its meeting in March, 1971 with regards to Overtures 12 and 13 (see p. 51). The Permanent Judicial Commission in Item 10 of its report (see p. 192) proposed an affirmative answer. In doing so the Permanent Judicial Commission did rely in part on the action of the 110th General Assembly.

The Constitutional Committee of the 111th General Assembly is of the opinion that the authority of the General Assembly to unite or divide synods is not limited by the bounds of existing presbyteries and that any realignment of the bounds of presbyteries made necessary by the action of the General Assembly in restructuring synods is not in violation of the Constitution.

CHARLES L. MOFFATT
JAMES E. DRINKARD
JOSEPH W. GRIER, JR.

The Assembly voted that the opinion of the Constitutional Committee above be made the answer in Item III.10. (see p. 174) to Overtures 12 and 13 from the Synod of Mississippi and the Presbytery of Congaree.

The Stated Clerk presented the supplemental informational report re the Operating Expense Budget, which was entered in the record (see p. 155).

The Minutes of Friday's sessions were read and approved as amended.

The Moderator made the following pronouncement: "By virtue of the authority delegated to me by the Church, I do now declare that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States is now adjourned, to convene in Montreat, North Carolina, Sunday, June 11, 1972."

APPENDIX

THE REPORT OF THE MODERATOR TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

I express deep gratitude to God and to the Church for the privilege of serving as Moderator of the 110th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. I have worn the cross of the Moderator with special gratitude, for my father did not become a Christian until in manhood. As the son of a sharecropper he stopped schooling in the 6th grade to help with the work. At the age of twenty-six he attended a Presbyterian service one Sunday night. The invitation was given. He went forward and gave himself to the Lord. Later he felt the call to the gospel ministry—twenty-six years old, hadn't finished the sixth grade, no financial support. But he graduated from Davidson College, then from Union Seminary, was ordained to the Ministry of the Word and the Sacrament in the Presbyterian Church in the United States and accepted a call to five little mission churches in the mountains of West Virginia, where a year and a half later I was born and baptized as a child of the covenant. Yes, I express deep gratitude to God for the heritage of the Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ through our great denomination and through my parents.

In the exercise of the duties and responsibilities of the Moderatorship I have been abundantly helped by our distinguished Stated Clerk, the Rev. Dr. James A. Millard, Jr., and by members of his staff. I also express deep appreciation to the officers and members of the First Presbyterian Church of Charleston, West Virginia, for complete release from pastoral responsibilities during the year and to my ministerial colleagues on the staff, the Rev. Percy R. Hagan, Jr. and the Rev. J. Harrell Harper, for assuming many additional duties during my absences.

Since the adjournment of the meeting of the 110th General Assembly, invitations have been received and opportunities available to be present in all of the Synods on more than one occasion and in sixty of the Presbyteries. Since last September more than eighty percent of the time has been spent in travel and work as Moderator.

I am greatly encouraged about the state of our denomination. With one exception, all of the moderators of the past decade have, in one way or another, referred to and expressed concern about the tensions that exist within our church. These tensions are still present, some with increasing intensity. Furthermore, some of the destructive possibilities anticipated by past moderators have today become budding realities. During this year I have become exceedingly alarmed about some of the procedures used by some of the organized groups, procedures that can lead to the destruction of our Presbyterian polity.

At the same time, I am greatly encouraged by the state of our denomination. As I have traveled and visited in every area I have become convinced that the radical dissidents represent an exceedingly small minority and that the overwhelming majority of our membership is supportive of the denomination.

Preaching of the Gospel is healthy and relevant. Traditional and new forms of evangelism are increasingly emphasized. More adults are today studying the written Word and doctrines of faith than at any time in my ministry. The Boards and Agencies of the General Assembly, staff members and board members, are providing more dynamic and creative leadership than at any time in my ministry. I express great gratitude for them.

I am further encouraged about the state of the church because of the emergence of characteristics that are essential if the church is to fulfill its mission in this highly complex and rapidly changing society. One of these essentials is the maintenance of ecumenical stances. The day of competition by denominations for members and financial support within the local community is over. The day of duplication of physical facilities, staff, and program, such as has characterized the separatism of American Protestantism of the past is over. Such separatism has never been justified by the New Testament. Today such separatism is increasingly difficult to support financially and there are devastating evidences that such approaches by the churches of Jesus Christ are inadequate for the fulfillment of mission. When I was in Africa last year I heard the brilliant young executive of the United Churches of Christ of the Congo say that after they received their independence, their most difficult problem in the matter of church relationship was the fact that forty-one different denominations were engaged in missionary work within their land. The present ecumenical stances within our denomination, involving increasing cooperative enterprises, united missional activities from the national to the local levels, and our entertainment of possible union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. are healthy and hopeful signs.

Another essential for the fulfillment of mission in this increasingly complex and rapidly changing society is the exercise of the New Testament principle that structure and institutional organizations are to exist in the Church of Jesus Christ for one purpose only—for the fulfillment of the mission given to the church by its Lord. This means that denominational structures, institutional organizations, and program formats are never to be construed as permanently fixed but must be flexible and open to elimination or revision or change, as fulfillment of mission may require. The present considerations of our General Assembly such as the realignment of Synods, the restructuring of Boards and Agencies, and the writing of a contemporary Confession, the development of contemporary forms of worship throughout the denomination, new styles of ministry, and new forms of mission and evangelism are healthy and hopeful signs.

Another reason for my encouragement is seen in the signs of increasing emphasis on the New Testament teaching of ministry, which of course, involves the ministry of the laity and inclusiveness in decision making and mission participation. The ministry of the church is the ministry of Jesus Christ, given to his church by him, given to the laos, the whole people of God. There is not one ministry for those ordained as teaching and ruling elders and deacons and another ministry for the laity of the church. These are but differing aspects of the one and same ministry, the ministry of our Lord, given to us by him. The fact that more laymen and women within our denomination are participating in decision making and program execution, that more women are serving on committees and boards and being ordained as teaching and ruling elders and deacons, that more youth are participating in decision making at national and congregational levels, that more women are serving as commissioners to this General Assembly than ever before, and that we have youth delegates of this Assembly—are healthy and hopeful signs.

In addition to my visitations, preaching, speaking, listening, within the bounds of our denomination, I have officially as Moderator engaged in two sets of activities outside the geographical bounds of our church. One of these has had to do with relationships with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. As has been true of past Moderators, I participated in the Annual Service of Worship and Communion held in the National Presbyterian Church of Washington, D.C. on the morning of the convening of the Congress of the United States. Additionally I spoke at one of the Presbyteries of the United Presbyterian Church and preached in two United Presbyterian Churches, including the one served by the now immediate past moderator, the Rev. Dr. William R. Laws, Jr. Indeed, I have had the privilege of serving with Dr. Laws on several church occasions, at three of the meetings of the consummation of Union Presbyteries, in a baptismal service, at the union service for our Christian Educators Associations, and in attendance at a meeting of the Committee of Twenty-four. As Moderator I express gratitude that our denomination has had the privilege of the visitation of Dr. Laws on several occasions and I express appreciation for his inspiring witness to our Lord.

Additionally, Mrs. Benfield and I, upon the invitation of the Board of World Missions, have recently visited some of our mission work in Japan, South Korea, and Taiwan. I was positively impressed in several ways. For one thing, as I saw some of the fruit of their labors I found myself thanking God again and again for those servants who have served so faithfully in past decades, many of them having now gone to the Church Triumphant. I was impressed with the health and vitality of many congregations. On the Sunday on which we were in South Korea, more than nine thousand people were in attendance at the worship services of a single Presbyterian church in Seoul. And I understand there are one hundred Presbyterian congregations in this metropolitan area. Our visitation left us with the impression that the churches in these lands are strong in evangelistic emphases and are becoming increasingly strong in programs of education and service. I commend the faithful, effective work of our missionaries and of our Board of World Missions in these countries. This visitation also afforded the opportunity of bringing the official greetings of our General Assembly to the Reformed Church and the United Church of Christ in Japan, to the Presbyterian Church of Taiwan, and to the Presbyterian Church of Korea in the person of the Stated Clerk, Dr. Kim, whom we are privileged to have with us as a fraternal delegate, along with his lovely wife whom we were also privileged to meet.

During the year of my moderatorship I attended the Consultation on Vietnam held in Paris. I have also given support to activities pointed to the cessation of our military involvement in Southeast Asia. The news release from our Department of Information very carefully and clearly indicated that my participation was as an individual and not in the official capacity of Moderator. I realize that viewpoints within the membership of our denomination and elsewhere vary widely on the Vietnam situation and I shall not use this moment to expound my own position. In light, however, of the fact that false information about my activity in these matters has been circulated and that some people have been greatly concerned that one serving as Moderator of his church would engage in such activity, I desire that the record be clear at these points:

First, the expenses for my participation in the Consultation on Vietnam and other activities were not paid out of the Moderator's Travel Fund or any other church fund.

Second, the Consultation on Vietnam did not involve in any way an attempt to act as a negotiator, as has been crudely reported. We made no proposal or suggestions. We listened, we asked questions, we tried to learn. Our own Ambassador Bruce knew of our conversations with other groups and seemed very appreciative. We spent much time listening to religious leaders in Europe.

Third, I have not and I cannot accept the position that during the year of his moderatorship one as an individual must keep silent and be passive on matters of Christian conscience and commitment because the matters are controversial or because his personal involvement will be interpreted by some as an official act of the office of Moderator, and I pray that we will never have a moderator who supports such a position.

Fourth, I have not and I cannot accept the position that official leaders and organizations within the church should remain silent on grave moral and ethical issues because the issues may be controversial. Official leaders and organizations must always abide by constitutional provisions and limitations. Official leaders and organizations cannot speak for the membership of the denomination unless authorized to do so. But if official leaders and organizations within the church do not speak out for themselves, whether or not we all agree with the position, then we shall never have creative, dynamic leadership. In this connection I commend our Council on Church and Society for its leadership involvement in the grave moral issue of Vietnam. I did not participate in this issue in my official capacity as Moderator because of the limitations of the standing rules of the General Assembly. If it had been constitutionally possible, I would have done so as Moderator with no apology to the false reporters in the journalistic market place. The staff of the Council on Church and Society was acting within its authority and I am grateful that we have such leadership, even though I may not always agree with its positions.

Indeed this leads to the heart of the matter. I tried to emphasize in the morning sermon that we can have unity without complete conformity. Our unity is given to us by our Lord Jesus Christ. We are all sinners who are saved in his grace. Our unity is centered in Him. Within our particular denomination our unity is expressed also in our commitment to the Constitution, the Confession of Faith and the Larger and Shorter Catechisms together with the Book of Church Order. But within these commitments are large areas of freedom where there are possibilities of various approaches, positions, and services. And if for the sake of unity and peace in the church we are to insist and demand that no controversial issues be faced and no new missions undertaken, then we have already lost our unity and peace and we have no chance of being a reconciling community in the world. Too often and too long the Church has been silent and passive in a world torn apart by the sins of greed and lust, idolatry and crime, war and poverty, acting like an ambulance moving slowly behind the activity, picking up the wounded, making bandages, soothing hurt feelings, while the Church should be out there on the front line getting hit in the face but looking the enemy squarely in the eye and winning the battle in the name of our victorious Lord. May he so lead us in this Assembly and always and to him be glory forever and ever.

WILLIAM A. BENFIELD, Moderator,
110th General Assembly

REPORT OF THE PERMANENT JUDICIAL COMMISSION

(Note: From this report all items are referred to the Standing Committee on Judicial Business.)

The following actions were taken on the overtures referred to the Commission under the Constitution and on nine specific referrals from the 1970 General Assembly, and comprise the Commission's report to the General Assembly on matters other than judicial cases.

Item 1.

(See page 170)

Overture 1 from the Presbytery of Brazos, concerning the use of "man" in the Constitution.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that BCO 5-4 and BCO 26-2 be amended as requested in the overture, and to clarify further the intent of the General Assembly to give women full eligibility that other references to 'men', 'man' and 'brethren' be deleted.

In 1962 the General Assembly instructed the Permanent Judicial Commission to prepare amendments so that women might be ordained as officers. In response the Permanent Judicial Commission submitted amendments to BCO 9-2 and BCO 12-9, with the recommendation that, "Should these amendments be enacted, the Commission recommends that the General Assembly interpret their effect to be that whenever in the Constitution the masculine term is used with reference to any Church office or officer, the term shall include the feminine as well." (Minutes, 1963, p. 195).

This recommendation was not included in the Report of the Standing Committee on Judicial Business to the General Assembly, and thus was not adopted by the General Assembly. Thus, it appears desirable to make the additional amendments to the Book of Church Order.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the following changes in the Book of Church Order:

1. Section 5-4: the word "male" in the last line omitted.
2. Section 26-2: second paragraph, line 4, the word "male" be omitted.

3. Section 11-3: second line; 12-2: second line; 24-1: second line and fourth line; 24-4: third paragraph, fifth line, the word "men" be changed to "persons".
4. Section 23-2: third line; 24-1: second paragraph, fifth line; 24-3: first line; 24-10: second line; 24-11: first line, the word "man" be changed to "person".
5. Section 16-10: third line and fourth line, the word "brethren" be changed to "Ministers".
6. Section 29-3: paragraph 6, line 2, "this brother" be changed to "this member".

Item 2.

Referral from 1970 General Assembly (Minutes 1970, p. 113); Late Overture C (1970) from Memphis Presbytery; and Overtures 2, 3, and 4 from the Presbyteries of Augusta-Macon, The Everglades, and Savannah, concerning church property.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommended to the 1970 General Assembly that the subjects of "Incorporation and Property of a Particular Church" be referred to the Permanent Judicial Commission for study and the making of recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly relative to revision of Chapter 6, Form of Government. In addition, overtures C from Memphis Presbytery, 2 from Augusta-Macon, 3 from the Everglades, and 4 from Savannah Presbytery ask the General Assembly to amend or interpret the Book of Church Order with respect to property of a particular church.

The Permanent Judicial Commission has laboriously reviewed the Book of Church Order as presently revised, the historic roots from which it grew, the origin and formation of the Church, the structure and life of the Church, the doctrine of the Church, and its tradition.

The Permanent Judicial Commission believes that a general revision of Chapter 6 of the Book of Church Order is not merited at this time. It believes that the provisions of Chapter 6 are sufficiently clear to respond to the questions of ownership of property which are presented by the above overtures.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the General assembly adopt the following statement with respect to the overtures:

The following declaratory statement was adopted by the General Assembly in 1953 (Minutes, 1953, pp. 42, 143) after a study and recommendation of a committee appointed for the purpose of studying the question and reporting back with a recommendation for amendment to the Book of Church Order, if found necessary.

"The beneficial ownership of the property of a particular church of the Presbyterian Church in the United States is in the congregation of such church and title may properly be held in any form, corporate or otherwise, consistent with the provisions of civil law in the jurisdiction in which such property is situated. The congregation, with respect to such property, may properly exercise any privilege of ownership possessed by property owners in such jurisdiction. In every instance nothing in the manner of tenure of such property or the use thereof shall be in violation of the obligation of such congregation to the body of the Presbyterian Church in the United States as established by the Constitution of such Church. (Emphasis added.)

"Disposition of the property of a particular church rests in the will of the congregation of that church. The congregation is that body of persons recognized as members of that particular church by the respective courts of the Church." (Assembly's Digest, p. 76) (Emphasis added.)

In 1967 the Presbytery of Potomac overtured the General Assembly to make clear the Presbyterian Church, U.S. position regarding the ownership of church property. The General Assembly reaffirmed its 1953 statement and responded: "The Book of Church Order, when supplemented by the declaratory statement of the General Assembly of 1953, is sufficiently clear." (Minutes, 1967, p. 127.)

The Book of Church Order provides that Presbytery has the authority to receive and dismiss churches. Appellate procedure is outlined in Chapter 14 of the Form of Government and Part V of the Rules of Discipline.

It should be pointed out that Section 4-1(2) provides that upon organization, the members of the congregation of a Presbyterian church shall enter into a covenant and with uplifted hand "... solemnly promise and covenant that they will walk together as an organized church, on the principles of faith and order of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, ..." (Emphasis added.)

All persons who subsequently enroll themselves as communing members on profession of faith of the particular church must first agree to submit themselves to the government and discipline of the Church. (Section 210-5(5), Directory for the Worship and Work of the Church.)

Ministers and other officers before ordination approve the government and discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and promise subjection to their brethren in the Lord. (Form of Government, Sections 29-3, 27-6.)

When any Minister, other officer or communing member feels that he can no longer in good conscience remain a part of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the Book of Church Order provides an honorable and orderly procedure for separating himself from it. (Rules of Discipline, Chapter 11.)

Section 14-5 of the Book of Church Order sets forth the sphere of action of each Church court and their interrelations to each other: "These courts are not separate and independent tribunals. They have a mutual relation, and every act of jurisdiction is the act of the whole Church performed by it through the appropriate Church court."

Section 16-7 of the Book of Church Order provides that Presbytery has the power to receive, dismiss, ordain, install, remove and judge ministers, to review the records of the Sessions, redress whatever they may have done contrary to order, and take effectual care that they observe the Constitution of the Church. The Presbytery further has the power to establish the pastoral relation and to dissolve it at the request of one or both of the parties or where the interest of religion imperatively demands it and, further, the Presbytery has the power and authority to see that the lawful injunctions of the higher courts are obeyed, to condemn erroneous opinions which injure the purity or peace of the church, to visit churches for the purpose of inquiring into and redressing evils that may have arisen in them, to unite or divide churches at the request of the members, to form and receive new churches, to dissolve churches and in general to order whatever pertains to the spiritual welfare of the churches under its care. Further, the Presbytery has the power and authority to appoint commissioners to the General Assembly of the Church and to propose to the Synod or to the General Assembly such measures as may be of common advantage to the whole Church.

It takes more than a name to become a Presbyterian Church, U.S. It takes more than to profess the same faith as the Presbyterian Church, U.S. professes to become a Presbyterian Church, U.S. It takes a profession of that faith and subjection to the government of that Church to make a Presbyterian Church, U.S.

A Presbyterian congregation, with its officers, pastor, elders and deacons, is a complete organization in itself, but it is not independent. (Preface to the Form of Government, III, 1, 5.) It is a part of an extended whole, living under the same ecclesiastical constitution, and therefore subject to the inspection and control of the Presbytery, whose business is to see that the standards of doctrine and rules of discipline are adhered to by the particular churches under its care. It is the court of review and control, over all the sessions of the particular churches within its bounds. To the Presbytery are superadded the higher judicatories of Synods and General Assemblies, as the means of perserving the standards of doctrine and discipline on a more extended territorial scale.

Such has been the organization of the Presbyterian Church in Scotland, from the time of John Knox to this date, and has been substantially followed by the Presbyterian Church in England and the United States.

The foregoing represents the Presbyterian Church, U.S. position on church property. This position is subject, however, to the civil laws of the State where the property is situated. Generally, however, the civil courts conclude that a congregation belonging to a religious denomination and subject to the constitution, faith and doctrines thereof, cannot use its property for a purpose which violates the relationship of the congregation to the denomination.

Item 3.

(See page 172)

Late Overture A (1970) from Washburn Presbytery, asking if those on the inactive roll may come to the Lord's Supper.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends this overture be answered as follows:

1. An inactive member is not an ex-communicated or suspended member but remains the active redemptive concern of the Session of the Church in which his name appears on the inactive roll. (BCO 8-7, -8, -9.)
2. While the Rules of Discipline 211-7 specifies that the Minister should "invite to partake of the Sacrament all those who are communicants in good standing in some Christian church" it goes on further to say in two subsequent clauses "who trust in the Lord Jesus Christ and repent of their sins, and who would covenant afresh to live as followers of Christ."
3. BCO 8-11 provides that "If a member whose name is on the inactive roll shall resume participation in the ordinances of his church, the Session shall act to restore his name to the active roll."

Therefore, if a member whose name is on the inactive roll of the Church presents himself at the Lord's Table in response to the invitation as stated in 211-7, it should be regarded as evidence of renewed interest and spiritual concern. The Minister and Session should pursue all avenues to encourage and enlarge this renewal.

4. The same principle should apply when parents who are on the inactive roll request the sacrament of baptism for their children.

5. In view of BCO 8-8, -9, -11, the members on the inactive roll should not be denied pastoral oversight. The obligation of the Church to these people is to redeem them to Christian life and activity as much or even more than to those not previously committed to the church, since they once were quickened in their spiritual concern, and now, possibly through the Church's neglect or other failure are inactive.

6. The following should be noted:

- a. The Session has a responsibility for care and oversight of all members on both its active and inactive rolls.
- b. The "ordinances" of the Church include more than the Sacraments (BCO 3-5).
- c. Book of Church Order Sections 8-9, 8-10, 8-11 and 8-12 are administrative provisions and are not disciplinary provisions.

Item 4.

(See page 173)

Overture 5—from the Presbytery of Brazos, asking that BCO 8-9 be amended by deleting the words "for one year willingly," thereby removing time and interest as conditions for removal of a member to the inactive roll.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the negative for the following reason:

To do this would open the way for a Session to act hastily and without proper consideration of its responsibility to take pastoral concern for delinquent members, or for members who move beyond the jurisdiction of a particular church and into that of another. Sessions should be reminded of their responsibility to review the inactive roll annually (BCO 8-8) but more particularly of its responsibility to notify churches into whose jurisdiction a member may have moved, and to notify such a member of his duty to arrange a transfer (BCO 8-10).

Item 5.

(See page 173)

Referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, page 109); Late Overture D (1970) from the Presbytery of The Everglades; Resolution 10 from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 62); and Overtures 6-9 from the Presbyteries of Potomac, Northeast Texas, and Hanover, concerning representation by Ruling Elders in Presbytery and Synod.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends:

1. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for their advice and consent an amendment to Section 16-1 of the Form of Government which would replace third sentence thereof with the following: "A church whose communicants exceed 750 shall be represented by two Ruling Elders and shall be entitled to one more Ruling Elder for each additional 750 communicants."
2. That the overtures from the Presbyteries of the Everglades, Potomac, Hanover and Northeast Texas be answered by the General Assembly's instructing the Stated Clerk to obtain from the Stated Clerks of the Presbyteries the statistical information as to the imbalance between the numbers of Ministers and Ruling Elders having the right to attend Presbytery, and the actual experience of imbalance in the Presbytery at meetings of Presbytery during the preceding twelve months. On receipt of such information from the Stated Clerk, the Permanent Judicial Commission is instructed to study the matter further and make recommendation to the next meeting of the General Assembly.
3. If the General Assembly wishes to attempt immediately to amend the constitution in this regard, the Permanent Judicial Commission proposes the following three sentences for addition to Section 16-1 of the Form of Government. The language is adapted from that of Section 42.03 of the Book of Order of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.:

"Annually, as soon as the statistical reports for the preceding year are available from the congregations, the Stated Clerk of each Presbytery shall ascertain the number of Ministers who are members of the Presbytery, and the number of Ruling Elders which the churches are entitled to send as Commissioners to meetings of the Presbytery. When the number of Ministers is larger, the Stated Clerk shall bring the imbalance to the attention of the Presbytery at its next meeting. The Presbytery shall redress any imbalance by inviting particular churches to elect additional Ruling Elder Commissioners on the basis of specified numbers of communicant members, or on some other basis acceptable to the Presbytery."

It is noted that an amendment to Section 17-1, providing for a system of optional establishment by Synods of delegates from Presbyteries as its constituency was sent down to the Presbyteries for advice and consent by the General Assembly of 1970 (Minutes, 1970, page 109, which amendment, if adopted, would afford a means of achieving the purposes of Overture 8 with respect to meetings of Synod.

Item 6.

(See page 173)

Overtures 10a and 10b from the Presbytery of Columbia, requesting that Synods be abolished.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered with the following statement:

1. The jurisdiction of Synods is of such magnitude and is so related to the jurisdictions of Presbyteries and the General Assembly to make it impractical at this time to abolish Synods. Such action would substantially increase the jurisdiction of the General Assembly and enlarge its work, already difficult to handle in a single annual session. To do so likely would raise legal problems with respect to church property presently held under wills and trusts, and property to which Synods may subsequently become entitled to receive under wills and trusts drawn in advance of Synods being abolished. To do so would give the Presbyterian church in the United States a structure which would not parallel that of most Reformed denominations. It does not appear that the existence of a Synod unduly restricts a Presbytery "to order whatever pertains to the spiritual welfare of the churches under its care" (B.C.O. 16-7(17)).
2. If the General Assembly desires to abolish Synods by amendments of the Book of Church Order, there appears to be nothing in the Confession of Faith or the history of the Presbyterian Church in the United States which makes Synods essential.
3. If Synods are to be abolished, a very careful revision of the constitution will be required, and this should be undertaken only after careful study at each level of Church courts.
4. The advantages in administration likely to result from abolishing Synods would not appear to equal the difficulties and complications which also would result.

Item 7.

Referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 94, 102, 103) directing a study and draft of necessary amendments to the Book of Church Order so as to make Youth Delegates to succeeding Assemblies a part of the Book of Church Order.

The Permanent Judicial Commission advises the 1971 General Assembly, after a further study of the referral, that no change in the Book of Church Order is necessary to accomplish the purposes of Resolution 8 for the following reasons:

1. The General Assembly amended the Standing Rules of the General Assembly and they remain unchanged until amended or suspended by the General Assembly. (Standing Rule 15.1; G.A. Minutes, 1970, p. 103.)
2. The General Assembly has the power to establish rules for the government, discipline, worship and extension of the Church, and possesses whatever administrative authority is necessary to give effect to these powers. (BCO, 14-3(3), 14-3(5).)

Item 8.

(See page 174)

Overture 11 from the Presbytery of Central Mississippi, concerning Youth Delegates to the General Assembly. The overture as submitted is as follows:

1. To make no changes in our Constitution that would tend to alter our representative government by duly-elected officers.
2. To make every effort to see that the concerns of youth are brought before the General Assembly through the regular and normal channels.
3. To limit voting in Standing Committees to regular Commissioners; and
4. To meet the expenses of the Youth Delegates by assessment only of those Presbyteries that desire to elect, and be represented by, Youth Delegates.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the overture be answered as follows:

1. The question of constitutional change is dealt with in the reply of the Permanent Judicial Commission to the referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 94, 102, 103).
2. Concerns of youth can be more effectively heard before the General Assembly if they can be present to speak and work (Standing Rules 12.8, 12.8(2)).
3. The question of a vote in Standing Committees is a matter to be determined through Standing Rules and not through constitutional change.
4. Election of Youth Delegates is permissive for each Presbytery, and the matter of how expenses are to be paid is to be determined by the Standing Rules of the General Assembly or as a matter of budget.

Item 9.

(See page 174)

Late Overture B (1970) from the Presbytery of Wilmington, asking for a restoration of the power of the General Assembly to restructure Synods by adding "with the advice and consent of the Synods involved" to BCO 18-6(9).

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture from the Presbytery of Wilmington be answered with following statements:

1. To require the advice and consent of Synods in making boundary changes would be contrary to action taken by the 1970 General Assembly which specifically gave to the General Assembly the power to change Synod boundaries without such advice and consent (Minutes, 1970, page 132-3; Item 10 of this 1971 Report.)
2. To approve the proposed amendment would open the way for requesting that the same restrictions be applied to Synods with respect to Presbytery boundaries and even to Presbyteries with respect to its powers in organizing new churches or in relocating existing churches.
3. To approve the amendment would be in conflict with proposals by the Ad Interim Committee on Restructure of Synods currently being considered by the General Assembly.

Item 10.

(See page 174)

Overtures 12 and 13 from the Synod of Mississippi and from the Presbytery of Congaree, concerning changing the bounds of Synods.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the questions in Overture 12 and the request for a ruling on the same subject in Overture 13 be answered in the following statements:

1. The Constitutional Committee of the 1970 General Assembly studied this question, at the request of the General Assembly. The General Assembly adopted, as its own, the findings of the Committee, as follows:

"1. Through proper constitutional processes the Book of Church Order Section 18-6(9) was amended by the 110th General Assembly after the advice and consent of the Presbyteries to read, 'To establish new Synods and to unite or divide those which were before established.' The power thus granted makes specific that which has long been an implied power of the General Assembly to change the boundaries of Synods. This authority has been exercised by the General Assembly no less than twenty-four times between 1865 and 1964 (Assembly's Digest, p. 122). In six instances the Assembly refused to change boundaries when requested by Presbytery or Synod. In three instances there are no indications of the concurrence of Synods, but the Presbyteries losing the territories did join in the overtures. The one instance of discoverable record where it could be said the Assembly did not freely use its power to change the boundary of Synods at will was in 1876 when it seems to have felt it could do so in response to a specific request. It is not made clear from whom the request was to come, but it was based on what was termed 'common usage.'

"2. The BCO Section 14-5 clearly established the power of review and control by each higher court. BCO Section 18-6(8), sets out the right and power of the Assembly 'to organize measures for advancing the prosperity and enlargement of the church.' BCO Section 18-6(15) gives the Assembly the power 'To superintend the affairs of the whole Church.'

"3. The Synods have power 'To establish new Presbyteries and unite or divide those which were before established.' BCO Section 17-5(4).

"Your committee holds that this power is properly exercised within the bounds of Synods which are set by the General Assembly. If in setting the bounds of Synods it becomes necessary in the judgment of the Assembly to alter a bound or bounds of an existing Presbytery this is not to usurp the authority of the Synod in whose bounds that Presbytery exists. Rather it is for the Assembly to exercise its own authority, leaving to the Synod in question the prerogative to change the bounds of its Presbyteries further, to combine or erect new Presbyteries as that Synod may see fit. We find that the proposed restructuring submitted to this Assembly does no more than suggest the Presbytery lines or the number of Presbyteries in any of the proposed Synods.

"4. The Book of Church Order does not provide that the consent of any Synod or Presbytery must be obtained for the Assembly to exercise its authority to alter the bounds of Synods. In this absence of such express or implied necessity, the Committee holds that consent by Presbytery and/or Synod is not mandatory.

"Therefore, the Constitutional Committee advises the General Assembly that under BCO Section 18-6(9) it does have the power to restructure synods with whatever changes in the existing bounds of presbyteries that may result from changing the bounds of Synods, but that it has no power over the number or bounds of presbyteries within the bounds of restructured synods."

Thus the question of Overture 12 is answered in the affirmative and the General Assembly has ruled that it may change the boundaries of a Presbytery by putting part of it into one Synod and part of it into another Synod.

II. The Permanent Judicial Commission has reviewed in detail all procedures leading up to the amendment to Section 18-6(9) and affirms that the section was amended to its present wording in proper Constitutional processes.

III. Regarding the use of such power as given in Section 18-6(9) and also in 17-5(4), the latter being powers of the Synod with respect to changing Presbytery bounds, the Permanent Judicial Commission respectfully suggests that the General Assembly and the Synods seriously consider the dangers involved in exercising these powers.

Item 11.

(See page 175)

Overtures 14-17 from the Presbyteries of Greenbrier, Winchester, Washburn, and Charleston, concerning non-pastoral work of Ministers.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that each of these overtures be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

A Study on the Function of the Minister as defined in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 10, was made by the Permanent Theological Committee and approved by the General Assembly of 1968. This Study makes the point, among others, that "... our standards in principle recognize a diversity of ministries. They allow that the ministry of the word may itself be carried on in a great variety of ways." This study makes the further point that, "It would seem here that it is the task of the Presbyteries to exercise supervision over all ministries under their jurisdiction—pastors and others alike—to determine if the work that each is engaged in can properly be regarded as a ministry of the word and, further, if that work if faithfully being performed as a ministry of the Church." (Minutes, 1968, p. 180. See also p. 176).

Service by ministers of a non-pastoral nature is contemplated and authorized. (BCO, 10-3, 10-7.)

Thus, the procedure for calling a minister to such work is delineated in the Book of Church Order; the call must be "appropriate to the service" and would thus adequately define his duties. (BCO 26-8; see also BCO 23-5.) He would ordinarily hold membership in the Presbytery where the work is located. (BCO, 16-2.) Also, provision is made for the method of approval of a minister accepting work other than of a pastoral relationship. ((BCO, 21-2(2)). Moreover, the Presbytery's Commission on the Minister and His Work must report annually the type of work in which each minister of the Presbytery is engaged. (BCO, 21-2(1).)

There is also provision for a situation in which a minister desires to accept work not under the jurisdiction of any Church Court. (BCO, 26-9; 16-2.) His Presbytery must determine the nature of the work as proper to the ministry of the Gospel and serves the best interest of the Gospel. (BCO, 26-9.) Moreover, an annual report is required with respect to this work as well. (BCO, 21-2(1).)

The Commission notes that in 1965, Overture No. 22 from the Presbytery of Hanover, suggested the appointment of a committee to study and report an outline of the doctrine of the ministry "as it pertains to unusual kinds of work, work which is ordinarily all 'secular', and work not under the jurisdiction of the Church; to submit for approval criteria for judging whether or not a particular work is appropriate for an ordained minister; and to propose a new section on the subject for Chapter 10 of the Book of Church Order if one is deemed desirable." This overture was answered in the negative "for the reason that this involves details which are not appropriate for inclusion in the Book of Church Order, and it should be left to individual Presbyteries to handle."

The Commission recommends further that this position be affirmed at this time.

The Commission recommends also that the General Assembly urge all Presbyteries, Synods, and executors of institutions of the Church courts to observe and carry out diligently all relevant provisions of the Form of Government with respect to the matter of ministers engaged in non-pastoral service.

Item 12.

(See page 175)

Overture 18 from the Presbytery of South Texas, requesting a clarification statement from the Permanent Theological Committee as to the ordination vows required by the Book of Church Order.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered by the following statement:

1. While the overture requests an interpretation by the Theological Committee, the Book of Church Order requires the Stated Clerk to refer to the Permanent Judicial Commission all overtures requiring an interpretation of the Book of Church Order (BCO 20-2).

2. The 1970 General Assembly instructed its Permanent Theological Committee to bring to the next General Assembly "(1) an interpretation of our Church's understanding of 'doctrinal loyalty' in light of the ordination question which describes 'Confession of Faith and the Catechisms of this Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures. . .,' and (2) an interpretation of the meaning of loyalty to the 'authority of Scripture as the only rule of faith and life.'" (See Minutes, 1970, p. 101).

3. There appears to be no lack of clarity in the meaning of the words as presently contained.

4. The questions sought to be clarified must be read together with other questions in the respective vows of ordination. (See especially BCO, 29-3(7) and 27-6(7).)

5. The General Assembly in 1898 and 1934 has answered this matter, at least in part, when defining the meaning of the phrase "system of doctrine" and the phrase "the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures," by saying the words "system of doctrine" as applied to the whole body of truth contained in the Confession of Faith is not ambiguous, but sufficiently definite and plain and declined further definition (See Assembly's Digest, p. 213 and Minutes, 1898, p. 223), and by saying the use of the words "the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scripture" as used in our ordination vows, means a candidate for ordination, when receiving and adopting the Confession of Faith and the Catechism of the Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scripture, does not affirm that each doctrine of the Confession is an integral part of that system, or an essential doctrine of the Scripture. The General Assembly cannot set forth "the fundamentals of this system of doctrine" as required in the ordination vow. It can, of course, declare what it conceives to be the fundamentals of this system. But it cannot determine abstractly, apart from regular judicial process, how the presbytery, which under our Constitution is charged with the duty of ordaining candidates, is to interpret this requirement in the regular discharge of its own functions. To attempt to do so would be in effect to amend the Constitution by extra-constitutional methods. (See Assembly's Digest pp. 213-214 and Minutes, 1934, p. 32.)

6. The Ad Interim Committee on a New Confession of Faith Together with a Book of Confessions is still at work and is to report of its progress to the 1971 General Assembly (see Minutes, 1970, pp. 81, 201.)

7. Reference to apparent lack of corresponding vows of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America raises no new problem. The Presbyterian Church in the United States will, in a constitutional and orderly manner, resolve these and many other questions of a similar nature if union is effected at some future date. A draft of a Plan of Union is being recommended for study to the 1971 General Assembly. (See Minutes, 1970, p. 84.)

Item 13.

Referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, pp. 109, 49) and Overture 19 from the Presbytery of Columbia, concerning "unit voting" by Presbyteries.

The 1970 General Assembly directed the Commission to clarify whether "Unit Voting" will actually result in confusion, complications and administrative difficulties, as was reported by the Commission (Minutes, 1970, pp. 160-161, 109) and to provide constitutionally acceptable language to effect the change.

1. The Commission believes that the proposed change in the method of voting on matters amending the Constitution and effecting Church Unions would be confusing, complicated, and administratively difficult for the following reasons:

1. The Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, in arriving at the vote-units in the proposed plan, will have to translate the actual votes of the members of the Presbyteries to vote-units. This means that in matters amending the Constitution or effecting Church Unions the Clerk will be dealing with approximately 960 vote-units instead of the present 74 Presbytery votes. For example: Presbytery X with 14,760 communicants, plus minister members, presently reports its action on these measures as one vote, either for or against. Under the so-called "vote-unit" procedure, the Presbytery would report the actual vote of its members to the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly. The Clerk would then calculate the vote-units of the Presbytery, which in the case of Presbytery X cited above would be 15 vote-units. Let us say that there are 81 members of the Presbytery eligible to vote at a particular meeting of the Presbytery and that the recorded votes are 75-6 for one proposition, 55-18 for another, 35-43 against another, and so on. Under the "vote-unit" procedure the Clerk will calculate that there are 15 vote-units for the Presbytery and that in the first instance there is one vote-unit for each 5.4 votes cast, based on 81 votes cast, so that the vote in the first case will figure out as 13.88 for and 1.12 against the proposition. Using the vote-unit procedure the Clerk would record the vote as 14 for and 1 against the proposition, since a fraction of a vote-unit will be credited to the majority side. For each vote taken on a proposed change to the Constitution the Clerk would have to go through this same mathematical procedure for each of the 73 Presbyteries. It is transparently clear that this procedure is in fact more complicated, more confusing, and more susceptible to administrative error than the simple method now provided for in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30.

2. The "vote-unit" procedure is, in reality, a misnomer. The Presbyteries now vote as a unit and the new proposition would be more accurately called a "split-vote" or "proportionate-vote" procedure.

3. The vote-unit procedure inculcates a different philosophy of Church order from that set forth in our Book of Church Order. The Preface to The Form of Government, III. 1. states, "The Presbyterian form of Church government is government by Presbyters or Elders, gathered in courts . . ." The same Preface, III.5., continues, "Ecclesiastical jurisdiction is a joint power, to be exercised by Presbyters in courts, and cannot be exercised by Presbyters as individuals." The Book of Church Order, 1-4, states, "Church power . . . is exercised by Church officers individually, as in preaching the Gospel, administering the Sacraments, reproofing the erring, visiting the sick, and comforting the afflicted, and is called the Power of Order. It is exercised by the Elders jointly, in Church courts, in the form of judgment or administration, and is called the Power of Jurisdiction." (Italics supplied.) (See also BCO, 13-1.)

The proposal erodes the Presbyterian philosophy because under its provision members of the court exercise the church power individually whereas it is in matters of judgment or administration to be exercised "jointly, in church courts." This power is properly exercised by a Presbytery as a court of the Church. Under the present voting procedure, moreover, there operates a system of checks and balances since a small Presbytery has one vote and a large Presbytery also has one vote. The proposition appears to gravitate toward a pure democracy concept instead of our historic Presbyterian representative government.

II. If the General Assembly wishes to change the voting procedure on matters amending the Constitution and effecting Church unions, a simpler, more direct, more straightforward way would be to amend the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30, so as to provide for each Presbytery to report its actual vote on each proposition to the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, who then would calculate the results based on the total vote in all the Presbyteries.

This change could be effected by amending the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30, as follows:

Amend Section 30-1(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through a majority of the total number of votes cast in all the Presbyteries."

Amend Section 30-2(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of votes cast in all the Presbyteries."

Amend Section 30-3(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of votes cast in all the Presbyteries."

III. As instructed by the 1970 General Assembly the Commission reports that the following language when added to the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30, would be sufficient and appropriate to accomplish the intended purpose:

Amend Section 30-1(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through a majority of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Amend Section 30-2(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Amend Section 30-3(2) to read, "The advice and consent of the Presbyteries expressed through three-fourths of the total number of vote-units of all the Presbyteries arrived at by the procedure described in 30-6."

Add a new Section 30-6 to read, "The Presbytery shall report to the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly the number of votes of members of the Presbytery cast for and against the proposition. The Stated Clerk of the General Assembly shall calculate the vote-units of each Presbytery on the basis of one vote-unit for each 1,000 active communing members or major fraction thereof. The number of active communing members shall be that of the last statistical report published by the General Assembly preceding the vote. The Presbytery's vote-units shall be divided in proportion to the votes cast by members of the Presbytery present and voting. When the division of Presbytery's vote-units produces a fraction of a vote-unit, that vote-unit shall be credited to the majority side."

In summary, regarding all the above, the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that no change be made in the Book of Church Order, Chapter 30.

Item 14.

(See page 177)

Overture 20 from the Synod of Appalachia, asking that only the Presbyterian, U.S., "factor" of the vote from union presbyteries on matters relative to union be considered.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered with the following statements:

1. The 1969 General Assembly adopted Chapter 32 of the Book of Church Order, which provides that "The churches of a union presbytery shall be considered union churches belonging to each denomination" (32-2(5)), and "Ministers of the union presbytery shall be full and responsible members of each denomination (32-2(6)). There is in union presbyteries no "Presbyterian Church in the United States Factor" after union has taken place.

2. In 1967 it was pointed out to the General Assembly that "What is asked is, in baldest terms, that the General Assembly delegate to lower courts by constitutional amendment a power that has heretofore been its most jealously guarded power. . . . An amendment of this type involves issues that go far beyond the mere mechanics of polity. . . . It involves a shift of power and a fundamental change in procedures that would leave in question the effect on some presently well-defined and efficiently executed responsibilities on the Assembly level. There are pragmatic considerations that ought to be explored in depth before new structural arrangements are made." (Minutes, 1967, p. 234.)

It was pointed out prior to the adoption of Chapter 32, BCO, that "Churches would also be 'members' of two, or three, denominations, on half- or third-scale, with exemptions and special privileges that would not apply to their brethren who were non-union." (Minutes, 1967, p. 237.)

The Commission, however, recommended that if the General Assembly wanted to make this change it could do so by drawing up a uniform plan with other committees of the UPUSA Assembly and the RCA General Synod.

The General Assembly did adopt Chapter 32 as submitted by a Committee that provided a uniform plan worked out with the UPUSA and RCA Committees. It is to be assumed that the General Assembly, having had all this pointed out, did not intend for UPUSA churches or ministers that might come into a union presbytery to be deprived of any rights which other churches and ministers enjoy and even to have special privileges in some cases. To change the rule now would be grossly unfair to those who have already entered into union presbyteries.

Item 15.

(See page 178)

Overture 21 from the Presbytery of St. Johns, asking the Assembly (1) to define the phrase "other Reformed bodies" and (2) to answer the question, "Is the United Church of Christ a Reformed body?"

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the following statements:

In 1968 the Presbytery of Brazos asked the Assembly to establish an agreement with the United Church of Christ for "union" churches. This was answered by referring to the negative answer given the Presbytery of Louisville which had asked the Assembly to approve in principle the uniting of its particular congregations with other evangelical congregations not specifically of the Reformed System (Minutes, 1968, p. 33, 118).

In 1970 the Presbytery of Winston-Salem asked for clarification of the meaning of "a particular church of another Reformed body" (Minutes, 1970, p. 55). The Assembly answered this overture by adopting the recommendation of the Permanent Judicial Commission, as follows:

"The term 'another Reformed body' is not defined in the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and is not susceptible to precise definition outside of said Constitution. The history of Chapter 31 suggests that it was never meant for Presbyteries to have powers greater than the General Assembly in effecting union with other church bodies. Book of Church Order, Sections 18-6 (13) and (17) limit the General Assembly's powers in matter of union to 'other ecclesiastical bodies whose organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church.'

"Therefore, a particular church of the Presbyterian Church in the United States may unite with another Reformed body under the provision of the Book of Church Order, Chapter 31, when said Reformed body's 'organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church' (BCO, 18-6 (17)).

"This union is to be done with the approval of the Presbytery of which said particular church is a member. (BCO, 31-1). Chapter 31 of the Book of Church Order places the responsibility for approval of said union upon the Presbytery of the particular Church.

"In granting approval of the union, Presbytery must determine if the other Reformed body in question is an 'ecclesiastical body whose organization is conformed to the doctrine and order of this Church.' Such determination by a Presbytery is subject to appellate jurisdiction." (BCO, 18-6(1), (6), 17-5(1), (3), 114-1.). (Minutes, 1970, p. 113).

Item 16.

(See page 178)

Overture 22 from the Presbytery at Norfolk, concerning federated churches.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons given to the 110th General Assembly:

1. Such proposed changes involve a radical departure from our present Constitution. A proper implementation of these proposed changes would require substantial amendments:

(a) To many sections of The Form of Government including: The Preface, Chapters on Incorporation and Property of Particular churches (Ch. 6), Jurisdiction over Church Members (Ch. 8), Nature of Church Office (Ch. 9), The Minister of the Word (Ch. 10), Doctrine of Church Courts (Part IV), Doctrine of Church Orders (Part V).

(b) To many sections of The Rules of Discipline.

(c) To provisions in The Directory for the Worship and Work of the Church for the administration of the Sacraments.

(d) And other possible changes.

Item 17.

(See page 179)

Referral from the 1970 General Assembly (Minutes, 1970, p. 116); and Overtures 23-27 from the Presbyteries of Brazos, Louisville-Union, and Central Texas, and from members of the Presbytery of Nashville and from the Youngblood Church of Waco, Texas, concerning union churches and union Presbyteries.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that these items raising questions about Chapter 31 and 32 of the Book of Church Order be answered as follows:

The referral asks that churches that become union churches because the Presbytery to which they belonged became a union Presbytery, be allowed to withdraw by proper procedure and become a member of a new Synod set up for this purpose.

Overture 23 asks for an interpretation of Section 31-2(2) to see if it infringes upon authority granted by Section 16-7(9) and, if so, to provide a constitutional amendment to remedy the situation.

Overture 24 states that in union Presbyteries there may be conflicting mandatory provisions, regarding real property transactions between the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and U.P.U.S.A. constitutions and asks if such conflict does exist that it be resolved by authoritative interpretation or by constitutional amendment.

Overtures 25 and 27 ask that Section 32-2(4) be amended to allow ministers and churches in a union Presbytery, who do not want membership, to transfer to a non-union Presbytery.

Overture 26 asks Chapter 31 be amended to allow a union church which became union by virtue of being in a union Presbytery to again become a non-union church should it become a member of a non-union Presbytery.

In 1967 it was pointed out to the General Assembly that "no church in a United Presbytery or Synod would have the privilege granted under Section 31-2 (old BCO Section prior to 1969 Amendment) of "ceasing to operate" as a union church. They would be irrevocably united as long as the Presbytery was a union Presbytery. . . ." and "no provision is made in the proposed amendment for exemption from union of those congregations which may not want it." (Minutes, 1967, p. 237.).

These provisions are now being asked for by the above overtures and, if changes are to be made, uniform provisions need to be enacted by the UPUSA Church and the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Therefore, it is recommended that the matters raised in these overtures be referred to the Stated Clerks of the General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to consult, work out and draft acceptable amendments to the Book of Church Order, Chapters 31 and 32 and other chapters, where needed.

Item 18.

(See page 179)

Overture 28 from the Presbytery of Ozarks-Union asking for the Book of Church Order to be amended or interpreted so as to allow a ruling elder to renounce the authority and jurisdiction (but not the communion) of one of the two denominations of which his particular church and Presbytery are members.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that this overture be answered with the following statement:

It is not possible to renounce the authority and jurisdiction of the Church without renouncing the communion. (Chapter 11 of the Rules of Discipline). A member of a union church or union Presbytery is a member of both denominations.

The matter of clarification of the different ordination vows required by the Presbyterian Church, U.S. and the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. constitution is now being studied by the Stated Clerks of the two General Assemblies in an effort to work out some agreement. (Minutes, 1970, p. 114.)

Item 19.

(See page 179)

Overture 29 from the Presbytery of the Everglades, asking that Chapter 32, Book of Church Order, be deleted.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons:

1. Though some clarification is needed for Chapter 32 BCO, the proper remedy is necessary amendment, not deletion of the entire chapter.

2. The matter of constitutionality of the adoption of Chapter 32 has been settled by the General Assembly, the court of highest authority in the P.C.U.S. (Minutes, 1968, p. 118). BCO 18-6(3) gives the General Assembly the power to decide finally in all controversies brought before it respecting doctrine, order and discipline.

3. The Constitution of the Church should not be easily or hastily changed. It took several years to work out Chapter 32 and it has only been in operation one year. For the sake of good order those Presbyteries which have entered into union under Chapter 32 should have a chance to make it work.

Item 20.

Overture 30 from the Presbytery of Savannah, concerning a congregation withdrawing.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends the following response:

There is no constitutional right provided for a congregation to withdraw from its relationship to the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The churches in question having taken an action in violation of the constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States can be deemed no longer to exist as Presbyterian churches in relation to this denomination and therefore need no longer be carried on the rolls of Presbytery.

Item 21.

A communication from the Synod of Louisiana, enclosing a communication from the Board of Trustees of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary to that Synod regarding worship in the seminary community, was referred by the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly to the Permanent Judicial Commission.

On examining the document, the Permanent Judicial Commission is of the opinion that it is not properly an overture to the General Assembly, that the original communication from the Seminary to its supporting Synod was intended to be responded to by the Synod, and that the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly should so inform the Synod.

Proposed amendment to Section 20-1 in report of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries.

In its responsibility regarding amending the Constitution under Section 20-7 of the Form of Government, the Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the language proposed by the Ad Interim Committee to amend Section 20-1 is adequate for the purpose. Such an amendment would make the section read:

"The General Assembly shall elect a Permanent Judicial Commission composed of six ministers and six ruling elders. To the extent permitted by the number of synods, from time to time established by the General Assembly, at least one member shall reside in each synod, and membership shall be equitably apportioned among the synods."

The Commission recommends that the amendment be sent to the Presbyteries for their advice and consent.

Item 23.

Referral from the 1969 General Assembly.

Overture 47 from the Presbytery of the Southwest, addressed to the General Assembly of 1969 (Minutes 1969, p. 63) requesting the General Assembly to make necessary changes in the Book of Church Order to establish a special service for retirement in the particular church upon the honorable retirement of a minister was answered in the affirmative, referred to the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work of the General Assembly and also referred to the Assembly's Permanent Judicial Commission for the framing of a suitable amendment or amendments to the Book of Church Order. It was specified that such proposals should be in keeping with present statements now included in the Book of Church Order relative to Ordination and Installation of Ministers.

The Judicial Commission has received a report from the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work concerning this matter.

The Permanent Judicial Commission advises the General Assembly that the subject of the overture and the proposed amendments as submitted herewith are not properly constitutional matters. The matter of honorable retirement cannot be placed on the same level with the Ordination and/or installation of a minister. Services recognizing honorable retirement are in the same category as current practices such as installation of Directors of Christian Education, recognition of candidates for the ministry, commissioning of Missionaries, etc.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends

- a. That the language of the proposed service be approved and commended to the Presbyteries for information and discretionary use.
- b. That the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work prepare copies of the service and circulate to Commissions on the Minister and His Work of each Presbytery.

Item 24.

Further amendments required if amendment to Section 17-1 now before the 1971 General Assembly is finally enacted.

Louisville Presbytery has called attention that some additional amendments need to be made to Chapter 17, Book of Church Order, to make it conform to amended Section 17-1, by which the minimum number of Presbyteries constituting a Synod will be reduced from three to two.

If the amendment to BCO 17-1 is consented to by the requisite number of Presbyteries and is approved by the General Assembly, the Permanent Judicial Commission respectfully recommends:

- a. That a new sentence be added to Book of Church Order, Section 17-3, at the end of the present paragraph in these words: "When a Synod is composed of only two Presbyteries three Ministers from each of the two Presbyteries and one Ruling Elder from each of the two Presbyteries shall constitute a quorum."
- b. That a new sentence be added to the Book of Church Order, Section 17-4 immediately following the first sentence of the paragraph in these words: "When a Synod is composed of only two Presbyteries the Moderator shall, at the request or with the concurrence of four Ministers and four Ruling Elders from each of the two Presbyteries, call a special meeting."

Item 25.

Overture 31 from the Presbytery of Asheville, asking the General Assembly to suspend for three years any change in the Book of Church Order dealing with local church property.

The Permanent Judicial Commission recommends that the overture be answered in the negative for the following reasons: The General Assembly has twice previously answered in the negative overtures for limitation of the process of amending the Constitution (see Minutes, 1945, pages 28, 54; 1947, page 52; or Assembly's Digest, page 219). The Assembly has consistently acted upon a principle expressed in the Minutes of 1939, page 67 (Assembly's Digest, page 112) that no Assembly can bind a future Assembly. This rests upon a fundamental principle of parliamentary order expressed in Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, Section 8, page 75.

Item 26.

(See page 181)

Proposed amendment to the Book of Church Order by addition of a new Chapter 33, by amending Form of Government Section 8-16, Section 13-7, Section 16-1, Section 16-7, Section 17-1, and by adding an additional Section 21-5 in the report of the General Assembly's Committee on Certification of Lay Workers.

A copy of the report of the General Assembly's Committee on Certification of Lay Workers was not filed with the Stated Clerk by February 1, 1971, under General Assembly Standing Rule 9.1 and was not received by the Commission in time to be considered at the Commission's meeting on March 17-19, 1971. The Form of Government Section 20-7 provides the General Assembly cannot consider an amendment until there has been opportunity for a report from the Permanent Judicial Commission. The Commission's report cannot now be made in time for the 1971 General Assembly. Opportunity for study and review of so many changes is needed. The Commission will retain the report for study and report to the 1972 General Assembly.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CENTER, INC.

TO:

Board of Annuities and Relief
Board of National Ministries
The General Council
Board of Christian Education
Board of Women's Work
Office of the General Assembly

Owners of the property of Presbyterian Center, Inc., located at 341 Ponce de Leon Avenue, Northeast, Atlanta, Georgia (submitted as information to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States).

During 1970, Presbyterian Center operated within a budget based on the same rental rates as the previous year. This was done even in the face of rapidly rising living costs, increasing taxes and higher interest rates. In fact, since the building was occupied in 1965, there has never been an increase in rent. Rather, during this period of rising costs the Board which manages the Center has afforded a 6 ½ per cent reduction in rent to all the occupant agencies. This is part of the Board's continuing efforts to provide housing and facilities for the agencies of our Church at the most economical cost possible.

The building debt is now reduced to $440,000. It is being amortized primarily out of current operating funds. Practically all other sources of revenue for this purpose have diminished. We appreciate all who have contributed so generously to the Center and welcome additional gifts.

At the close of 1970, a lease was negotiated for the space left vacant by the Board of Christian Education when it closed the Atlanta Presbyterian Book Store. Effective February 1, 1971, the former book store will be converted for use as a branch office of the Department of Family and Children Services of Fulton County. The Board feels this is a fine and compatible tenant for this space and is delighted to report this arrangement.

Presbyterian Center continues to be an active and busy place. Meetings, seminars and workshops are constantly making demands on the several conference rooms and auditorium on a schedule often running into late night hours. Service departments in the building are now providing consolidated operations in typesetting and layout, offset printing, addressing, and mailing among other things. The facilities of the Center are proving to be a beneficial asset to the agencies housed in it.

We are grateful to all those who show interest in the Center and the work of the various agencies. Church groups are constantly touring the building and taking time to become informed about the program of our church that is administered through it. Educational tours can be arranged for any size group on week days or week-ends. We encourage this and the staff delights in doing it.

Respectfully submitted,

Treasurer*

OTHER MATTERS

The following, which have been received by the Stated Clerk, do not appear to be properly either "overtures" (Standing Rules, 7.1) or "communications" (Standing Rules, 8.1). Only the first has the form of an overture, but does not "request action" of the Assembly on a "specific matter," unless request for receipt "as information" be so interpreted. The other four merely advise the Assembly that the paper transmitted has been adopted by the Presbytery.

Attention is called to the following facts: That a similar paper was adopted by another Presbytery; that Presbytery's action was complained against to Synod; that the Synod's action relative to that complaint was itself complained against to the General Assembly; that the complaint "McDonald, et al, v. the Synod of South Carolina" has been heard by the Assembly's Permanent Judicial Commission; that the preliminary judgment of the Permanent Judicial Commission on this complaint is docketed as the first item of business at the evening session on Monday, June 14.

These five items are called to the attention of the General Assembly without recommendation of reference.

Stated Clerk

Fathers and Brethren:

The Presbytery of Central Mississippi, meeting in Jackson, Mississippi, October 15, 1970, voted to overture the General Assembly to receive the following Resolution, which it adopted, as information:

Whereas, we hold that recent General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States have taken many actions we believe to be contrary to the Constitution of this our Church, and that surrender some of the basic doctrines and governmental principles of our Church, and that tend strongly and increasingly toward unconstitutional mergers with other Churches; and,

Whereas, conviction and conscience permit us to do no less than take a clear and affirmative stand in behalf of the preservation and continuation of a Presbyterian Church loyal to Scripture and to the Reformed faith;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Central Mississippi advises the higher courts of the Church that we are determined to stand for the historic doctrines and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., and for the right of local congregations to hold title to and exercise complete control over their property; and the Presbytery declares that:

1. The Presbytery of Central Mississippi will oppose and will not accept any surrender or dilution of the basic positions of the system of doctrine set forth in the Westminster Confession of Faith, nor will we accede to the weakening or demeaning of these confessional standards through their being included in a general book of confessions; nor will we accept any changes in ordination vows which would no longer require Ministers and/or other officers of the church to subscribe to the historic Westminster standards.

2. The Presbytery of Central Mississippi will oppose and will not be a party to organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which union would, inevitably, lead to the downgrading of the distinctive doctrinal positions of the Westminster standards, and would facilitate further non-Reformed mergers, such as that proposed in C.O.C.U. (Church of Christ Uniting).

3. The Presbytery of Central Mississippi maintains that the constitution of our Church recognizes the sole right of congregations to own and control their church property, and that no court of the Church has a moral or legal right to take this ownership and control away from congregations; and this Presbytery will not recognize any changes in our standards that would take control of local church property from a congregation and vest it in a Presbytery or other higher church court.

4. The Presbytery of Central Mississippi will take such actions as conditions may indicate and which the Presbytery may deem necessary or desirable to protect and preserve the principles and propositions herein set forth.

A RESOLUTION FROM THE PRESBYTERY OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Done in Fall Stated Session, 13 October 1970

To: The General Assembly, Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Whereas, we hold that recent General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. have taken actions that look toward unconstitutional church mergers and the alteration of the basic doctrine and polity of our church;

Whereas, we feel constrained by our consciences to take a clear and affirmative stand on behalf of the preservation and continuation of a Presbyterian Church loyal to Scripture and to the Reformed Faith;

We now, therefore, advise the higher courts of the church that we have determined to stand for the historic doctrine and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and do herewith declare:

1. The Presbytery of South Carolina will oppose organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which union would inevitably lead to a disappearance of our distinctive confessional witness, and would facilitate further non-Reformed mergers, such as that proposed by COCU (Church of Christ Uniting).

2. The Presbytery of South Carolina will not accept any dilution of the system of doctrine set forth in the Westminster Confession of Faith; nor will we accept the demeaning of our confessional standards by including them in the Book of Confessions; nor will we accept such changes in ordination vows as will no longer require officers of the church to adhere to our present Westminster standards.

3. The Presbytery of South Carolina maintains that the constitution of our church vests in local congregations the sole right to own and control local church property, and that no court has a moral, legal, or constitutional right to try to take this ownership and control away from local congregations.

At its Stated Meeting Tuesday, September 29, 1970, the Presbytery of East Alabama adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, we hold that recent General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. have taken actions that look toward unconstitutional church mergers and the alteration of the basic doctrine and polity of our church;

Whereas, conscience will permit us to do no less than take a clear and affirmative stand on behalf of the preservation and continuation of a Presbyterian church loyal to Scripture and to the Reformed Faith;

We now, therefore, advise the higher courts of the church that we have determined to stand for the historic doctrine and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and do herewith declare:

1. The Presbytery of East Alabama will oppose and will not be party or organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which union would inevitably lead to a disappearance of our distinctive confessional witness and would facilitate further non-Reformed mergers, such as that proposed by COCU (Church of Christ Uniting).

2. The Presbytery of East Alabama will not accept any dilution of the system of doctrine set forth in the Westminster Confession of Faith; nor will we accept the demeaning of our confessional standards by including them in a Book of Confessions; nor will we accept such changes in ordination vows as will no longer require officers of the church to adhere to our present Westminster standards.

3. The Presbytery of East Alabama maintains that the constitution of our church vests in local congregations the sole right to own and control local church property and that no court of the church has a moral or legal right to try to take this ownership and control away from local congregations.

In consequence of the foregoing, the Presbytery of East Alabama will take such actions it deems necessary or desirable to protect and preserve the propositions and principles herein set forth.

The Session of the Second Presbyterian Church, out of a sincere love for the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and a sense of urgent anguish over the prospects of her demise within the near future, overtures the Presbytery of Enoree to adopt the following resolutions:

Whereas the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. has persisted in moving toward Union with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. and

Whereas the General Assembly has continued to participate in C.O.C.U. after a plan of union has come forth which departs from Presbyterian order and

Whereas concerted efforts are being made to jeopardize property rights of local congregations; and

Whereas these actions are inevitably leading toward the fragmentation and dissolution of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.;

Now therefore we the Presbytery of Enoree do hereby declare that we have covenanted together to stand for the historic doctrine and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. Specifically:

1. The Presbytery of Enoree will not consent to organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which union would inevitably result in merger with the proposed C.O.C.U. (Church of Christ Uniting), a merger now forbidden by the Constitution of our Church and in the event of union with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., the Presbytery of Enoree will not surrender control of Presbytery property to the union denomination.

2. The Presbytery of Enoree cannot in good conscience accept any dilution or demeaning of the Confession of Faith or any change in ordination vows which would no longer bind church officers to adhere to the doctrinal standards of our Church.

3. The Constitution of our Church which we have sworn to uphold vests the rights to buy, sell, mortgage or otherwise encumber local church property in the congregations. The Presbytery of Enoree believes that no court of the church has a moral or legal right to take this power away from congregations now existing, and will not accept the vesting of these constitutional rights and powers in the Presbyteries or other courts of the church.

4. The Presbytery of Enoree is unequivocally opposed to any plan for restructuring the Church which does not require the explicit approval of the synods involved.

A Resolution to the Presbytery of South Mississippi

Whereas the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States continues to participate in conversations which may lead to unconstitutional mergers with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and with the Church of Christ Uniting (COCU); and

Whereas the writing of a New Confession of our church continues, the substance of which confession cannot be known; and

Whereas repeated efforts are being made to undermine the integrity of our form of government, and the powers of the various courts of the church,

We now therefore as a presbytery do declare that we shall not depart from certain basic aspects of our church's heritage, to wit:

1. We shall not depart from our oath-bound commitment to the system of doctrine contained in the Westminster Confession of Faith and Catechisms for any confession or book of confessions less biblical in content than our present confession.

2. We shall not depart from these confessional commitments of our ordination vows for the sake of establishing a broader unity of the church; and specifically will oppose organic union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. or with the Church of Christ Uniting (COCU), which unions would nullify the confessional witness of our church.

3. We shall not depart from our recognition of the legal and moral claims of the local congregation to its properties, or from our opposition to any efforts to remove these properties from the ownership and control of the local congregation.

By this resolution the Presbytery of South Mississippi hereby notifies the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States that as a presbytery we shall not be moved from our commitment to these particular principles, and will continue to take such actions as may be necessary to preserve our integrity as a presbytery.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF TRAV

The Board of Directors of TRAV, the Television, Radio and Audio-Visual agency of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, respectfully submits this report on its work in 1970 to the 111th General Assembly. This report is a brief summary of an exciting and fruitful year. A summary of the summary shows:

TRAV'S TRAINING WORK: Through almost all of 1970, a full-time Director of Training for the use of mass media was serving the Church. This is a highly significant "first" in the history of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., symbolizing in a new way the Church's commitment to using modern means of communication to present the Eternal Truth.

Under the guidance of the Training Director, TRAV cooperated with Union and Columbia Seminaries in conducting special programs of continuing education in the use of mass media. Regional training events were offered in several other locations, and ministers from almost every synod were involved.

Helpful contacts were established with the Radio Advertising Bureau and the Television Information Office, which have provided the Church with a flood of informational and training materials on radio and TV. These materials are now being built into TRAV's training projects.

New training materials, and an expanding training library, for use of students seeking to learn how to communicate the Gospel through use of the mass media, were developed.

TRAV'S RADIO MINISTRY: TRAV's newest radio program, "What's It All About?" made an exciting entrance to the "Top 40" radio market, and quickly became one of the nation's most effective religious programs for reaching youth. More than 200 stations were scheduling the program before 1970 ended.

"The Protestant Hour", in its 26th year, served as an effective means for the denomination to carry its Hunger emphasis throughout the world, as it broadcast 13 extraordinary programs on "Hope and Hunger." More than 560 stations gave time to these messages.

"Be Still and Know" continues to hold the unique distinction of being the most widely distributed radio program in history. This daily devotional was carried by nearly 1500 stations through 1970.

TRAV'S TELEVISION MINISTRY: Two special TV "spots" were completed and released in support of the Hunger emphasis. These spots challenge viewers to help fight hunger, and give the box number used by the Hunger Task Force.

A deeply moving sign-on and sign-off spot using the fourth verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" was completed, and is in use on more than 100 TV stations. This visualizing of the prayer contained in the fourth verse made front-page news in newspapers, and was presented as an important news story on stations' six o'clock news round-ups.

Placement efforts for TRAV's older TV spots and programs continued through the year, with hundreds of these programs being accepted and used across the nation.

TRAV'S AUDIO-VISUAL SERVICES: TRAV's growing religious film rental library, the largest such in the Southeast, and its sale of audio-visual equipment and materials experienced a dramatic 22 per cent increase in total sales and rentals to the Church.

TRAV provided for the first time a well-equipped facility in Montreat to serve as an audio-visual studio for conferences. Response was tremendous. In addition, TRAV staff was more widely and wisely used by all conferences in Montreat for audio-visual services.

The purchase of a portable high-speed duplicator for cassette tapes enabled TRAV to offer during 1970, also for the first time, immediate, on-the-spot copies of tapes of major addresses and sermons.

Film previewing services continued to expand, with special events of this type provided for synod groups in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

TRAV audio-visual specialists also participated in training events for students, groups of ministers, synodical women's schools and directors of Christian education in Presbyterian School of Christian Education, the Board of Christian Education, the synodical schools of West Virginia and North Carolina, in Austin, Columbia, Louisville and Union Seminaries, and in Orlando and Houston.

I. TRAV's Training Work

The Rev. Charles E. Swann became TRAV's Training Director on January 5, 1970. The first goal of the new department was the training of the new Training Director, through a schedule of study, travel, interviews, and training events. The foundations laid, and detailed planning done by the Board and staff in 1969 made possible almost immediate involvement in effective training work.

The Training Department has attempted to develop its programs and activities under four broad headings which were foreseen by the TRAV staff and Board of Directors in their original planning. These headings are (I) seminaries and PSCE, (II) continuing education in judicatories, (III) leadership training, and (IV) overseas and missions training. All training work is financed from 1968 Women's Birthday Offering funds.

I. Seminaries and PSCE

Seminary Continuing Education Programs: Our relations and cooperation with the seminaries have continued to the point that we are now scheduling cooperative annual continuing education workshops in each seminary.

Service to Faculties: TRAV is preparing and mailing periodically resource kits for media training and helps on use of media in instruction.

Faculty Training Grants: TRAV has informed the seminaries that it will welcome requests from faculty members for media training, and will attempt to provide scholarship funds or grants for such training.

Equipment: TRAV has already provided video-tape equipment or funds for its purchase to all four seminaries and PSCE. It continues to assist the seminaries in the use of this communications equipment by providing funds for maintenance, and by offering funds for selected types of new media training equipment.

II. Continuing Education in Judicatories

TRAV undertakes to provide training experiences for ministers, directors of Christian education and other leaders in synods and presbyteries wherever area, regional, or local groups will organize and support such events. These training experiences are often carried on in cooperation with other TRAV departments, and in cooperation with other Boards of the Church.

III. Leadership Training

In actual fact, leadership training efforts are reported in each of the two preceding areas. Many opportunities for the leadership of the Church to get mass media training are being, and will be offered in cooperation with seminaries. Leadership from presbytery, synod and Assembly offices participate in training events sponsored by judicatories. But the primary focus of leadership training beyond these areas has been in designing training programs specifically for the needs of personnel of Boards and agencies. The first such event was conducted for the staff of the Board of Christian Education. Plans for other similar events are being developed with other program Boards of the Church.

In addition, TRAV has developed plans for a church-wide communications conference in the summer of 1971. The conference will be held in Montreat July 28-30.

IV. Overseas Workers' Training

The Training of missionaries and Christian nationals for work in the mass media fields overseas is in developmental stage only. Consultations with the Board of World Missions are proceeding.

As a means of strengthening and supporting all these areas, the Training Department has established ecumenical and industrial relationships which are of great benefit. Contact has been made with persons in other denominations who are working in mass media training. Ideas, materials, and techniques are being shared.

Contacts have been established with the Radio Advertising Bureau, the Television Information Office, and the Television Advertising Bureau. These industry representatives have given TRAV a tremendous amount of material that helps in our training work as ministers and leaders seek to understand what mass media are doing to us. This material consists of many slides, samples of TV programming, tapes of radio broadcasts, and printed items, and these have been added to TRAV's growing library of communications training resources.

II. The Radio Ministries

1970 saw the addition to TRAV's productions the first new continuing radio program in ten years. "What's It All About?" was developed experimentally with only a small budget of experimental funds to build upon. It was aimed at youth, the major audience served by radio. The program was run-away success, both with the broadcasting industry itself and with the young audience.

Almost as significant as the program itself is the fact that the program was able to survive and expand rapidly despite TRAV's severe financial limitations. That the program did so is proof that when a quality program can be launched on a shoe-string and prove itself, the Church comes through, to see that the need is met. With the aid of the Synod of Georgia TRAV Committee, the Presbyterian Appalachian Broadcasting Council, individual churches of several denominations, the denominational broadcasting agencies of the American Lutheran, United Methodist, and American Baptist Churches, this program got going and fast. All these groups picked up the costs of placement on stations in their areas, and left TRAV to carry the less burdensome production costs.

Result? Today "What's It All About?" is heard on over 200 stations in the United States and Canada, and on the European Armed Forces Network. In addition, the broadcasting industry applauded the program, and gave it warm mention in several trade publications.

The other two continuing programs of TRAV, "The Protestant Hour," now in its 26th year, and "Be Still and Know," in its 11th year, continued to be important parts of the communication of this Church with the world.

Dr. Wade P. Huie of Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga., Dr. H. Louis Patrick of Trinity Presbyterian Church, Charlotte, N.C., and the choirs of First Presbyterian Church of Orlando, Fla., drew an outstanding amount of mail for their participation on our July through September "Protestant Hour" broadcasts. These were carried on 560 stations on this continent and the Armed Forces Radio Network overseas. The programs brought by Dr. Huie and Dr. Patrick were on the subject of "Hope and Hunger," as a part of the Church's attention to the program of hunger.

"Be Still and Know" still holds the record as the most widely distributed syndicated radio program, whether religious or secular, in the history of broadcasting. This two and one-half minute devotional is carried daily on early 1500 stations on this continent, and for most of the year on the Armed Forces Radio Network.

In 1970, cooperative efforts were initiated that we are hopeful will expand. Production was begun for cooperative spot releases with the American Lutheran Church. Because these Lutherans are also involved in youth programming, both broadcasting offices felt we should combine resources and know-how to provide quality spots aimed at youth.

Spots were also the concern of The Presbyterian Appalachian Broadcasting Council. Three discs were recorded and released featuring Tennessee Ernie Ford, and two spots and two songs were recorded and released by PABC of Mose Henry, a professional entertainer and song writer, now attending Presbyterian School of Christian Education. In addition, PABC adopted "What's It All About?", as indicated above, and distributes it throughout the eight-state Appalachian area.

In non-broadcast areas, the Radio Department has served many boards and agencies by preparing special sound tracks and tapes for varied program purposes. One of the most unusual was a tape which the Department wrote and produced at the request of the Board of Women's Work, looking at the history of Rock Music, its amazing shift toward religious themes, and the theological implications of these facts. Though the tape was produced for non-broadcast, in-church use, it has been picked up by some stations and used as a 30-minute special. Because of this, the tape is now being up-dated and produced in broadcast-quality for distribution to radio stations.

Aside from teaching assignments and involvement in the media workshops sponsored by our Training Department, the Director of Radio was invited to make teaching presentations by an Ecumenical Chaplain's Workshop in Atlanta at Protestant Radio and Television Center, the World Association of Christian Communications in St. Petersburg, Fla., the National Religious Broadcasters in Washington, D.C., and at the Board of Women's Work Conference in Montreat. There Mr. Huie and his wife, now a student in Columbia Seminary, conducted a contemporary worship service for close to 3000 women of the Church.

Once each year, the Radio Department of TRAV becomes a News Department. Radio coverage of the 1970 General Assembly was greater than any previous year. Twenty-five key stations, plus three religious networks were fed daily, and some were fed two or three times daily. At the same time, every minute of the Assembly was taped, and portions of these tapes were used in the General Council's news tape, "Sounds of the Assembly."

The Radio Department's intensive involvement in youth culture in the development of "What's It All About?" led to several interesting discoveries. One was that the music of the young has made an astounding journey from relatively meaningless words and rhythm, to mild protest, then to bitter protest, next to a search for values, and now has produced an unprecedented outpouring of religious, often Christian, messages. A second discovery is that many ministers and teachers are anxious to know more about the youth sub-culture and its music, and they are asking for the words to important songs. TRAV found it did not have staff time to serve this need, nor did it have funds to hire additional staff. So the Director of Radio and his wife, on their own time, are preparing and offering a "tip sheet" to keep ministers and teachers up to date on what is happening in youth music and in the youth counter-culture. With only one announcement, over 350 subscriptions have been received, and the sheet has become required reading at some radio stations.

III. The Television Ministries

In response to the denomination's emphasis on Hunger, TRAV developed two television spots. They are now being distributed. One is a 30-second reminder that "In the time it takes to raid the refrigerator, 10 persons starve to death." The other, one minute long, pictures children raiding a meat-market garbage can in search of food, with the question: "Well, what would you do if you were hungry?" Both hunger spots conclude with "Want to know how you can help? Write Hunger, Box 330, Nashville, Tenn."

Responses are coming in steadily in the form of questions, comments and checks. Those who write in are sent a booklet on hunger, with suggestions of how they may be involved locally in the fight against hunger.

Another new TRAV spot features "The Star Spangled Banner", verse four. It has an unusual history and reception. Most TV stations have used the National Anthem for signing off at the end of a broadcasting day. Some use the Anthem as a sign-on. Nearly all of these sign-off films have been supplied by the Armed Forces, so the message of patriotism has been pretty exclusively in military terms. A group of Texas women in radio and television last year suggested the need for a non-military "Star Spangled Banner" sign-off film. The request was relayed by Dr. Harvey Herbst, a Texan on the TRAV Board, and production began.

The fourth verse of the Anthem contains a prayer. TRAV's Director of Television took film footage visualizing this verse, and Miss Peggy Stuart sang the Anthem to a special arrangement. The finished spot has been enthusiastically welcomed by stations, has landed on the front page of newspapers, and attracted special news reports on TV stations.

During 1970 considerable effort was also given to placing TV spots and programs produced in previous years. The "Hot Rod Spots", the 30-minute color program "Come, Blow Your Horn," and the "Living Faith" spots were more widely distributed, a number being sent to Australian stations on request.

With the encouragement of the TRAV Board, the Director of Television in 1970 also experimented with multi-media worship services. These included the production of some three-minute items to be used during a church's offering, to illustrate the mission work being done with benevolence funds.

IV. TRAV's Audio-Visual Services

Interest in audio-visuals (moving and still projected visuals and recorded sound) is definitely increasing in the Church. If nothing else showed this, the 22 per cent increase in 1970 in sales of AV equipment materials, and rentals of films from TRAV, would be a strong indication. But there are other indicators too: the growing number of requests from synod and presbytery groups for film previewing sessions . . . The increasing demand for TRAV's help in designing and staging multi-media audio-visual events . . . The expanding use of audio cassettes . . . The growing number of requests for help in planning effective strategies for using audio-visuals in local church educational efforts . . . The expanding awareness that through audio-visuals the Church may be able to reach and communicate with thousands who have not been willing to listen to the unaided spoken word.

TRAV's AV work moved ahead through the efforts of its AV library staff, and its specialists in AV equipment and AV materials utilization. Many others in the TRAV staff were also involved in multi-media productions and staging. AV work was slowed AV work was slowed by TRAV's financial inability to replace its Director of AV Production. Such production as was done was turned out by adding to the overload of other staff members.

As indicated, TRAV's sales and rentals jumped sharply in 1970. The larger increase came in the equipment area, as dozens of churches bought new motion picture or filmstrip projectors, screens, slide projectors, record players, and all manner of tape recorders. A significant increase was in the purchase of special equipment for use in local production of audio-visual presentations. Cameras and recorders which can be used by children and youth were in greater demand, so that churches might involve these age groups in Christian education projects of unusual appeal to them.

The past year was also a good one for quality motion pictures. An unusually large number of really outstanding new religious films were added to TRAV's library, now the largest in the Southeast. There are now excellent films on almost every subject with which a church group may need to deal. TRAV is eager to help in your selection.

The scope of TRAV's opportunity of service in Montreat conferences each summer continues to grow. One result is that TRAV staff works throughout the year to plan and prepare for providing these services. The logistics of stocking and moving all needed equipment, sales stock, and supplies is a big job. Setting up the temporary TRAV Studio and staffing it in Montreat involves not only year-long planning, but truck loads of material.

In 1970, for the first time, TRAV's Equipment Consultant, Mr. Les Garber, moved from the Atlanta office to work in Montreat for the summer, discussing equipment needs with churchmen, and taking their orders. Montreat equipment sales quadrupled as a result.

Also for the first time TRAV offered cassette tape recordings of platform presentations in Montreat. With the use of an on-the-spot high-speed duplicator, TRAV was able to fill most cassette orders before conferees left the grounds. This meant, of course, that hundreds went back to local churches ready upon their arrival to share some of the inspiration of their Montreat experience.

On another front, TRAV is increasingly involved in the preparation and staging of multi-media presentations of the major Boards at Montreat. Each year we prepare overhead transparencies, special sound tapes, and hundreds of slides for these events. Audio-visuals became such a prominent factor in the National Ministries Conference that, for the first time, a member of the TRAV staff sat with the 1970 conference planning committee, and another TRAV man was named stage manager for the conference. This involvement in major conferences will increase in 1971.

All these things, plus the previewing sessions and specialized training events reported in the "summary of the summary" are convincing to TRAV staff and Board that the Church is really serious now about making skilled and exciting use of audio-visuals.

V. The Financial Picture

Almost everyone is aware of the impact financial problems have had upon the work of the churches and their agencies. TRAV is no exception. Its work in 1970 was considerably curtailed by financial difficulties. Even though benevolence receipts for 1970 were better than in 1969, the sad fact is that the level of programming had to be significantly below levels achieved in 1967 and 1968. The pattern of benevolence receipts shows:

1967	$184,200	up $12,180
1968	$171,761	down $12,439
1969	$153,773	down $17,988
1970	$159,028	up $5,255

Declining support forced TRAV to drop some programs in 1969, and to curtail most of its continuing efforts. But because it takes time to close down programs to which commitments have been made with broadcasting stations, TRAV ran a $16,000 deficit in 1969. Correcting for that deficit meant that further reduction in services and programming had to be made in 1970. The most apparent result of the belt-tightening was that during 1970, for the first time in more than 20 years the Church did not have an audio-visual director at work. TRAV simply could not replace its AV Director when he resigned to accept a call to a church. AV production efforts suffered.

That's the gloomy side of the picture. Happier facts can be reported. The upturn in benevolence contributions in 1970 helped cushion the "correction" for the 1969 deficit. And a whopping increase in audio-visual sales and rentals helped.

Every denomination operating a religious film library does so as a service to its churches, and expects the library to lose money. All of these libraries, then, are subsidized from benevolence funds. The film libraries render a highly valuable service, of course, providing educational and inspirational resources that are usually unavailable to churches anywhere else. So to provide such a service, TRAV underwrites annual losses. In some years, when TRAV had an audio-visual production staff as well as the sales and rental personnel, the underwriting has been as much as $35,000, about equally divided between production and distribution functions.

For AV production, TRAV attempts to provide the Church with experts who can, without charging for the service, guide any agency or church court through the process of producing any type of audio-visual. The service is not revenue bearing.

For AV distribution, TRAV charges for its services. It sells, at prices below list, the best in equipment. It sells tape and film at money-saving prices. It rents films at contract prices. The earnings from this business pay the major part of the cost of a staff which provides the services, and of the purchase of the movies. Distribution services, however, include assistance to synods, presbyteries and local groups in learning what is available in AVs, and how to use it. This is done through consultative services, and through previewing sessions on location. This part of the distribution service is not revenue bearing. The result is that benevolence funds must be used to assist in maintaining these services if the Church is to make informed and skillful use of available AV materials and techniques.

In 1968, sales and rentals brought in $88,000. In 1970 the total was $108,000. Since, during 1970, TRAV did not have a full-time audio-visual director, and profits were higher, support needed for AVs from benevolence funds dropped to its lowest level in a decade: $9,654. This was a major factor in helping TRAV "turn the corner" without graver damage to programming and staff.

VI. Report of Attendance and Vacancies

The TRAV Board of Directors held two meetings in 1970. Attendance is as follows:

William D. Hedden	2	Rev. Arthur Vann Gibson	2
Rev. Massey M. Heltzel	0	Mr. Wm. P. Lamkin	2
Rev. Hubert V. Taylor	2	Miss Janie McCutchen	2
Mrs. Charles A. Young, Jr.	0	Mr. Robert O. Hirsch	2
Rev. George R. Wright	2	Mr. Donald O. McDougald	2
Rev. Lawrence W. Bottoms	2	Dr. Bill E. Fancher	2
Rev. Francis M. Womack, Jr.,	1	Mr. Charles R. Sanders	1
Mr. Lacy S. Sellers	2	Miss Sue Nichols	1
Dr. Harvey R. Herbst	2	Rev. William G. McAtee	2

Mrs. Charles A. Young, Jr., died early in the year, and her great ability and numerous contributions to the work of TRAV through four years of services were severely and sadly missed by the Board.

All those recorded as having attended only one meeting were elected to the Board after the first meeting of 1970.

TRAV has reported to the Permanent Nominating Committee of the General Assembly the vacancy on the Board which exists as the result of Mrs. Young's death. It has also advised the Nominating Committee of the expiration of terms of service of Dr. Hubert Vance Taylor, the present Chairman of the Board; Dr. Massey Mott Heltzel, immediate past Chairman; and Mr. William D. Hedden. Dr. Taylor and Dr. Heltzel are eligible for re-election, having completed two terms. Mr. Hedden has served the maximum number of terms and is not eligible for re-election.

REPORT OF THE ASSEMBLY'S COMMITTEE ON THE MINISTER AND HIS WORK

I. Committee Meeting and Officers

The Committee met in Atlanta, Ga., on December 7 and 8, 1970. All members were present except Rev. Charles A. Sheldon, III, who was excused on account of illness in his family.

Rev. Hugh B. Evans, Executive Secretary, Department of Ministerial Relations, United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America was present as a guest of the Committee.

The following officers were re-elected for the year 1971:

Rev. Robert G. Hall, Chairman

Dr. Robert C. Malcolm, Vice-chairman

Mr. Joseph E. Patrick, Member-at-Large of the Executive Committee

Mr. Charles M. Harris, Secretary.

Recognition was made of Rev. Messrs. Charles A. Sheldon, III, and Preston F. Stevenson whose memberships on the Committee terminate with the 1971 General Assembly meeting. These have been faithful in the discharge of their responsibilities.

II. Resolution to the 1960 General Assembly (G.A. Minutes, 1960, pp. 73 and 90)

The concern of this Committee continues toward any minister whose position is jeopardized as the result of "speaking the mind of the Church in love." If such was experienced by any of our ministers in 1970 it was not called to the attention of the Committee.

III. Overture 47. From the Presbytery of the Southwest (G.A. Minutes, 1969, p. 36)

"Whereas, the retirement of a minister is a momentous event in his life and in his service to Christ to the Church; and,

Whereas, the installation of a minister as a Pastor of a congregation is an act of Presbytery;

Therefore, the Presbytery of the Southwest requests the General Assembly to make necessary changes in the Book of Church Order to establish a special service of retirement in the particular church upon the honorable retirement of a minister."

Report of the Standing Committee on the Minister and His Work (G.A. Minutes, 1969, pp. 63 and 64):

"4. That Overture 47 from the Presbytery of the Southwest (see page 36) relative to a special service of retirement be answered as follows: (That the Overture be answered in the affirmative.) That in addition this Standing Committee requests:

a. The Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work of the General Assembly and the Assembly's Permanent Judicial Commission be requested to frame a suitable Amendment or amendments to The Book of Church Order relative to the Honorable Retirement of ministers in keeping with present statements now included in The Book of Church Order relative to Ordination and Installation of ministers.

b. That this proposed Amendment to The Book of Church Order be prepared and presented to the General Assembly of 1970, for its approval."

This Assembly's Committee was unable to complete the study of Overture 47 and, therefore, requested additional time of the 1970 Assembly. The request was granted. (G.A. Minutes, 1970, pp. 295-6, and p. 155, Item 8.)

The study has been concluded. BCO 27-6 sets forth the Ordination of ministers in a specific orderly procedure. Therefore, the Honorable Retirement of ministers should be of equal gravity. Proposed amendments to the Book of Church Order have been submitted to the Permanent Judicial Commission as provided in BCO 20-3. (See Recommendations 1, 2 and 3.)

IV. Report of Standing Committee on Church and Society (G.A. Minutes, 1970, p. 118.)

"5. Ministers of the Gospel should be subject to the same tax regulations as other citizens. We see no justification for either preferential tax treatment for them or discrimination against them."

"2. That the Permanent Committee on the Minister and His Work, or such other committee as

The above was referred to the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work, which appointed a sub-committee of knowledgeable members to make the study. The Committee carefully examined the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and is convinced that there is neither preferential tax treatment for, nor discrimination against, Ministers of the Gospel. (See Recommendation 4.)

It is noted that the number of churches and fields, less than 200 members each seeking ministers has decreased to 279. There are at least three factors that doubtless have contributed to this decrease: (1) some have called pastors, (2) a few have ceased seeking because of the inability to support pastors financially and (3) the dissolution of churches and fields.

The number of churches and fields over 200 members each seeking ministers also has decreased. It should be evident that these churches are challenging ministers more readily when pulpits become vacant. This is the very group of churches in which nearly all available ministers are interested.

Fortunately the number of churches seeking assistant and associate pastors has increased. Doubtless this is due, in part, to the realization by congregations, particularly of larger membership churches, that in order to minister more adequately to their communities it is necessary to have staffs composed of more than one minister.

The Presbyterian Church, U.S., continues to be confronted with a large number of ministers who are available for calls. This Committee reported to the 1970 General Assembly a total of 690 such ministers. As of December 31, 1970, the total has grown to 874. We realize fully the degree of availability varies considerably, from the minister who is only mildly interested to the one who desperately needs to move. The paucity of opportunity in this respect presents a real problem to our ministry.

It would be impossible to prove, but we are confident there is a large number of other ministers who would welcome opportunities to consider changes in pastorates. These have not reached the point of making such declaration, without having a call before them.

As this Committee called to the attention of the General Assembly in its 1968 Report, and repeated in the 1969 Report, there are no easy answers. It is a matter though to which Presbyteries should address themselves.

The 1968 General Assembly declared:

" . . . it is ethically permissible, and constitutionally in order and advisable for a Minister to place his own name before a Commission to be considered as Pastor for a particular church under the care of the Commission." (G.A. Minutes, 1968, p. 109, Recommendation 10.)

[Note: The words ". . . and advisable . . ." though not printed in the Minutes through an error, are a part of the original recommendation, adopted by the G.A. as evidenced in the official record on file in the office of the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly.] Possibly our ministers have been slow to act upon this judgment and thus take advantage of another avenue of possible development of a call. It should be noted this does not give approval of a minister's initiating a direct communication with a pulpit nominating committee on his own behalf. Communication with a Commission, however, is entirely within the constitutional procedures established by the Book of Church Order 21-2.

VI. Resolution 10 (G.A. Minutes, 1969, p. 62; G.A. Minutes, 1970, pp. 294-296)

Report of Study on Resolution 10

Resolution 10, submitted by W.H. Wilson:

Whereas, from time to time there are active ministers within the Presbyterian Church U.S. who come to need counseling, treatment and rehabilitation for emotional disorders; and,

Whereas, the recognized procedures of our church make no provision for the alleviation of this condition; and,

Whereas, the continued existence of this condition without proper remedial action can destroy ministries, families and congregations;

Now therefore, be it resolved that the 109th General Assembly meeting in Mobile recognize the responsibility of the church in this area of its ministry, and refer to the Assembly Committee on the Minister and His Work for study and recommendation to the 110th General Assembly, the problems of recognition, treatment and rehabilitation for emotional disorders whenever and wherever they might occur among the ministers of the Presbyterian Church U.S.

I. Background

The 1969 General Assembly referred to the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work (hereafter referred to as 'this Committee') the above Resolution for study and recommendations concerning "problems of recognition, treatment, and rehabilitation for emotional disorders whenever and wherever they occur among ministers of the Presbyterian Church, U.S." toward the end that the Church might assume greater responsibility in this area of its ministry. The Committee, unable to complete its study in the ensuing year, submitted an interim report to the 1970 Assembly which instructed the Committee to continue its study.

In response to specific recommendations and in recognition of the complexity of the problems involved, the 1970 Assembly authorized its Committee (1) to explore the matter of increasing financial support by way of low interest loans for ministers and/or members of their families who seek psychiatric treatment, and (2) to establish a Task Force and engage a Field Representative (a) to explore and encourage the utilization of "career consultation," as a means of enhancing ministerial skills and improving emotional and psychological health, (b) to educate and encourage presbyteries and/or synods to promote periodic personal and career re-evaluation and (c) to visit (primarily through the Field Representative) existing vocational, mental health, and counseling centers throughout the South so that a program of locally based career consultation may be further developed and utilized (G.A. Mins., 1970, p. 155). Financial support was provided the Task Force to perform the above activities, with the hope that the work could be completed and reported to the 1971 General Assembly.

II. The Task Force

At the 1969 annual meeting of this Committee, a tentative plan for the Task Force was adopted. This plan was approved by the 1970 General Assembly. The Task Force was composed of the following: Dr. Edward H. Knight, New Orleans, Chairman, the Rev. Messrs. W.B. Cartwright, Helena, Ar., Robert E. Cogswell, Shelbyville, Tn., George D. Hopper, New Orleans, La., Thomas H. McDill, Decatur, Ga., Paul H. Richards, Metairie, La. and Mr. William H. Wilson, McAllen, Tx. Assisting the Task Force in all its efforts, especially in strengthening the laymen's viewpoint, were Messrs. White and Harris of the Committee's office staff. In September 1970 the Task Force engaged the services of Dr. Jack Monroe as Field Representative. Dr. Monroe, a Ruling Elder in the Meadowthorpe church, Lexington, Kentucky, had just retired after twenty-nine years of service with the United States Public Health Service as a Research Psychologist.

The Field Representative conferred with the Chairman or members of the Task Force on many occasions to discuss various aspects of the study. A progress report and a plan for completion of the study was presented to the annual meeting of this Committee in December 1970 and was approved. The primary objective of the Task Force was to obtain statistical, observational and interview data concerning the broad scope of mental health problems, care-seeking patterns and clinical training in the Church. This information, obtained mainly through the activities of the Field Representative, would be evaluated and conclusions, as well as emerging recommendations, returned to the Assembly.

Implicit in the charge to this Committee was the expectation that the Task Force, primarily through the Field Representative, would engage church leaders and pastors at the presbytery and synod levels in an exchange of information concerning psychiatric and career needs of ministers, not currently being met within or outside the structures of the Church. A minister's personal needs and those of his family, especially his wife, could not be separated from valid concerns for professional growth and career development. Both personal and professional development were deemed to be proper objectives of pastoral care relevant to mental health. Emphasis on the middle and higher courts was explicit in the Assembly's instructions that the Task Force, while surveying, concomitantly educate the presbyteries and synods in the recognition of their responsibilities for the support of ministers in those areas of need not currently being met by the Church.

The Task Force was charged to go beyond a mere re-evaluation of the nature and prevalence of emotional distress among ministers and their families. The 1966 Report of the Permanent Committee on Christianity and Health (G.A. Mins., 1966, p. 128) clearly documents the existence of such distress. This Report resulted from a study by Dr. Robert D. Phillips and the Rev. Thomas H. McDill. In view of the recency of that Report, the Task Force considered it unnecessary to "plow the ground" again. Rather, its duty was interpreted as that of educating churchmen in responsible positions at the presbytery and synod levels to recognize the need for a pastoral care ministry to our ministers and of motivating them to work for and toward the assumption of proper and needed responsibility in this area by those courts of the Church. Presbytery executives and chairmen of Commissions on the Minister and His Work (hereafter referred to simply as the Commission) are aware of the extent and variety of care-seeking activities among ministers throughout the Church. But mere awareness is not enough. It is only the diagnosis and must be followed by treatment. They need to be given all available information on existing care-giving resources through which ministers may find help with their personal and career problems, both within and outside the presbyteries' structures.

The Task Force began its work with a three-way approach. First, it selected certain regional consultants, or contact persons, in each synod, to assist in the involvement of ministers and certain church officers in the study. Next, it directed the Field Representative to visit each synod for interviews and information exchanges in order to delineate and clarify the dimensions of the problem and to share data as to what is being done, currently, in our Church. These regional consultants were to arrange group meetings of churchmen for this purpose and a number of them were able to do so. Finally, the Task Force directed a questionnaire to all presbytery executives, Commission chairmen, and other church leaders, then, subsequently, to a 10% random sample of all the ministers of our Church. The questionnaire was designed to serve two purposes: to collect information from all synods in a systematic fashion in order to guide the Task Force in formulating recommendations which could affect the entire Church; and to raise the level of awareness throughout the Church of the nature and scope of care-seeking behavior as evidenced by the utilization of counseling and educational resources on the part of our ministers.

The private or individual aspects of care-seeking could not be studied directly because of the element of confidentiality. However, they could be inferred from patterns of participation by ministers and their wives in various treatment and training activities designed to enhance skills and improve emotional health. Emphasis upon the availability and utilization of care-giving resources, rather than upon occurrences of overt illness in ministers, gave the study a positive mental health thrust which hopefully would "educate and encourage presbyteries and/or synods" in accordance with the General Assembly's instructions.

III. The Field Study

The Field Representative met with groups of ministers in all fifteen synods. He discussed the personal and career needs of ministers and their wives with other three hundred churchmen including most of the Presbyteries' executives, Stated Clerks, Home Missions Committee chairmen and Commission chairmen. Also, approximately thirty pastors in "specialized" ministries were consulted as well as a comparable number of pastors of churches and some wives of ministers. Personal contacts were made with individual ministers, with small groups, with four Presbytery Commissions and two Synod Committees on the Minister and His Work. The study was presented by the Field Representative to the Area Conference on the Minister and His Work representing the Synods of Appalachia, North Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia and to the annual meeting of the Stated Clerks and Home Mission Association.

Pastoral theology departments of six seminaries were visited, including the four seminaries of the Presbyterian Church, US. Interfaith pastoral counseling clinics were visited in Louisville, Nashville, Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston and Dallas. Clinical pastoral education centers (CPE) were visited in Columbia, S.C., Louisville and Lexington, Ky., Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, Houston, Memphis and Topeka, Kansas (Menninger). CPE supervisors were interviewed in Washington, D.C., Richmond, Virginia and in Chapel Hill and Butner, North Carolina.

The Field Representative participated in the first annual conference conducted by the staff of the Midwest Career Development Center (Columbus, Ohio) and conferred with the staff of the Center of Creative Living and Spiritual Growth, Athens, Georgia. The Atlanta, Ga., Regional Mental Health staff of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was consulted. This staff supervises federally-funded community mental health care centers throughout most of the area served by our Church.

In several synods discussions were held with pastors who had attended residential centers for sensitivity training and personal growth in Athens, Ga., Interpreters' House, Junaluska, N.C., and the National Training Laboratories (NTL). The use of clinically-trained ministers as coordinators of pastoral care in community mental health centers (Federally-funded CMHC) was discussed with mental health professionals and church leaders in several states. In South Carolina's Department of Mental Health system of community services, two of five such coordinators are Presbyterian ministers.

Access to groups of ministers in the various synods was facilitated by the regional consultants. These were selected by the Task Force to assist in carrying out its mission. Without this help, the field work could not have been accomplished.

The information exchange between the Field Representative, ministers, and other resource people described above, centered not so much upon hypothetical needs and abstract "solutions" of ministers' problems, as upon empirical questions such as the following:

Where do ministers go for help with their problems?

To what extent do they seek help and find it within the structures of the Presbyterian Church, US?

What use is made of secular resources of private psychiatry and public mental facilities?

How often do they turn to para-church pastoral support systems—e.g., to church career development centers for occupational counseling; to CPE centers for clinical training; to inter-faith pastoral counseling clinics for individual, group and marital counseling; and to residential centers for sensitivity training and personal growth?

To what extent do presbyteries and synods provide financial assistance to ministers who seek treatment or training from secular and/or ecumenical support systems?

Do the administrative and judicial functions of presbytery staffs and Commissions on the Minister and His Work preclude or seriously limit valid counseling?

To what extent do members of presbyteries express pastoral concern and provide valid care for each other, either in person to person relationships or in small informal groups?

What are the peculiar strengths and limitations of the various types of care, both those within and outside the structures of our Church in helping ministers and their wives who are experiencing severe personality disturbances; in helping those experiencing painful feelings of futility, impotence, and disillusionment in the pastorate; and in helping those having serious interpersonal difficulties in their own families, congregations and Sessions?

The initial phase of the field study generated many questions such as those above. For these there were no consistent, authoritative answers. It became evident, however, that the ministers contacted possessed valid, if incomplete, information on most of these issues. Also they held definite convictions as to the kinds of pastoral support needed. Honest differences on many of the issues exist among ministers. The differences center on the nature and scope of problems confronting the ministers. For some the solution was for presbyteries to help ministers obtain treatment on the assumption that "well ministers make well churches". Others seemed to resent the implication that the problem resided solely within the minister and his family and insisted that the Church as an institution, especially the local congregations, constitute part of the problem. They preferred to stress the situational and interactional components in disturbed pastoral relationships. For example, they pointed out that some of the most crucial "problems of ministers" cannot be solved by treating ministers without involving their churches as well. Understandably, the system of pastoral support recommended depended upon the formulation of the ministers' problems. The fact that church leaders held different views concerning these problems made it even more essential that a systematic survey of their ideas and attitudes be undertaken.

The construction of a survey questionnaire was purposely delayed until about half of the synods had been visited and the salient dimensions of the problems under investigation had been formulated with more than 100 church leaders. Hence, the content of the questionnaire consisted largely of input from knowledgeable churchmen, across the Assembly area. It was designed to elicit and to cross-validate data that hopefully would shed light on the questions enumerated above. Thus, statistical data could be compared with interview data for consistency and validity.

IV. The Questionnaire

In November 1970 questionnaires were sent by 140 executive secretaries and Commission chairmen in the presbyteries. By February 22, 1971, ninety-four (67.1%) completed questionnaires had been returned. More significantly, responses were received from 68 of the 73 (93.2%) presbyteries. Both the Presbytery executives and the Commission chairmen in 26 courts of the Church returned questionnaires. In addition, 20 questionnaires were secured from church leaders other than those mentioned above.

In January 1971 a similar questionnaire was sent to a 10% random sample of ministers in our Church—437 questionnaires. As of February 22nd, 1971, approximately 200 questionnaires had been returned.

Results of the questionnaires reported in this section were based primarily on the first 92 returns from presbytery leaders and the first 156 returns from the 10% sample of ministers. Some of the data summarized in Tables 1 through 9, appended hereto, were based on reduced numbers of respondents, since some of the ministers omitted portions of the questionnaire, especially the parts asking for their evaluations of care-giving resources. The Discussion and Recommendations which follow are supported by observations and conclusions derived from the field study and the questionnaire. (See Appendix for Tables and detailed analysis of questionnaire results.)

V. Discussion

Currently, there is very little valid pastoral counseling provided ministers and their families by existing staffs and structural components of Presbyteries. Therefore, ministers in significant numbers have turned to private psychiatry and ecumenically-based pastoral support systems. Small, informal mutual-support groups and residential centers for sensitivity training and personal growth are extremely popular, but apparently have contributed more to the enhancement of ministerial skills of young pastors than to the improvement of psychological health.

Private psychiatry and the ecumenically-based counseling and clinical pastoral education programs are viewed as possessing no special efficacy in helping the minister solve some of his most urgent personal problems (e.g. disturbed family and pastoral relationships). Many knowledgeable and dedicated churchmen among presbytery executives, Commission chairmen and clinical pastors in diversified ministries, are convinced that the most crucial problems confronting ministers—and presbyteries—cannot be solved by treating the minister in isolation, apart from his relationship to the presbytery and to his church. They see in the ineffectual resolution of conflicts between pastors and Sessions or congregations one of the most serious sources of psychological stress. Their proposed solution for such problems is for presbyteries to provide, as a part of their staffs, persons having special competence for resolving internal conflicts. The field study and statistical data indicate a definite need and preference for the services of a broadly-trained clinical pastor located in the presbytery. Some ministers already have this training. Many of them are engaged in work other than the pastorate. Other ministers are in training for this kind of ministry. The selection of personnel for such presbytery-provided pastoral care should have responsible Assembly guidance, cooperation and assistance. It should always seek the cooperation, also, of the Commission, though not operating under its control.

A. Pastoral care at the Assembly level

This Committee believes there is amply-documented justification for the establishment of a coordinator of pastoral career development and counseling services at the Assembly level. One of the main functions of the coordinator would be to encourage, educate, foster and assist in the development of pastoral career and counseling services in presbyteries, in groups of presbyteries, or in synods. Inasmuch as this Committee cannot anticipate organizational changes that may occur within the Church it is unable to suggest to this General Assembly a final definition and job description for this office at the Assembly level. We believe the functions of the coordinator are most naturally compatible with the concerns of the Assembly's Committee on the Minister and His Work.

B. Pastoral care at the presbytery level

The functioning of presbytery's minister of pastoral care is a more delicate matter. Our study indicates that he would be utilized far more than we had thought. In fact, for the services for which he would be particularly well-fitted, he would be preferred over other types of mental health care-givers, except for direct treatment of bona fide psychiatric illness.

While this Committee strongly urges the establishment of an office of coordinator of pastoral care and counseling services at the Assembly level, it recognizes difficulties involved in establishing and financing a similar office at the presbytery level. Some presbyteries lack necessary financial support for a full-time pastoral counselor. In these cases, two or more presbyteries could pool their resources and share a competent person to provide the desired services.

In reviewing the many factors involved in the total vocational and mental health picture of the minister, this Committee recognizes the importance of selection and training of presbytery's minister of pastoral care. The special type of psychotherapeutic skills needed are those which borrow from the various fields of social and psychological sciences but they are assimilated and expressed by ministers. This would apply to individual and group counseling both inside and outside the Church. It would result in the development of a minister whose professional skills are most desirable and applicable to all of the individual and collective problems having significant elements of psychologic and sociologic disturbance.

Presbytery's minister of pastoral care could serve as a source of consultation in matters of interpersonal difficulty between ministers and their Sessions and congregations. He could be of considerable assistance to the Committee on Candidates in screening and counseling applicants for candidacy for the Gospel Ministry. This is a needed service to the Church.

C. Ecumenical pastoral care

The establishment of such office of pastoral care does not mean that existing ecumenically-based counseling and training programs should be abandoned. It is not a matter of either/or. Both internal and external pastoral support systems are needed. Few presbyteries can hope to provide in one office, much less in one person, the wide range of competencies found in the pastoral counseling field. While the Church should strive for a comprehensive pastoral career support system this does not mean that the presbytery's pastoral care-giver can be "all things to all men." He would be as much involved in referral and consultation as in delivery of services per se.

As training and counseling centers continue to proliferate (e.g., Career Development Centers, Pastoral Counseling Clinics, Clinical Pastoral Education Centers) the presbytery pastoral counselor would provide guidance to ministers who wish to participate in such activities. In addition he would represent our Church in negotiating with such institutions and would collaborate in standard-setting and quality control.

It would be expected that presbytery's pastoral care-giver would assume leadership in ecumenical efforts as well as in the emerging relationships between clinical pastoral education and community mental health efforts.

D. Overt Illness

Resolution 10 expressed the concern of the Church for overt psychiatric illness in our ministers. There is no evidence from the current study that the incidence of such illness is more extensive in our ministry than in the general population. But the Church is responsible for the mental health of its ministers. Hence this report stresses a more positive approach. It recognizes that the minister's total mental health—personal and professional—are inextricably bound up with the Church's efforts to provide training and support in this field and thus reduce the incidence of overt mental illness in its ministers. Aside from the reduction in stressful situations and illness-producing frustrations that would accrue from greater awareness of and coping with vocational, social and educational problems of ministers, we believe the establishment of a responsible agency within the Church would be helpful in dealing with problems of overt psychological illness.

Presbytery's minister of pastoral care, by the nature of his functions, would be more likely to anticipate situations of potential illness and to provide appropriate help early enough to prevent morale-shattering illness. Trained in clinical procedures and available for emergency or crisis mental health problems, he could refer ministers to the maximally-beneficial sources of help. In addition, needed financial assistance for ministers or their families could best be initiated at the local level. It is clear there are ministers who are unable to obtain private psychiatric treatment, because of their inability to pay for it. As stated previously, in all the problems arising from the work of their churches or amongst their colleagues, they do not desire this type of care. But in cases of overt emotional illness there is no substitute for direct psychiatric treatment. In some communities within our Church the only mental health professionals available to provide treatment and consultation are those on the staffs of community mental health centers. The negative image these public facilities present to most ministers is unfortunate. In performing his career support and counseling functions, the presbytery's minister of pastoral care could mobilize the necessary helping resources in the community, including public mental health facilities. Through education and successful use of community resources the negative attitude held by many people, including ministers, toward these centers would change. Data from the questionnaire, though not tabulated, indicate that community centers were rated significantly higher—over 50% favorable—by respondents in those presbyteries whose members had used the local facilities.

We note that where psychiatric illness creates a complicated and embarrassing church situation, a presbytery minister of pastoral care would be much more likely to handle the matter with professional skill and diplomacy, thereby bringing about a positive solution. As stated above, the financial burden of psychiatric treatment creates further problems that can be dealt with most effectively at the local level by the participation, planning, and assistance of the presbytery minister of pastoral care. He would assist in arranging favorable medical insurance coverage, loan funds, and other means of prompt practical help.

Variability in all pastoral care resources across the Assembly, as well as the financial inability of some presbyteries and perhaps some synods to establish a minimally-adequate program of pastoral care, would make it essential for the Church to continue to express concern and provide professional guidance in this area of ministry at the Assembly level. The first step would be for the Assembly to call a competent pastoral counselor to work with presbyteries and synods toward the development of adequate pastoral career development and counseling services along the lines considered above. It should be noted that some presbyteries are in the process of calling pastoral counselors. In the past, presbyteries have received little or no guidance from synods or the General Assembly in setting quality standards for these developing career services, or in establishing qualifications and performance standards for persons called to coordinate and deliver these services. It is the conviction of this Committee that establishment of pastoral care and career services at the presbytery and Assembly levels are the first steps toward removing the stresses that have been most conducive to unfulfilled accomplishment of the ministers' work.

APPENDIX

Detailed Analysis of Questionnaire Results

A. Distribution of care-seeking and care-giving across the Church

The data summarized in Tables 1 through 4 present some aspects of care-seeking and care-giving activities as they are understood and reported by the presbytery leaders and the ministers sampled. These Tables were not prepared to indicate the number of individual occurrences of care-seeking behavior, but rather the number of presbyteries in which this type of care-seeking occurred within the last two years. With this important distinction in mind, these data contain significant information concerning the distribution of activity across the Church. It is important to consider whether an aspect of the problem, or its attempted solution, is found in a few presbyteries only or virtually in the entire Church. The data presented in Tables 1 through 4 provide some information on this question.

Throughout this Report, references to the Tables will be made in the following manner so as to facilitate location of the item to which reference is made: following the Table number reference will be made first to the lines bearing arabic numerals, running down the left hand side of the page; references following this will be to the columns bearing Roman numerals across the top of the Table; and references then will refer to the sub-divisions, within the columns, bearing small-case letters from left to right. In each case the Table number will be followed by a colon and any further references will be separated by commas. E.g., "Table 3: 1, III, f, (ii)" would indicate the 48.0% of other ministers who did not know whether there were ministers needing private psychiatric or psychological care but who did not receive it.

Of the presbyteries reporting, 80.3% state that either a minister or a minister's wife had been referred to, or sought help from, private psychiatry or psychology in the last two years. (Table 1: 1, III). The same percentage of presbyteries reported that ministers had supported each other in small, informal self-help groups. Nine presbyteries (13.6%) have available, either on their staffs or through other arrangements, clinically-trained pastors to provide counseling to ministers, their wives and families.

By comparison with private psychiatry and psychology, community mental health clinical services appear to be under-utilized. Such community centers are widely available throughout the Church. From 75% to 85% of the presbyteries reported that one or more of these centers exist within their bounds (Table 2: 6, I, a and 6, II, c). About a third of these have clinically-trained ministers on their staffs. While the staffs of these centers are perceived as being willing to provide consultation to local pastors (Table 2: 8, I, a), Presbyterian ministers have not been successfully involved as care-givers in partnership with these local agencies (Table 2: 9, I, a). Other data not shown in the Tables indicate that the presence of a minister on the staff of a local center does not increase the utilization of services by Presbyterian ministers and their families, nor does it seem to improve the effectiveness of such centers in the minds of church leaders and ministers. However, it does seem to increase significantly the involvement of Presbyterian ministers as care-givers.

Whether a type of care is used is undoubtedly influenced by various "feasibility" factors, as well as positive and negative attitudes toward care-givers. Attitudes of care-givers toward ministers are obviously significant factors, also. The cost of care is an important consideration. The data contained in the last column of Table 1 showed that one-third of the presbyteries subsidized ministers and members of their families who seek psychiatric treatment. To a lesser extent, there are funds in some presbytery budgets to help pay the cost of other types of care or training, as indicated in the balance of the same column.

Table 2 indicates that half of the ministers counsel other ministers from time to time (Table 2: 1, II, c - 52.6%). Slightly fewer (Table 2: 4, II, c) report that there are competent clinical counselors within their presbyteries. About 11% report that they personally have received one or more years of clinical training.

One of the more important findings from the questionnaire is the apparent lack of information ministers possess of the personal and career needs of other ministers. Percentages of "Don't know" in Table 3 (Table 3: 1 thru 5, III, e, (ii) and f, (ii)) indicate that church executives and Commission chairmen are significantly more aware than are "other ministers" that some of their colleagues need various types of care which they do not receive. This was to be expected since pastoral oversight of ministers is a presbytery responsibility. A number of pastors have suggested that their most urgent needs and those of their colleagues could best be met through Christian relationships between pastors (peer support). The data in Table 3 suggest that structural and functional relationships among ministers in presbyteries may produce conditions of social isolation which are not compatible with their acquiring the essential information on which to base valid support of each other. Mutual support of one minister by another would require some understanding of each other's needs. Such information and understanding seem to be lacking.

It can be seen in Table 4 that very little systematic or "structured" counseling for ministers is provided through Commissions (Table 4: 5, 1-6.1%) and presbytery staffs (Table 4: 3, II - 15.2% and 4, II - 12.1%). On the other hand, less than half of the church leaders and pastors feel that the administrative functions of existing presbytery staffs and Commissions necessarily prevent them from providing valid counseling. Other data not shown in the Tables, reveal that the executives and other ministers feel that if presbyteries were to call pastors to counsel other ministers, such counselors should not be placed under the supervision of presbytery executives but should be separate officers of pastoral care. One-fourth of the respondents felt that the "pastor-to-pastors" should not advise or provide consultation to the Commissions. Thus they emphasize their strong convictions that confidentiality of shared information must be protected at all costs.

In practice, however, there is considerable variation in how pastoral counselors function and where they are placed in the presbytery structure. In nine presbyteries visited, "specialized" ministers are used to counsel ministers. The Field Representative identified several different structural arrangements:

- i. counseling by general presbyters on the staff of the executive secretary or by the executive secretary himself;
- ii. counseling by a (Presbyterian) clinical pastoral educator called to a work in a local CPE Center with all or part of his salary paid by the presbytery;
- iii. counseling by pastors in diversified ministries as part of their committee responsibilities either on Commissions or on Christian Education Committees;
- iv. counseling by a counseling center located in and operated by a presbytery through its Committee on Christianity and Health;
- v. counseling by a presbytery-based counselor whose services are augmented through a services contract between presbytery and a local pastoral counseling clinic; and
- vi. counseling by a presbytery-based pastoral career support system, involving a separate office of pastoral care financed by and serving two or more of our presbyteries or synods, and/or judicatories in different denominations and augmented by services contracts with a pastoral counseling clinic and a psychiatric diagnostic center.

One of the more crucial and wide-spread problems facing ministers can be seen in Table 4. Sixty-one of the Commissions reportedly dealt with 174 disturbed pastoral relationships in the past two years (Table 4: 6, I). Of these, only 10.9% achieved reconciliation. (See footnote to Table 4). In the majority of church-pastor conflicts, the only option which seems available is to have the minister move, which may not be the most constructive solution for either the minister or the church. Many churchmen are convinced that a special competence must be provided within the presbytery for handling such conflicts if they are to be resolved constructively, without jeopardy to the minister or to the church.

B. Prevalence rates of care-seeking

Although data in the first four Tables could not be interpreted as prevalence figures, the percentages in Table 5 do represent the rates of use of various types of care by ministers and/or their wives in the last two years. Used significantly more than the other seven types of care were private psychiatry (Table 5: 1, III - 12.8%); sensitivity training (Table 5: 5, III - 10.3%); self-help groups (Table 5: 9, III - 25%); and presbytery staff (Table 5: 11, III - 9.6%). The rather large use of pastoral care provided by presbytery's staff may indicate failure to differentiate between the administrative functions of staff members and their delivery of professional counseling service. In comparison with private psychiatry and psychology, public mental health services were under-utilized. If one assumes that wives of ministers require as much pastoral care as their husbands, the data suggest that the wives are grossly under-supported, particularly by direct services from presbyteries. None received any such services.

It can be inferred from these data that a little over 10% of ministers and/or their wives have received psychiatric or psychological care in the last two years. This is roughly the same prevalence figure reported in the Phillips-McDill mental health survey of 1965 (G.A. Mins., 1966, p. 130).

C. Analysis of feasibility factors and salient attitudes toward types of care

Tables 6 & 7 present favorability ratings by church leaders and "other ministers" on selected feasibility factors and attitudes which presumably influence the utilization of various types of care. Several significant findings are shown in Table 6. Those types of care provided within the structures of presbyteries are seen as being of undependable quality and of slight efficacy for the most urgent needs of ministers. A notable exception is the concept of an office of pastoral care which received the highest average rating of all types of care considered (Table 6: 7, VI - 74.5%). Community mental health services are also rated low on dependability and efficacy factors. This may account for the under-utilization of these local agencies. However, the lowest average rating was ascribed to sensitivity training and personal growth centers (Table 6: 5, VI - 20.3%) which were not under-utilized. The apparent discrepancy between degree of utilization and favorable ratings suggests that the two types of care are perceived by ministers as serving separate personal and career needs which are differentially influenced by the feasibility factors.

Table 7, presenting ratings on three attitudes toward various types of care reveal patterns of response on the favorable-unfavorable dimension which parallel those presented in Table 6. Response patterns of church leaders and "other ministers" are remarkably similar, despite the fact that a credibility gap was anticipated with respect to their attitudes toward pastoral care and the adequacy of services provided by the presbyteries.

The most striking finding in Table 7 is the extremely poor rating given community mental health services on "sensitivity of care-givers to the special needs of ministers" (Table 7: 6, I, a - 23.1% and 6, II, d - 17.0%). This negative attitude and the low rating of these agencies on two of the four feasibility factors in Table 6 help explain the little use made of public mental health facilities. Use of such care is favored only on the factors of "cost", "accessibility", and "assured confidentiality of shared information". Curiously enough, the factors of "cost" and "accessibility" which ostensibly "favor" public mental health facilities may be perceived by ministers as negative rather than positive attributes. The physical proximity of these facilities to the minister and his congregation which makes them available when needed (i.e., accessibility) reduces the possibility of the minister obtaining care for himself or his family without the congregation's knowledge. With respect to the "cost" factor, some ministers apparently feel that use of public facilities is incompatible with the "professional image or status" of the minister, in that these agencies are designed for the poor. It should be pointed out that in many communities the local mental health centers use the same sliding scale in setting fees as do the interfaith pastoral counseling clinics, which are highly valued by ministers on all factors except "cost" and "accessibility".

Lack of assured confidentiality of revealed information, while undoubtedly a powerful limiting factor, does not uniformly reduce the utilization of all types of care. For example, participation in small informal groups, rated lowest on the confidentiality factor (Table 7: 9, I, c - 19.7% and 9, II, f - 13.0%), is the most popular of all care-seeking activity (Tables 1 & 5). This discrepancy between attitude and performance could mean that participants do not share their pertinent clinical problems in these groups. If they did, one would expect the respondents to the questionnaire—large numbers of whom have engaged in small group activity—to possess more valid information concerning the unmet personal and career needs of their colleagues than was evidenced in Table 3: 1 through 5, III, f, (ii).

Psychiatrists and psychologists in private practice enjoy the highest rating on assurance of confidentiality (Table 7: 1, I, c - 86.8% and 1, II, f - 96.0%). However, along with community mental health professionals, they are perceived as being "insensitive to the special needs of ministers" (Table 7: 1, I, a - 42.1% and 1, II, d - 40.0%). Both public and private mental health practices are seen as "secular" activities. It is strongly suggested that ministers would prefer to share their personal problems with competent ordained counselors.

The impact of feasibility factors (Table 6) and attitudes toward care-givers (Table 7) upon utilization of specific resources (Tables 1 & 5) is apparently modulated by the nature of the problem for which help is sought. The fact that assurance of confidentiality is expected and obtained from "secular" mental health professionals would encourage ministers to share with such therapists deep-seated personality disturbances. Presumably, different kinds of problems are shared in small groups where there is little assurance that revealed information will be held in confidence.

D. Efficacy of various types of care for different kinds of problems

What are the relative strengths and weaknesses of various types of care for ministers experiencing different kinds of emotional problems? Are the types of care equally beneficial, assuming that the care-givers are competent, or does effectiveness depend upon the kind of problem or situation confronting the minister? This raises a special "efficacy" or "treatment-of-choice" consideration. It could be argued that this is an empirical question that can only be answered by experimentation. As was shown in Table 4, over half of the Commissions (Table 4: 2, I - 56.1%) and a large percentage of the presbytery staffs (Table 4: 2, II - 40.9%) have in the last two years referred ministers with serious problems to various types of care. The data in Tables 8 and 9 are directly relevant to the referral process. Therefore, it is important to know how church leaders, who are making referrals, evaluate the appropriateness of various types of care for solving different kinds of problems.

It was helpful to group the problems facing minister into three broad categories: (1) those defined by serious personality or psychological disturbance; (2) those characterized by feelings of futility, impotence, and disillusionment in the pastorate; and (3) those generated by inter-personal conflicts between ministers and Sessions or congregations.

Category 1:

Data presented in Tables 8 and 9 indicate that church leaders, as do the other ministers, consistently differentiate these three classes of problems on a "treatment-of-choice" or special efficacy principle. None of the types of care were perceived as being equally effective for all three types of problems. For example, private psychiatry stands alone as the preferred treatment for ministers experiencing serious personality disturbance. All other options, except community mental health, pastoral counseling clinics, and an office of pastoral care in presbytery, were viewed as potentially detrimental, or as doing more harm than good. On the other hand, psychiatry and psychology are ascribed no special efficacy in dealing with problems in categories 2 and 3.

Category 2:

Career development centers, staffed by ordained counselors, claim to be especially effective in assisting ministers to clarify confused issues in their vocational commitments. Tables 8 and 9 (in each case, line 2, II, a) support this claim. However, neither group of respondents perceive such centers as being efficacious in solving problems in categories 1 and 3. It is not surprising that career development counseling was preferred by ministers to deal with feelings of futility, impotence, and disillusionment in the pastorate. Apparently ministers feel that secular mental health professionals cannot deal effectively with their career crises. Generally these professionals are without theological education and are unordained. They are viewed as lacking the essential understanding of the vocational commitment to the Gospel Ministry which is held by most ministers.

It should be noted that an office of pastoral care along with ecumenically-operated pastoral counseling clinics were considered also to have special efficacy in dealing with category 2 problems.

Category 3:

Disturbed pastoral relationships between ministers and Sessions or congregations were reported by almost every presbytery (Table 4: 6, I - 92.4%). In three out of five such cases, the ministers move. At present, there seem to be no other options for the ministers or the presbyteries. But it is known there are occasions of multiple moves by the same minister and of vacancies in the same church within short periods of time. Therefore, it is obvious the minister's moving has failed to resolve the difficulties in many cases—for himself or for the church. Yet, it is an internal problem and resolutions must be sought in other directions and by other means within the polity and procedures of the Church. One might suppose this would be a situation which could benefit from the more objective counsel of an "outsider". However, data in Tables 8 and 9 (in each case, lines 1, 2, & 6, III, a and lines 10 & 11, III, a) that secular mental health professionals and ordained career development counselors are valued no higher than are presbytery executives and Commissions in solving these internal problems of the presbytery. Indeed, it was somewhat unexpected that the preferred option for resolving category 3 conflicts was an office of pastoral care in presbytery.

Again, the patterns of response of the church leaders (Table 8) and "other ministers" (Table 9) were remarkably similar. However, the latter group did ascribe greater value to small informal groups as a way of learning to cope with interpersonal conflicts (Table 9: 9, III, a - 38% vs Table 8: 9, III, a - 21%). It is suggested that participation in small groups and in residential centers for sensitivity training and personal growth serve similar purposes. Both are valued for ministers experiencing serious interpersonal conflict with Sessions and congregations. Both are popular activities (Table 5: 5, III - 10.3% and Table 5: 9, III - 25.0%) and both are rated relatively low on "assured confidentiality of shared information" (Table 7: 5, II, f - 36%) for sensitivity training and Table 7: 9, II, c - 19% and 9, II, f - 13% for informal groups). These patterns of utilization and favorability ratings suggest that ministers do not share personality problems in these groups, but use them to practice interpersonal skills, which does not involve the confidentiality factor.

E. Dependability and Significance of Questionnaire Data

Dependability of the questionnaire data is evidenced by the fact that remarkably similar answers were obtained from two independent samples of ministers, particularly to the questions summarized in Tables 6 through 9 which dealt with the evaluation of various types of care. Prevalent rates of care-seeking and care-giving behaviors given in Table 5 should be considered only as suggestive in that they are based on the first 156 returns of a possible 437 questionnaires. Considering the length and complexity of the questionnaire an excellent return was received from executive secretaries and Commission chairmen. Data on distribution (scope) of care-seeking and care-giving activities summarized in Tables 1 to 4 is based on input from most of the administrative sub-divisions of the Church (92.3% of all presbyteries) and, therefore, is highly representative of the PCUS. The balance of the questionnaires from the random sample of ministers may yield helpful data on which report can be made to a future General Assembly.

REPORT OF THE PERMANENT COMMITTEE ON INTER-CHURCH RELATIONS

The ecumenical scene is alive with encounter, dialogue, conversation and the always urgent quest for Christian unity. The Presbyterian Church in the United States shares these involvements in countless ways.

The past year has seen our Church present and participating all over the world, both officially and in less formal but warm and important encounters, with our Reformed, Presbyterian and Congregational families, with fellow Christians in the National and World Councils of Churches, and with Roman Catholics at a number of levels.

As we come to the 1971 Assembly, our ad interim committees on union with the United Presbyterian Church and on the Consultation on Church Union will make progress reports on their present important work. Many other significant ecumenical ventures will be reflected in the reports of each of our program boards.

The Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations has four major concerns: interdenominational areas of special interest, cooperation with other Presbyterian and Evangelical Bodies, the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches. We will report on each of these in turn:

I. Interdenominational Areas of Special Interest

A. American Bible Society

The creative work of the Society continues to capture the imagination of even the most innovative Church leaders and is commended to ministers and Sessions throughout our Church. The mailings of the Society come to every minister and the offerings of material continue to expand in creative ways. The best-selling translation of the New Testament, "Good News For Modern Man," is especially recommended for wide use in the churches.

Our General Assembly is represented on the Advisory Council of the Society by Rev. W.G. Foster and continues to support the work of the Society to the extent of approximately $40,000 per year. In addition, the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations has this year asked the General Council not only to place the American Bible Society in the annual Church Calendar but also to encourage churches to receive a supplemental offering for the Society.

B. The Lord's Day Alliance

The work of the Alliance is now centered in Atlanta, Georgia. Its Executive Secretary is Rev. Marion Bradwell, a member of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

The Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations has requested the Alliance to increase its efforts to make available to the churches materials on the Christian use of Sunday in our present rapidly changing culture.

C. Religion in American Life

We continue to commend the work of RIAL in its multi-media presentations supporting the work and worship of Protestant, Orthodox, Jewish and Roman Catholic groups.

II. Cooperation with Other Presbyterian and Evangelical Bodies

A. Efforts Toward Church Union

We continue to commend to the prayers and lively concern of the Assembly the work and progress reports of both the Ad Interim Committee on Union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Ad Interim Committee for the Consultation on Church Union. Both these committees have before us plans for study which merit our most dedicated efforts as we seek for God's will for His Church.

B. Fraternal Delegates

Delegates appointed for 1970 reported to the Committee and were commended for their work. The following have been named as fraternal delegates of our church in 1971:

Associate Reformed, Flat Rock, North Carolina, June 7, 1971:

Rev. H. Louis Patrick, Principal

Rev. George M. Webb, Alternate

Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Jackson, Tenn., June 16, 1971:

Rev. James D. Newsome, Principal

Rev. F. Ray Riddle, Jr., Alternate

United Presbyterian Church, Rochester, New York, May 17, 1971:

Rev. William A. Benfield, Jr., Principal

Rev. Paul Tudor Jones, Alternate

Rev. Fred R. Stair, Alternate

C. North American Area Council, World Alliance of Reformed Churches

(See page 102 for recommended nominations.)

D. World Alliance of Reformed Churches

1) The Uniting General Council, Nairobi, Kenya, August 20-30, 1970:

Representing 55 million members among 127 denominations in 70 nations, the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and the International Congregational Council were united in Nairobi as the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational). William P. Thompson of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. was elected first president of the united body.

Affirming the theme, "God Reconciles and Makes Free" through ten lively days of study, worship and statements to the church and the world, the new Alliance made clear it is ready to do battle with racism, colonialism, exploitation and injustice everywhere in the world.

Among the 305 official delegates were 13 representing the Presbyterian Church in the United States: John F. Anderson, Jr., Aubrey N. Brown, Robert R. Collins, Evelyn L. Green, Arthur H. Matthews, James A. Millard, Jr., Roscoe R. Nix, Theodore B. Pratt, William R. Sengel, Donald W. Shriver, Jr., J. Randolph Taylor, John Newton Thomas and Albert C. Winn.

Meeting for the first time in Africa, the Alliance hammered out provocative papers under four sections of study: I. Reconciliation and Creation: the Freedom of God's World; II. Reconciliation and Man: the Freedom of the New Man; III. Reconciliation and Society: the Freedom of a Just Order; and IV. Reconciliation and the Church: the Freedom of Christian Witness.

Professor Jurgen Moltman charged delegates in his keynote address to make the Church the diakonia of reconciliation, since the Kingdom of God is not merely a matter of words. He said, "Those who are reconciled make their own the misery of this divided world, the hunger for justice. They make their own the cry for freedom which rises from the depths and they issue the call to freedom."

Of tremendous impact throughout the meetings were the Bible studies led by Dr. Edward Schweizer of Zurich. These are to be printed and will be well worth wide study in the churches.

Members of the Presbyterian, U.S., delegation took every opportunity both to share in the work of the Council meetings and to seek greater understanding of the hopes and aspirations of emerging nations throughout Africa and Asia. Housed in the dormitories of the University of Nairobi, delegates often met far into the night for study and social occasions and forged new friendships destined to last far beyond the brief meeting. A specific example comes from the chairman of the Presbyterian, U.S., delegation, Rev. William R. Sengel. He reports: "I can hardly describe the impact upon my own family and congregation of Mr. Zablon Kileo of Moshi, Tanzania, who spent the 1970 Christmas season with us in Alexandria, Virginia, on leave from his studies at Coady International Institute, St. Xavier University, Antigonish, Nova Scotia. Growing out of an encounter in Nairobi, new ties have been established across once formidable barriers of distance and culture. This may be Nairobi's most lasting testament."

E. Conversations with Roman Catholics

These continue to range over wide areas and significant issues, with Dr. J.H. Ross Mackenzie and Rev. William B. Ward as our representatives.

F. Presbyterian and Reformed Witness in the Nation's Capital

Rev. James B. Ficklen, Executive Secretary of Potomac Presbytery, has been appointed by the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations to serve on the Program Council of the National Presbyterian Center in Washington, D.C.

III. National Council of Churches

Reports of our representatives to the General Board are abridged below:

The National Council of Churches is in the midst of strenuous efforts to restructure. First, it is reacting earnestly to the request that more women, more blacks and more youth be included in denominational representation and is requesting that at least one of our basic representatives shall be under 25 years of age at the time of the next National Council General Assembly in December, 1972.

Secondly, it is in process of basic restructuring of its organizational setup. A special Task Force on options was appointed at Tulsa in January, 1970, to bring in recommendations. At the three subsequent General Board meetings the question of restructure occupied much time. At Louisville in January, 1971, the old Task Force was discharged and a new committee to be known as "Committee on Future Ecumenical Structure" was appointed. The form of the Council will be changed, just how we do not know, but the emphasis for a responsible central organization was definitely recognized, particularly by the Black representatives. In summary, the General Board opted for:

"The advocacy of a central representative body which gives meaningful unified consideration and witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ."

A revised model structure of the New Committee is to be submitted "to the member communions of the General Board for study and comment." After analysis of the response a new model is to be submitted to the General Board by mail by August 15, 1971. It is hoped that an approved model may be ready "for submission to the member communions in September, 1971, for their formal response." It is hoped that at the 1972 General Assembly the member communions may take official action.

Our Inter-Church Relations Committee, as the agency of the General Assembly, will receive the revised model and set up a process whereby we—agencies and boards—may respond to the suggested new model. The final new form if approved by the General Board could be processed and sent to our General Assembly for final decision in 1972.

The National Council of Churches suffers from failure of the member communions and particularly our own Presbyterian Church in the United States to support it adequately financially. Despite this the operating receipts to the Council in 1970 amounted to $18,473,212.00 as compared with $18,972,392.00 in 1969—approximately $500,000 or 2.63 per cent decrease. At the same time, by reduction of staff, the actual expenditures were reduced by $700,000.00.

Dr. Edwin Espy, the Executive Secretary, set forth succinctly the task of the National Council of Churches at the Detroit General Assembly:

"Ecumenical wholeness is twofold. It aims for wholeness through inclusiveness seeking to draw all Christian forces together for common impact in mission. It seeks also to manifest wholeness in ministry by helping the churches to address all of man's needs. It stands for total response in Christ to man's total need. It espouses the total Gospel of the total Church for the total man in the total world."

IV. World Council of Churches

A. Annual Reports

A report of the World Council U.S. office is in the appendix.

B. Geneva Staff

The Permanent Committee notes with deep sorrow the death of Rev. William H. "Hank" Crane, Africa Secretary for the World Council of Churches, and a member of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. We commend the Hank Crane Fund at the Presbyterian Board of World Missions to all those who would further the tremendous efforts of this dedicated servant of Jesus Christ.

We continue to rejoice in the presence in Geneva of Dr. William B. Kennedy, Secretary of the World Council's Office of Education, and Miss Frances Smith, Communications Specialist with the World Council. Both give us direct involvement in the World Council's important life and mission.

V. Reference from the 1970 General Assembly

The 1970 General Assembly referred to the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations the following overture from the Presbytery of Hanover: "Hanover Presbytery respectfully overtures the General Assembly to instruct its Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations to study the barriers to inter-communion between our Church and the Protestant Episcopal Church and to report back to the General Assembly steps by which these barriers may be removed."

THE PERMANENT COMMITTEE ADOPTED THE FOLLOWING REPLY AND COMMENDS IT TO THIS GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

"We express our willingness now to enter into inter-communion with the Protestant Episcopal Church (specifically, to receive members from that church and to dismiss members to it). We recognize that church, as we do other bodies, as a true church in accordance with our previously stated positions quoted below from the Permanent Theological Committee to the 1964 General Assembly (General Assembly Minutes, 1964, pp. 72 and 85).

1. . . 3. A third expression of our unity in Christ consists in mutual recognition or acknowledge on the part of churches. More specifically, this involves the acknowledgment of the validity of each other's ministry, membership, and sacraments. It envisions a day when each denomination will accept the ministers of sister denominations as validly ordained to their high office; when, largely in consequence of this, each denomination will accept as authentic the sacraments administered by the ministers of other denominations and when members may move from one church to another by transfer of letter without having to be received in the same manner as those who were not previously Christians.'

"Presbyterians can enthusiastically endorse the expression of Christian unity in the form of mutual recognition, because such acknowledgment is implied in their doctrine of the church. In a great ecumenical declaration John Calvin said:

'Wherever we see the Word of God purely preached and heard, and the sacraments administered according to Christ's institution, there, it is not to be doubted, a church exists' (Institutes of the Christian Religion, IV, I, ix).

In the Reformed tradition, following Calvin, the visible church is always thought of as one. Our Confession of Faith states that "this catholic church hath been sometimes more sometimes less visible," and adds that "particular churches, which are members thereof, are more or less pure, according as the doctrine of the Gospel is taught and embraced, ordinances administered, and public worship performed more or less purely in them" (Ch. XXVII, Par. iv). This acknowledgment that there is only one church, not fragmented by denominational or confessional lines, is the strongest affirmation of the unity of the Church in Jesus Christ. The only "marks," or criteria, of a true church are those mentioned in the statement just quoted from the Confession, no reference being made to any particular church order or polity as essential. The call for mutual recognition can, therefore, be supported by Presbyterians with deep personal conviction and with absolute fidelity to our Reformed heritage.

"Ever since the organization of the World Council of Churches in 1948, many leaders of the ecumenical movement have identified mutual recognition as the nature of the further unity we seek. The Conference on Faith and Order at Lund, in 1952, declared that 'the nature of the unity toward which we are striving is that of a visible fellowship in which all members, acknowledging Jesus Christ as living Lord and Saviour, shall recognize each other as belonging fully to His Body, to the end that the world may believe' (op. cit., p. 37).

While a footnote explains that this was far from being the unanimous mind of the Lund Conference, the importance of mutual recognition as an expression of our basic spiritual unity was increasingly recognized until 1960 when, on the recommendation of the Faith and Order Commission, the World Council of Churches adopted the following statement at New Delhi:

'We believe that the unity which is both God's will and His gift to His Church is being made visible as all in each place who are baptized into Jesus Christ and confess him as Lord and Savior are brought by the Holy Spirit into one fully committed fellowship, holding the one apostolic faith, preaching the Gospel, breaking the one bread, joining in common prayer, and having a corporate life reaching out in witness and service to all and who at the same time are united with the whole Christian fellowship in all places and all ages in such wise that ministry and members are accepted by all, and that all can act and speak together as occasion requires for the tasks to which God calls His people.' (The New Delhi Report, p. 116).

These words above make it perfectly clear that mutual recognition is here regarded as an expression of church unity.

"We are convinced that no other expression of Christian unity should take precedence in our prayers and efforts over the concern for mutual recognition and acknowledgment and express our apprehension over evidences of waning emphasis upon this in ecumenical circles in the last several years. While respecting the integrity and never doubting the sincerity of those whose deep convictions lead them to withhold recognition of certain others, we can but deplore the degree to which denial of the validity of the ministry, membership, and sacraments of one Christian group by another obscures the unity of the Body of Christ. We resolve to promote the cause of mutual recognition in whatever ways possible, and to this end we repent of anything in our thought and life which impedes recognition and pray for greater love toward, and understanding of those who on this point are constrained to differ from us.

"We rejoice in the fellowship and cooperative ventures which we already enjoy on many levels with the Protestant Episcopal Church.

"The barrier to inter-communion at this time appears to be differing views concerning the validity of membership and ordination.

"We desire mutual recognition of these important bases of inter-communion and our willingness to explore ways of achieving these desirable goals."

REPORT OF THE GENERAL SECRETARY TO THE MEMBER CHURCHES OF THE WORLD ALLIANCE OF REFORMED CHURCHES

By way of introduction

Hardly had I engaged upon my new ministry, than the end-of-year period demanded that I should make a report for 1970! In fact, I almost turned it down! It is not at all easy to attempt such a synthesis at this precise moment, as the newness of the work is bringing to light all sorts of elements not yet clearly linked together.

Nevertheless, two facts emerged which have encouraged me in this annual task. The first concerning the many magazines we receive from all over the world at the secretariat in Geneva, the second the photographs brought back from Nairobi, both of which demonstrate pointedly a reality which, after only a few weeks working at the secretariat, is not still altogether clear to me—the reality of intense human and spiritual communion. In this report I should like to try to relate something of our fellowship of faith, hope, sharing, research and service, rather than just give the necessary evaluation of the work done by the Alliance, so that we can embark upon the next stage which the year 1971 will bring.

Nairobi, an act of faith

For all of us, 1970 is the year of the General Assembly of Nairobi. After much preparation, which required great effort on the part of the personnel at the Geneva office, the conference was able to take place under the best possible conditions. Was the assembly in fact only a convenient meeting place at which 314 delegates from 62 countries could discuss, during the ten days available, the mutual and conflicting opinions of their churches (each one differing considerably due to its particular background) so that they could try and consider their ideas as a whole and finally arrive at some common consensus. If such were the case, the assembly at Nairobi would be able to take its place in the past, in the history books, the memory, as a decidedly interesting event, but henceforth definitely belonging to the past. Indeed, the assembly at Nairobi was intended to be entirely different, and in fact, so proved itself. It was an act of faith which must now be reincarnated in our daily living. It proved an act of faith in several ways.

The merger of the two international organizations, the International Congregational Council and the former World Alliance of Reformed Churches, is not merely to be regarded as the administrative amalgamation of two confessional groups which had reached the conclusion that it was wiser to join forces in order to be able to make a greater contribution. Far from being a defensive action, the merger was, in fact, an act of faith. In this modern world and within the ecumenical movement, these two groups have taken on the task of completely overhauling their traditional structures, with the long job of restructure culminating in one organic unit. But this act of faith, mobilized by the assembly at Nairobi, means, above all, that the member churches of the Alliance truly want to bear a living, faithful witness, at the same time keeping their eyes turned towards the future. It is not for the churches themselves that the two organizations have merged, but rather because of their own mission.

It is the general theme of the assembly which, far from being merely a structural merger, portrays an act of faith, which remains with us. It is often said today that certain barriers have been broken down by scientific discoveries and technical applications, but other divisions have certainly been strengthened, separating men into different groups and indeed tearing individuals apart. It was therefore, foolish to venture to say that "God reconciles and makes free"! Never have words of reconciliation and liberty or liberation brought with them so many hopes as it has disillusion. They have never meant to much, and yet so little.

Following the Nairobi conference we must continually and incessantly venture forth with this same proclamation. Such an affirmation would only represent our presumption, if we were content merely to go on restating "God reconciles and makes free". This statement must take concrete form. We are not under the impression that section reports and the general report of the assembly are only papers or invitations to adopt a certain standpoint. They present us with the task of serious, persistent and dogged reflection. This can only be achieved by the total acquiescence of our whole being and indeed of our churches in the living Christ.

Pilgrimage with hope

Jurgen Moltmann, who delivered the introductory lecture to the Nairobi conference, writes, at the very beginning of his book The Theology of Hope: "Christianity is eschatology, is hope, forward-looking and forward-moving, and therefore also revolutionizing and transforming the present . . . There is therefore only one real problem in Christian theology . . . the problem of the future." It is important to grasp this statement.

Certainly, the dialectic of past, present and future relations must be considered very carefully. Today, the international situation is transforming not only external elements in our lives, but, above all, our behaviour and also with increasing rapidity our very processes of thought. ("The real question is that we are coming round to a new way of thinking" Jean Fourastie) Therefore our churches must determine to take a forward-looking standpoint, not because it would be a wise decision, expedient or opportunist for a historic period of transition, but because Jesus Christ is our hope and "the 'God of Hope', the God whom we therefore cannot really have in us or over us, but always only before us" (J. Moltmann).

In this respect, the lecture on Ethics by Dietrich Bonhoeffer underlines how our attitude towards the future must be realistic: our natural tendency is to have our feet struck firmly in the past (something which denies us the true worth of the past) and our impulsive reaction is to launch ourselves head first into the future (and our acrobatics—our "capers towards the future" as has been said jokingly—end up in disillusion and frustration). There is no general universal recipe that one can apply; it is only in the analysis of given situations that the hope which is embodied in Christ becomes concrete and real. And it is to this that we are called.

We must have the courage to distinguish hope from illusion. Is it, perhaps, too late to take measures to ensure the protection of the human environment? Nevertheless, we believe and indeed proclaim that reconciliation and freedom in Christ relate directly to creation (cf Section I of the Nairobi Assembly).

Is it perhaps true that man is divided, that he is incapable of uniting his personality, that he is "in pieces", as Jean-Marie Domenach said? Nevertheless we believe and indeed proclaim that there exists for man the human possibility and reality given him in the spirit of Christ (cf Section II of the Nairobi Assembly).

Is it perhaps utopian to aim for a better society for men and nations? Nevertheless, we believe and indeed proclaim that faith in Christ implies that political, social and economic decisions should be made (cf Section III of the Nairobi Assembly).

Are the churches perhaps at this point so centered upon themselves and their problems that their future is uncertain? Nevertheless, we believe and indeed proclaim that the Church of Christ on earth today can see itself fulfilling its mission (cf Section IV of the Nairobi Assembly).

The world demands a reason for the hope which lives within us.

Sharing

It is in this context that the World Alliance of Reformed Churches is fulfilling its role. Here we find the source of its various functions. The Nairobi assembly created the new Department of Cooperation and Witness, with the following priorities: information, mutual assistance, ecumenical witness, and a positive stance toward the social and human problems of our time. This department, therefore, invites churches to participate realistically in this act of sharing.

The Secretary of the department, the Rev. Fred Kaan, has, therefore, taken up a task with which he was already familiar—the dissemination of information. The work of information involves much more than selecting, publishing and dispatching press releases. The responsibility for information covers much more than the technical aspect since this service considerably influences man's personal and collective behaviour.

Each month the Reformed Press Service, in English, French and German, reaches many press offices, church and individuals. As a specific follow-up to a recommendation from the Nairobi assembly, the press service was also published in Spanish for the first time in December 1970 and will now appear every two months. We are happy to establish this new service which, we hope, will strengthen our ties with Spanish-speaking churches.

Since autumn 1970 the World Alliance of Reformed Churches has been a member organization of Intervox, a cooperative tape news service, along with the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Association for Christian Communication, the founder organizations.

In the form of magazine-type programmes, these broadcasts benefit from contributions coming in from all six continents. Their aim is to issue news of church life in the world and of christian involvement in the major problems of today's society.

In creating this Department of Cooperation and Witness, the Alliance has specified that any inter-church aid undertaken would not in any way duplicate or compete with ecumenical Inter-Church Aid. But there are some occasions when some necessary action cannot be included in the general ecumenical programme. The Alliance has expressed the hope that its member churches will maintain a "special fund" each year, in the region of $25,000.00. Our hearty thanks are extended to those churches which have already taken part in the launching of this service. We would express the wish that others would take a financial interest in this. Our projects are designed to be precise, limited and defined, particularly with reference to the ministry of the Churches.

Research

The Department of Theology has also had its activities extended, diversified and intensified. Fundamentally Reformed theological reflection involves relating the teachings of the Bible to modern events. The extent of this task may only be imagined.

The Bulletin of the Department of Theology continues to be published in the three official languages, but the English edition will henceforth be incorporated in The Reformed World which, from the beginning of 1971, replaces The Reformed and Presbyterian World. The importance of these publications has continued to increase through the value of the contributions. We should be grateful if churches would show an increased interest in the Alliance's publications.

But the pace of theological work has also increased due to the rapid developments on the ecumenical front. There are no less than 35 separate negotiations on unity taking place in which member churches of the Alliance are involved. Also, the message delivered to the churches by delegates at Nairobi after the union of the ICC and the World Alliance of Reformed Churches, remains relevant: "We pray that God will not let us rest at ease with our common identity but will use us, as we hope he will use other world confessional bodies not to retard but to hasten the wider unity which he wills among all Christians."

Again the active participation in a certain number of dialogues involving representatives of international organizations has increased the duties of the Secretary concerned, the Rev. Richmond Smith: dialogues between Lutherans and Reformed, relations with the Roman Catholic Church, and for the first time, in December, 1970, following a decision taken at the Nairobi assembly, preliminary meetings between representatives of the Lutheran, Roman Catholic and Reformed Churches on the theology of marriage and the problems created by mixed marriages.

To be able to serve . . .

The secretariat of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches at Geneva is merely an instrument of general service. We do not propagate among the churches definitive principles; nor do we define programmes which should automatically be applied by the churches. There is no question of having an office for ecclesiastical politics. We are there, in Geneva, to serve you and to help you to serve!

I should like here to express my personal thanks to all those with whom I work. Everyone has shown me such kindness that I felt completely at ease from the very beginning. The presence of Miss Paulette Piguët is of inestimable value to me.

However, I should like also to express how much I am indebted to my predecessor the Rev. Dr. Marcel Pradervand, who, having already acquainted me with the various aspects of the ministry of the general secretary, remains willingly and discretely at my disposal, in supplementing information, and judiciously indicating relevant factors in decision-making. For these very reasons, as paradoxical as that may be, it is at once easy and difficult to succeed him. During the course of his 22 years as general secretary the Alliance has grown, has been strengthened and has expanded: it is, to a great extent due to the efforts of the Rev. Dr. Pradervand that the Alliance has come to life. His successor has the pleasure of entering a living institution. But the new general secretary cannot simply duplicate the ministry of the Rev. Dr. Pradervand.

The services which the office at Geneva tries to guarantee are therefore manifold and constantly increasing. Responsibilities are varied—which maintain interest—and are often heavy for the seven members of staff whose duties inevitably multiply. For the sake of the Alliance we rejoice in this.

This increase in the work load has had direct repercussions on the finances of the Alliance. The new responsibilities taken on by the various departments of the Alliance (a volume of work greater in proportion to the increase in member churches, a new contributions in the field of information, the organization of various consultations) create new financial obligations. We should be grateful if churches would consider seriously the part they could play in this. The World Alliance of Reformed Churches has always been careful not to spend money except where it is strictly necessary, and its budget remains within very modest limits, a line we intend to follow. It is, however, necessary to make certain alterations sometimes!

The Accounts for the year 1970 will be distributed to the churches a little later in the year, as soon as the auditors have submitted their report.

By way of conclusion . . .

It is paradoxical to have to conclude this report as it was to undertake it! Certainly, we have passed out of one year into another, which is an excellent occasion to reflect upon the real meaning of our common work. Indeed, our work is without conclusion insofar as it is Christian witness. We have to implement our work in faith and without tiring.

It is in this way that the secretariat at Geneva could be of assistance to you; do not fail to call upon us. Do not hesitate to share with us your remarks, criticisms, suggestions and questions.

"God reconciles and makes free": We live by this reality. Supported by the hope based on this reality, we can go forward into tomorrow with joy.

Respectfully submitted,
EDMOND PERRET, General Secretary

Appendix B.

REPORT OF THE NORTH AMERICAN SECRETARY TO THE MEMBER CHURCHES OF THE NORTH AMERICAN AREA THE WORLD ALLIANCE OF REFORMED CHURCHES (Presbyterian and Congregational)

1. The World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational) is the product of the merger of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches throughout the World Holding the Presbyterian Order and the International Congregational Council. This merger took place in August, 1970, in a Uniting General Council held in Nairobi, Kenya. This Alliance continues in its membership the Member Churches of the two older organizations, and more than two-thirds of these Churches are located in Latin America, Africa, and Asia.
2. In the fall of 1970 the Reverend Edmond Perret, a minister in the city of Geneva, Switzerland, succeeded the Reverend Dr. Marcel Pradervand as General Secretary of the Alliance. Mr. Perret at one time served for five years as a minister in the United Church of Canada in a parish in Montreal, Quebec. His academic preparation includes work in theology and sociology and he brings strong linguistic equipment to this significant position.
3. The North American Area is one of the two organized Areas of the World Alliance, meets annually, and consists of delegates, ministers and members, either men or women, appointed by the Member Churches of the Area. The North American Area was established in 1954 "to include the United States and Canada, and any other adjacent regions which might be agreed upon in the future," (continuing and revising the American [Western] Section formed originally in 1884). Five Member Churches are located in the Caribbean Area.
4. Constituent Members of the Alliance in the North American Area on April 1, 1971, are:
 - Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church
 - Cumberland Presbyterian Church
 - Second Cumberland Presbyterian Church
 - Guyana Presbyterian Church
 - Hungarian Reformed Church in America
 - Presbyterian Church in Canada
 - Presbyterian Church in Trinidad and Grenada
 - Presbyterian Church in the United States
 - Presbytery of Guyana
 - Presbyterian Reformed Church in Cuba
 - Reformed Church in America
 - United Church of Canada
 - United Church of Christ
 - United Church of Jamaica and Grand Cayman
 - United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America
5. Officers of the Area are:
 - Chairman: The Reverend Dezso Abraham
 - Past Chairman: The Reverend Allen O. Miller
 - Vice Chairman: The Reverend Joseph H. Evans
 - Secretary: The Reverend James I. McCord
 - Treasurer: The Reverend Glenn W. Moore
 - Recording Clerk: The Reverend W. J. Klempa
 - Director of Information: The Reverend Frank H. Heinze
6. The North American Secretary is elected by the General Council of the World Alliance and reports annually to its Executive Committee, to the Area Council, and to the judicatories of the fifteen member communions of the Area. He is assisted by the staff of Princeton Theological Seminary.
7. No meeting of the North American Area Council was held in 1970. This was in line with the long-standing policy of eliminating Area Council meetings in the year a General Council is held. Funds ordinarily expended for the Area Council meeting were used to assist in financing the Uniting General Council. The 1971 meeting of the Area Council met in Niagara Falls, Canada, on February 9-11. Addresses were given by Principal Donald Mathers on "The Mission of the Church to the Nation," and the Reverend Edmond Perret, newly-elected General Secretary of the World Alliance on "The Future of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches." The Reverend Ernest E. Long discussed Conversations between the United Church of Canada and the Anglican Church in Canada; Dr. William P. Thompson, President of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches reported on the Uniting General Council; and the Reverend Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., led a discussion on "Ventures in Unity: What's Going on in Cooperation, Witness, and Unity in the Member Churches?" Guests included representatives of the Lithuanian Reformed Church in Exile, the Reverend Paul Dilys and Mr. Victor Karosas; the Reverend Manuel Valencia, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church of Mexico; the Reverend Dr. William B. Ward, Co-Chairman of the Roman Catholic Reformed Consultation; and the Reverend Joseph E. Williams, Clerk of the Caribbean Assembly of Reformed Churches.

It was agreed that the World Alliance and the North American Area face a new day and that the future of the Area and Area Council must be given critical scrutiny at this time. A Special Committee is being set up to deal with the future of the Area Council and its place in the life of the Member Churches and of the World Alliance.

8. The ongoing program of the Area continues to be carried on by a Commission, two Standing Committees, and several ad hoc committees.

a. The Commission on Civil and Religious Liberty, now under the chairmanship of the Reverend James A. Wharton, is responsible for study and research in areas of social concern, reports to the Area Council, and Council actions are sent to the judicatories of the Member Churches for information and appropriate action.

b. The Theological Committee continues under the chairmanship of the Reverend Professor Allen O. Miller. It produced the volume, Reconciliation in Today's World, that was part of the background study for the Nairobi Uniting General Council. More recently the Committee has been engaged in a study and critique of a Plan of Union of the Consultation on Church Union, and it will participate in the study program authorized by the recent General Council.

c. The Committee on Cooperation and Witness, under the chairmanship of the Reverend Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., continues to perform the following functions:

(1) To encourage Reformed Churches in North American to become members of the Alliance and to recommend any such new members to the Alliance.

(2) To explore ways in which developments in the life of the constituent members might be shared.

(3) To receive, examine, and recommend disposition of any proposals of mutual service among member Churches.

(4) To propose consultations and projects which might be of interest to Member Churches.

(5) To channel with appropriate comment communications and studies from one Member Church to all others.

(6) To assure leadership in making the Reformed witness in the ecumenical movement.

9. The Administrative Committee, which is responsible for the ongoing program of the Area between meetings of the Area Council, met in New York on October 2, 1970, at the Interchurch Center, and met twice in connection with the meeting of the Area Council. It has reviewed the implications of the merger of the two world confessional bodies for the North American Area, and it will coordinate the several activities of the various committees of the Area.

10. The 1970 meeting of the Executive Committee was held in Nairobi, Kenya, in connection with the Uniting General Council, and is scheduled to meet again on August 25-31 in Cartigny, Switzerland.

11. Roman Catholic-Reformed Conversations: Major staff responsibility for the Alliance in these conversations continues to be carried on by the Reverend Dr. Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., and the Chairman of the Reformed membership is the Reverend Dr. William B. Ward of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. The agenda for these discussions includes items in the areas of mission, theology, and worship. Topics now under discussion are "The Validity of Ministry," "Episcopacy," "Primacy," and "Priesthood and Ministry." "Intermarriage" is the continuing topic for the section on worship and mission.

In addition, conversations between the Alliance and the Roman Catholic Church at the world level have begun. The theme of the first session, held in Rome, was "The Presence of Christ in Church and World." The Chairman of the Reformed Committee is Professor Jacques de Senarclens, and the representative from the North American Area is the Reverend Professor E. David Willis of San Anselmo, California.

12. Lutheran-Reformed Conversations: Conversations between these historic branches of the Reformation were concluded after five years of study and the results were published in a volume entitled Marburg Revisited. In view of the conclusions reached by Lutheran and Reformed participants and reported in Marburg Revisited, questions are now being raised concerning further steps that might be taken. Informal meetings have been held between representatives of the two traditions, and it is anticipated that further discussion will be begun. In the meantime, a Joint Reformed-Lutheran Committee has met twice in Geneva to review the work done in both the European and North American Areas and to coordinate findings and actions. It is anticipated that in Canada conversations will be carried on between Member Churches of the Alliance and the Lutheran World Federation and that these will deal specifically with the Canadian situation, while conversations in the United States will be limited to the Member Churches of the two world confessional bodies located within the United States.

13. Orthodox-Reformed Conversations: This third set of bilateral conversations was begun in May, 1968, and the final meeting was held in the Interchurch Center on January 8, 1971. It was agreed to proceed with the publication of a volume including the papers presented during the three-year cycle of meetings, along with an Introduction by Dr. Joseph C. McLelland, surveying the general scene in Orthodox and Reformed relations, and certain conclusions about the significance of this dialogue. It was recommended that the dialogue between Orthodox and Reformed, either in its bilateral form or in some new multilateral way, be continued and expanded, perhaps to include theologically informed students.

14. Fraternal delegates from the North American Area continue to attend judicatory meetings of constituent members, and it is anticipated that four judicatories will be visited during 1971.

15. The theme of the 1970 General Council was "God Reconciles and Makes Free." It became clear in Nairobi that we are moving into a new age in the life of the Church and in the life of man, with new questions being raised while old injustices are still being erased. It became equally clear that the power of the Great Reconciliation in Jesus Christ is still the central theme of the Gospel and that the Christ who reconciles is also the one who liberates man from the bondage of fear, ignorance, inequality, and injustice. The future of any world organization will have to be measured by its contribution to God's mission of reconciliation and liberation in today's world.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES I. MCCORD,
North American Secretary

REPORT OF THE WORLD COUNCIL OF CHURCHES NEW YORK OFFICE

Year of Non-Traditional Search for Christ

(1970 Year-End Statement)

The year 1970 has been notable for its many forms of non-traditional search for Christ.

New songs about Jesus are filling the air. "Jesus rock" is what's new in pop music. The non-traditional religious quest among young people is a major clue to our time.

This search for Christ is on inside the Church as well as outside. Church music and liturgy are increasingly an unpredictable mix of the traditional and the new.

As youth listen to "Jesus rock," theologians are writing more about the transcendent element in Christian faith. Renewed concern for awareness of the divine presence characterizes much theological writing. This rediscovery of transcendence is presented not in terms of traditional authorities, but of the intuitive hungers of secularized persons within our technological society.

The World Council of Churches this year gave funds, in small but symbolic amounts, to groups struggling against white racism. This action caused creative debate in many countries about the role of the Church of Jesus Christ in the search for justice. In theological terms, here is a new probing of the meaning of the Lordship of Christ over society.

A new emphasis on the healing power of Christ has found expression in pastoral ministry to American draft-age emigrants in Canada. A World Council of Churches December 1970 appeal for funds to aid the Canadian Council of Churches in this ministry has sharpened awareness of the concern of Christ for society's dropouts and outcasts, and the contrast that is sometimes inescapable between nationalistic concerns and Christian pastoral obligations.

The non-traditional search for God is producing profound changes in institutional religion. More and more congregations are discovering a sense of their own mission in their own communities. This positive development is accompanied by a negative: a turning away from the wider world. There is a new national isolationism among churches as among the general public. In the majority of communions in the United States, giving to congregations continues to increase, while giving to national headquarters or national causes declines. Many denominational headquarters are being reduced in size. Decisions of national religious leadership have diminishing influence in congregations.

At the same time, in strange contrast, there is a growing search for world-wide fellowship. Councils of churches in every continent are being re-organized—some are weakened, more are strengthened. Every year more churches join the World Council.

Not since the first or sixteenth centuries has there been such a combination of interest in Christian faith and disinterest in its institutional forms. The non-traditional search for God in our time may yet produce changes in institutional Christianity as far-reaching as in those fateful centuries.

EUGENE L. SMITH, Executive Secretary

REPORT OF THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

Throughout the 19th century, while the American Bible Society was establishing and expanding its mission of distributing the Scriptures to every person on earth in a language he can read and understand, the population of the world was growing slowly at an annual rate of 5/10ths of 1 per cent. During the first half of the 20th century that rate was increased by only 3/10ths of 1 per cent, according to the Population Division of the United Nations.

But with the decade of the fifties the rate of population growth jumped to 1.8 per cent per annum and in the sixties to 2 per cent per annum.

Today, more than 3 ½ billion people inhabit the earth. By 1975 the population is expected to be over 4 billion and by 1985 nearly 5 billion.

If this rate of growth continues for the next 100 years, our world population should reach nearly 30 billion. Scientists today claim to have knowledge with which to manufacture enough synthetic food to feed all these hungry mouths. Engineers claim to have the technology needed to erect sufficient housing for these teeming billions.

But the racial and personality conflicts already tearing apart the more densely populated cities of the world will soon strain all mankind. The tensions of togetherness will leave man with but two alternatives. Either he can resort to attempted solutions of the past and continue to battle his neighbor for the food and land he needs, or he can learn to share what is available and to live in love and peace with his neighbor in accordance with the teachings of Jesus Christ.

The American Bible Society, in working to fulfill its mission of supplying the Scriptures to all men everywhere, is helping mankind make the right choice.

Yet, according to the statistics, Christian growth is not keeping pace with population increase. Thoughtful religious leaders today, Christian and non-Christian alike, are greatly disturbed over the gains being made by "Others and None," a designation used by the Encyclopedia Britannica to include skeptics, atheists, agnostics and those with no religious convictions. Although Christians still outnumber these unbelievers, in percentage this group is multiplying at a faster rate than the total world population.

Today, the Bible Societies are working together in more than 150 countries and territories around the globe to stem this world-wide rise of Godlessness by confronting mankind with the love of Jesus Christ as revealed in the Scriptures.

At the end of 1970 at least one Book of the Bible was available in more than 1,400 languages and dialects. The primary concern of the Translation Department personnel and translators is faithfulness to the meaning of the text in all new translations and revisions.

During 1970 the ABS aided in providing technical assistance to more than 3,000 translators working in over 800 languages and dialects. Attention is also being focused on providing people around the world with Scriptures in common or popular translations which they can read and easily understand. Such translations are currently being prepared in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Thai, Taiwanese, Japanese and five languages of the Philippines.

The Society in the seventies is also conducting a "first-stage Scripture alert" throughout the United States. While not neglecting the continued distribution of the complete Bible, the American Bible Society is making available Scripture Selections designed to "shake up" and "wake up" people of each state of the United States to the promise and responsibility of mankind for what God has created. These Selections, which have already been produced for 35 states, depict the natural beauty of each state with the title of the Selection incorporating the words "Good News" (example: "Good News for Georgia").

Other Selections and Portions (a complete Book of the Bible) include Scriptures for specific "life situations," designed to reach people where they are—in the inner city, the college campus, hospitals and other institutions.

Likewise, much impact was achieved during the year through mass distribution efforts, such as the attempts which were made (and successfully so) to reach every home in the States of Arizona and South Carolina with a New Testament or a packet of specifically designed Selection. The Arizona packet contained Selections in English, Spanish and two local Indian languages.

Overseas distribution in 1970 was framed by an equation: $T + P = D$ (translation plus production equals distribution). Scriptures must be prepared to reach people on their intellectual levels; this means that the Society must prepare and produce Scriptures in a variety of formats, designed to appeal to readers on all levels, ranging from simple and colorful literacy Selections to Reference Bibles.

It also requires harnessing all available manpower by the churches and the Bible Societies to distribute the Scriptures to all men. Through the Penzotti Institutes, begun in Latin America but now being conducted around the world, often entire families are enlisted and trained in the art of Scripture distribution. This involves putting God's Word into the hands of all people from those living in simple huts to the more sophisticated who inhabit the urban, high-rise apartments. Through such efforts the Bible Societies expect to distribute more than 75 million Scriptures overseas this year (1971).

Although the world program of the Bible Societies is more far-reaching than ever before, many urgent opportunities have had to be deleted or sharply curtailed for 1971 due to limited funds in this era of inflation.

The present 1971 budget of $9,250,000 (an increase of $432,000 over 1970) provides for a massive, direct subsidy of Scriptures in a number of areas: free distribution to the needy; to missions, churches, mass evangelism campaigns or Christian bookshops; and a lowering of the local sales price below the cost of Scriptures, thus placing God's Word within the reach of the average man in a subsistence economy. With additional funds much more help could be given.

The year 1970 saw a total world distribution in excess of 180 million Scriptures, the greatest in Bible Society history, but still far from meeting the ever-increasing demands of the world's spiritually-hungry people.

The American Bible Society continues to serve the Presbyterian Church in the United States and some 70 other denominations and communions as the vital agency in supplying the Scriptures. The Society endeavors to provide the needed Scriptures for missionaries of all persuasions in all parts of the world.

The ABS deeply appreciates the global concern shown the Bible cause by the PCUS. It is only when those who "have" provide for those who "have not" that God's Word can be placed in the hands of all men everywhere.

The following summary shows the tangible concern that has been given to Scripture distribution by Southern Presbyterians for the past six years:

1965	1966	1967	1968	1969	1970
$55,288	$42,837	$30,917	$35,745	$33,089	$42,209

The decade of the seventies will be one of the most crucial in all church history. Therefore, it is hoped that the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. will not cut its giving to this vital cause—rather that the General Assembly will reassess the service being given the denomination by the ABS, both at home and overseas, and, if possible, recommend an increased allotment when the 1972 budget is drawn up.

PCUS gifts in 1970, it will be noted, were greater than in recent years. For this the Society is deeply grateful. It is a recognized fact, however, that church attendance and church giving have declined the past five years. Therefore, if the Church of Jesus Christ is to survive and make its influence felt in the world, it must continue to proclaim the Word of God. Thus, the Scriptures are basic to the church's survival, as well as to the future hope for mankind.

How ABS Serves

One of the truly great services rendered by the Society in recent years has been the translation of the New Testament into modern language, "Good News for Modern Man" (Today's English Version). Since "Good News" was first published in 1966, more than 25 million copies have been distributed. The Book of Psalms was published in December 1970, the first Book of the Old Testament to be released. Work is now progressing on the remaining 38 Old Testament Books, all of which should be completed by 1975.

More than 4000,000 legally blind persons are served each year through special Scripture formats (Braille, records, tapes and cassettes). The New Testament in the Today's English Version (recorded by the late Bud Collyer) is now available on 15 cassettes, and the New Testament with Psalms in the King James Version (recorded by Alexander Scourby) is available on 18 cassettes. Both versions are attractively packaged and easily handled by the sightless.

The Society also continues to serve our youth on college and university campuses across the country. Today the Scriptures are being made available to and used by Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox students. "Good News for Modern Man," the TEV New Testament, is speaking more effectively than any previous translation of the Scripture to today's young people.

For the third consecutive year (1970) the ABS has provided the Armed Forces personnel with an excess of two million Scriptures.

Women, too, continue to play a leading role, not only in distributing the Scriptures but also in raising funds to make possible a wider circulation. Approximately 150 trained women comprise the ABS Speakers Bureau. These dedicated volunteers, assisted by an additional 4,000 members of an unorganized group called the Circle of the Concerned, continue to aid the Society, using their ingenuity and creativity in sharing God's Word and encouraging support of the Bible cause.

The second largest language group in the United States, the Spanish-speaking (approximately 12 million), are being served on an ever-widening basis. Special ABS Secretaries will soon be carrying responsibility for these people in each of the ABS Regions (Eastern, Central, and Western and Pacific).

In a similar way work is progressing with inter-city programs. Special distribution projects were carried out during the summer of 1970 in the ghettos of 10 leading American cities.

Through the efforts of ABS Media Relations the Bible story is daily being told in newspapers, magazines, on radio and television, and in movies and film strips.

More than 70 denominations, communions and church agencies contributed to the ABS in 1970. During the year 68 national denominational conventions and meetings were serviced with ABS exhibits and at many of these meetings the Bible Society story was told by an executive from headquarters.

The goal of providing a copy of Scripture for every person in the language and form he can best read and understand is coordinated through the United Bible Societies. The UBS, which is composed of 50 national Bible Societies, at work in more than 150 countries and territories, coordinates world planning and administration so as to eliminate duplication of expense and effort in this central task of Christian work and witness.

The cost of translation, publication and distribution of God's Word throughout the world is implemented through the United Bible Societies' World Service Budget. World resources are pooled to meet world needs and apportioned on the basis of a world strategy. In 1970 the ABS supplied 53 per cent of the total World Service Budget of the UBS.

Advisory Council

The purpose of the annual ABS Advisory Council is to permit the Society's officers an opportunity to present the story of the ABS program and needs to all supporting bodies and to enlist from them counsel as to how both can be improved and strengthened.

On November 30 and December 1 and 2 more than 250 persons gathered at the Commodore Hotel and at Bible House in New York City for the 1970 Council; 138 of those present were representatives of 70 supporting denominations, communions and agencies, including the Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches. In addition there were visitors, staff and others.

The Reverend W.G. Foster, Jr., Florence, South Carolina, represented the Presbyterian Church in the United States at the 52nd Advisory Council meetings.

Working cooperatively with all the Bible Societies of the world, the ABS strives always to be "the servant of the whole Church of Christ, irrespective of denominational divisions and creedal distinctions, so that the Word of God may reach as many men and women as possible."

The ABS is grateful to the Presbyterian Church in the United States for gifts received during 1970.

Again this year (1971) the ABS budget is the largest in its 165-year history—$9,250,000. This sum can be reached if we all work in close partnership with one another. The Society looks hopefully to the Presbyterian Church in the United States for continued, and, if possible, increased support during the coming year.

REPORT OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE FOR THE CONSULTATION ON CHURCH UNION

The Consultation on Church Union has not met in plenary session since the report of your Ad Interim Committee to the 110th General Assembly. The Consultation and the participating churches, as well as many other church groups, continue to be engaged in a study of the first draft of A Plan of Union. This study period will conclude on June 1, 1972.

Members of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. are presently serving on several special study commissions: Dr. Evelyn Green and Mr. William Lamkin on the Interpretation Commission, Rev. William J. Fogleman on the Commission on Structures for Mission, Rev. Horace T. Allen, Jr. and Rev. Dwight M. Chalmers on the Commission on Worship.

The next plenary session will be held September 27-30, 1971.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF TWENTY-FOUR

(Ad Interim Committee on Union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.)

The Joint Committee of Twenty-Four was created by action of the 1969 General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to "seek a plan for the reunion of the two churches." (See General Assembly Minutes, 1969, Part I, p. 304 ff.)

The work of the Joint Committee of Twenty-Four during this past year consisted primarily of two activities: the continuation of the 'listening and learning' process as the Committee sought to understand more fully the mind and temper of our two Churches; and the drafting of a Plan of Union for presentation to the 1971 General Assemblies.

I. Listening and Learning

In the early fall of 1970 small teams of the Joint Committee held consultative meetings bringing together approximately 24 persons of our two Churches in each of the following cities drawing from areas where both of our Churches are presently at work: Knoxville, Birmingham, San Antonio, St. Louis, Memphis, Jackson, Charlotte, Columbia, Charleston (W. Va.), Richmond, Atlanta, and Orlando. Four recurrent themes impressed themselves upon our thinking: the concerns of black Presbyterians; the importance of regional initiative and control; the desire for some kind of 'escape clause'; and the relation of Presbyterian union to the Consultation on Church Union.

At a three-day meeting in Washington in late October, the Joint Committee heard from the two General Assembly Moderators, the Chairmen of the Special or Ad Interim Committees in each Church dealing with the restructuring of General Assembly agencies and the realignment of Synod boundaries, and the Executive Secretaries of the ministerial relations agencies of our Churches. At this meeting four Youth Advisors, appointed by the Moderators at the Joint Committee's request, joined us for the first time. They are, from the PCUS, Messers Scott Barnes (University of South Carolina) and William Mellwaine Thompson (Law School of the University of Virginia), and, from the UPCUSA, Miss Janice Dreifke (Louisville Seminary) and Mr. Antonia Lawrence (Interdenominational Theological Seminary at Atlanta). Also at this meeting it was decided to make all meetings of the Joint Committee open to the press.

At the request of the Synod of Catawba (UPCUSA) the Joint Committee sponsored a meeting of black Presbyterians in Charlotte, N.C., November 29-December 1, 1970. A report of this Black Presbyterian Consultation was brought to the Joint Committee at its meeting in St. Petersburg in early February of this year by four members of the Consultation.

At the same meeting in St. Petersburg the Joint Committee heard from two representatives of Hispanic-American Presbyterians.

In addition to the above, a number of informal meetings and conversations were held throughout the year by individuals and subcommittees in an effort to secure as thorough an understanding as possible of what Presbyterian union would and could mean to the future of our members and to those areas of the contemporary world affected by Presbyterian life and witness.

In late February a leaflet entitled 'Why Presbyterian Union' was prepared and distributed throughout the Churches by the Joint Committee, which incorporates many of the insights and convictions derived from the nearly two years of this process of listening and learning.

II. Drafting a Plan of Union

At a meeting in Atlanta in late June 1970 the Joint Committee decided to begin work on the drafting of a Plan of Union and appointed its Co-Chairmen, the Stated Clerks, and Mr. Robert Adcock (a member of the Joint Committee who is also a member of a union church in Fort Worth, Texas) to serve as the Drafting Sub-Committee. Dr. James Millard was selected as chairman of this sub-committee. A first draft of the Plan was carefully studied by the Joint Committee at the Washington meeting October 26-28 and returned to the drafting sub-committee for further work. By the time of the St. Petersburg meeting in February a revised text was ready and, after three full days of review and re-writing, the text of the Plan was completed which is now before this General Assembly with the recommendation for its study throughout the Church.

The Joint Committee rejoices in the opportunity it has enjoyed in its work to date and emphasizes its unanimous commitment to Presbyterian union as it makes the following recommendations. (See p. 107.)

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN RANDOLPH TAYLOR, Co-Chairman
ROBERT C. LAMAR, Co-Chairman

REPORT OF THE PERMANENT THEOLOGICAL COMMITTEE

The Permanent Theological Committee held two meetings during the past year: on July 10-11, and on December 4-5, 1970.

Three remits from the General Assembly have been before the Committee, and these have occupied our time to the fullest:

1. The Person and Work of the Holy Spirit. The 1967 General Assembly referred to the Permanent Theological Committee a Resolution (No. 9; G.A. Minutes, 1967, p. 193) to the effect that "in light of the contemporary interest in the doctrine of the Holy Spirit and the need of the church for more understanding of His work in the midst of God's people" that this Resolution "be referred to the Permanent Theological Committee for a study of the doctrine of the person and work of the Holy Spirit." The Committee reported to the 1968 Assembly on its progress in this difficult task, and submitted to the 1969 Assembly a completed paper. This paper was, however, judged inadequate in certain respects (G.A. Minutes, 1969, p. 61) and was remanded to the Committee for further study. The Committee therefore undertook to rewrite the paper completely. Progress was reported to the 1970 Assembly, and a completed paper is herewith submitted to the 1971 Assembly.

2. The Meaning of Confirmation. Overture No. 45 from the Presbytery of Hanover (Minutes, 1970, p. 57) regarding the meaning of Confirmation was answered in the affirmative and the Permanent Theological Committee was "instructed to study the meaning of Confirmation and report to the General Assembly of 1971, if the way be clear." The Assembly in this connection also referred to the Committee Resolution No. 21, which was adopted, and which read as follows: "That the Permanent Theological Committee be instructed to include in its study of Confirmation . . . a consideration of the bases for admission to the Lord's Table including the implications of Baptism to both Confirmation and admission to the Lord's Table." (Minutes, 1970, p. 81.)

At our July meeting this remit was discussed and referred to a subcommittee consisting of Messrs. Wade P. Huie, Chairman, Donald K. Campbell, and Milner S. Ball, with the request that they prepare a report for submission to the whole committee at its December meeting. The subject is a very complex one and, although the sub-committee worked diligently, even holding an additional meeting in the Fall, it is not our feeling that our report is yet ready to be submitted to the General Assembly. We therefore report that real progress has been made and express the hope, and expectation, that the paper will be completed and presented to the General Assembly of 1972.

3. Doctrinal Loyalty. This remit grew out of the report of the Ad Interim Committee on the State of the Church, which was adopted by the 1970 General Assembly. Recommendation J of this report was referred to us. It requests "that the General Assembly instruct its Permanent Theological Committee to bring to the next General Assembly (1) an interpretation of our church's understanding of 'doctrinal loyalty' in the light of the ordination question which describes 'Confession of Faith and the Catechisms of this Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures. . . .' and (2) an interpretation of the meaning of loyalty to the 'authority of Scripture as the only rule of faith and life.'"

This remit was likewise discussed at our July meeting and referred to a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. John N. Thomas, Chairman, Rene de V. Williamson, and John Bright, for further study. Progress has been made. The fact that we are not yet ready to report to the General Assembly is due in part to the nature of the above remit. Insofar as it involves a theological question it properly falls within the purview of the Permanent Theological Committee. But it will be observed that the question is also a legal one, involving an interpretation of the Book of Church Order. The Assembly is aware that FG, 20-2 states that "The Stated Clerk of the General Assembly shall refer to the Permanent Judicial Commission all questions rising from courts of the Church or from individuals requiring as interpretation of the Book of Church Order by the General Assembly—" (cf. also FG, 20-6). In other words, as a theological question the matter properly belongs to us. But since it will in all likelihood also involve an interpretation of the language of the Book of Church Order, we have felt obliged to enter into contact with the Permanent Judicial Commission, with view to consultation with them, before submitting a report to the General Assembly. We hope very much that the completed report can be ready for the 1972 Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN BRIGHT, Chairman

REPORT OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE ON A NEW CONFESSION OF FAITH TOGETHER WITH A BOOK OF CONFESSIONS

This Ad Interim Committee respectfully submits its second report. We will have met five times between Assemblies. In general, we feel progress is being made.

Brief Narrative of Proceedings

June 26-28, 1970. The Committee met just one week after the Assembly. It seemed that the process of asking general questions of each other and of the Church (see our report to the 1970 Assembly) had reached the point of diminishing returns. A draft would be necessary before the Church could give further productive thought to our work. So we plunged into debate concerning the over-all outline. Toward the close of three days of hard debate and argument, an outline emerged that commanded unanimous consent and seemed to us a possible leading of the Spirit. The chairman was asked to prepare a preliminary draft based on that outline.

From August through December, 1970, the chairman was on sabbatical leave from his post at Louisville Seminary and able to give sustained attention to the proposed new confession. He completed the assigned draft. Travel in Europe afforded a unique opportunity to test the preliminary stages of the work with a number of European theologians including: Jan Lochman, Jurgen Moltmann, Jacques deSenarclens, J.K.S. Reid, and members of the Panel on Doctrine of the Church of Scotland. Consultation with American theologians was also begun and will be continued with greater intensity as the revised drafts emerge. The chairman also made arrangements for our draft, when the committee feels it is ready, to be circulated to some fifty Reformed theologians all over the world through the office of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches. He was able to do some research in Geneva on confessions of faith of the younger churches and to spend many weeks of study on the historic confessions, including work on the (still unprinted) minutes of the Westminster Assembly. Gratitude is due to the Advanced Religious Studies Foundation for funding this project.

November 5-7, 1970. The committee made an exhaustive study and critique of the chairman's draft.

January 21-23, 1971. On the basis of reactions to the first attempt at drafting, the basic outline was revised and certain operational principles were adopted to guide further drafting. The proposed chapters were then assigned to various members of the committee for redrafting. The Committee came to question the wisdom of waiting for completion of a draft before further engagement with the Church. It was decided to invite the Church to begin immediately to participate in decisions regarding what ought to be included in the Book of Confessions, by means of study guides. Also the Committee will coopt the services of other theologians in our Church, beginning with those who were recommended as additional members by motions made at the 1970 Assembly. Also general discussion throughout the Church will be encouraged by publicity in the church-related papers.

March 12-14, 1971. The Committee continued the drafting process, authorized a letter asking all presbyteries to use the study guides if they will, sought the counsel of William Childs Robinson, Sr. and John Haddon Leith, and adopted this report to the 1971 General Assembly.

Hopes for the Future

We hope to use the summer conference season of 1971 to have open conversations with widely representative groups of ministers and laymen. By fall we hope to be far enough along in the drafting process to engage in substantive consultations with all theological faculties.

The John Knox Press has offered to publish a draft of the proposed New Confession of Faith in April or May of 1972. We shall bend every effort toward meeting that deadline, because of the opportunity it affords for engaging the Church at large in the confessional process. If we are able to do so, we will bring that draft before the 1972 General Assembly with the proposal that it be sent down to the presbyteries for study and suggestion. As part of the process, the draft would be available as a study unit for adult church school classes in the fall of 1972. It would be understood that the draft would be wide open to revision and would probably be completely rewritten in the light of feedback from the presbyteries and the church at large.

If that rewriting can be accomplished in time for the 1973 General Assembly, we could propose a first vote at that time, followed by Presbytery voting during 1973-74, with final adoption a possibility in 1974. On the other hand, the wide-open confessional process envisioned for 1972-73 may take more than one year, with a consequent postponement of the vote for a year or more. It is essential that the Church take whatever time is necessary to make this a genuine confession of the whole Church.

The Problem of Ordination Vows

As we have consulted various groups across the Church, the matter of the ordination vows of office-bearers (ministers, elders, deacons) seems to be a center of concern. It seems obvious to those who have thought about it that the instruction of the 1969 General Assembly to prepare a new confession and a Book of Confessions inevitably involves some alteration in the present vows, so as to cover the additional documents involved.

It therefore seems logical to us that the Committee appointed to propose the Book of Confessions and the new confession should also be asked to submit an appropriate form of subscription as a proposed amendment to the Book of Church Order. Many will want to see the total package before deciding how to vote.

Respectfully submitted,
ALBERT C. WINN, Chairman

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CERTIFICATION OF LAY WORKERS

The Committee on the Certification of Lay Workers has had two meetings during the past year: November 2-3, 1970 and February 8-9, 1971. The Committee consists of the following members: Rev. Allan Anderson, Miss Martha Lou Anderson, Miss Mary B. Cook, Miss Gay Mothershed, Rev. Joe Owen, Mr. Ollie Page, and Rev. Milton Riviere. The Committee's work has been strengthened by the presence of Dr. Sara Little at both meetings, and the addition of Dr. E.T. Thompson at the February meeting.

In addition to its responsibility for maintaining a certification process, the Assembly's Committee on Certification of Lay Workers has been charged to report to the Assembly every four years on the need for, training, and use of lay workers in church occupations. In 1967, a survey was made and reported. In 1971, the Committee is presenting an analysis of reports by 403 Christian educators based on IBM summaries of educator forms included with annual reports from churches. Prepared by Hugh Halverstadt, Director of the Office of Church Personnel Services at the time the 1970 reports were returned, the interpretation appended to this report was originally directed to the educators who completed the forms. Because of its comprehensiveness, the Certification Committee has endorsed Mr. Halverstadt's analysis, and included it as part of the official report. It is the intention of the Committee to make regular use of information obtained from the C-3 forms, available through the Office of Church Personnel Services, and to encourage ordained men to apply for certification as a way of recognizing specialized preparation for the educational ministry.

Most of the work of the Committee has dealt with the task given to it by the 1970 General Assembly, which was an instruction to "study the diversified ministries of the Church and to report to the 1971 General Assembly the recommended changes (if any) in the order and practice of the Church that will promote the more adequate support of diversified ministries not presently ordained, including the DCE, and a more appropriate participation of all such ministries in the courts of the Church."

The 1970 General Assembly also referred to the Committee an overture from the Presbytery of St. Johns which called for a designated group to study "the entire matter of the Director of Christian Education's official authority and position within our denominational structure; and bring to the 1971 General Assembly such specific recommendations as they deem desirable to improve and clarify the official position of the Director of Christian Education within our denominational structure."

The concerns represented by these two directives have occupied a dominant place in the thought and time of the Committee for the past four years. An account of the direction taken by the Committee during this period, and the conclusions tentatively reached, will be found in the report of the Committee to the 1969 General Assembly. The work of the Committee during this past year has intensified its concern for the problem of the unordained professional in our denominational structure, and has reinforced its conclusions. While there is within the Committee a concern that the entire matter of ordination needs restudy and redefinition, the whole of this report is focused on the effort to achieve a working parity for the diversified professional ministries not presently ordained, especially the professional Christian educator. An obvious aspect of this parity, and the object of our recommendations, is that all professional church leaders should be related and responsible to a presbytery in the same way as is the teaching elder in the present structure.

The Committee has sought to be guided by the experience of our denomination with the process of certification of lay workers. It has also sought to profit from the experience of the UPUSA denomination with the office of commissioned church worker. It has solicited the reflective response of seminary professors and faculties, ministers, DCE's, and lay people across the Church. It has drawn heavily on the advice and counsel of Dr. E.T. Thompson and Dr. Sara Little in drafting the recommendations below. However, in its careful selection from these sources, the Committee has first of all sought the leading of the Holy Spirit, that its report and recommendations might upbuild the Church.

Therefore, the Committee on the Certification of Lay Workers offers the following recommendations for your consideration and approval:

RECOMMENDATIONS

(The report of the Committee on Certification of Lay Workers was not filed with the Stated Clerk by the February 1, 1971, deadline required for consideration by the Permanent Judicial Commission in time for consideration prior to the 1971 General Assembly. The following recommendations were therefore not referred to the General Assembly but to the Permanent Judicial Commission as required by BCO 20-7. The Permanent Judicial Commission will retain the report for study and report to the 1972 General Assembly. See p. .)

1. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following addition to the Book of Church Order:

CHAPTER 33 OF COMMISSIONED CHURCH WORKERS

33-1. Through the establishment of the office of commissioned church worker the Church recognizes the gifts and services of men and women who are called to holy tasks other than the Ministry of the Word in keeping with the doctrine of calling as stated in Chapter 23.

33-2. A candidate for the office of commissioned church worker is a member of the Church in full communion, who, believing himself to be called to a Church vocation, is enrolled as such by a Presbytery and under its direction pursues a course of study and of practical training to prepare himself for such a vocation.

33-3. Presbyteries may receive and enroll as candidates for commissioned church work such men and women as in their judgment may have promise of usefulness in the office of commissioned church worker. After completion of educational preparation and satisfactory trial of their talents and fitness for the office, candidates may be so commissioned by the Presbytery.

33-4. Candidates for this office are those preparing to perform specialized professional functions in the Church, whether as (a) service in a congregation, group of congregations, or court, (b) service under one of the boards or agencies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, or (c) service under other agencies when approved by the Presbytery.

33-5. Every candidate for this office shall put himself under the care of a Presbytery, which shall be the Presbytery that has jurisdiction of the church of which he is a member. He shall first state his purpose to his church Session. The Session shall advise with him and shall, at his request, furnish the Presbytery with a certificate of his membership and with testimonials of its judgment regarding his Christian character and promise of usefulness as a commissioned church worker. He shall have been a member of that congregation for the six months preceding the filing of his application to the Presbytery.

Every applicant shall make his application to the Chairman of the Presbytery Committee charged with the care of Candidates at least two months before the meeting of Presbytery which shall hear his request.

Upon receipt of the application the Committee shall inquire diligently into the Christian character and the physical, mental and spiritual qualifications of the applicant, and shall make a careful report to the Presbytery upon all points which would have bearing upon his promise of usefulness as a commissioned church worker. The Committee shall recommend to the Presbytery whether or not the applicant should be received under its care.

33-6. After the Presbytery has heard the report and recommendation of the Committee regarding an applicant, the Moderator shall examine him before the Presbytery as to his Christian experience, the forms of Christian service in which he is engaged, and his motives for seeking the office.

When the Presbytery is satisfied as to the applicant's purpose and promise of usefulness in the office, it shall proceed to receive him under its care after the following form:

The moderator shall propose to him the following questions:

- (1) Do you, as far as you know your own heart, believe yourself to be called to the office of commissioned church worker?
- (2) Do you promise in reliance upon the grace of God to maintain a Christian character and conduct, and to be diligent and faithful in making full preparation for this office?
- (3) Do you promise to submit yourself to the proper supervision of the Presbytery in matters that concern your preparation for this office?
- (4) Do you desire now to be received by this Presbytery as a candidate for the office of commissioned church worker in the Presbyterian Church in the United States?

If these questions be answered in the affirmative, the moderator, or someone appointed by him, shall give the candidate a brief charge, and the proceedings shall close with prayer. The name of the candidate is then to be recorded on the Presbytery's roll of candidates for the office of commissioned church worker.

33-7. A Candidate continues to be a private member of the church and subject to the government and discipline of the church Session, but is under the oversight of the Presbytery in matters of his preparatory training.

The Presbytery shall show a constant and personal interest in him, and shall give him counsel and guidance in regard to his studies, his practical training, and the institutions of learning he should attend. In no case may a candidate omit from his course of study any of the subjects prescribed in the Form of Government as tests for commissioning without obtaining the consent of Presbytery. Where such consent is given the Presbytery shall record the fact and the reasons therefor.

33-8. For the development of his Christian character, for the service he can render, and for his effective training, the Candidate, when entering on his studies, should be authorized and encouraged by the Presbytery to engage in such forms of Christian work as are closely related to the service to which he feels called. These forms of service should be rendered with the approval of Presbytery and also with the sanction and under the guidance of the Candidate's instructors during the time of his being under their instruction.

33-9. The Presbytery shall require every Candidate for the office of commissioned church worker under its care to make a report to it at least once a year and it shall secure from his instructors an annual report upon his department, diligence and progress in study.

33-10. The Presbytery may, upon application of the Candidate, give him a certificate of dismissal to another presbytery, valid when he has transferred his communicant membership to a congregation within the bounds of that Presbytery; and a Candidate may, at his request, be allowed to withdraw from the care of Presbytery.

33-11. The Presbytery may for sufficient reasons remove the name of a Candidate from its roll of candidates; but in such case it shall report its action and the reasons therefor to the Candidate, to the session of his church, and to the institution of learning in which he is pursuing his studies.

33-12. Before being commissioned, the Candidate shall have been under the care of Presbytery for at least one year and shall have received a formal invitation to a particular position approved by presbytery. Exception to the one-year requirement may be made only by a three-fourths vote of the members of presbytery present, and the reasons for such exception shall be spread in full upon the minutes of the Presbytery for transmission to and review by the Synod.

33-13. The trials of a Candidate applying for a commissioning shall be had by the Presbytery under whose care he has placed himself. But if he receives a formal invitation to labor within the bounds of another Presbytery, his own Presbytery may dismiss him to that Presbytery for commissioning, his transfer to be granted only when he has transferred his communicant membership to a particular church within the bounds of said Presbytery. No Presbytery shall commission a Candidate to the office of commissioned church worker with reference to his laboring within the bounds of another Presbytery except at the specific request of said other Presbytery.

33-14. The Presbytery shall require a candidate for commissioning to show evidence of having received a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university, or the educational equivalent thereof. He shall also give evidence of having received in his professional field a specialized preparation judged satisfactory by the Presbytery. He shall be examined in his personal religious experience, Theology, Bible, the Sacraments, and in the Book of Church Order, including government, discipline and worship, and in the field of his particular vocation. In these examinations the candidate shall be examined as to his views as well as his knowledge.

33-15. In order to make trial of his talents, the Presbytery shall require of the Candidate for commissioning a short thesis on a subject related to the church vocation for which he is preparing. The Presbytery may at its discretion require the reading of part or all of the thesis in the presence of Presbytery.

33-16. The Moderator shall ask the Candidate to answer the following questions:

- (1) Do you believe the Scripture of the Old and New Testaments to be the Word of God, the only infallible rule of faith and practice?
- (2) Do you sincerely receive and adopt the Confession of Faith and the Catechisms of this Church as containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures?
- (3) Do you promise that if at any time you find yourself out of accord with any of the fundamentals of this system of doctrine you will on your own initiative make known to your Presbytery the change which has taken place in your views since the assumption of this vow?
- (4) Do you approve the government and discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the United States?

(5) Do you promise subjection to your brethren in the Lord?

(6) Have you been induced, as far as you know your own heart, to seek the office of the commissioned church worker from love of God and sincere desire to promote his glory in the Gospel of his Son?

(7) Do you promise to be zealous and faithful in maintaining the truths of the Gospel and the purity and peace of the Church, whatever persecution or opposition may arise unto you on that account?

(8) Do you engage to be faithful and diligent in the exercise of all your duties as a Christian and a commissioned church worker, whether personal or relative, private or public; and to endeavor by the grace of God to adorn the profession of the Gospel in your manner of life, and to walk with exemplary piety while faithfully performing the duties for which you are commissioned?

33-17. The Candidate having answered these questions in the affirmative, the Moderator shall pray and, then, shall say to the Candidate the following or like words:

. . . . , you are now a commissioned church worker. The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

Record shall be made of the commissioning in the following or like form, namely:

At, the day of, having received testimonials commending and evidence of his being a communicant of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, of his good moral character, and of his having pursued suitable courses of study, proceeded to submit him to the prescribed tests for commissioning, which were met to the approval of the Presbytery. On his satisfactorily answering the questions appointed to be put to the Candidate, ... was commissioned by the Presbytery as a commissioned church worker of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

33-18. The commissioned church worker shall be enrolled by his Presbytery as a member. It shall be the duty of the Stated Clerk of the Presbytery, on enrolling a newly commissioned church worker, to notify the Session of the church of which he has been a member so that the Session may record the fact that his membership has been transferred to the roll of the Presbytery.

The commissioned church worker shall exercise vote in the Presbytery and shall be accompanied in meetings of the Presbytery by a ruling elder elected by the Session of the church in which he serves.

He may be elected commissioner to a higher court.

A commissioned church worker shall not have authority to administer the Sacraments, nor to perform marriages, nor to moderate meetings of Session.

The designation C.C.W. may be used by commissioned church workers to indicate their commissioning by the Presbytery.

33-19. The commission shall continue to be valid as long as the Presbytery in which the commissioned church worker is enrolled approves the performance of the service to which he is commissioned. If the worker has indicated his intention to cease such work, or if a lapse of two years occurs since he has been actively engaged, or if there are other sufficient reasons, the Presbytery, after consultation with the worker, may revoke his commission; but in such case the Presbytery shall record the reasons and shall communicate its action and the reasons therefor to the worker. The commission may also be revoked upon the request of the worker. Presbytery may reinstate the commission, after having been satisfied with the reasons given by the worker in the application for reinstatement. The Presbytery has the right to re-examine the worker in the fields specified in Form of Government Section 33-14 before a vote is taken.

It shall be the duty of the Presbytery to encourage the church or agency which he serves to enable the commissioned church worker to maintain and improve his professional competence through continuing education.

33-20. A commissioned church worker may be by vote of the Presbytery duly transferred as such by letter to another Presbytery within the bounds of which he has received and wills to accept a formal invitation to serve, his transfer to be effected only when he has been received and enrolled by that Presbytery.

33-21. A commissioned church worker to whom the Presbytery has given permission to labor outside the bounds of Presbytery shall report annually to the Presbytery on the service in which he is engaged and request renewal of the permission.

33-22. A roll of the duly commissioned church workers shall be maintained by each Presbytery, shall be reported annually to the General Assembly, and shall be recorded annually under the various presbyteries and alphabetically upon pages reserved for the purpose, together with the names of churches (courts, boards or agencies), in connection with which they are respectively rendering service, and their particular occupations.

32-23. A commissioned church worker desiring to be ordained to the Ministry of the Word may be received by the Presbytery as a candidate for that office, immediately upon application. He may be ordained after meeting the requirements of Form of Government, Chapter 27 in such a way that his studies in a theological seminary or its equivalent, in addition to those pursued in preparation for the office of commissioned church worker, shall be judged equivalent to the prescribed course in a standard theological seminary.

32-24. A commissioned church worker is called by the vote of the church Session, but only after the Session has consulted the Presbytery through its Commission on the Minister and His Work. The terms of the call as extended by the church Session shall follow the form outlined for the calling of a Pastor, and shall specify the particular functions which the commissioned church worker is to fulfill in the life of that church. This relation, an agreement between the church Session and the commissioned church worker, is established by installation, an act of Presbytery, and is dissolved only by the authority of Presbytery. The Presbytery, acting through its Commission on the Minister and His Work, may dissolve the relationship upon the initiative of either the church Session or the commissioned church worker. Not being a Church officer elected by the congregation, the commissioned church worker is not a member of the Session of that church, but should be invited by the Session to be present at its meetings.

2. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following amendments (indicated by italics) to Form of Government Section 8-16 so that the amended paragraph will read as follows:

8-16. When a member of the church is ordained to the Ministry of the Word, or commissioned as a church worker, the ordaining or commissioning Presbytery shall notify the particular church of which he has been a member. The church Session shall note in its records that the Minister or commissioned church worker is now a member of the Presbytery and no longer a member of a particular church.

3. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent an amendment to Form of Government Section 13-7 adding to the first sentence the phrase "or a commissioned church worker" after the words "Ruling Elder."

4. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent an amendment to Form of Government Section 14-5 adding to the second sentence the words "commissioned church workers" so that the amended sentence will read as follows: "The church Session exercises jurisdiction over a single church; the Presbytery over what is common to the Ministers, commissioned church workers, Sessions, and churches within a prescribed district; the Synod over what belongs in common to three or more Presbyteries, and their Ministers, commissioned church workers, Sessions and churches; and the General Assembly over such matters as concern the whole Church."

5. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following amendments (indicated by italics) to Form of Government Section 16-1, so that the amended section will read as follows:

16-1. The Presbytery consists of its member Ministers, commissioned church workers and all the churches within a certain district. When a Presbytery meets each church shall be represented by a Ruling Elder commissioned by the church Session. A church whose communicants exceed 1500 shall be represented by two Ruling Elders and shall be entitled to one more Ruling Elder for each additional 1000 communicants, and in any event the number of Ruling Elders a church shall be entitled to elect shall not be less than the total number of ministers and commissioned church workers on its staff.

6. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following amendments to Form of Government Section 16-7, being additions to the defined powers of a Presbytery:

"(23) To receive under its care Candidates for the office of commissioned church worker.

(24) To commission, receive, dismiss, install, remove, and judge commissioned church workers."

7. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following amendments (indicated by italics) to Form of Government Section 17-1, so that the amended section will read as follows:

17-1. The Synod consists of all the churches in a district comprising at least three Presbyteries and of the Ministers and commissioned church workers who are members of the included Presbyteries. When a Synod meets each church shall be represented by a Ruling Elder commissioned by the church Session. A church whose communicants exceed 1500 shall be represented by two Ruling Elders and shall be entitled to one more Ruling Elder for each additional 1000 communicants, and in any event the number of Ruling Elders a church shall be entitled to elect shall not be less than the total number of ministers and commissioned church workers on its staff.

8. That the General Assembly approve and send to the Presbyteries for advice and consent the following amendment to Form of Government Chapter 21, which shall be an additional section as follows:

21.5. The Commission shall exercise all the same powers and responsibilities in relationship to its commissioned church workers serving within the bounds of the Presbytery as to its Ministers.

APPENDIX A
THE QUADRENNIAL SURVEY ON LAY WORKERS IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

NUMBER OF EDUCATORS. Of the 403 respondents on Form C-3, 366 of them are employed on the staffs of local churches and 37 of them are employed on the staffs of presbyteries, synods, or Assembly agencies. Of the 403 respondents on Form C-3, 255 (63%) are women and 148 (37%) are men. Out of a list of 140 churches who said they were seeking to employ Christian educators in January, 1970, a check with OCPS and consultants leads us to think that about 90 of these churches are in fact not only seeking but also able to employ Christian educators. This makes for an estimated total of 500 positions for Christian educators in PCUS, with a current vacancy rate of 20%.

AGES OF EDUCATORS. Male educators are younger as a group than female educators. Of the 148 male respondents, 74% are less than 40 years of age. Of the 255 female respondents, 49% are less than 40 years of age. Unlike the men, the women educators were spread fairly evenly among the age groupings on the C-3Form. This seems to support the idea that an increasing number of men, ordained and nonordained, have been entering the field of Christian education during the past 10 years.

CREDENTIALS OF EDUCATORS. Of the 255 women, 1% have a B.D. degree, 40% a Master's degree, and 1% have a Ph.D. degree, for a total of 42% of the women who have a graduate degree. Since 22% of these 255 women indicate that they are employed part time, we estimate that 30%-35% of the women employed full time as educators in PCUS do not have graduate education. Of the 148 men, 68% have a B.D. degree, 29% a Master's degree, and 1% have a Ph.D. degree. Since a number of men with B.D. degrees have also received a Master's degree, we estimate that 90% of the men have completed graduate education. This estimate is supported by the fact that 91% of the men have been either ordained or certified at the level of a director, while only 50% of the women have been certified as directors. We also estimate (by comparing figures in the columns for educational degrees, part-time employment and ordination/certification) that about 20% of the women employed full time as PCUS educators are not currently certified or ordained. Among the 148 men, 69% are ordained and 28%-31% are certified.

FAMILY STATUS OF EDUCATORS. Among the 255 women, 58% have never married, 36% are now married, and 6% are widowed or divorced. Among the 148 men, 12% have never married and 88% are currently married. Since 82% of the people who indicate they are working part time also indicate they are married, we surmise that around 80% of the people working part time in Christian education are either married pastors who have Christian education as one of their major staff responsibilities or married DCE's who divide their time between part-time education work and their family responsibilities. (Only 11 people over fifty years of age indicate that they are working part time.) This means that full-time Christian educators are likely to be either married men or unmarried women, certainly one factor in salary differences.

SALARIES OF EDUCATORS. The salary area is the point of greatest contrast between male and female educators. The table below shows a percentage breakdown by categories.

	Male	Female	B.D.	Master's	Bachelor's	Total
Salary Ranges
less than $5000	5%	28%	3%	9%	19%	20%
$5000 - $6000	2%	18%	0%	10%	12%	12%
$6000 - $7000	7%	26%	1%	22%	20%	19%
$7000 - $8000	6%	14%	3%	19%	7%	11%
$8000 - $9000	15%	5%	17%	9%	9%	9%
$9000 - $10000	20%	6%	22%	14%	10%	11%
$10000 - $12000	34%	2%	41%	16%	16%	14%
over $12000	10%	0%	13%	1%	7%	4%
	99%	99%	100%	100%	100%	100%

With 56 of the 82 part-time educators being paid less than $5000, we estimate that 54 of these 56 people are women who are employed part time. This means that the minimum salary for almost all full-time women educators is in the $5000-$6000 range. Note also that there is less salary difference between master's and bachelor's degrees than there is between the male and female columns. Whether this difference reflects the higher percentage of men with graduate degrees, the effectiveness of presbytery Commissions on the Minister and His Work, a cultural discrimination against women, or a combination of all these factors, we cannot tell.

JOB BENEFITS OF EDUCATORS. 68% of the 403 educators are enrolled in Annuities and Relief. 62% of the 403 educators have four weeks of vacation. 43% of the 403 educators have two weeks for continuing education, but a rather high 25% indicate they have no time for continuing education. In the area of continuing education, the DCE's do better than the B.D.'s.

	DCE	B.D.
none	12%	26%
1 week	30%	16%
2 weeks	52%	45%
3 weeks	3%	6%
4 weeks	2%	3%
4+ weeks	1%	3%
	100%	99%

MOBILITY OF EDUCATORS. The data show an increasing mobility among educators. Whereas 56% of the respondents had been in their current positions less than two years, 54% of these same respondents had been in their previous positions three years or longer (31% of them in their previous positions from five to ten years!). The more recent influx of ordained men partly explains this increasing mobility. But it also seems true that there is a general restlessness among Christian educators now that is reflected by this increasing mobility.

RANKED ACTIVITIES OF EDUCATORS. The data at this point is less reliable than in other sections of the C-3 Form. For example, the activity labeled "regular attendance of session meetings" could have been ranked either in terms of the amount of work time involved in this activity or in terms of the amount of work importance attached to this activity. We will try to improve this section of the C-3 Form next time around. Still the data are of general importance. The seven activities are ranked below in terms of actual involvement (first figure in each column) and desired involvement (second figure in each column). Read downward for the rankings of each activity by category. For example, in the Male column "counseling" activities were rated in 5th place in actual involvement and in 4th place in desired involvement; whereas in the MCE column the same activity was rated 4th place in actual involvement and 5th place in desired involvement. 1-greatest involvement; 7-least involvement. The activities so ranked are as follows:

- A. administration of church school
- B. regular attendance of session meetings
- C. leadership training
- D. serve as teacher of groups
- E. youth ministry
- F. one-to-one counseling
- G. mimeograph and secretarial work

	Male	Female	Ordained	B.D.	DCE	MCE	Cert.	-26 yrs.	36-50 yrs.	Total
Admin.	2, 5	1, 3	2, 5	2, 5	1, 4	2, 5	1, 5	2, 5	1, 4	2, 5
Session	6, 6	7, 6	6, 6	6, 6	6, 6	6, 6	7, 6	7, 6	7, 6	7, 6
Ld. Trng.	3, 2	3, 1	3, 2	3, 2	2, 1	4, 1	3, 2	5, 3	3, 1	3, 1
Teaching	4, 3	4, 5	4, 3	4, 3	4, 2	3, 3	4, 4	3, 4	4, 5	4, 3
Yth. Min.	1, 1	2, 2	1, 1	1, 1	3, 3	1, 2	2, 1	1, 1	2, 3	1, 2
Counsel.	5, 4	5, 4	5, 4	5, 4	5, 5	4, 5	5, 3	4, 2	5, 2	5, 4
Sec'y.	7, 7	6, 7	7, 7	7, 7	7, 7	7, 7	6, 7	7, 6	6, 7	6, 7

Perhaps the most noticeable thing about this ranking is the considerable tension in every column between what educators find themselves doing and what educators desire to be doing. Note that the men rank youth ministry first, and the women rank leadership training first. Note also that there is less tension between the actual/desired rankings in the male, ordained, and B.D. columns than there is in the female, DCE, and MCE columns. The "totals" column indicates that the biggest work tensions of educators generally are in the areas of administration of church school and leadership training.

POSTSCRIPT. Statistics are infamous for their capacity to misrepresent reality because of oversimplified interpretations. The 1970 C-3 Form is certainly not the most perfect instrument ever devised to get valid data on educators. However, it seems to us that this is the most reliable data yet gathered on PCUS educators. With further revisions of the Form and continued cooperation from educators, we hope to get a more and more accurate picture of church educators in the denomination so as to be of service and support to them professionally.

Respectfully submitted,
A. MILTON RIVIERE, Chairman

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY, INC.

The Board of Directors of PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY, at this time in the life of the Church and of the Church's official magazine, reports to the General Assembly that the apparent need of effective communication was never greater than it is now, at all levels of our denomination.

Difficulties in meeting this need, though they are vast, have not diminished the dedication of the SURVEY Board to the task of fulfilling its responsibilities in publishing the communications vehicle, or vehicles, that the Church must have.

In response to directives from the General Assembly, and in close collaboration with the leadership of the Church's boards and agencies, SURVEY during the past year has shifted to a news-oriented editorial emphasis.

The Present Product

This, without benefit of additional dollars, has resulted in twice-a-month publications, instead of the monthly magazine, in a reduction of the number of pages per issue, and in editorial content designed to reflect what the Church is doing. At the same time there has been an effort to retain some editorial content reflecting some of the best of religious or theological thought.

Meanwhile, circulation has continued to decline—to a total of 149,083 at the end of December, 1970, the lowest since 1958.

In cooperation with the Boards of National Ministries, Christian Education and World Missions, SURVEY produced during 1970 a Leadership Edition circulated to 15,809 leaders on combined lists from the boards and agencies. Seventeen of the 22 issues of SURVEY in 1970 included the Leadership pages.

The Leadership Edition is a significant demonstration of agency and board cooperation, the pooling of interests and efforts of eight editors of five separate church publications located in three cities and engaging two different printers.

The lessons learned by SURVEY in this joint effort should yield significant benefits as it continues to seek answers to some difficult communications questions facing our Church.

The SURVEY Board has been faithful to its mandate to operate within the limits of its financial resources, and is determined to continue this. However, the compulsion of making bricks without the necessary straw obviously produces a cycle of diminished quality and erosion of readership.

To the quest of adequate financial support for its communications effort the General Assembly should continue to direct fruitful attention.

The Future Product

The road ahead for SURVEY, as with church publications generally, is rough and uncertain. Perhaps, however, the view now is much clearer with respect to where we are, where we need to go, and what we have to go there with.

With its 140,000-plus family subscribers, PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY remains the communications rock on which all interests of our Church may stand as we seek to build the vehicle, or vehicles, which carry properly the messages of information and inspiration and guidance to all who would minister in His name.

Signs of hope for improved communication can be seen in the current inter-agency discussions on communication evaluation and goals. The Presbyterian National Sample continues to provide professional research for communication guidance.

Another area of optimism is advertising. While circulation has decreased, advertising has increased. Advertising is beneficial not only for revenue, but also for service to readers. Through advertising Church agencies can emphasize programs with greater frequency and impact than can be justified in editorial columns. SURVEY actively seeks non-church advertising which helps avoid a ghetto image of the Church. The fact that men of commerce regularly spend large sums for SURVEY advertising space testifies something about readership and response.

Funding The Product

Fund balance available for future operations increased $11,226 to $37,830 in 1970. This operating capital represents about 8% of the annual operating cost of SURVEY. Total income of $479,365 was $8,215 under the budget. Income from subscriptions produced 48% of the total income and was $12,560 under the budget due to a decrease in subscriptions. Advertising revenue of $73,652 amounted to 16% of the total income and exceeded the budget by $3,652. Underwriting from the Boards and agencies of the General Assembly totaled $139,000 and amounted to 29% of the total income. Reimbursement for printing the resource materials for the boards and agencies in the Leadership Editions and Other Income totaled $37,273 and represents 7% of the total income.

Rising cost of production and loss of income from decreasing subscriptions creates a critical situation to which the Board and staff are giving serious consideration in consultation with executives and staff members of all other agencies of the General Assembly. (See 1969-1970 Comparative Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense appended.)

References From The General Assembly

The General Assembly in 1970 referred two items regarding communication to the General Council and the SURVEY Board of Directors for study and report. One request was to propose a plan by which the official magazine of the Church be sent to every home. The other request was to study the possibility of resumption of "This Week" news publication and the best means of disseminating news throughout the Church.

A joint committee of three members from each of the General Council and SURVEY Boards has reported to both agencies. The SURVEY Board concurs with the recommendation submitted to the General Assembly by the General Council.

Service Of Board Members

The Board desires to express appreciation for the services of six members who for various reasons are terminating their services with this meeting of the General Assembly. John W. Lancaster and Mrs. Grace Overholser have completed three terms and are ineligible for further service; C. Eric Mount, Jr., and E. Hugh Morris have asked that they be replaced for personal reasons; and Samuel Hope and Lewis Wilkins are not qualified to represent the Boards of World Missions and Christian Education respectively because they are no longer members of the staffs of these Boards.

The Board held two regular meetings during the past year. The records of attendance follows:

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE MOUNTAIN RETREAT ASSOCIATION

Conferences

Under the leadership of Mr. E.A. Andrews, Jr., Vice-President for Conferences, the conference program increases each year. In 1970 Montreat entertained 60 conferences, retreats and meetings.

The number and size of conferences are affected by everything that happens in the Church.

If the Boards and Agencies of the General Assembly have to operate on a reduced budget, a proposed conference may appear expendable.

If a Board of the General Assembly sponsors a conference, persons who do not approve of their policies will not be present.

The divisive spirit which threatens the unity of the Church makes Assembly-wide conferences, which bring together leaders from all parts of the Church, of all points of view, to pray and seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit because of a common concern, more important than at any period in the recent history of the Church.

Montreat Debt

The report of Mr. William L. Schwantes, Treasurer and Business Manager of Montreat, for 1970 shows an indebtedness in the amount of $436,498.00 which represents the total obligations of the Mountain Retreat Association.

This indebtedness was incurred during a capital improvement program in which the Board of Directors spent $1,608,633.00 improving and expanding the conference facilities. In 1960 every building in Montreat was in need of major renovation and new facilities were required to meet the minimum needs of the Boards and Agencies.

In 1970, the annual increase in the Montreat indebtedness was halted, all operating costs were paid, and the capital indebtedness was reduced by $17,827 and $32,416.00 was paid in interest.

The Budget for 1971 includes $100,000 for debt retirement. The total receipts from the General Assembly in 1970 were $122,761.00.

Substantial economies have been effected by sharing administrative personnel with Montreat-Anderson College. The President serves both institutions and a part of his salary is paid by the College. The Vice-President for Conferences is Director of Development for the College, which pays half of his and half of his secretary's salary. The Treasurer-Business Manager has the same position in the College which pays half of his and his secretary's salary.

Prior to 1965 there was no contract between the Mountain Retreat Association and the College. Each used the facilities of the other without compensation, and the Administration of the Association served the College.

The contract between these institutions for 1971 provides for the Association to pay the College $3,150.00 in rentals and the College to pay the Association $59,227.00 in salary, rentals and fees. In this year the College will pay the Association a net of $65,077.00. In addition the College pays the Association about $180,000 on a food contract. The College has constructed two residence halls costing $993,000, providing 246 beds for conference guests. The construction of the Science Building, costing $500,000, has released spaces in Gaither Hall for conference use. The new Library now under construction, and costing $892,000, will add a beautiful and adequate building to Montreat facilities and release more space in Gaither for conference activity.

Montreat Swimming Pool

In recent years, the Recreation Committee has repeatedly drawn attention to the increasing health and safety hazards associated with swimming in Lake Susan. In addition, legislation appears imminent making it impossible for swimming to be allowed in small surface area lakes if habitable dwellings are located along waterways which feed the lake.

With this in mind, a small group of Cottage Owners and a few other lovers of Montreat have provided $55,449.00 for the construction of a swimming pool on the Camp for Girls property. As this report is written an additional $5,000 is needed. The pool is 75 feet by 42 feet with an additional area for diving and another for instruction. It provides a separate wading pool for children and 10,000 square feet of deck.

Dressing rooms, showers and other auxiliary facilities are provided in McAllister Lodge, formerly used by Montreat Camp.

Board of Directors

The Board wishes to record its gratitude to the following, who have served the Church of Christ as members of this Board and are not eligible for reelection: Rev. W. Kirk Allen, Jr., Mr. S.H. Anderson, Sr., Mr. Tully D. Blair, Mr. William E. Sherman, Mr. John F. Watlington, Jr., and Rev. Edwin R. Wilson.

Respectfully submitted,
C. GRIER DAVIS, President

REPORT OF STILLMAN COLLEGE FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I am pleased to present to the General Assembly a report on the work of Stillman College for 1970.

The year, in retrospect, witnessed significant changes and improvements covering all phases of college life and brought us additional success in our capital funds campaign.

Administration and Board of Trustees

Welcomed to the Board of Trustees were the Rev. Thomas W. Currie, Mr. Samuel B. Ethridge, and Dr. John B. Troitti. Appreciation was expressed to Mr. Cecil W. Boston, Dr. Thomas C. Duncan, Mr. E. Grainger Williams, and Mr. Toddie Lee Wynne, Jr. who retired from the Board.

Stillman officially completed its self-study and received its reaffirmation of accreditation at the December, 1970, meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The self-study project has enabled the entire college to look at itself thoughtfully and critically and to make improvements in its program where most needed.

Stillman, as many small colleges, has faced considerable need in staffing to adequately and effectively perform its management function. Under a grant, the College is studying and reorganizing its administrative staff for more effective management. Three persons have been added in the areas of institutional research, purchasing, and administrative assistance. The addition of such personnel should enable the administrative officials of the College to effect better planning and programs and to more effectively cover administrative detail.

Academic

Stillman's teaching faculty was strengthened with the addition of nine doctorates. Of a total teaching faculty of 48, including three part-time faculty members, 22 hold the doctoral degree.

The largest class in the history of the College—145 young men and women—was graduated in May, 1970. Nineteen of these were accepted into graduate schools with fellowships or assistantships to study in the areas of medicine, biology, physics, mathematics, sociology, history, and social work.

Enrollment for the 1970-71 fall semester was 663, representing 22 states and four foreign countries. Enrollment during the year included three exchange students from the University of Nebraska. Stillman sent two students to the Nebraska campus.

Several innovations were made in curriculum. A new course in freshman studies combines communications, reading, social issues, and writing. A new course in commercial art, additional courses in accounting, and courses on the contributions of Black Americans in art, music, and literature were added.

As assistant librarian and a readers services assistant have been added to the William H. Sheppard Library staff. During the past year, 8,488 volumes were added to the library collection. Library resources have been complemented by the addition of a micro-film research center and two reader-printers. An archives project, directed by a librarian-archivist, was added during the year. The College continues its membership in the Cooperative College Library Consortium which operates the Cooperative College Library Center, an agency financed originally by the Carnegie Corporation, which provides for the joint purchasing and processing of library volumes. The addition of such a large number of volumes as previously reported is due to membership in this program.

Under a grant, the College has been investigating the feasibility of instituting a cooperative education program which would integrate periods of study on campus with periods of work experience off campus on an alternating basis. A college-wide committee of students, faculty, and administration will make recommendations to the faculty in the 1971 spring semester on which a decision will be based.

Inter-institutional programs with the University of Alabama; Indiana University; the Alabama Center for Higher Education, consisting of eight predominantly Negro colleges; and the Alabama Consortium for the Development of Higher Education, consisting of seven Alabama institutions both predominantly white and predominantly black, are continuing as part of an effort to add variety and dimension to enhance the College's institutional strength. Promising programs are in progress or are being developed by all of these consortia.

Results from the College Educational Achievement Project continue to be most encouraging. Many of the students enrolling in the one-year pre-college program initiated in 1968 for underachieving high school graduates are now successfully performing in the regular college program.

College choir tours took young musicians from Stillman into twelve states and the District of Columbia in a highly successful venture. A Western choir tour is planned for 1971.

Capital Fund Drive

The capital funds drive, launched by the College in 1969, neared the $1 million mark at the close of 1970. Two visitation days, part of a continuing program, were held during the year to bring members of the campaign's National Steering Committee, businessmen and Presbyterian ministers and lay leaders to the campus for a first-hand report on the work of the College and its needs. Through December 31, 1970, a total of $971,253.74 had been raised in cash and pledges. The campaign is expected to extend into a number of new cities during 1971).

Physical Improvements

Physical improvements during 1970 included completion of air-conditioning of the William H. Shepard Library, renovation of the John Knox Hall Annex for infirmary facilities, installation of new walks, and improvement of the athletic area.

Planning was begun for a campus beautification project sponsored by the Stillman Women, an organization inclusive of all the women employees and faculty wives of the College. Flower beds at a number of points on campus are planned.

The Board of Trustees in October, 1970, authorized the College to proceed with the construction of a new mathematics-science building. This project is expected to get underway by late Spring, 1971.

The need for Stillman College is as valid today as at the time of its founding in 1876. The continuous undergirding of the program of this college abounds to the Christian witness of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. The continued concern and increased support of our Church are imperative for the sustenance and maintenance of this venerable college.

Respectfully submitted,
HAROLD N. STINSON, President

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES

REPORT OF AUSTIN PRESBYTERIAN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The Trustees of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary respectfully present to its controlling Synods and also to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States this annual report.

Ownership and Control

Austin Seminary continues under the ownership and control of the Synods of Arkansas-Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The primary purpose of the Seminary is the training of men and women for Christian ministry in its variety of current forms.

The Seminary is immediately governed by a Board of Trustees of twenty-four members elected by the Synods. Mrs. Jack Boyd of Sweetwater, Texas, and The Reverend Miss Patricia McClurg of Pasadena, Texas, began terms of service on the Board in 1970. Serving as officers of the Board are: John W. Lancaster, Chairman; William J. Murray, Vice-Chairman; Joe M. Brown, Secretary; and John W. Smiley, Treasurer.

Faculty and Administration

The Seminary lost the valuable services and the warm Christian witness of W. Walter Johnson who died March 7, 1970. The current academic year will see the retirement of Rachel Henderlite, Ph.D., and the return of Ian F. McIntosh, Th.D. to Great Britain. With the consent of the Board of Trustees, two professors carry partial teaching loads in other institutions: James Allen Wharton, Th. D., in the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest, and Prescott H. Williams, Ph.D., in The University of Texas. Edward Dixon Junkin, Ph.D., came to the Seminary in the fall of 1970 as assistant professor in Church History. Announcement of other faculty additions will be made by the Board of Trustees in May, 1971.

It is with regret with the Seminary notes the retirement of Treasurer-Business Manager, John W. Smiley, who has served the Seminary for seventeen years in this capacity.

Austin Presbyterian Seminary and the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest are working closely together, particularly in the fields of Biblical studies and pastoral care. Interchange of students and of credits has been worked out in many areas.

Professors John Jansen and George Heyer are currently on leave, Professor Jansen studying in Holland and Professor Heyer acting as special curator for the art museum in The University of Texas.

During the January term Austin Seminary arranged a cooperative seminar which included students and faculty from Southern Methodist University and Texas Christian University, as well as the Episcopal and Presbyterian Seminaries in Austin.

Students

Fall registration showed 46 new students entering as against 41 last year. Six additional students were enrolled at mid-semester. These students come from eighteen states and four foreign countries.

Graduate study fellowships were awarded as follows:

Alumni Fellowship—Robert H. Bullock, Jr.

Trustees Fellowship—John R. Williams

W.P. Newell Fellowship—Lonnie H. Dillard, Jr.

Janie Maxwell Morris Fellowship—Richard D. Gould

Janie Maxwell Morris Fellowship—Donald E. Moore

Finance

Austin Seminary was able to operate for the year without indebtedness, as is required by its constitution, and showed an operating deficit of $2,585.84, which was covered by undesignated funds from special sources. The increase in total resources of the Seminary during the last fiscal year was $609,584.00. There has been no increase in income from the controlling synods for the past several years. Only by increased endowment income will the seminary be able to continue to operate without loss. A modest increase in tuition has been established by the Board of Trustees and will go into effect in the fall of 1971.

Diploma Nomenclature

As the American Association of Theological Schools has now established the Master of Divinity as the basic theological professional degree, the Trustees have authorized granting of the M. Div. as the basic theological degree upon graduation from Austin Seminary. The Trustees have further authorized the exchange of an M. Div. diploma for those who in previous years have received a B.D. The Committee on Curriculum and Faculty of the Board of Trustees is working with the Dean of the Faculty in investigating the possibility of a Doctor of Ministry program.

Physical Facilities

The Seminary has acquired the final piece of property facing 29th Street, between Speedway and University Avenue. The library reports a 25% increase in book circulation during the fall semester. Volumes added during the year total 3,221, and the collection now contains over 92,000 volumes. The current library, built to house 100,000 volumes must be expanded in the near future.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN W. LANCASTER, Chairman

REPORT OF COLUMBIA THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

A principal event of the year 1970-71 at Columbia Theological Seminary has been the election by the Board of Directors on March 26, 1971, of Dr. C. Benton Kline, Dean of the Faculty and Professor of Theology, as the next President of this institution.

Dr. Kline is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a graduate of the College of Wooster, holds the B.D. and Th. M. degrees from Princeton Theological Seminary, and earned his Ph. D. at Yale University. He was married in 1950 to Miss Mary Christine Hicks of Princeton, New Jersey and the Klines have two children, John Benton and Mary Martha. Dr. Kline was formerly a member of the Faculty of Agnes Scott College where he was Professor of Philosophy and also Dean of the Faculty. He was called in 1968 to become Professor of Theology and Dean of the Faculty at Columbia Theological Seminary. As a member of Atlanta Presbytery, Dr. Kline has been active in filling pulpits of this area and is a faithful and useful member of various committees and commissions of his Presbytery and Synod.

Dr. Kline will assume office on July 1, 1971, succeeding Rev. J. McDowell Richards who is retiring after 39 years of service as President of this institution.

There have been no other changes in the personnel of the faculty during the present year. Professors Thomas H. McDill and James H. Gailey resumed their regular teaching duties last September after having been on Sabbatic leave in Atlanta and in Berkeley, California, respectively. Dr. Ronald Wallace and Dean Hal Lyon are on leave at the present time. Dr. Wallace is spending his time in Edinburgh and in Geneva and is working toward the completion and publication of one or more books. Dean Lyon is enrolled in Mansfield College of Oxford University and is pursuing graduate studies in Church History. The entire faculty has continued to render faithful service to our denomination both in teaching and in various other aspects of the program of the church.

The entering class which matriculated last September was slightly larger than the one which was admitted in the previous year. The total enrollment of students for the year is 216, marking also a small increase over that for the preceding school session. The spirit shown by students throughout the year has been commendable, and we feel that these young men and women are worthy of all encouragement and support by the Church as they prepare for the difficult task of the ministry in the uncertain years which lie ahead. It is a pleasure to report that most of the graduates of this institution continue to enter the work of the pastorate. Of the 33 seniors who graduated in 1970, 28 went immediately into the work of the pastorate and three others plan to do so in due time.

These are days of continued change in curricula and in the nomenclature for degrees within the theological world. Less than three years have elapsed since Columbia Theological Seminary graduated the first class trained under its so called "New Curriculum" and for the first time awarded the Master of Divinity Degree instead of the traditional Bachelor of Divinity. However, in the light of decisions made by the American Association of Theological Schools in its meeting at Claremont, California, last summer, a further change is envisioned for the early future. By its action at that time the association voted to "recommend and encourage the member schools to move toward the establishment of programs for the professional doctorate (D. Min.) provided that their academic and other educational resources warrant such a development." In the light of this decision Columbia Seminary, in agreement with the other three seminaries of our Church, feels that it has no alternative but to make the change recommended. A committee of the faculty is now actively engaged in the study of this question and in due time will recommend a revised curriculum and general requirements for the new degree. It is far too soon to know what the detailed recommendations of the Committee will be, but obviously standards for a doctorate will need to be considerably higher than those which have previously been required for the basic theological degree. It is possible, also, that a longer period of study will be required.

At the present time we cannot predict whether the way will eventually be opened for present degree holders to do additional work and to earn the doctors degree. However, the Board of Directors of Columbia Seminary has authorized the faculty to award the M. Div. degree to all holders of the B.D. who make application for the change and who pay the necessary fee for their diplomas. These diplomas will be awarded only at the end of each academic year.

It is also difficult to predict what the ultimate effect of granting the D.Min. degree will be upon our present programs leading to the Th. M. and to the STD degrees. We believe that the inherent value of the required studies leading to these degrees will not be lessened, and it is gratifying that at the present there continues to be a good enrollment of graduate students working in these programs.

Columbia Seminary continues its close association with other theological institutions in or near the Atlanta area. In January of 1971, after long study by the faculties concerned, the Atlanta Theological Association was formerly organized with a membership which includes the Candler School of Theology, the Interdenominational Theological Center, the Erskine Theological Seminary at Due West, S.C., and Columbia Theological Seminary. These institutions will continue their cooperation for the mutual benefit of all and, so far as possible, will seek to share their resources for effective theological education while not sacrificing the integrity or the distinctive contributions of any institution. The Church of God, which has its headquarters at Cleveland, Tennessee, is considering the possibility of establishing a theological seminary in the Atlanta area in the early future and has had our encouragement to do so and to become a member of the Atlanta Theological Association. At the present time the principal areas in which the Association is actively engaged are the provision of hospital training for its students through the Georgia Association of Pastoral Care, the preparation of men for urban ministry through the Atlanta Urban Organization, and the conducting of a joint graduate program leading to the STD degree.

Under existing circumstances in the Church and in the economic order, we have much reason for gratitude in the financial record of the year. Income received through the benevolence budgets of the five supporting synods showed an encouraging increase, rising from $136,604 in 1969 to $153,299 in 1970. Income received from other sources remained at approximately the same level as in the previous year and the Seminary was able to close its books with an excess of income over expenditures amounting to $16.00.

The Seminary's campaign to secure an additional $5,000,000 in Capital Funds from its supporting synods continues to make progress which though slower than had been hoped, is still substantial. During the past twelve months the institution was able to add slightly more than $500,000 to its assets as a result of gifts made in this campaign. This accomplishment brings the total amount of contributions made to the institution since the initiation of this effort to something more than $2,000,000. Campaigns have now been conducted for the seminary in the Synods of Florida and of Alabama. The Seminary has also benefited to some extent through the EPIC campaign of the Synod of Georgia, though this effort fell far short of its goal. A campaign is to be conducted in the Synod of South Carolina later this year.

Dr. J. Davison Philips of Decatur, Georgia continues to serve as Chairman of the Board of Directors with Rev. William A. Adams of Athens, Georgia as its Secretary. We would report with sorrow the death during the year of Mr. N.B. Corbin, a ruling elder in the Riverside Presbyterian Church of Jacksonville, Florida, who was a Director elected by the Synod of Florida.

REPORT OF LOUISVILLE PRESBYTERIAN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The Students

The Seminary has been challenged, for the third year in a row, by a marked increase in enrollment. We began the fall with 214 students, up 30 from last year, which was already the largest enrollment in our history. Of the total, 198 are candidates for the Master of Divinity degree, making their initial professional preparation for the ministry.

The Church suffers from polarization. Membership is declining. Gifts are falling off. And yet here is this unprecedented outpouring of life for the service of the gospel. The cause of this is not clear: why this growth at this particular place and this particular time? The future is equally unclear: will there be places of service in the Church for all these students when they finish? But our present duty is very clear; to give them the best theological education possible within the limits of our resources and abilities.

The Faculty

The major factor in meeting this challenge, now as always, is an able and committed faculty. We are pleased to report four additions to our fulltime teaching staff:

Burton Cooper is the new Associate Professor of Philosophical Theology. He holds the A.B. degree from Columbia University and the Th.D. degree from Union Seminary in New York. He has taught previously at Wooster College in Ohio and Mary Washington College in Virginia. He is a Presbyterian layman.

Catherine Lee Gunsalus is the new Associate Professor of Historical Theology, with special emphasis on patristic and medieval history and thought. She holds the A.B. from Beaver College and the S.T.B. and Ph.D. degrees from Boston University. She has taught previously at West Virginia Wesleyan College. She is an ordained minister of the United Presbyterian Church.

David Kenneth Jobling is the new Assistant Professor of Hermeneutics. A native of Leeds, England, he holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Cambridge University. His Th.D. degree is to be awarded by Union Seminary in New York in 1971. He is a licensed lay preacher in the Methodist Church of Great Britain.

Louis B. Weeks, III is the new Assistant Professor of Historical Theology, with special emphasis on Reformation and modern history and thought. He holds the A.B. degree from Princeton University, the B.D. from Union Seminary in Virginia, and the Ph.D. from Duke University. He is an ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

As an additional response to the influx of students, we have appointed George Franklin Bennett as Associate Dean of Student Affairs. He holds the B.A. from Centre College, the B.D. from McCormick Seminary, and the Th.M. from Southern Baptist Seminary. He is an accredited Supervisor of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education and has served as Principal Chaplain at Central State Hospital as well as Adjunct Professor in this Seminary. He is an ordained minister of the United Presbyterian Church.

The faculty has been further strengthened this year by the presence of three visiting professors. Professor Henry Brimm, the distinguished librarian of Union Seminary in Virginia, is a major addition to our library staff. President John Watts of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Ruschlikon, Switzerland, is Visiting Professor of Hebrew. And Professor Hiber Conteris of University of Montevideo, Uruguay, is Visiting Professor of Missions.

The Academic Program

The new curriculum for the first degree (Master of Divinity) was instituted three years ago and continues to operate with considerable excitement and with constant minor revisions and improvements.

Our graduate program (Master of Theology) is very small and in transition. We are offering the Th.M. only in those fields where enough students register to form meaningful graduate seminars. Presently this is restricted to Pastoral Care, where a carefully-designed program now develops special competence in pastoral counseling and leads to special certification by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. The whole matter of graduate education must be rethought in the light of the recent action of the American Association of Theological Schools, encouraging its member schools to experiment with the professional doctorate (D. Min.). We shall move in concert with our sister Presbyterian seminaries, north and south, on this matter.

Our Double Competency Programs with the University of Louisville in social work and law continue to attract nationwide attention. We now have students in the law school and the school of social work, as well as a number of participants in this program, who are presently studying theology on our own campus. A growing number of students are taking other courses without charge in the University and other institutions in the area through the facilities of the Kentuckiana Metroversity. The coming of a full-time Director for the Metroversity has greatly strengthened this area of opportunity.

This year saw our first January Interterm, jointly sponsored by the five seminaries in the area, who have organized themselves as the Theological Education Association of Mid-America. We have had students from St. Meinrad, Southern Baptist, Lexington, and Asbury seminaries on our campus, and our students have participated in the life of the other institutions. Intensive, experimental courses have been offered, including a traveling seminar to Palestine and another to Mexico.

Facilities

The influx of students has strained on-campus housing facilities beyond the limit. We are happy to report the opening and occupancy of a new apartment complex, the first addition to the campus since it was built in 1963. This consists of six apartments in Lewis J. Sherrill Hall, six in Julian Price Love Hall, and a center wing housing a lounge and Day Care Center. We have also gained additional rooms in the Men's Dormitory by pre-empting guest rooms and dividing lounges.

Even so, many students must live off campus. A change of policy now gives first-year students priority for on-campus housing. Most seniors will expect to live off campus.

Costs

In an inflationary period, educational costs have soared, and the cost of professional education (medical, legal, theological) has gone out of sight. At Louisville the total instructional cost per student (not including room, board, and general living expenses) is approximately $3,500 per year which is a little below the average for all Presbyterian seminaries. Of this, the student currently pays $600 in tuition. Dead Presbyterians (through endowment income) pay $1,050. That leaves $1,850 per student to be raised from living Presbyterians.

Giving through the benevolent budgets of the supporting U.S. synods and the U.P. General Assembly will not reach that total. How can we continue to fund the constantly inflating educational cost of meeting the challenge posed by this outpouring of young life for the service of the Church? Only by developing rapidly a large company of individual donors who see this challenge and respond to it joyfully, generously and sacrificially.

We have added to our staff as Vice President for Development, Rev. J. Arthur Depew, an alumnus, a minister of the United Presbyterian Church. Mr. Depew has experience in the Fifty Million Fund and the development program of Dubuque University. We hope doors can be opened to him in each synod and each local congregation. The future of the Seminary and of the ministry of our Church depends on this.

Continuing Education

A significant development in this area has been the use of our campus in the summer of 1970, and again in 1971, by the National Teacher Education Program, under the direction of Rev. Locke Bowman. Funded by the Lilly Foundation, both Presbyterian Boards of Christian Education, and the Seminary, this program is on the cutting edge of new methods in training and evaluating church school teachers. It has attracted Christian Education leaders from all over the nation and Canada.

The crunch on dormitory space and funds has led to the curtailment of our Louisville Scholars program. A number of ministers continue to come for periods of work in the library on their own. A special committee is studying the whole matter and working on a design which we hope will benefit ministers and churches in the surrounding area in new and creative ways.

The Board of Directors

Only by the support and direction of a strong Board can the Seminary meet the challenge of new life committed to the ministry. In the current year we have welcomed as new Directors Mrs. James L. Hobart of Louisville, Mr. J.V. Norman, Jr. of Louisville, Rev. Morgan Roberts of Louisville, and Dr. Malcolm D. Williams of Nashville, Tennessee. Mr. J. McFerran Barr of Louisville, without whose staunch support the Seminary could hardly have successfully managed the transitions of the past ten years, has been named an honorary life member.

ALBERT C. WINN, President

REPORT OF UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY IN VIRGINIA

How does a theological seminary educate men and women in the seventies for effective service as ordained ministers of the Church?

Questions like this have engaged members of the faculty and administration this year as they are reviewing and redesigning degree and curricular offerings. When we realize that graduates of the class of 1971 will probably be in active ministerial service well into the year 2000 and beyond, the impact of these matters becomes very sobering and significant.

In June, 1970, at the biennial meeting of the American Association of Theological Schools, recommendations were adopted that member seminaries phase out the Bachelor of Divinity degree and begin to offer as standard theological degrees the Master of Divinity and Doctor of Ministry. Union Seminary has taken this counsel seriously. The Board of Trustees last November voted to begin awarding this June the Master of Divinity degree and to begin immediately the exchange of B.D. degrees held by alumni for the M.Div.

Doctor of Ministry Degree

The recommendation of a new Doctor of Ministry degree has prompted the Faculty of Union to consider anew the educative process of professional training for ministry. While the new doctor's degree will not be officially offered until academic year 1972-73 (as recommended by AATS), the design of this new program now occupies the Faculty. Members of the Synod will be informed of the details of the Doctor of Ministry degree program as soon as the design has been tested and is determined to be feasible.

Student Enrollment

Union Seminary began the 159th year with 234 persons enrolled. Of this number, 42 are members of the junior class, 42 are in the middle class, and 42 are seniors. Twenty-seven students—more than any other Reformed seminary in America—are engaged in special intern year programs serving as assistants in congregations or in some other certified endeavors such as the Church and Society program co-sponsored by Union in conjunction with Virginia Episcopal Seminary and Duke Divinity School. Union strongly encourages this intern experience of 12 to 15 months between the second and third years of theological education and anticipates that this off-campus experience will become a required element of the new Doctor of Ministry program.

New Seminary Organization

The Seminary Faculty at a September workshop prior to the beginning of school adopted a new internal organizational plan which provides for several students to serve as full voting members of all major Faculty committees of the Seminary. During the year the students have accepted these new responsibilities in capable fashion and have contributed helpfully. The new plan has been well received and has contributed to better communication and more efficiency.

Student Body leaders who have participated in Faculty meetings this year are: J. Richard Short, President of Student Body (Hammond, Louisiana); James M. Collie, Secretary-Treasurer of Student Body (Midland, Texas); Charles D. Elliott, Senior Class President (Charlotte, North Carolina); D. Michael Meloy, Middle Class President (Arlington, Virginia); and M. Elaine Rhodes, Junior Class President (Davidson, North Carolina).

Friends of the Seminary Anniversary

The Friends of the Seminary, an organization numbering several thousand men and women who support UTS, observed its 25th anniversary in October. Present for the Silver Anniversary were nearly 400 visitors from five states and the District of Columbia. The Friends adopted as their Silver Anniversary project a new "Friends of the Seminary Fellowships" program for 1971. The Friends Fellowships will be awarded by the Faculty to a Minimum of two and as many as five students in each of three categories: (1) to Seminary students desiring to engage in a year of intern training working with Presbyterian missionaries abroad; (2) to foreign students preparing for Christian ministry who wish to study at Union for one year; and (3) to certain outstanding college students and other college graduates who should be challenged to consider the Christian ministry by spending a trial year of work and study at UTS.

Serving on the Executive Council of the Friends of the Seminary organization this year are: Mrs. Wilborn S. Swaim, General Chairman (Salisbury, North Carolina); Mrs. Carl Thompson, Member-at-Large (Front Royal, Virginia); Mrs. R.G. Gillespie, Key Friend, Synod of Appalachia (Tazewell, Virginia); Mrs. B.W. Alexander, Key Friend, Synod of North Carolina (Charlotte, North Carolina); Mrs.

William J. Hudgins, Key Friend, Synod of Virginia (Lynchburg, Virginia); Mrs. L.S. Clark, Key Friend, Synod of West Virginia (Huntington, West Virginia).

Library Addition

Construction of additions to the Seminary Library costing $292,330 has been completed this year and the space is now being utilized. The project was financed by funds contributed to the Seminary ADVANCE campaign. The new addition has added two new floors to the top of the existing four levels, providing shelf capacity for an additional 60,000 books as well as 52 new study carrels for students, catalog room offices, research area, and reference room.

INTERPRETATION, a Journal of Bible and Theology

Another silver anniversary observed on campus this year recognized the 25th anniversary of the founding of INTERPRETATION, a quarterly journal of Bible and theology published by Union. Held February 1-3 in conjunction with the annual James Sprunt Lectures Week, the anniversary called for an INTERPRETATION Colloquium led by eight distinguished visiting theologians. More than 200 ministers and professors participated in the Colloquium forums and small-group study seminars. INTERPRETATION now stands in the forefront of similar journals published in its field and has reached a new peak in readers with just over 7,000 paid subscribers in 50 states and 85 foreign countries, including more than 1,000 libraries.

Weekend for Theological Inquiry

Each year this seminary plans a weekend conference especially for college students and other college graduates who are considering the ministry as a career. This year a record number of 239 representing 73 colleges and universities and 20 different occupations attended the conference which explored the theme: "Ministry in the 70's." Providing leadership for the outstanding weekend were members of the Seminary student body, faculty, and alumni. Student members of the General Steering Committee were: Margaret Ann Barnes, Davidson, North Carolina; Charles D. Elliott, Charlotte, North Carolina; Kraig L. Faust, Centre Hall, Pennsylvania; Charles J. Krohn, Winter Park, Florida; D. Scott Lindsay, Chapel Hill, North Carolina; Albert G. Peery, Jr., Tazewell, Virginia; Stephen C. Rettenmayer, Shippensburg, Pennsylvania; Gerald E. Schumm, Jr., Burlington, North Carolina. Convenor of this General Steering Committee was Kenneth B. Orr, Vice President of the Seminary.

Continuing Education Opportunities

For sixteen years, Union Seminary has sponsored programs of continuing education to assist ministers desiring to enlarge their skills and insights. This year more than 1,000 persons are making use of these resources. About 400 came to the campus for resident study in five-day and twelve-day programs. The others study by mail, using guides and library books on loan at no charge in non-credit courses. Again this summer Union will sponsor the summer Institute of Theology for ministers, and nearly 100 are expected to attend July 5-16. Other courses to be offered this summer are those leading to the Master of Sacred Theology degree (July 20-August 6) and Elements of New Testament Greek (July 19-August 27).

Financial Deficit

Union is operating under a financial deficit. We are taking aggressive steps to eliminate this deficit by prudent planning and budgeting and expect to operate the coming year with a balanced budget. At the same time, the Seminary is expected by the Church to continue providing quality training programs both for entering students and for ordained ministers. In order to meet the increasing demands for varieties of educational offering Union Seminary needs the faithful and generous support of the Church.

We are grateful for the interest and support we do receive, and we ask you to place the Seminary in your wills and to keep us in your prayers and giving for benevolences.

REPORT OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE ON RESTRUCTURING SYNODS AND PRESBYTERIES

This Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries was created by the 1968 General Assembly for the purpose of seeking to implement the findings of the Conference on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries held in Montreat, April 23-25, 1968, pursuant to a directive of the 1967 General Assembly to the General Council to arrange such a conference. Evidences of the need for a large-scale restudy began to be evident at least as far back as 1963, when the Synod of Georgia overtured the General Assembly to study the problems raised by the extension of metropolitan areas into two or more synods. This present report, then, is not the result of some sudden impulse of one particular General Assembly; it is the culmination of increasingly pressing problems and of slowly ripening judgments of thoughtful, consecrated individuals and Church bodies over a number of years. Much of the work of this Committee has been the collection and collation of these fruits of previous labors.

To this has been added earnest effort to secure and evaluate current suggestions regarding restructuring. We reported last year that over forty meetings had been held in every region of the General Assembly to explain the work of the Committee to that point and to receive further information and suggestions. The number of such meetings, large and small, formal and informal, has now become too large to tabulate.

The 1970 General Assembly continued this Committee another year and requested that the report which it had submitted to that Assembly be studied by the Church at large and that resulting comments and suggestions be communicated to the Committee for consideration in formulating a report to the 1971 General Assembly. A large amount of correspondence has been received by the Committee as a result of this directive, and all of it has been thoughtfully and thoroughly considered in arriving at the conclusions presented in this report.

Despite the clear constitutional delegation to synods of the responsibility of establishing presbytery lines, and despite the statement of this Committee's original report that the designated presbytery boundaries were suggestions only (which, though, we hoped would be thoughtfully considered by synods as having some merit), this feature of our previous report was the focal point of considerable disagreement. This present report omits any delineation of presbyteries. However, the very nature of our Church polity demanded that we begin with the concept of strong, viable presbyteries and work outward from there. Furthermore, in establishing this Committee, the 1968 General Assembly declared that "the Presbytery should remain the basic agency for the implementation of the total program of the Church." It further stated that the ideal presbytery should "be large enough to execute the program of the Church and small enough to exercise a realistic responsibility for pastoral oversight and review of its member churches." We feel that the concept of strong presbyteries is highly important.

Another item of major concern is that of the support of our Church institutions. One of the guidelines in proposing new boundaries for synods has been a regard for existing institutional support. Nevertheless, any boundary changes will inevitably call for some readjustment of support. Where this becomes necessary, it should receive thoughtful and mutually sympathetic attention by both institutional administrators and by the Church at large.

One of our recommendations calls for the appointment of a Commission to function, as necessary, to establish legal successors to synods, and to reorder their relationship to institutions having multi-synod support, and to readjust particular boundary lines. The sense of this provision is that further change to achieve the basic philosophy of this plan may become advisable. This is not to serve local reluctance toward change or to perpetuate what the plans seeks to alleviate. Some possibilities have been noted before the Committee.

I Purpose of Presbytery

The purpose of presbytery is defined and its powers described in the Book of Church Order in chapters 13, 14, and 17. But, historically this ordering or governing of the Church's resources by Church courts was done for a purpose. It is easy for courts to exist for the sake of self-perpetuation. In our day there has been a new cry from all parties in the life of the Church for mission. It is the mission of presbytery that demands a restructuring of our courts for a more effective use of the resources God has given us.

The functions of the presbytery growing out of the confessional powers might be understood in the following way. The presbytery should have the resources to:

1. Exercise pastoral care and oversight over all the churches and ministers within its bounds.
2. Equip and organize churches and members for common mission tasks.

3. Exercise particular mission responsibilities within its bounds requiring resources beyond the potential of single congregations.
 4. Administer the financial resources so that the program of the Church within its bounds and the program developed in higher courts receive proper support.
- And, inherent in our system is an understanding that there should be a smooth channel of communication and activity between the local church and the higher courts.

II Problems for Today's Presbyteries

The following list indicates some of the problems making presbyteries ineffective in their mission function described above.

1. There has been a radical difference in the growth rate in population and Presbyterian membership across our Assembly. In spite of recent corrective steps, 1969 still found our presbyteries varying from 2,712 to 41,337. Sixteen presbyteries have less than 7,000 communicants. The largest church in our General Assembly has more members than 11 of our presbyteries.
2. It is no longer "normative" to have a single Presbyterian church in a small community developing an effective mission program for that community. The growing metropolitan areas demand a carefully developed mission strategy support by a strong presbytery.
3. Many of the urban sprawls requiring a unified mission approach lie across state and natural barriers. Businesses, utilities, and the resources of mass communication deal with these areas without undue regard for state lines, but many presbyteries find these mission opportunities fragmented between presbyteries and even between synods.
4. Some of the presbyteries find themselves limited in financial and leadership resources. Such a presbytery, largely made up of aid-seeking home mission churches or dominated by one or two large churches, find an effective ministry to an area nearly impossible.
5. It is increasingly apparent that a presbytery needs resource people with skills in Christian Education, parish development, leadership training, and other fields. Some parts of our General Assembly find themselves simply unable to afford these resources.

III Considerations for Developing New Presbyteries

To serve people where they live today demands a stronger mission effort at the presbytery level. Therefore, the presbytery is the most significant intermediate court. Partnership between presbyteries and local churches can best fulfill mission in a rapidly changing urban society such as that in which we live today.

It is obvious that each presbytery must have the people, the money, the staff to deal with the opportunities within that geographic area. We created the following "statistical" presbytery with the guidelines described as a goal toward which to work. It must be noted that many compromises were necessary because the fulfillment of some guidelines negated others. Ideally each new presbytery would:

1. Have a membership of 15,000 to 30,000;
2. Have 60 to 100 congregations;
3. Have at least 10 churches with more than 400 members;
4. Have a potential for a staff of 2 to 6;
5. Have all the churches located within 2 ½ hours driving time of the central point;
6. Have no partitioning of metropolitan areas.

The approval of union presbyteries by the 1969 General Assembly and the establishment of several such presbyteries makes it necessary that the guidelines above be applied to the total membership and total number of churches in those parts of our General Assembly where union presbyteries now exist or are likely to exist soon.

IV Purpose of Synod

While the purpose and powers of Synod are described in chapters 12, 14, and 17 of the Book of Church Order, considerable confusion seems to exist concerning Synod's function in the church today.

The Synod's function might be described in the following terms: (1) Regional strategy and coordination, (2) Channel for planning and communication between General Assembly and the presbyteries, (3) Institutional oversight, (4) Administration, (5) Judicial, and (6) Review and oversight of presbyteries.

V Problems for Today's Synods

Much of the confusion about the function of synods seems to result from the range in numerical size and strength of the present presbyteries which form the present synods.

In 1969, there were 15 synods, 6 with less than 40,000 communicants (thus smaller than one of our existing presbyteries) and 1 with more than 150,000 communicants.

To put it another way, 20 per cent of our synods (3) containing 29 per cent of our presbyteries (22) represent 42 per cent of the communicants of our denomination. The number of presbyteries in these synods is being further reduced in 1970 and 1971.

Such variance in patterns means that some synods have a staff and a strong program, some synods function as presbyteries in the absence of strong presbyteries, and some synods perform very limited functions.

VI Implications for New Synods

The real value of changing synod boundaries is the potential strengthening of all presbyteries and the focusing of a presbytery's attention on a region or metropolitan area.

Each synod should be large enough to encompass presbyteries of sufficient strength to fulfill their prime functions. And each synod should relate to a region and the institutions in it so that the best possible regional strategy for mission will result.

1. Regional strategy: coordinating of the activities, the resources, and the leadership of several presbyteries in a common regional strategy will be increasingly important in the future. Conferences, consultations, and joint planning will be required in many areas where the task is too great for one presbytery and too regional to involve the attention of the national church.
2. Coordination with national church: the work of the Ad Interim Committee on Restructuring Assembly's Boards and Agencies confirms our expectation that some functions now lodged in national boards and agencies may be functions of regional offices in the future. Synods could serve as increasingly effective channels of action and discussion between the various church courts and their agencies.
3. Institutional oversight: the new synods have been drawn in such a way as to protect the historic areas of support for most of our institutions. A lessening of the fragmentation of support between multiple courts and the opportunity for specialized services in some institutions will make it possible to increase their effectiveness.
4. Administration: it is quite apparent that much of the administrative and record-keeping work of both the synod and the presbyteries that compose it could be done by the new synods. Much greater efficiency seems possible at this point.
5. Judicial: the judicial function of the synod is not impaired by larger synods, but provides an appropriate arena for resolution of problems which do not need to occupy the attention of the whole General Assembly.
6. Review and oversight of presbyteries: there are a number of constitutional responsibilities which this court exercises in its relationship to presbyteries.

With appropriate changes in the Book of Church Order, many synods will become representative. Some of our present synod meetings are larger than those of the General Assembly. Discussion and action on synod's specialized business is difficult in such a massive body. Mass inspirational meetings may be very useful in a synod, but such mass meetings are not very effective in dealing with the business of the synod.

VII Summary

The Ad Interim Committee is well aware of the fact that the General Assembly has only the power to create and divide synods. The power to create and divide presbyteries belongs to the synod.

Your Committee has discovered the wisdom of the principles adopted by the 1968 General Assembly, however. Meaningful restructuring is possible only by beginning with the presbyteries. It is their effectiveness that means the most in preparing the Church for the opportunities ahead.

Therefore, while we can only ask the General Assembly to set the synod boundaries we propose, we do strongly urge the newly-created synods to provide presbyteries similar to those suggested in our report in size, strength, and concern for the natural movement of people.

We have carefully applied the principles outlined above to the existing structure of the church as expressed in presbyteries and believe we are suggesting the best geographical structure for the Church to realize its mission in the present and immediate future.

These adequate, viable presbyteries will assume many responsibilities placed upon synods in the present form of the church and the role of synod will change. Less dependence on boards of the General Assembly for financial aid will enable the Assembly to supply more consultative services for strategy, program planning and training leaders.

The new synods as recommended are larger than many of those existing today. Synod will remain the appellate court to the presbyteries in judicial matters and continue its work of review and oversight of the acts of the presbyteries. The administrative responsibility will vary in different regions since it involves meeting the needs of institutions and developing mission strategy and leadership training for areas larger than a single presbytery.

7. We are not repeating some of the background material incorporated in the body of our report to the 1970 General Assembly. Moreover, the response from the Church at large during the past year has not been preponderantly against restructuring or against the philosophy on which it has been approached, but rather against the relatively smaller matter of the wisdom of drawing a line in one place rather than in another. We have reached a consensus which, to the extent that it is our own wisdom, is bound to be faulty, but, to the extent that it is a response to God, whom alone we have sought to glorify, will be "for the equipment of the saints for the work of ministry."

1964—Recommendations adopted:

"A. That the General Assembly answer Overture No. 8 to the 1963 General Assembly by stating that insofar as can be determined, immediate problems caused by the expansion of metropolitan areas across Synod boundaries are being equitably resolved by committees of the Presbyteries and/or Synods involved.

B. That in light of rapidly changing population patterns, a study be made by the Permanent Committee of the desirability of realigning our present Synodical structures, possibly combining existing Synods in some instances, to provide a more efficient organization for proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the areas served by our denomination.

C. That an Ad Interim Committee be appointed to make a comprehensive re-evaluation of the institutional forms of our Church in light of our Covenant Theology and present-day conditions."

1965—"We interpret 'Institutional Forms' to mean the total organization, structure and methods by which the Church fulfills its mission. We interpret 'the Church' to include the whole Church in all lands, from the local church to the General Assembly."

"That the General Assembly authorize this Committee, for its information and guidance, to request of each Presbytery . . . a careful consideration of the following questions:

a. What is the mission of the Church in the light of both the Scriptures and our Standards, in the face of present-day conditions in the world?

b. In the light of present-day conditions in the world, what marks of a missionary church do we see in our congregation, our Presbytery, our General Assembly?

c. What modifications would strengthen our Church's ability to achieve its missions?"

1966—The Assembly received the report of the Ad Interim Committee on Institutional Forms, and discharged the committee. (New Wine Skins) See pages 65, and 137ff. of the 1966 Minutes.

1967—The Assembly directed the General Council to hold a conference to consider the possibilities of restructuring Synods and Presbyteries.

1968—The Conference on Restructuring Synods and Presbyteries was held in Montreat, North Carolina, April 23-25, 1968, with a teaching elder and a ruling elder invited from each Synod and Presbytery.

—The Assembly received its findings and appointed an Ad Interim Committee to seek to implement the suggestions.

1969—The Ad Interim Committee reported to the 1969 Assembly that it had not finished its task, and it was continued to report to the 1970 Assembly.

1970—The Ad Interim Committee reported to the 1970 Assembly. The report was referred back to the Ad Interim Committee for a year's study.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL ON CHURCH AND SOCIETY

(Note: For action on papers below, with the exception of Paper H, see report of Standing Committee on Church and Society (page 134). For action on Paper H, see report of Standing Committee on General Council (page 164).

Membership and Meetings

The Council on Church and Society is composed of twenty members, eight of whom are elected, two each from their own membership of the Boards of Christian Education, National Ministries, World Missions, and Women's Work, and twelve of whom are elected by the Board of Christian Education from the Church at large.

Present members of the Council are: from the Board of Christian Education—Rev. Harry E. Smith and Rev. Albert N. Wells; from the Board of National Ministries—Rev. Donald W. Shriver, Jr. and Mr. Hal Baird; from the Board of World Missions—Rev. Wayne P. Todd and Rev. Jerome C. Jones; from the Board of Women's Work—Mrs. Gene Barnard and Mrs. George L. Paris; and from the Church at large—Class of 1971: Rev. Wallace M. Alston, Jr., Mr. Roscoe Nix, Mr. William J. Murray, Jr., Dr. Vasco Smith, Jr.; Class of 1972: Rev. William H. Jones, Mrs. George McMaster, Mrs. Cal Ledbetter, Jr., Rev. Arch McD. Tolbert; Class of 1973: Rev. Edgar M. Grider, Mr. Benjamin Canales, Mrs. Thomas H. Grafton, Rev. Shirley Guthrie. Ten of the members are laymen, and ten are ministers. Among the ten laymen are five housewives, two businessmen, a dentist, a United States Justice Department official, and an intergroup relations specialist. Of the ten ministers, five are pastors, three are faculty members of a church college, university, or seminary, one is director of a society for religion in higher education, and one is director of an urban program.

The Council is staffed by Rev. George A. Chauncey and Rev. T.M. McMillan, Jr., Office of Church and Society, Board of Christian Education; W. Thad Godwin, Jr., Board of National Ministries; Rev. Charles Hughes, Board of World Missions; and Mrs. J.G. Walsh, Board of Women's Work. It calls upon and consults with other staff as needed.

The Council met in September, 1970, and January, 1971, in Atlanta, with good attendance at both meetings. The Council had as its guests at the September meeting Mesdames Matthews and Stinson of Atlanta, leaders in the Atlanta chapter of the National Welfare Rights Organization; and at its January meeting, Dr. Max Lauffer, Chairman of the Council on Church and Society of the United Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dean H. Lewis, Secretary of the Department of Church and Society of that church; Rev. Irvin Elligan, Secretary, Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus, and Don Johnson, a regional chairman of the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus.

Papers and Recommendations

The Council herewith submits nine papers and ten recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly. The Council recommends that five of its papers be adopted; that two be approved for study and commended to the churches; and that two be received as information and ordered printed in the Minutes. Eight of the nine papers have been prepared in response to referrals to the Council from previous General Assemblies.

Development (Papers A, B, and C). The Council submitted to the 1970 General Assembly for adoption a paper entitled "Christian Responsibility in World Economic Development." The 1970 General Assembly called to the attention of the Church the responsibility of Christians in world economic development, but returned the paper to the Council with the request that the Council recommend a more concise statement on this theme to the 1971 General Assembly. Paper B, "The Commitment of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. to Development" is that more concise statement.

PAPER A: Ecumenical Action For Development

A New Sense of Urgency

Development—the process by which both persons and societies come to realize the full potential of human life in a context of social justice—has long been a major concern of the Christian churches, including the Presbyterian Church in the United States. Service and participation in development projects, particularly in the areas of education, medicine, and agriculture, have been a major feature of the Christian mission in developing countries since the late nineteenth century. A large measure of church resources has been allocated for these services through mission agencies. For example, approximately one-half of the regular budget of our Board of World Missions goes for significant development projects such as hospitals, schools, literacy training and agricultural improvement. The Easter offering of our church traditionally is used to alleviate world hunger and provide relief for suffering. Moreover, the 1969 General Assembly established hunger as a top priority concern of this denomination for at least five years—an action with obvious development implications. When we speak of “development,” therefore, we are not speaking of an entirely new cause which demands the attention of the church.

However, in recent years many denominations have become increasingly aware of the development issue and have recognized with fresh clarity the urgent need for giving more attention to this issue and of finding new ways of dealing with it. Among the factors which have provoked a new look at the churches’ responsibility in and for development are these:

- 1) The emergence of a single planetary community. We live in a new day. For the first time, science and technology have vanquished the distances of space and time. Modern communications have made us much more conscious of the unity of mankind—and of the plight of some of our neighbors. We can now see in living color on our TV screens the plight of starving children in Biafra, tidal wave victims in Pakistan, war refugees in Vietnam.

- 2) Increasing awareness of the inherent injustice in the present distribution of the resources of the human community. The material resources of the world are now so distributed—80 per cent of them being at the disposal of only 20 per cent of the people, living in the main around the North Atlantic—that while one segment of humanity is rich and growing richer, the rest still struggle in varying degrees of poverty and have little certainty of breaking out of their stagnation in the next decades.

- 3) A sense of guilt on the part of many because of our benefits from injustice. Churchmen are increasingly recognizing that the majority of Christians live in the developed North, which is wealthy far above the general level of world society. Because we profit from this unbalanced prosperity we must in conscience account for our stewardship. Moreover, because we have knowledge about the conditions of men throughout the earth and the technological means to do something about their needs, we are without excuse.

- 4) The “revolution of rising expectations.” Today a single aspiration for human emancipation and dignity inspires the whole human race. Wherever there is poverty, in rich countries as well as poor, men are demanding—justly—a more equitable distribution of resources. Self-interest—if not concern for the neighbor—demands that we respond to the cry.

- 5) Faith in the Lord of history. An increasing number of Christians sense that God is active in the shaking of the foundations of the status quo and is calling his church to join him in work for truly human development.

Ecumenical Action

This new concern on the part of the churches may be illustrated by recent actions of various ecumenical bodies of which the Presbyterian Church, U.S. is a member church. For example, one of the four major sections of the World Conference on Church and Society sponsored by the World Council of Churches (Geneva, 1966) dealt with “Economic Development in a World Perspective.” The report of the conference called attention to the urgency of the need for radical change in structures and attitudes and recommended to the World Council of Churches and its member churches various proposals for helping to meet this need. In that same year, Pope Paul VI issued an encyclical, Populorum Progressio (“The Progress of Peoples”) and subsequently constituted a Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace.

In January, 1968, the World Council of Churches and the Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace of the Roman Catholic Church jointly established The Committee on Society, Development and Peace (SODEPAX) to mobilize Christian forces for the promotion of international social justice. Development is one of the central concerns of this new agency. SODEPAX has sponsored international conferences in Beirut (1968), Montreal (1969), and Cartigny (1970) as well as ten regional consultations, to explore the issues of development and advise the churches about appropriate action.

One of the six sections of the Fourth Assembly of the World Council of Churches (Uppsala 1968), "World Economic and Social Development," urged Christians everywhere "to participate in the struggle of millions of people for greater social justice and for world development." In its message, the Assembly declared, "We heard the cry of those who long for peace; of the hungry and exploited who demand bread and justice; of the victims of discrimination who claim human dignity; and of the increasing millions who seek for the meaning of life." It asserted that "the ever widening gap between the rich and the poor, fostered by armament expenditure, is the crucial point of decision today." The Assembly also mandated the World Council of Churches to pursue this concern.

In light of the Uppsala mandate, the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches called a consultation at Montreux in January, 1970, to discuss the use of church funds in development projects and to advise the Council and its member churches. The Executive Committee of the World Council of Churches received with enthusiasm the reports of the Montreux Consultation and, in February, 1970, established, upon its recommendation, a Commission on the Churches' Participation in Development (CCPD) and an Ecumenical Development Fund. The Executive Committee furthermore endorsed the consultation's appeal that all member churches contribute not less than two per cent of their total income for development programs and projects around the world, including those in their own country.

Meanwhile, the General Board of the National Council of Churches in June, 1969, authorized National Council of Churches' participation in a "Joint Program on World Development" with the U.S. Catholic Conference. The proposal for the joint program called for extensive work in the conceptualization of substantive issues, in education and communication, and in citizen political action. The thrust of the program concerned development in the Third World. In the year following that action, many factors caused delay in starting the program and suggested the need for change in it. However, the General Board of the National Council of Churches in June, 1970, reaffirmed its desire to proceed with the U.S. Catholic Conference on the basis of a revised understanding, and called for a meeting of representatives of its member churches in February, 1971, to determine what the churches wish to do together on the issue of "World Justice, Liberation and Development."

In any matter so complex as development there are naturally many unresolved issues regarding proper ends and means. In spite of all of the differences, however, a Christian consensus on certain basic concerns seems to be emerging. The basic understandings in the apparently emerging consensus are reflected in "The Commitment of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. to Development."

Welfare. The 1970 General Assembly heard a representative of the National Welfare Rights Organization and instructed the Council (1) to invite a member of the National Welfare Rights Organization to consult with it for a period of one year; (2) to consider ways and means of encouraging the government to come up with more adequate welfare programs to help the poor; and (3) to report back to the 1971 General Assembly with recommendations (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, p. 132). The Council consulted for three hours at its September meeting with two representatives of the National Welfare Rights Organization and studied at its January meeting various publications of the organization. Staff had additional consultations with National Welfare Rights Organization representatives on behalf of the Council.

Drugs (Paper F). The 1970 General Assembly requested the Council to study the problems relating to the increasing use and abuse of drugs and narcotics and report to the General Assembly (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, p. 132). The Council has studied literature in this field and has, through its staff, consulted with the Special Committee on the Use of Drugs of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and various persons in our church specializing in a ministry to drug users.

Population Crisis (Paper G). The 1969 General Assembly affirmed the intention of the following overture from the Presbytery of Fayetteville and referred it to the Council:

Whereas, responsible and informed leaders and groups representing many areas of society are affirming that the population crisis in the world as a whole and as it affects the United States is a most pressing problem mankind faces; and,

Whereas, millions of people are already dying from starvation, malnutrition or from diseases stemming from inadequate nutrition and social deprivation; and,

Whereas, most of the serious problems before us today, such as the pollution of air, water, and soil, political difficulties, war, economic injustice, social inequality and others are all related to the large and rapidly growing population; and,

Whereas, experts agree that simply feeding the existing population during the next decade will make our present difficulties seem like child's play; and,

Whereas, the public, both Christian and secular, seems insufficiently aware of the gravity and the imminence of the population crisis; and,

Whereas, the Scriptures teach that human life and personality are the gift of God, and that therefore every person born into this world has a right to at least a minimal standard of existence and opportunity; and,

Whereas, Jesus looked upon the multitudes and "had compassion on them"; and,

Whereas, the Church must be concerned for the world our children and our children's children will inherit as well as our present world; therefore be it resolved that the Presbytery of Fayetteville overture the General Assembly:

(1) To use whatever means it deems proper to bring the matter of the population problem in its many dimensions to the attention of the whole Church as a matter for Christian and moral concern;

(2) To request the Council on Church and Society and other appropriate bodies to conduct inquiries and prepare suitable study materials dealing with Christian responsibility in the population crisis; and

(3) To recommend additional ways in which the Church individually and corporately may become better informed and more deeply involved in this matter and may express its concern and moral influence. (General Assembly Minutes, 1969, pp. 27, 105.)

The 1970 General Assembly affirmed the intention of the following overture from the Presbytery of Concord and noted that the Council would present recommendations regarding this theme to the 1971 General Assembly:

That the General Assembly encourage the dissemination of literature by our denomination through all news media, informing and educating our people as to the magnitude of the problem of "Over-Population"; and,

That the Assembly encourage present governmental Agencies to continue to disseminate educational materials relating to Birth Control and Family Planning. (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, pp. 45, 131.)

The Presbyterian Church in the United States in this 111th General Assembly calls on all its boards, agencies, courts, and members to study and implement the position it has adopted in "The Population Crisis," and requests its Boards of Women's Work and Christian Education in particular to provide leadership in implementing this position.

Investments (Paper H). The 1968 General Assembly asserted that "The church has not only the right but the responsibility to be selective in the use of its funds." Paper H calls for an Ad Interim Committee on the Church Investments to propose to the church a criteria for investing church funds.

PAPER H. Ad Interim Committee on Church Investments

(Referred to Standing Committee on General Council)

The Presbyterian Church in the United States in its 1968 General Assembly issued a social pronouncement on "The Church and Its Use of Economic Power" in which it declared:

The church is also faced with the decision concerning how it should spend and invest sums of money under the control of its courts, boards, agencies, and institutions. The power to spend and to invest implies the power to refrain from spending or investing. The church has not only the right but the responsibility to be selective in the use of its funds. It is the responsibility of the church to acquaint itself with the products and policies of every firm with which it trades and every corporation in which it holds or purchases stock, and to put the power of its dollar on the side of the right. Our criterion ought to be at least threefold: (1) Is the firm committed to the practice of nondiscrimination in its relationship with its employees? (2) Has it adopted a mature motive of responsibility to all concerned in the production of its products? (3) Do its products have a positive or negative effect on society? One way to do this is through Project Equality.

The Presbyterian Church in its 1971 General Assembly commends all of its courts, boards, agencies, and institutions who have responded affirmatively to this expression of moral concern and have taken steps to put the power of their dollars on the side of the right. The Presbyterian Church also applauds the steps taken by sister denominations and other ecclesiastical bodies to use their purchasing and investment powers for maximum social impact.

Recognizing the complexities of the problem of utilizing church investments for social impact, and the need for more specific guidance for church agencies as they seek to follow the counsel of the church, the Presbyterian Church in its 111th General Assembly requests and authorizes the Moderator to appoint an Ad Interim Committee on Church Investments with these tasks:

- 1) to survey the investment objectives, policies, guidelines, and decision-making procedures of all General Assembly boards and agencies;
- 2) to compile a list of the investments of all General Assembly boards and agencies;
- 3) to propose criteria for the investment of church funds in light of the standards, ecclesiastical policies, and social pronouncements of the Presbyterian Church;
- 4) to recommend to the General Assembly for adoption for its boards and agencies, and to other Presbyterian institutions, courts, and members for their consideration, investment objectives, policies, guidelines, and decision-making procedures which will facilitate their putting the power of their dollars on the side of the right.
- 5) to report and present its recommendations to the 1972 General Assembly.

The Ad Interim Committee shall consist of twelve persons, one each recommended from their own membership by the Boards of Annuities and Relief; Christian Education; National Ministries; World Missions; Women's Work; the General Council; the Council on Church and Society; the Presbyterian Foundation; the Black Presbyterian Leadership Caucus; and three from the church at large, a young person under 25, a Mexican-American, and a woman. Its expenses shall be provided by the Office of the General Assembly, like those of other ad interim committees. It shall be free to request and negotiate for the services of consultants as needed and any General Assembly board or agency staff.

PAPER I

Letter from Moderator and Council (Paper I). Under authorization granted by the 1968 General Assembly (General Assembly Minutes, 1968, p. 99), the Council with the concurrence of the Moderator, issued a letter to all ministers and members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States on October 5, 1970, calling for renewed commitment to public education. Paper I is the text of that letter.

October 5, 1970

TO: All Ministers and Members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States

Dear Fellow Presbyterians:

Many school districts in the region served by our church are taking significant steps toward establishing unitary school systems this fall. In many communities Presbyterians and others are giving leadership in support of this move. In various communities individuals and groups are strongly resisting this development. For many people, busing has become a smoke screen hiding more central issues. In some cases persons are torn between their concern for social justice and their sense of responsibility to their children. General unrest in many places is intensified because significant Constitutional questions have not yet been ruled on by the courts. In light of this crisis in public education:

We remind all Presbyterians that the Presbyterian Church in the United States has repeatedly affirmed its conviction that enforced segregation on account of race is discrimination which is contrary to the will of God.

We call to the attention of all Presbyterians the great social value of public education and the strong support which the Reformed churches have traditionally given to it.

We urge all Presbyterians to renew and deepen their commitment to public education through such means as keeping their children in public schools even when they are in a racial minority, black or white, or must be bused; indicating their willingness to support those tax measures necessary to provide adequate educational resources for all school children; learning more about the administration of their local school system; and assuming responsibility for making the public school a place of both academic excellence and training for citizenship in a society enriched by class, racial, and cultural diversity.

We commend all presbyteries, sessions, pastors, and church members who have exhibited such support of public education, and those who have refused to allow their church educational facilities to be used to subvert the public education system.

We warn against the dangers of undermining the public education system by establishing, supporting, or patronizing private schools or academies whose deliberate purpose or practical effect is to maintain racial isolation.

Finally, we point out that what is at stake in this moral crisis is not merely the important issue of public education, but the faithfulness of Christians to their Lord and the credibility of their talk about his love for all men.

Yours in Christ,
WILLIAM A. BENFIELD, JR.

The 1970 General Assembly answered in the affirmative an overture from the Presbytery of Memphis requesting it to instruct the Council to study pornography as a national problem and recommend specific actions which churchmen might take in combatting pornography (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, pp. 38, 130-131). The Council is still studying this matter and expects to report to the 1972 General Assembly.

The 1970 General Assembly referred to the Council a resolution regarding alleged repression in Brazil and the ministry of Dom Helder Camara; recommended that the Council consult with the Board of World Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the National Brazilian Presbyterian Church through its Stated Clerk, and the Presbyterian Church, U.S. Mission in Brazil (General Assembly Minutes, 1970, pp. 131-132); and requested the Council to bring its recommendation to the 1971 General Assembly. The Council has been unable to complete this assignment, and requests permission to report on this matter to the 1972 General Assembly.

REPORT OF THE PRESBYTERIAN FOUNDATION, INC. (U.S.)

In its service to the Church during 1970, the Foundation has distributed from 217 different funds held by it a total of $311,845.56 to 70 boards, colleges, seminaries, homes for children and for the aging, synods, presbyteries, congregations, or other agencies, and to 70 individuals having Life-Income or Gift-Annuity Agreements, the income from which will ultimately go to church agencies.

During the year, the Foundation received in gifts and legacies a total of $1,051,451.21, bringing its assets to $8,019,993.45, not including some $363,000 held by banks in trust with the Foundation as ultimate beneficiary.

At least three factors have had adverse effects on the Foundation's function of cultivating the practice of "the stewardship of accumulated means": (1) the sharp decline in the stock market, which reached a low point last May, (2) the long delay by the Internal Revenue Service in issuing final regulations for application of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 to various kinds of "deferred gifts," and (3) the psychological effect of general uneasiness generated by continued inflation and rising unemployment.

At the turn of the year, however, the stock market has made a rather strong recovery, and the continued market improvement predicted by many economists and analysts has increased investment activities and generated more financial optimism. As the implications of the Tax Reform Act become clearer, it is evident that ample tax incentives are provided for generous giving for religious and charitable purposes. With an improving economic climate, the Board and Staff anticipate increasing interest of loyal Presbyterians in undergirding the various agencies and institutions of the Church with the strength of capital resources.

Members of the Board who retired during the year after maximum terms of service were: President Paul M. Edris, Pastor of First Church, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Mr. Orrick Metcalfe, Natchez, Miss.; Mr. Louis L. Rose, Charlotte, N.C.; and Mr. Edward H. Sutter, Franklin, La. Members lost by death were: Mr. A.C. Bryan, Chattanooga, Tenn.; and Mr. Hayes Picklesimer, Charleston, W. Va.

Board members elected by the 1970 General Assembly were: Class of 1972—Mr. R. Brawley Tracy, Charleston, W. Va.; Class of 1973—Mr. William S. Lee III, Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. William E. Nodine, Clearwater, Fla.; Mr. Parks B. Pedrick, Jr., New Orleans, La.; Mr. W.A.L. Sibley, Jr., Greenville, S.C.; and Mr. William F. Winter, Jackson, Miss.

Officers of the Board for 1970-71 are: Mr. William F. Mulliss, President; Mr. W. Stell Huie, Vice President; Mrs. B.S. Howell, Secretary; and Dr. Charles C. Cowser, Treasurer. Investment Committee members are: Mr. Harry L. Dalton, Chairman; Mr. George K. Cavanaugh, Mr. John A. Tate, Jr., Mr. J. Mason Wallace, Jr., and Dr. Frank H. Caldwell. Executive Committee members are: Mr. W. Stell Huie, Chairman; Mr. William F. Mulliss, Vice Chairman; Mrs. B.S. Howell, Secretary; Dr. Frederick V. Poag, and Mr. J. Mason Wallace, Jr.

Nominees for vacancies on the Board of Trustees will be submitted by Assembly's Permanent Nominating Committee at the 1971 Assembly meeting, these nominees not having been selected as this report is written.

The Presbyterian Foundation is not one of the "program boards" of the Church. Its reason for being is that of serving the whole Church by cultivating, receiving, and investing capital funds for the benefit of any institution or program of the Church. The staff covets opportunities to interpret its work to synods, presbyteries, congregations, and other gatherings of Presbyterians throughout the church.

FRANK H. CALDWELL, Executive Director

To the Trustees of
The Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. (U.S.)
Charlotte, North Carolina

We have examined the statement of financial condition of The Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. (U.S.) as of December 31, 1970, and the related statements of income and expenditures and changes in funds balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The Foundation maintains its accounts on a cash basis, except that certain investments are carried at market value, and does not recognize accrued income and expenses (which are relatively immaterial).

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of financial condition and statements of income and expenditures and changes in funds balances present fairly the assets and liabilities of The Presbyterian Foundation, Inc. (U.S.) at December 31, 1970, and income received and expended and changes in funds balances for the year then ended on the basis described in the preceding paragraph, which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

REPORT OF THE HISTORICAL FOUNDATION OF THE PRESBYTERIAN AND REFORMED CHURCHES, INC.

For the Calendar Year 1970 the Executive Committee of your Historical Foundation of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches submits the following report:

Accessions

The Board of World Missions has taken the lead among the official agencies of the Church in undertaking a definite records management program which is designed to avoid tragic losses of source material for a study of the work of the General Assembly through her various agencies. During the year 22 cartons of records from the fields have been forwarded from Nashville to the General Assembly's Archives in your Historical Foundation, followed by two authentic coffins containing 500 pounds each of records of the Congo Mission.

Other notable manuscript additions include three feet of Congo material from the Vass family; the Fred A. Hopkins Papers; the J.A. Christian Papers; the Robert Stuart Sanders Manuscript Notes; the Susan Currell Collection; the Linton, Farrior and Crosby Adams Collections; 12 feet of General Council records through the kindness of Dr. Charles Cowser; the D.C. Amick papers; the William Hamilton Stewart papers; the R. Roy Brown papers; and important materials through the kindness of H. T. Bridgeman, Miss Elizabeth Cole, Thurlow Weed, James B. Moore, M.B. Orr, Clifford Legerton, Rene de Visme Williamson, W.M. Baker, the Staff of the Presbyterian Medical Center in Chonju, S. Wilkes Dendy, Hugh M. Boggs, Mrs. Arnold Karo, Mrs. Wright McMillan, Miss Emily Winn, Mrs. William Neal, Miss Martha Bedinger, J.W. Calhoun, and Miss Lallah Wyman.

President Albert Curry Winn of Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary placed the Moderatorial Gavel of his famous grandfather into the care of the Museum of your Historical Foundation during the year, and by bequest the editorial desk of Amasa Converse, editor and founder of the Christian Observer, became the latest of Converse memorabilia to grace Spence Hall.

Concise History

The annual Historical Foundation News Competition for Concise Presbyterian History has continued to attract a wide interest and an impressive roster of contributors—this year, of Presbyterian Biography. To compress the life and impact of a notable man or woman into the compass of 400 words is to weigh fascinations and effects against one another and to measure the essence of a life's character and work. Far from producing dusty lists of facts, or trite conventional praises, the discipline of writing about great life in small space sharpens the writer's awareness and opens windows in the soul of the reader. Few stronger stimuli to action exceed the power of the record of men and women of strong action.

Sessional Records

During this past year an increasing number of pastors and Sessions have applied to themselves the urgent request of the General Assembly that they place their records in the General Assembly's Archives at their Historical Foundation, where they are fully protected on deposit, available to scholars, yet remaining under the control of the Session.

Research

The premier holdings of your Historical Foundation have continued to attract scholars from a wide range of academic institutions. Among those represented during 1970 were Ball State University, Duke University, Erskine Theological Seminary, Furman University, New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, Ohio State University, Princeton University, Southwestern at Memphis, the University of Akron, the University of North Carolina, the University of North Carolina at Asheville, the University of Oregon, the University of South Carolina, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Montreat-Anderson College, and Warren Wilson College. In addition, the Staff served a constituency throughout the General Assembly by correspondence, locating documents, volumes, information and birth records for all inquirers.

History of Churches and Women's Work

Under the direction of Mrs. Helen La Bonte the incomparable collection of manuscript grass-roots history and source material comprising the History of Churches and Women's Work has become a unique and invaluable treasure. The quality of writing, the extent of insight, perspective and vision, varies from local historian to local historian; but if scholars had a comparable 4,000-volume window into the daily life of any 40-year stretch of any part of the Christian Church from the time of Paul to the present, they would give their right arms up sooner than part with it. No such extent of grass-roots source material is available for any past era of the Christian community, and none exists for any contemporary part of the Church save this. The General Assembly owes a debt of gratitude to the faithful historians of each congregation and to the Women of the Church, who have made this great project their own no matter what the burdens and excitements and distractions and other opportunities of each new year in turn.

Building Project

Visitors to your Historical Foundation are immediately conscious that Spence Hall is full to the eaves and that additional space is both imperative and overdue by a measure of years. Your Executive Committee has authorized the Executive Director to have engineering and architectural studies made, looking towards the necessary building addition at the earliest possible date. The prayers, the concerned interest, and the authority of the General Assembly will all be necessary to the proper fulfillment of this part of your Historical Foundation's ongoing responsibility for the essential historical area of the General Assembly's work.

Budget and Finances

The attention of the General Assembly should be directed briefly but thoughtfully to the Financial Reports of its Historical Foundation for 1970 and the preceding years.

Your Executive Committee has carefully studied the work committed to it by the General Assembly, and has compared it with that carried on by comparable agencies in North America. We are convinced that if the General Assembly is to make the minimum possible showing in this field, below which it would be derelict in its responsibilities to make certain that the materials for the study of what Presbyterians have done and are doing are available now and in the future as light on difficult pathways, funding of your Historical Foundation must be seriously raised to about three times the level made available in recent years.

One example by way of comparison will suffice. Our United Presbyterian brethren, committed to an historical program much more limited in scope and breadth than that of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, budget their General Assembly Department of History and Presbyterian Historical Society at a level six or more times that provided annually by the Presbyterian Church in the United States to its Historical Foundation. The General Assembly has acted wisely in its 1970, 1971 and proposed 1972 budgets to move in the right direction in its budget decisions touching history, but to do the job will take definite further steps. The essential additional sums are small, measured against the nine-million-dollar Benevolent Budget and the 133 million-dollar over-all spending of this branch of the Presbyterian Church, but they are crucial to the long-run health of our General Assembly in whatever form it may eventually seek to serve the present and the future.

Respectfully submitted,
HASKELL MONROE, Chairman

Accountant's Opinion

REPORT OF THE PERMANENT COMMITTEE ON ASSEMBLY OPERATION

A. Continuing Responsibilities

The Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation has fulfilled the following responsibilities expressed in its manual:

1. Selection of the place of meeting of the 1973 General Assembly.
2. Initiation of arrangements for the 1972 Assembly.
3. Completion of arrangements for the 1971 Assembly.
4. Supervision of the Office of the General Assembly.
5. Supervision of the treasurerships assigned to the Stated Clerk.
6. Review of the Standing Rules of the General Assembly.
7. Review of the operating expenses of the General Assembly.

B. Committee Membership

The Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation has properly made suggestions to the Permanent Nominating Committee concerning the filling of vacancies on the Committee, including a report of the attendance of members of the Committee.

C. General Assembly Referrals

1. The Stated Clerk of the Assembly is working with the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church on a statistical form for the common use of each denomination in union presbyteries in accordance with the referral of the 1970 General Assembly. (Minutes, pp. 34, 94.)
2. The Committee on Assembly Operation has met with representatives of each Ad Interim Committee and Permanent Committee budgeting more than $1,000 for "program" expenses for the purpose of hearing an explanation of their requests.
3. The 1971 General Assembly will receive, through the reports of the appropriate committees, suggested changes in the manual of the Permanent Nominating Committee providing for the submission to the Standing Committees of certain biographical information.

D. 1973 General Assembly Meeting Place

In accordance with Standing Rule 1.1, this Committee has selected Montreat, North Carolina (Anderson Auditorium) as the place of meeting for the General Assembly in 1973. Since other business to come before the 1971 Assembly makes possible a joint Assembly in 1973 with the United Presbyterian Church for the purpose of effecting a union, the selection of Montreat for the 1973 Assembly is conditional upon actions relating to the possible union.

E. Treasurerships Assigned to the Stated Clerk

The year-end reports on the operating expense funds held by the Treasurer of the General Assembly and the funds of the Central Treasurer of Benevolences will be found in the report of the Stated Clerk. Audits of these accounts will be presented to the 1971 General Assembly through the proper Standing Committee on Assembly Operation.

F. 1971 Operating Expense Budget

In 1969 the Committee on General Assembly Operation felt the Operating Expense Budget for 1970 should be brought into balance. The Committee recommended, and the 1969 Assembly approved, a per capita assessment of 35 cents for 1970, an assessment further increased by the Assembly to 38 ½ cents to cover additional expenditures authorized by the Assembly. The per capita assessment for 1971 was set at 43 cents in order to maintain the budgetary balance. As a result, the net spending deficit of the Operating Expense Budget since 1966 has been reduced. Recommendation 2 shows the totals for the 1971 budget.

G. 1972 Projected Budget

The recommendations for the 1972 budget will be found in Recommendation 3. Recommendation 4 sets the per capita assessment at 50 cents. Recommendation 5 further notes, with reference to Ad Interim Committee expenses, the requirements of Standing Rule 21.1 with regard to the establishment of committees.

H. The Staff

A. The Committee on Assembly Operation has undertaken a detailed review of the responsibilities of the Office of the General Assembly and of the duties of the individual staff members. This study demonstrates the feasibility of maintaining the same level of services to the Assembly and its constituency while reducing the staff. The study was initially undertaken when the Rev. James A. Millard, Jr., Stated Clerk since 1959, indicated his desire to retire from the office. The review of the work of the Office of the General Assembly, in the light of the critical issues before the Church, convinced the Committee that Dr. Millard's familiarity with the Reformed system and his broad experience with our Church and in interchurch affairs must be retained. The Committee on Assembly Operation therefore will recommend to the 111th General Assembly the election of the Rev. James A. Millard, Jr., for a three-year term as Stated Clerk. During the term of office thus recommended, Dr. Millard will spend a portion of his working time at his residential office in Fairhope, Ala., near Mobile. He will continue the schedule of meetings and travel required of the Stated Clerk by the General Assembly, and will also spend approximately one-third of his time in the Atlanta office of the General Assembly. The reorganization of the office includes the employment of the Rev. Mr. James E. Andrews as Assistant to the Stated Clerk, and the promotion of Mrs. Alvin Park to become Administrative Assistant to Dr. Millard. The office was formerly staffed by two Assistants to the Stated Clerk. The Committee on Assembly Operation is assured the office will continue to meet its responsibilities with equal or improved efficiency, as well as greater economy.

B. The Permanent Committee expresses its commendation to the Rev. James A. Millard, Jr., our Stated Clerk, and to his staff in the Office of the General Assembly, for the excellent way in which they have carried out their duties and maintained their accounts.

C. In particular, the Committee expresses its gratitude to Mr. George Stratman for his twelve years of service as Assistant to the Stated Clerk. Mr. Stratman will retire effective July 31, 1971, taking with him our appreciation for all his work especially in the collection of the statistical data for the Minutes of the General Assembly and his labors in connection with arrangements for the meetings of the General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted
J. DAVISON PHILIPS, Chairman

REPORT OF THE STATED CLERK OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF 1971

The Stated Clerk would report that the varied duties of his office and the functions housed in the Office of the General Assembly have been carried out under the direction of the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation.

Staff changes in the office should be noted. After four years of efficient service, the Rev. E.D. Witherspoon, Jr., resigned as Assistant to the Stated Clerk and returned to the pastorate. Mr. George E. Stratman, who has for twelve years been Assistant to the Stated Clerk, reaches the age of retirement in 1971 and will retire at the end of July. His effective use of business skills has been invaluable to the office through these years.

In staff replacement, the Rev. James E. Andrews came in February as Assistant to the Stated Clerk. Mrs. Alvin Park, for eleven years the Stated Clerk's Secretary, has become Administrative Assistant. Mr. Modesto Garcia continues as Accountant with enlarged responsibility. Mrs. Mary Turner continues in the records section of the office.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES A. MILLARD, JR., Stated Clerk

A REPORT TO THE 111TH GENERAL ASSEMBLY FROM THE TASK FORCE ON WORLD HUNGER

Transmitted through the General Council

Two years ago the General Assembly took an historic stand concerning hunger as expressed in the statement: "To meet the clear call of God which we see in the faces of millions of starving people, the 109th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States declares that world hunger is so real and grave that this problem is a top priority concern of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and that all possible resources of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, for at least the next five years must be focused on ways and means of dealing with the problem."

Following up this action of the General Assembly, an Inter-Board Task Force on World Hunger was established with representatives from boards and agencies of the denomination. A staff member of the Board of World Missions, Dr. David W.A. Taylor, served as Chairman of the Task Force during the first year. It was only until this year, however, that a full time Director of the Task Force was employed.

The Task Force on World Hunger has conceived of its task as being a catalytic and coordinating agent in helping boards and agencies to carry out the intent of the General Assembly by:

- (1) Helping PCUS boards and agencies to develop ways and means of dealing with the problem of world hunger.
- (2) Interpreting this problem, including the root causes of hunger, to planners and decision-makers of boards and agencies and middle judicatories, as well as to the general constituency of the PCUS, utilizing existing denominational communications media insofar as possible.
- (3) Providing a channel for "over and above" giving to fight hunger and its root causes (Halt Hunger Fund).
- (4) Seeking special occasions for special giving for these purposes.

Some good things have happened during the past year and there is hope that succeeding years will see increasing evidence that PCUS is in fact, beginning to harness her power in the attack on hunger. Among the good things which have happened, are the following:

Leadership Conference on Hunger

A Leadership Conference on Hunger in Montreat was sponsored by the Task Force on Hunger last summer for representatives from presbyteries, with more than 200 persons in attendance. Thad Godwin, Board of National Ministries, and Georgeann Wilcoxson, Board of Christian Education, were co-directors of the Conference. The objectives were:

- (1) That all participants must become familiar with resources available for the war on hunger.
- (2) That presbytery teams might plan strategies for equipping local churches to prepare for their own Witness Season as a beginning effort for dealing with the world hunger problem.
- (3) That other participants might plan strategies for enabling the attack on hunger in their local area.

The Board of National Ministries bore the major cost of the conference and relinquished a three-day block of time at Montreat to make this possible. The Board of Christian Education furnished fifteen staff persons for the conference. The other program boards and agencies were also represented on the staff.

Stated Clerk's Association

The Task Force presented a program on the hunger priority to the Stated Clerk's Association in Atlanta on December 4. Mr. John Gillies, Interim Director of the Task Force, presided.

Presbytery Presentation

A 45-minute design for presentation of the Hunger emphasis and resources at presbytery meetings was prepared by Estelle Rountree, Board of Christian Education, and Irving Stubbs, consultant, in cooperation with the Board of National Ministries and the Board of World Missions. Many presbyteries have used this design, and others with modifications of it.

Leader's Almanac

The Leadership Insert on Hunger, edited by the Boards of Christian Education, National Ministries, and World Missions, appeared in the September 7 issue of Presbyterian SURVEY. The aim of this insert was to help leaders in congregations and presbyteries to find significant ways of involving people in halting hunger.

Laity Regional Conferences

Six regional conferences on hunger were held under the joint sponsorship of the Board of Christian Education and the Board of Women's Work. The expectations for these conferences were twofold: (1) To find models for men, women, and youth to effectively work together at the presbytery level; and (2) to help presbytery teams develop back-home strategy for a response to the problem of hunger wherever it exists. Dr. John I. Rhea served as coordinator of the regionals.

Study-Action Book

Sometimes They Cry, edited by Estelle Rountree and Hugh Halverstadt, Board of Christian Education, was produced by Friendship Press for special use during Christian Witness Season. It has been widely acclaimed as an excellent study for youth and adults on the problem of hunger.

Baldicer

Baldicer, a simulation game, was designed by Georgeann Wilcoxson, Board of Christian Education, for youth and adults. It presents realistically the economic problems of underdeveloped nations with special reference to feeding the hungry. Baldicer has had a growing market among church and non-church organizations. Participation in this game has sparked fruitful responses in the attack on hunger.

Responsible Parenthood

The Board of Women's Work which has led the way in designating one per cent of its benevolence receipts to the Halt Hunger Fund has given special attention to training leaders in the field of Responsible Parenthood. A seminar on Responsible Parenthood involving leaders from each of the synods will be followed by a course of study on Responsible Parenthood in the several synodicals. Two allocations from the Halt Hunger Fund included: (1) $1,000.00 to Planned Parenthood/World Population, for use within the United States, channeled through the Board of Women's Work and (2) $1,000.00 to the Planned Parenthood Program of Church World Service for use overseas, channeled through the Board of World Missions.

Seed Money

The Board of National Ministries in July 1970, allocated $50,000 to be used as seed money in partially supporting and stimulating the development of local projects for poor and minority groups aimed at alleviating hunger through feeding programs, economic development, community organization and housing.

Overseas Ministries

The Board of World Missions provided a full-time staff member, Mr. Mac Kyle, to the work of the task force with an office in Washington. Through his efforts, the Board has undertaken a complete inventory of what missionaries are doing to attack hunger overseas, especially in the area of agriculture, community development, family planning, nutrition, and general relief. Mr. Kyle, who rendered a valuable service to the task force, has returned with his family to the Middle East serving as an executive in Iran with COEMAR, UPCUSA.

The Board of World Missions has devoted particular attention to the problem of overpopulation overseas. Strong action has been taken to encourage new efforts along this line, not only among our missionaries but also on the part of independent Christian hospitals with which we are related overseas, and on the part of national churches abroad with which we work.

In the use of both budgeted and non-budgeted (Easter Offering) money, the Board of World Missions has sought out projects and opportunities specifically related to the problem of hunger overseas. Also, in missionary programming special encouragement and resources were given to hunger-related projects. For example, mention should be made of the public health and nutrition program of Dr. John Knox Miller in the Congo, the water resources and agricultural development of Charles Alexander and William Wylie in Northeast Brazil, and the land-reclamation and water-resources project of Rev. Hugh Linton in Korea.

In 1971 World Mission Conference at Montreat gave prominent emphasis to World Hunger.

Audio-Visuals

TRAV has produced television spot announcements on hunger and promoted their use in connection with a proposed local television program on hunger through personal contact of TRAV staff with stations.

TRAV also used the theme "Hunger and Hope" for the 1970 "Protestant Hour" radio program reaching some five million listeners weekly, and made available a listing of useful audiovisual materials on hunger.

Hikes

Young people have been active in doing something about hunger. For example, 250 young people representing several denominations in Mexico, Missouri, hiked ten miles on a rainy day and gave the proceeds, $3,000.00, to CROP for relief of hunger. In Richmond, Virginia, on another rainy day, some 500 young people of the community hiked 25 miles raising over $10,000.00. Hiking under the Young World Development, the proceeds went to the Richmond Community Action Program and a family planning project in Haiti.

Welfare Diet

Individuals, families, and other groups have tried a welfare diet and given what was saved to a hunger project. For example, the Board of National Ministries, its staff and guests, ate a welfare meal of grits, fatback, and collard greens, and contributed the money saved to local hunger projects. A number of Board of Christian Education staff members ate the welfare diet for a week and gave the amount saved to welfare.

News Coverage

The General Council has increased the visibility of the hunger problem through its news releases, bulletin service program notes for pastors, stencil service and cover design for the booklet, "What You Can Do About Hunger."

During the past year PRESBYTERIAN SURVEY has produced and printed more than 40 news items and photographs on hunger (including a cover photo), economic development, and hunger-related subjects for the news section. There were two other major features, an editorial, letters to the editor, book reviews, and items in leadership inserts. Major efforts were put into the Leadership Edition on Hunger, as indicated above, and the special issue on world hunger in January of this year.

Priority?

Space does not permit to tell of activities in individual churches or of individual projects to attack the problem. All of these and many other efforts have been made to do something about hunger—and they are encouraging. BUT can we truly affirm that the PCUS has made the problem of world hunger a top priority? We all know the answer to this question. We have only made a beginning.

The spectre of massive starvation may have been delayed but it still looms large on the world horizon. Since the General Assembly last convened, some 5½ million persons have died from starvation, and another like number will starve to death before our next General Assembly. This is a conservative estimate.

What will Presbyterians do to put an end to this scandal of humanity?

REPORT OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE ON RESTRUCTURING BOARDS AND AGENCIES

The committee has met five times during the past year and has continued to faithfully follow the procedures projected to, and approved by, the 110th General Assembly.

In that report the process the committee intended to follow was spelled out in detail and a progression, including a time table, was projected.

The approved occasion for the report of this committee will be the 112th Assembly meeting in 1972.

The committee is presently in the later period of model building on the basis of the data gathered in the process previously described. Commissioners are referred to the committee's report to the 110th Assembly found on page 281 of the General Assembly Minutes for 1970.

A representative of the committee will share with the Standing Committee on The General Council all details of the Ad Interim Committee's work, as requested by the Standing Committee.

The final period of testing of the projected design will begin in late July with groups at Montreat. The final recommendations will be drawn from wide responses to this design.

This word is by way of a brief progress report in order to indicate that we are following the agreed upon procedures as established in our mandate from the 109th General Assembly and our approved process as approved by the 110th General Assembly. The committee has no further recommendations at this time.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM J. FOGLEMAN, Chairman

(Note: The following amendment to the Form of Government was not enacted.—Stated Clerk.)

5. On amendment to Directory for Worship, adding a new Chapter 20

“CHAPTER 20. THE WORK OF THE WHOLE CHURCH

STANDING RULES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SECTION I. THE WORK OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY DURING ITS MEETINGS

I. ORGANIZATION OF A GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING

- 1.1 The General Assembly shall meet ordinarily on the Second Sunday in June at 11 o'clock a.m. (local time) at a place previously selected by the Permanent Committee on Assembly Operation, and approved by the General Assembly. It shall adjourn ordinarily at noon on Friday of the same week. The Committee shall select places in different parts of the Church with adequate convention-type facilities, including but not limited to parish churches when such churches provide adequate convention-type facilities.
- 1.2 The Assembly shall be opened with a sermon by the retiring Moderator. The Lord's Supper shall be celebrated after the opening sermon. Appropriate services of worship shall begin each morning session.
- 1.3 After the Stated Clerk has presented the roll of commissioners and a quorum has been declared present, a Moderator shall be nominated and elected. This shall be the first order of the first business session.
- 1.4 Presbytery endorsement is not necessary but a Presbytery may propose a name for the office of Moderator by a majority vote of the Presbytery. This proposal shall be transmitted to the Stated Clerk of the Assembly. Such proposal is not a nomination; but the person named must be nominated properly by a member of the court.
- 1.5 There shall be one nominating speech for each nominee, limited to 8 minutes. There may be only one seconding speech for each nominee, limited to 3 minutes.
- 1.6 If more than one Commissioner shall be nominated for Moderator, election shall be by ballot on blank ballots provided as prepared by the Stated Clerk. Tellers appointed by the Stated Clerk shall gather and count the ballots, and report the tabulation to the Stated Clerk. If no nominee receives a majority of the votes cast, a second ballot shall be called on the two nominees who received the highest number of votes on the first ballot. The Moderator shall declare an election when a nominee shall have received a majority of votes cast by commissioners present and voting.
- 1.7 As soon as a Moderator shall have been declared elected he shall assume his constitutional duties.
- 1.8 Each Presbytery may elect through its normal election processes one (1) person who has attained his 16th birthday, and who has not attained his 26th birthday who is a member in good standing of one of its constituent churches to be a youth delegate to the General Assembly.
- 1.8a Youth delegates shall have the privilege of the floor of the General Assembly without vote.

II. THE MODERATOR

- 2.1 As the presiding officer the Moderator shall preside at all sessions, except when he may invite another commissioner temporarily to occupy the chair.

The congregation or agency in which the Moderator is serving at the time of his election is requested to allow him leave of absence. Provision for the expense of the Moderator and his wife for these itineraries and for the salary of a substitute, if necessary, in the Moderator's regular employment, shall be provided in the Operating Expense Budget of the General Assembly. The conditions herein stated shall also apply when a Moderator who is a layman, who is not church employed, is selected.
- 2.3 All invitations for the services of the Moderator shall be directed to the office of the Stated Clerk. The Moderator and the Stated Clerk shall confer regarding the acceptance of invitations so that the Moderator's time shall be used most economically and for the best interest of the whole Church. The Moderator, at his discretion, shall assume responsibility for arranging the schedule of his itineraries.
- 2.4 The Moderator shall be a member of the Program Committee, the General Council, and the Permanent Committee on Inter-Church Relations. The immediate past Moderator shall be an ex officio member of the General Council for a period of one year.

One month before the Assembly meeting, the Stated Clerk shall conduct a drawing of commissioners' names, using the returned Preference Cards plus blank cards for commissioners from whom cards have not been received. The total number of commissioners shall be divided by the number of committees to determine the number on each committee. The first drawing shall be of Ministers' names, the second of ruling elders' names. As each name is drawn a sequence number shall be placed on the card. In that sequence the preference of commissioners shall be observed as far as possible under the following rules: No more than one Minister and one ruling elder from a presbytery on a committee; an equal number of Ministers and ruling elders on a committee, if possible; members or employees of an agency or permanent committee are ineligible to serve on a standing committee reviewing work of such agency or committee. When a commissioner's preference cannot apply because of these rules or because the preferred committee has already reached full membership, the next preference shall be observed. Cards with no useable preference and blank cards shall be held until all possible preferences have been observed, and then used by the Stated Clerk to fill committee quotas as needed.

Two weeks before the Assembly meeting, the Stated Clerk shall mail back to commissioners the cards indicating drawing sequence number and standing committee assignment.

INDEX OF CHURCHES

The General Assembly of 1930 directed that the Alphabetical List of Churches be printed in the Minutes (see page 80 of 1930 Minutes).

Explanatory Note

Churches are alphabetized both by name and by postoffice.

Where the name of the church appears first the Presbytery is then given in parenthesis, followed by the name of the town or city, and the date given indicates year of organization. Mailing and street addresses are shown under names of towns or cities. Towns or cities are listed first when similar names of churches occur.

When two addresses are given, the first indicates mailing address. If there is no mailing address but is a location address, a dash (—;) indicates that no mailing address is given.

The Presbytery is used instead of a page number for reference to Statistical Reports. For the convenience of those who are not familiar with the presbyteries, an alphabetical index, with page number for each presbytery is given on page iv-Part II.

This index is as accurate as it could be made by comparing the reports of the presbyteries with the reports from the individual churches.

Churches dissolved or dismissed to other denominations in the current year are not listed below. See tables headed Churches Dissolved or Churches Dismissed to Other Denominations.
